CRETE LATEST ONE TO BREAK AWAY

Union With Greece Is Proclaimed on Island Amid Wild Enthusiasm.

SERVIA CLAMORING FOR WAR

Appeals to Powers to Restore Statu Quo—Turkey Protests Against Bulgaria's Action.

The people of the Island of Crete, stirred by the events in Southeastern Europe, the independence of Bulgaria and the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria, yesterday proclaimed union with Greece. Events leading up to the climax followed each other throughout the day with dramatic rapidity. The town of Canea, Crete, was bedecked and early in the morning people began flocking in from all directions. There was much firing of guns and revolvers, with plenty of cheering, but perfect order prevailed. Mussulmans mingled with Christians freely and unmolested. A great demonstration in favor of union with Greece was held in the afternoon, more than 100,000 people participating.

Turkey Protests to Powers.

The Turkish government has sent to the powers a circular protesting against the Bulgarian proclamation and asking the powers what steps they mean to take looking to the reestablishment of order in Bulgaria and the maintenance of Turkey's interests which were guaranteed by the treaty of Berlin. Great Britain, in reply to the notification of Austria-Hungary's proposed annexation of Bosnia, has refused its sanction and has practically requested the Austro-Hungarian government to reconsider it.

Both Premier Asquith and Foreign Secretary Grey, in public addresses, touched upon the Balkan question, the former asserting that the British government would not stand alone among the powers in its present attitude, and the latter expressing the belief that nothing has happened thus far that would lead to a breach of the peace.

Servia Wants War.

In Servia there is popular clamor for war against Austria-Hungary, and the Servian government has issued an appeal to the powers requesting them to restore the statu quo, or else to grant Servia compensation.

Italy, through Signor Tittoni, the foreign minister, has demanded that in addition to the evacuation of Novipazar, Austria renounce the protectorate which she has exercised over Montenegro under the Berlin treaty. Italy is one with Great Britain, France and Russia in counseling the holding of a conference of the powers for the purpose of examining into the complications that have arisen, and if necessary revising the treaty of Berlin.

W. Smith of Glenwood was arrested by the town officers of Hammond for peddling without a license, being held for several hours, when he was released and the case dismissed. Smith subsequently brought suit against the town officers for false imprisonment, with the above result.

"MAYFLOWER" NOW A DERELICT

Harvard Students Meet Disaster on Expedition to Seek Lost Spanish Treasure.

Baltimore, Oct. 8.—Not laden with treasure rescued from a long lost Spanish galleon, as they had fondly hoped, but themselves castaways rescued in the nick of time from the wreck of the once gallant cup defender, the yacht Mayflower, a dozen men yesterday were landed here by the Norwegian steamer Hippolyte Dumois, after having passed through the terrors of the recent hurricane that swept up the coast.

The Mayflower, once the pride of the whole country as the successful defender of the "blue ribbon of the seas," the America's cup, is a derelict, tossed by the waves of the Atlantic ocean.

This is the unromantic end of a venture tinged with romance, which had for its object the locating of a Spanish vessel lost many years ago in the Caribbean sea, with much treasure aboard. Of the men rescued five are Harvard men and the leaders of the expedition. The others are members of the crew of the Mayflower, and it would seem the very irony of fate that the vessel of which the party went in search had already been located by others and all her discoverable gold removed.

Capt. Harding, after lifelong experience at sea, declares that the storm and the experiences it brought those in the party was the most harrowing he has ever known.

JEROME QUITS THAW.

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 8.—After charging that Harry K. Thaw, who killed Stanford White in the summer of 1906, in the Madison Square Roof garden, was still a dangerous paranoic and recently had threatened to kill himself, District Attorney Jerome withdrew from the case yesterday when Justice Mills refused to transfer the hearing on the question of Thaw's sanity from Westchester to New York county. Thereupon Justice Mills declared that he would name two experts to examine Thaw as to his sanity before Saturday and settle the case upon their report on Monday.

Soon all the men were sick and it was with difficulty that the ship was manned until the men began to recover.

DEEP WATERWAY TO GULF OF MEXICO

OUTLET FROM GREAT LAKES

Question of Transportation One of Most Serious With Which Country Has to Deal.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—A picture of days when stately ships shall carry the rich products of the Central States from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico through a deep waterway, returning with products of no less value, was conjured up yesterday before the delegates and visitors to the third annual convention of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway association by able speakers, headed by Judge William H. Taft.

Speakers of Prominence.

Yesterday's utterances were authoritative, for they came from Secretary Saunders of the association; President of Kavanaugh, head of the organization; Gov. Charles S. Deneen of Illinois, who spoke of the first link of the great waterway — the Chicago drainage canal, and W. H. Taft, who had general supervision in Washington of the building of the Panama canal, until he resigned to become the presidential nominee of the Republican party.

The need of such a waterway was insisted upon by every speaker. The question of transportation, it was declared, is one of the most serious questions with which this country has to deal.

Need of Deep Waterways.

If there had been any doubt as to the need of a lakes-to-the gulf waterway among the thousands of delegates and visitors gathered from all parts of the country, they were dispelled when Judge Taft said:

"We find that during the ten years ending with 1905 the internal commerce of our country has increased 118 per cent, while railroad transportation facilities during the same time have increased only 20 per cent. It has been pointed out that to supply this deficiency by the construction of additional railroads and necessary terminals would require a capital investment of $5,500,000,000, and this construction when completed would make no provision for the further increase of our commerce."

Hold Up Twenty-two Men at Dazey, N. D., Blow Open a Safe and Attempt to Break Into Bank.

Valley City, N. D., Oct. 8.—Dazey, twenty miles north of here, was the scene of a daring hold-up. At 2:30 in the morning two masked men entered the pool hall of J. Strasia, where some twenty-two men were congregated, and lined them up against the wall and secured some $200 and their watches and jewelry. The safe in the Osborn Bros. wood yard was blown open some time during the night with nitroglycerin and $15 in money and $100 worth of checks secured. An attempt was made to crack one of the banks, but the robbers were frightened away. No clue has yet been discovered to the guilty parties.

HARMONY IN EQUITY SOCIETY.

Differences Disappear in Tumultuous Wave of Unanimity.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 8. — All factional trouble in the ranks of the American Society of Equity disappeared last night in a tumultuous wave of unanimity. Internal disruptions of a year were forgotten.

Resolutions were adopted demanding that an injunction be secured at once to prevent J. A. Everett from issuing his call for a convention of the American Society of Equity in Indianapolis.

The society went on record as favoring an amendment to the Sherman anti-trust act excluding the American Society of Equity from its jurisdiction.

An outspoken support of the night riders of Kentucky by Delegate J. H. Burney of Greenville, Ky., and the adoption of the report of the committee on minimum prices were other features of the day.

Proposed Amendments

Constitution

—OF—

Minnesota

—BY—

The Legislature

General Session, 1907.

St. Paul, Minn., May 1st, 1908.

Hon. Julius A. Schmahl, Secretary of State—

Sir: As required by Section 25 of the Revised Laws, as amended, I have the honor to furnish you herewith a statement of the purposes and effects of the respective amendments proposed to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota by the Legislature of 1907, and which are to be submitted to the electors of said State at the General Election of 1908.

FIRST PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The first proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 477 of the Laws of 1907. By this amendment it is sought to repeal Sections one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) and seventeen (17) of Article nine (9) of the Constitution (the latter section being the amendment to said Article nine (9), adopted in 1896), which sections now read as follows:

"Section 1. All taxes to be raised in this state shall be as nearly equal as may be, and all property on which taxes are to be levied shall have a cash valuation and be equalized and uniform throughout the state: Provided, that the legislature may, by general law or special act, authorize municipal corporations to levy assessments for local improvements upon the property fronting upon such improvements, or upon the property to be benefited by such improvements, or both, without regard to cash valuation, and in such manner as the legislature may prescribe: and provided further, that for the purpose of defraying the expenses of laying water pipes and supplying any city or municipality with water, the legislature may, by general or special law, authorize any such city or municipality, having a population of five thousand or more, to levy an annual tax or assessment upon the lineal foot of all lands fronting on any water main or water pipe laid by such city or municipality within corporate limits of said city for supplying water to the citizens thereof without regard to the cash value of such property, and to empower such city to collect any such tax, assessments or fines, or penalties for failure to pay the same, or any fine or penalty for any violation of the rules of such city or municipality in regard to the use of water, or for any water rate due for the same: and provided further, that there may be by law levied and collected a tax upon all inheritances, devises, bequests, legacies and gifts of every kind and description above a fixed and specified sum, of any and all natural persons and corporations. Such tax above such exempted sum may be uniform or it may be graded or progressive, but shall not exceed a maximum tax of five per cent.

"Section 2. The legislature shall provide for an annual tax sufficient to defray the estimated ordinary expenses of the state for each year, and whenever it shall happen that such ordinary expenses of the state for any year shall exceed the income of the state for such year the legislature shall provide for levying a tax for the ensuing year sufficient, with other sources of income, to pay the deficiency of the preceding year, together with the estimated expenses of such ensuing year. But no law levying a tax or making other provisions for the payment of interest or principal of bonds denominated 'Minnesota State Railroad Bonds,' shall take effect or be in force until such law shall have been submitted to a vote of the people of the state, and adopted by a majority of the electors of the state voting upon the same.

"Section 3. Laws shall be passed taxing all moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies, or otherwise, also all real and personal property, according to its true value in money; but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property used for religious purposes, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, public property used exclusively for any public purpose, and personal property to an amount not exceeding in value two hundred dollars for each individual, shall, by general laws, be exempt from taxation.

"Section 4. Laws shall be passed for taxing the notes and bills discounted or purchased, moneys loaned, and all other property, effects, or dues of every description, of all banks and of all bankers, so that all property employed in banking shall always be subject to a taxation equal to that imposed on the property of individuals.

"Section 17. The legislature may impose, or provide for the imposition of, upon the property within this state of any and all owners or operators, whether corporate or individual, or otherwise, of any and all sleeping, parlor and drawing room cars, or any or either of the same, which run in, into or through this state; also upon the property within this state of any and all telegraph and telephone companies, or owners, whose lines are in, or extend in, into or through this state; also upon the property within this state of all express companies, or owners, or any or either of the same, doing business in this state; also upon the property within this state of all domestic insurance companies of this state of any kind; also upon the property within this state of any and all foreign insurance companies doing business in this state of any kind; also upon the property within this state of all owners or operators of any and all mines or of mineral ores situated in this state; also upon the property within this state of all boom companies or owners, and of all ship builders or owners doing business in this state or having a port therein (provided, that this act shall not apply to property owned by railroad companies, their lands and other property); and upon the property of either or any of such companies or owners,—a tax as uniform as reasonably may be with the taxes imposed upon similar property in said state, or upon the earnings thereof within this state, but may be graded or progressive, or both, and in providing for such tax, or in providing for ascertaining the just and true value of such property, it shall be competent for the legislature in either or all such cases, to impose such tax upon any or all property thereof within this state, and in either case by taking as the basis of such imposition the proportionate business, earnings, mileage or quantity of production or property now or hereafter existing of any such companies, persons or owners, transacted or existing in this state, in relation to the entire business, mileage or quantity of production or property of such companies, persons or owners as aforesaid; or in such other manner, or by such other method as the legislature may determine; but the proceeds of such taxes upon mining property shall be distributed between the state and the various political subdivisions thereof wherein the same is situated, in the same proportion as the proceeds of taxes upon real property are distributed: Provided further, that nothing in this act contained shall operate to authorize the assessment or taxation of any farm land or ordinary business blocks or property owned by any such corporation, person, firm or company except in the manner provided by the ordinary methods of taxation,"

"Sec. 1. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property used for religious purposes, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation personal property not exceeding in value $200 for each household, individual, or head of a family, as the legislature may determine. But the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads."

This proposed constitutional amendment was submitted and voted upon at the last election and was declared carried. But a contest was instituted by interested parties, claiming that the amendment was not carried. That contest is now pending in the courts and it was on that account that the legislature decided to re-submit the amendment to the people, so that however the contest may be decided, the next legislature may have the power granted by the amendment. For the purpose of discussing the effect of the amendment I will assume that the same amendment submitted at the last election, did not carry.

The purpose and effect of this amendment would be to greatly enlarge the power of the legislature with reference to the subject of taxation. Section one (1), as it now stands provides that all taxes imposed shall be equal—as near as may be—on all forms of property, and all property upon which a tax is imposed is required to have a CASH VALUATION equalized throughout the state.

Section two (2) as it now stands requires the legislature to levy the necessary taxes annually to defray the expenses of the state. That is the duty of the legislature without any constitutional direction.

Section three (3) as it now stands provides that all real and personal property, including MONEYS, CREDITS and INVESTMENTS IN BONDS AND STOCKS, shall be assessed according to their true value in money.

Section four (4) as it now stands provides that property employed in banking shall be subject to a tax equal to that imposed on other property. This is only a repetition of the requirements of Sections one (1) and three (3), as no rational person would claim that banking capital should be exempt from taxation.

Section seventeen (17) as it now stands is not easy to understand, but it was intended by that section to relieve from the operation of sections one (1) and three (3), above quoted, property of the classes therein enumerated, so that a gross earnings tax could be applied thereto instead of direct taxation.

Owing to the provisions of sections one (1) and three (3) of the present Constitution many amendments were from time to time added so as to permit taxes to be imposed on specific kinds of property otherwise than upon a cash valuation equalized throughout the state. We have among these exceptions railroad gross earnings taxes; municipal frontage taxes; inheritance taxes; and the gross earnings taxes authorized by said section seventeen (17).

Several exemptions from taxation are also provided for, but as these exemptions are not changed by the proposed amendment, I will make no further reference to them.

The amendment which, if adopted, would take the place of all of the sections and amendments above referred to, is simple and plain. No provision of the Constitution is necessary to authorize the imposition of the taxes necessary for the support of the state and its various political subdivisions. The power of taxation is inherent in government. This proposed amendment declares that this inherent power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away; that taxes shall be imposed for public purposes and shall be uniform on the same class of subjects. Should this amendment be adopted all property of every kind in the state would be subject to taxation, according to the method the legislature saw fit to adopt, provided only that the tax was levied for a public purpose and was uniform on the same class of subjects. Under this amendment every tax law we now have on the statue books would continue to be valid, because under this amendment all limitations on the power of the legislature would be taken away.

The adoption of this amendment would, as indicated, repeal the so-called inheritance tax amendment, and the gross earnings tax amendment adopted in 1896, as contained in said Section seventeen (17), but in their place this amendment would give the legislature greater authority. Under this amendment the power to impose inheritance taxes would be unlimited, and any form of gross earnings tax would be valid. The gross earnings tax on railroads would not be affected by this amendment, as the Constitution provides that they cannot be changed without submitting the law making the change to a vote of the people. But with this amendment various new forms of taxation could be imposed, notably an income tax, a tonnage tax on iron ore and a registry tax on mortgages. Under the present Constitution we can impose no tax on mortgages owned by non-residents. A registry tax, which would be valid under this amendment, would reach all mortgages alike. While the Constitution requires all subjects of taxation to have a cash valuation with the tax equalized throughout the state, no proper income tax could be imposed.

SECOND PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The second proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 478 of the Laws of Minnesota for the year 1907. By this amendment it is sought to repeal Section sixteen (16) of Article nine (9) of the Constitution, which section now reads as follows:

"For the purpose of lending aid in the construction and improvement of public highways and bridges, there is hereby created a fund to be known as the 'State Road and Bridge Fund.' Said fund shall include all moneys accruing from the income derived from investments in the internal improvement land fund, or that may hereafter accrue to said fund, and shall also include all funds accruing to any state road and bridge fund, however provided.

"The legislature is authorized to add to such fund for the purpose of constructing or improving roads and bridges of this state, by providing, in its discretion, for an annual tax levy upon the property of this state of not to exceed in any year one-twentieth (1-20) of one (1) mill on all the taxable property within the state.

"The legislature is also authorized to provide for the appointment, by the governor of the state, of a board to be known as the 'State Highway Commission,' consisting of three (3) members, who shall perform such duties as shall be prescribed by law without salary or compensation other than personal expenses.

"Such commission shall have general superintendence of the construction of state roads and bridges and shall use such fund in the construction thereof and distribute the same in the several counties in the state upon an equitable basis. Provided further, that no county shall receive in any year more than three (3) per cent or less than one-half (½) of one (1) per cent of the total fund thus provided, and expended during such year; and, provided further, that no more than one-third (1-3) of such fund accruing in any year shall be expended for bridges, and in no case shall more than one-third (1-3) of the cost of construction or improving any road or bridge be paid by the state from such fund," and to substitute therefor the following:

"Section 16. For the purpose of lending aid in the construction and improvement of public highways and bridges, there is hereby created a fund to be known as the 'State Road and Bridge Fund.' Said fund shall include all moneys accruing from the income derived from investments in the internal improvement land fund, or that may hereafter accrue to said fund, and shall also include all funds accruing to any state road and bridge fund, however provided.

"The legislature is authorized to add to such fund, for the purpose of constructing or improving roads and bridges of this state by providing, in its discretion, for an annual tax levy upon the property of this state."

The purpose and effect of this amendment is to authorize the legislature to levy upon all the property of the state any amount necessary, in its judgment, for the benefit of the roads and bridges therein, and in so far removes the limitation which now exists in the Constitution, whereby the legislature is prevented from levying for such purpose a tax exceeding one-twentieth (1-20) of one (1) mill on the taxable property within the state.

This amendment further authorizes the legislature to provide salary and compensation, including personal expenses incurred in the performance of duty by the highway commission, or any other like officer entrusted by law with similar duties.

Finally, this amendment removes the limitation which now exists in the Constitution upon the powers of the highway commission in the distribution of the road and bridge fund of the state whereby authorized, and the amount which the state may pay from such fund toward the cost of constructing or improving any road or bridge, and leaves the whole management of such fund to be provided for by law, as the legislature shall deem wise.

The adoption of this amendment will not interfere with the power of the legislature to create a highway commission and define its powers, nor will it interfere with the appointment and tenure of office of the present commission.

THIRD PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The third proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 379 of the Laws of Minnesota for the year 1907. By this amendment it is sought to add the following section to Article nine (9) of the Constitution as a new section:

"Section 17. The legislature may provide for the payment by the State of Minnesota of damages to growing crops by hail and wind, or either, and to provide a fund for that purpose, may impose a specific tax upon lands, the owners of which, at their option, have listed the same with county auditors for that purpose, and no payment shall be made of any such damages except from the fund so provided."

The purpose and effect of this amendment is to authorize the legislature to permit the state to become the trustee in the collection and disbursement of a fund for the payment of damages to growing crops by hail or wind, or both. This fund is to be created and maintained by a specific tax upon the lands of such persons ONLY as shall VOLUNTARILY list the same with their respective county auditors for such purpose. There can be no tax for such purpose imposed on the lands of any owner who does not consent thereto. Its adoption will authorize the legislature to direct that the taxing machinery of the state be used to levy and collect the tax necessary to raise such fund, and to provide for the disbursement of the same by the officers of the state, but any payments to be made by the state by reason of damage by hail or wind will have to be made from said fund and from no other. The state would assume no responsibility beyond the amount of such fund, and could not further be rendered liable.

FOURTH PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The fourth proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 480 of the laws of Minnesota for the year 1907. By this amendment it is sought to repeal the provisions of Section seven (7) of Article seven (7) of the Constitution, which section now reads as follows:

"Every person who by the provisions of this article shall be entitled to vote at any election shall be eligible to any office which now is, or hereafter shall be, elective by the people in the district wherein he shall have resided thirty days previous to such election, except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, or the Constitution and laws of the United States," and to substitute therefor the following:

"Every person who by the provisions of this article shall be entitled to vote at any election shall be eligible to any office which now is, or hereafter shall be, elective by the people in the district wherein he shall have resided thirty days previous to such election, except county superintendents of schools, who shall be required to have educational qualifications to be determined by the legislature, and except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, or the Constitution and laws of the United States."

The purpose and effect of this amendment is to authorize the legislature to require educational qualifications, in addition to all the other qualifications now required by law, for any person seeking the office of county superintendent of schools. As the Constitution now stands any legal voter is eligible to the office of county superintendent of schools.

Yours respectfully,
EDWARD T. YOUNG,
Attorney General.

It does not look at present as if William H. Taft would have much trouble in being elected.

The democrat who had visions of Minnesota going for Bryan must have been smoking a new brand.

The policies of Roosevelt will be continued by Taft and the people will see to it that Taft has a chance to do the work.

About all that remains of the agricultural school project is to pay the bills. The final votes was, Yes, 877. No, 1185.

The socialists claim they will cast one million votes for Debs this fall. Four years ago they polled about four hundred thousand in the nation.

Congressman Halvor Steenerson is to have opposition this fall in Ole O. Sageng, of Otter Tail county, who will run as an independent candidate.

Read carefully the proposed constitutional amendments, to be voted on this fall, on the first page. Every voter should post himself on these amendments and vote as he deems for the best interest of the state.

Sunbeam:—The farmers up this way did not take kindly to the proposition to vote a tax for the agricultural school at St. Hilaire, and voted pretty solid against it. There did not seem to be any predjudice against either St. Hilaire or the school, but the farmers viewed it in the same light that they would a fine suit of clothes that they would like to possess but could not afford to buy, and voted no. There is no doubt of the benefit that the school would be to the young farmer boys of Red Lake county and we believe when the people understand the matter better, that school will be built.

PACKAGE WAS OF SOME VALUE

Gave Mrs. Potter an Opportunity She Had Long Desired.

"You know you've often told me that I'm one of those who are always letting good chances slip by me," Mr. Potter remarked complacently to his wife, on his return from a week's visit to the city. "Don't you recall it, Mandy?"

"I may have been driven to it once or twice," admitted Mrs. Potter. "What's that you've got in your hands, William?"

"This little package," said Mr. Potter, solemnly, "cost me $1.40, and I don't know what's in it. Wait!" He held up his hand as Mrs. Potter opened her mouth with evident intent to reproach him.

"Fred took me to one of the sales of unclaimed packages at the big railway office one day. Folks have to bid just what they think best; nobody knows what's in anything. But Fred and I could both tell about this. Sealed up on both ends as 'tis, we knew 'twas something valuable, and being so light, we concluded 'twas probably some piece o' women's jewelry. Fred said that if it hadn't been a pouring rain, so that few were there, I wouldn't have had any part of a chance; 'twould have run away up in dollars. Here, you open it.

"I told Fred I'd give him the credit," Mr. Potter went on, as his wife pried off the seals with a pair of scissors. "He's used to such things, and knows when to take and when to let go. So you see—"

Mr. Potter's voice trailed off into silence as his wife removed the wrapping paper from a small pasteboard box and opened it, held out to him a little yellow bottle, tightly packed with pale yellow tablets.

"Two every hour till the pain is relieved," read Mr. Potter with a faltering tongue from the label on the bottle held toward him by his wife. "My land, and you wouldn't durst to take one of 'em, not knowing what they're for!"

"Here, you put all this truck in the fire!" commanded Mrs. Potter. "And you needn't trouble to notify your nephew Fred. I'll write him this afternoon. There are a number of things I've been wanting to say to him for some time."—Youth's Companion.

"No," answered Mr. Sirius Barker. "I don't mind a man getting my money, but I hate to feel that I have lost his respect."

TO SEND COIN BY U. S. MAIL.

Express Companies Rudely Jarred by Discovery of New Clause.

Washington.—The treasury officials have recently discovered a highly interesting fact in regard to the appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the government, which escaped general attention at the time it was enacted.

It pertains to the shipment of fractional silver coin from the several subtreasuries of the United States to banks in various parts of the country.

It now appears that in the rush attending the passage of the sundry civil bill, James Wesley Gaines of Tennessee caused to be inserted in the measure a provision that one-half of the $60,000 appropriation for the transportation of coin shall be expended for registered mail. Heretofore shipments of currency have uniformly been made by express, and the express companies have been obliged to make good any loss by theft or other accident in transportation.

The express companies are greatly concerned over the new order of things, especially as Mr. Daskam, chief of the bureau of public moneys in the treasury department, has ruled that the law means that $30,000 should be expended by registered mail before any part of the appropriation is expended for express charges. It is believed at the treasury department that, as the charges for registering a package is only eight cents, $30,000 will be sufficient to pay the entire apparent cost of transporting coins under this system for a year, and the express companies will therefore get none of the business.

ONE STONE FENCES FARM.

Missouri Man Has Land Where No Wheel Ever Rolled.

Jasper, Mo.—Within sight of this town a settler has a farm which probably is unlike any other in the world.

This farm occupies the tableland on the summit of a ridge and is inclosed with a fence which no animal has ever broken through. It does not rise above the surface of the farm, but falls sheer from the edge a distance of many feet. The man who homesteaded the tableland had a hard climb up the face of a perpendicular cliff to reach the comparatively level summit.

At one point a ledge extends out a few inches and along the face of the cliff at an upward grade. By following this ledge and making use of occasional points of rocks and of shrubs growing in the fissures the discoverer pulled himself to the summit and found a surface well covered with a soft and luxuriant vegetation.

Gradually he improved the ledge until he could carry up tools and seed. By blasting and drilling he cleared a narrow trail, up which he was able to take first some pigs and then a cow. Later on he took up a horse.

And that to-day is the condition of this curiously protected farm. No vehicle has turned a wheel within its limits of palisades. The live stock has multiplied and consumes the grain raised. Some stones thrown across the trail completely fence in the hogs and cattle. When the farmer has stock to sell he drives the animals down the private trail and strikes the road to Jasper.

CATERPILLARS HALT TRAIN.

Three Times Within Mile Crew Shovels Them Off the Tracks.

St. John, N. B.—Moths, caterpillars and other like pests have made their appearance in great numbers in many sections of this province, particularly in York county. There they have caused considerable inconvenience, and several amazing stories are told of experiences when they have met in large bodies. Trainmen manning a freight between Fredericton Junction and McAdams are authority for a statement that appears incredulous. They say that the heavy freight train was stopped three times within a mile by caterpillars which swarmed over the tracks in such numbers as to effectually impede the progress of the train. It was necessary to arm the entire train crew with shovels and scoop the thousands of pests off the tracks, and smother those on the roadbed by shoveling gravel over them. They report every tree and bit of foliage along the line as being denuded of green.

Fierce Hailstorms in England.

Large stories are told of the damage done by hailstones in Minnesota recently. However, Old England itself has some statistics to show. On May 30, 1897, a terrific hailstorm visited Seaford, Sussex. Some of the "bolts" measure 4½ inches in circumference, after lying on the ground for fully seven minutes. On June 24, in the same year, the most disastrous visitation of the kind in modern times ravaged parts of Essex and the adjacent counties.

Animals and poultry were killed and crops ruined. At Ingatestone the hail broke through a slated roof, and at Baddow it went through windows and cut the blinds to pieces. The damage in Essex alone was at least $500,000.

The latest storm of exceptional violence occurred in Huntingdonshire on August 2, 1906. The "hail" consisted of hard pieces of ice, from three to four inches in length, and killed rabbits and other small animals wholesale.

Beauty In Coinage Deteriorated

It is a strange fact that as the world has progressed in every other department of life the one dominating factor of the globe, money, has deteriorated in design, in beauty of idea and cleverness of execution. Another strange fact well worth remembering is that golden grain belt beer is in reality a harmless temperance beverage, and if drunk to the exclusion of everything else, including tea or coffee, would contribute to the health of humanity—purify its blood, build its muscle and strengthen its nerves. Big Boom For District

The papers of the country are making notices of the great development of the creamery and dairy industry in the ninth district and the publicity given this section will produce results beneficial. The following write-up appeared in a recent issue of the Duluth Evening Herald:

Advance information on the report of the national dairy and food commission at Washington, D. C., refers to the enormous output of creamery and dairy products in the Ninth Congressional district.

In 1904 the dairies in this district produced 2,974,918 pounds of butter and the patrons were paid about $415,431. In 1905 the creameries of the Ninth district produced 7,276,971 pounds of butter and the patrons were paid $1,131,032.88, a gain in pounds of 3,400,153 and a gain in cash paid of $715,601.88.

The increase of this business for 1907 is said by authorities to be about 300 per cent and up to this time in 1908 to be about 500 per cent over the report of 1906. In the entire United States there is produced annually about 2,000,000,000 pounds of butter, 95 per cent of which is consumed within the country. About 14 out of 45 states of the union produce practically all of the butter while government statistics show that nine per cent of all the people in the country are employed in the dairy industry. The Ninth district is the best producer in state and third best in the United States, with the most rapidly increasing production.

SHE GOT THE FURS

SHOWING THE WORKING OF FEMININE DIPLOMACY.

Praise of Grace's Husband Merely Led Up to the Attainment of the Real Desire of Her Heart.

One of the many little humors of married life is thus described. A man's wife had been to call on a friend, and from her had received the most glowing description of the husband of another friend. She came home full of the subject, and proceeded to enlarge upon the virtues of the matrimonial marvel.

"Ellen says he's just a model," she began.

"Marvelous!" said the man.

"Well, it really is, because I know how exasperating Grace can be at times. Whatever Grace does he thinks is exactly right. He never finds fault with her. If she wants him to do anything for her he does it without a murmur, and he's awfully handy. When they were without help he scrubbed all the floors and did the sweeping all the time. He would have cooked, too, if Grace had let him; but he did all the rough, hard work. And he'll sew a button on his clothes any time."

"Does he take care of the baby?"

"There is no baby, but if there was he would. Why shouldn't he?"

"That's the question. Why not?"

"And no matter what she wants, he'll always let her have it. Ellen says she has the loveliest fur set that he gave her. She didn't even ask for it. Just hinted that she would like to have it; and the next thing she knew, it was delivered at the house."

"Am I to understand by this that you want a fur set?"

"You know perfectly well that I don't. If I did it wouldn't be much use hinting for it. If I got it when I asked for it I should be lucky."

"You certainly would," admitted the man.

"Well, I've got one, anyway, and I suppose I'll have to make it do. But don't you think Grace is a lucky girl?"

"I'm sure I don't know," said the man. "Don't they ever quarrel?"

"Quarrel!" exclaimed his wife. "Didn't I tell you just now that he never utters a cross or impatient word?"

"You didn't say a word about Grace."

"It takes two to make a quarrel, doesn't it?"

"Not when you're married. I don't suppose it is quite as satisfactory to a woman if she can't get her husband to lose his temper. You say he doesn't. Then I should say Grace was unfortunate in her choice. You wouldn't like it if you couldn't ever make me mad. You'd miss half the fun, and you know it. Own up, now! Would you want me round the house all the time and doing the family ironing? Wouldn't you want to get rid of me one or two evenings in the week? And how would you know whether the meal was good if I didn't growl when it was bad?"

"Well," said the man's wife, "I don't know that I should want to have you too good, because you might die young, and I don't want you to die. But—"

"What is it?" asked the man.

"Of course, darling, if you did want to get me that set of furs it would be just as cheap in the end, because I'll have to have them next winter, anyway."

Winona, Minn., Banker Praises Flickertail State as Field for Investment.

F. A. Rising of Winona, Minn., treasurer of the Winona Savings bank, was in Bismarck last week. He has been in the habit of visiting the state every year for the last twenty-five years in the interest of the bank he represents. It has loaned in the past thousands of dollars in the Red river valley and then in the central part of the state, and now he is looking at the western section as an outlet for its accumulating funds. The business in North Dakota has been very profitable. The loans in North Dakota are now well up towards a million and there is not a mortgage in process of foreclosure, nor does the bank own an acre of land in the state. This speaks volumes for the thrift of the settlers and for the state. The company is now loaning along the Soo in McLean county and southern Ward. Mr. Rising goes north on the Soo to-day to look the county over. He is very much pleased with the substantial appearance of Bismarck and thinks it is a fine little city.

Mr. Rising is one of the old timers in his home city having been there for over thirty years and his entire life has been spent in building up the savings bank which he now represents. He is one of the substantial business men of that prosperous and wealthy city. Many of the institutions are the result of his foresight and care.

His Defense.

How sweet is the innocence of childhood!

Tommy Jones, aged 7, and his mother were invited to tea by Mrs. Brinks. While the meal was being prepared Mrs. Jones wandered about the two-yard-square garden and admired the weeds. Presently the absence of her cherished Tommy alarmed her, but shortly the truant reappeared, contentedly munching a huge slab of cake. In her relief, as is usual, Mrs. Jones began to upbraid the lad.

"Thomas," she said, "I'm afraid you've been greedy and asked kind Mrs. Brinks for that cake."

"Oh, no, mother," he replied; "I wouldn't be so rude! I waited till she turned her back, then I snatched this piece."

Narrow Escape.

"Horace, you don't love me as you used to."

"Not altogether, my dear. When we were first married I loved you for your beauty. Now I love you for your real worth, your many excellencies of mind and heart, and for your——"

"So, Horace Higgsworthy! You think I've got entirely over my good looks, do you? Let me tell you, sir—"

"And for your unfailing sweetness of disposition, my dear."

Uncertain whether to go ahead and scold him just the same or to indulge in a good cry, she compromised by doing neither, and fell to darning his socks with renewed energy.

Platt's Political Economy.

A rather cynical joke has been recently credited to Senator Platt.

The senator on his last visit to the Manhattan Beach hotel, allowed a pretty little girl, a western millionaire's daughter, to be presented to him.

"Tell me, won't you, senator, what political economy is?"

"Political economy, my dear child," Senator Platt is said to have replied, "is the art of never buying more votes than you actually need."

Recollections.

Adam Zawfox—"Jevver work on a farm?"

Job Sturky—"Wunst, when I was about half growed up. I lasted three days. The farmer said I had a hired man's appetite, all right, but he didn't think I'd ever learn to work up to it."

NO GUSHER

But Tells Facts About Postum.

"We have used Postum for the past eight years," writes a Wis. lady, "and drink it three times a day. We never tire of it.

"For several years I could scarcely eat anything on account of dyspepsia, bloating after meals, palpitation, sick headache—in fact was in such misery and distress I tried living on hot water and toast for nearly a year.

"I had quit coffee, the cause of my trouble, and was using hot water, but this was not nourishing.

"Hearing of Postum I began drinking it and my ailments disappeared, and now I can eat anything I want without trouble.

"My parents and husband had about the same experience. Mother would often suffer after eating, while yet drinking coffee. My husband was a great coffee drinker and suffered from indigestion and headache.

"After he stopped coffee and began Postum both ailments left him. He will not drink anything else now and we have it three times a day. I could write more but am no gusher—only state plain facts."

LABOR DECLINES CAMPAIGN GOLD BRICK

Cannot Be Deceived Into Voting for Bryan and His Hollow Promises.

The Democratic Candidate Ignores Pointed Questions Regarding the Deeds of His Party Towards Organized Labor and Representative Unionists Denounce Him.

The professed friendship of Bryan and the Democratic party for labor is being relentlessly exposed. During the last few weeks the veil has been torn asunder and Bryan and his platform maker, Haskell, have been thoroughly exposed to the world.

"That Bryan's record as a 'friend of labor' is the flimsiest of all public men in this line there can be no possible doubt," declares The Labor World of Pittsburg. "He has never been anything else than a talker and he has talked so much that he has espoused all shades and angles of the great labor question without performing a single act in the interests of the wage worker. He is just the same Bryan to-day that he ever was and the other night in New York when asked to deny that he ever made the statement that American working men were 'public beggars,' he refused to answer it. He made the statement when fighting in Congress against the demands of the ...ass Workers' Union.

Bryan Does Not Answer Questions.

"A number of the most direct and important questions on his attitude toward labor's real interest have been submitted to Bryan and so far he has not condescended from his pedestal to offer a definite reply. He has been asked: 'Are you aware of the fact that since your nomination, and your indorsement by the executive officers of the American Federation of Labor, the governor of Alabama, one of your friends and allies, has used his power to crush the labor organizations in that State, placing troops at the disposal of the mine owners, and will you, now that the matter has been thus brought to your attention, publicly repudiate and condemn Governor Comer's hostility to organized labor? This is by all means a most vital question to every trade unionist in the country who intends to vote next November.

"The following questions have also been submitted to him:

"'Is it not a fact that at the present time, in the State of Mississippi, in the city of Vicksburg, to be exact, the members of the unions concerned with the river shipping are on strike, and that the Democratic administration of that city is trying to break the strike by sending honest, law-abiding strikers who refuse to "scab" to the chain gang?'

"Assuming that you are ignorant of these facts at present, will you not, as leader of the Democratic party, make immediate inquiries upon the matter, and, if you find the facts to be as stated, will you openly and unequivocally condemn the Democrats of Mississippi who are responsible for those conditions, and repudiate them?

Haskell the Union-Buster.

"'Is it not a fact that your intimate friend, ex-Governor Haskell, national treasurer of the Democratic party (now resigned) was the first president of the Muskogee Citizens' Alliance, a secret organization patterned after the Citizens' Alliances of Messrs. Parry and Post, and existing for the sole purpose of opposing trades unionism and boycotting union men, so that every cent which a union or member of a union give to your campaign is sent to one of the most notorious and bigoted union haters in America?

"'Is it not a fact that Mr. Haskell, as president of the Citizens' Alliance of Muskogee, sent out over his own signature a resolution calling upon members of the Business Men's Alliance (another union-hating association) to bind themselves "to discriminate against any and all labor union men" * * * "to check the contemptible fanaticism of trades unionism." * * * and to boycott all union men?

"'Is it not a fact that the worst injunctions against organized labor ever issued by the courts of this country have come, many of them, from Democratic judges, such as Justice Freeman's injunction in 1900 against the International Cigar Makers' Union, enjoining them from even approaching their employers to seek a peaceable settlement, and from publishing their grievances; Justice Bookstaver's injunction against the members of the International Typographical Union in their strike against the New York "Sun," enjoining them from publishing their side of the controversy, and Justice Gildersleeve's injunction against members of the same union in the Butterick case, 1906?

"'As a final question, Mr. Bryan, addressed to you as a man, and not as a candidate, don't you think that the union man who votes for the Democratic party until satisfactory answers have been given to all these questions must be a good deal of a fool?'"

Gompers' Man for Taft.

Evidence is plentiful that the effect of Gompers' attempt to influence labor for Bryan is not very productive of results.

An illustration in point occurred at a noonday meeting in New York of the Commercial Travelers' Republican Association. John W. Armstrong, an organizer for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, who was sent to Maine by President Gompers to make speeches for the Democratic State ticket, came out for Taft and Sherman. In his speech he said:

"The men whom I have met and conversed with in the American Federation of Labor are, as a rule, of the opinion that it would be unwise to support Mr. Bryan. The election of Mr. Taft means the resumption of business upon safe and sound lines. I have an abiding faith in the intelligence and loyalty of the workingmen to vote for Taft and the party and principles that made it possible for our workingman to occupy the eminent position he does, as compared with the position occupied by the unfortunate brother in the Democratic South, where the Democratic party has opposed the enactment of factory laws, child labor laws and the organization of workingmen."

Vice President Philip Davis and Secretary S. T. Ingram of the Central Labor Union of Terre Haute, Ind., issued a statement repudiating the announcement that Samuel Gompers is to speak in Terre Haute under the auspices of the central body of organized labor.

Vice President Davis said: "Members of the Central Union are divided on party lines, and for this reason it is not just that the union should invite Mr. Gompers to make a Democratic speech. Let him come at the instance of the Democratic central committee."

Labor Vote Balks at Bryan.

A proposition to indorse Bryan in accordance with the policy of President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor was turned down Sept. 24 by the United Brewery Workers of America, representing 40,000 workers, in convention at the Labor Temple, New York City. The English and German secretaries of the committee said that such a resolution was a joke.

The action of President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor in aiding Bryan's campaign is repudiated by James Duncan, second in command of the organization, in a letter made public Sept. 28. Mr. Duncan, who is first vice president of the Federation and also secretary-treasurer of the Granite Cutters' International Association of America, advises laboring men to rely upon their own judgment in voting at the coming election.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

New York World Says It Is Framed in the Interests of Plutocracy.

(From the New York World.)

Mr. Mack must share the amazement of the World over a pretended Democratic platform which, while reiterating "its abiding faith in the principles of Democracy as against plutocracy," is framed in the interests of the very plutocracy it professes to denounce.

It is a platform for the protection of Wall street gamblers; for the protection of insurance criminals; for the protection of traction thieves; for the protection of Ryan-Harriman stock-jobbers; for the protection of rich tax-dodgers; for the protection of predatory corporations. It is a betrayal of Democratic principles; it is a betrayal of the Democratic party; it is a betrayal of the Democratic masses.

Standing before the people on such a platform, and on such a platform alone, no Democratic candidate could be elected to office either in New York or in any State north of Mason and Dixon's line. Fortunately for the Rochester nominees, most of them have public records which give the lie to Murphy's corporation resolutions.

Methods Contrasted.

Mr. Bryan says he would extirpate trusts, root and branch. If Mr. Bryan's language is more than mere rhetoric and he means to seize the property, to divide it up and sell it in pieces, and dissemble the parts, then I am not in favor of his method of dealing with trusts, because I believe that such large combinations legitimately conducted greatly add to the prosperity of the country.—Hon. Wm. H. Taft, at Columbus, Ohio.

Political Snapshots.

When Bryan spoke in Baltimore he could not fail to remember that for the first time in the history of the party its presidential candidate is without newspaper support in that city.—Boston Transcript.

The fact that Bryan is rich and Taft poor should not be allowed to operate to Taft's disadvantage. Taft was serving the people at a modest salary while Bryan was accumulating his riches.—Sioux City Journal.

One vital, dominating fact confronts the Democratic party which no oratory, which no eloquence, which no rhetoric can obscure: Bryan's nomination means Taft's election.—New York World.

Mr. Bryan refuses to discuss whether he called the American workmen "public beggars." The subject was not mentioned in the Denver platform.—Omaha Bee.

Ex-Secretary Olney, who denounces the Roosevelt policies, seems to forget that the credit for them all is claimed by Bryan, for whom Mr. Olney is rooting.—Kansas City Star.

Growth of Industries.

They tell us that a protective tariff was only designed for infant industries, that we have outgrown that infancy and are no longer in need of the duties that enabled us to get them started. We have grown, it is true. Our great industrial concerns are monsters now, but let me tell you, as the boy said who waited till he had grown up before tackling a youthful opponent, the other fellow has grown up too.—Hon. James S. Sherman.

Archbishop Ireland for Taft.

Archbishop Ireland has come out in an indorsement of the candidacy of William H. Taft for President. In an interview the venerable prelate said he was openly in favor of Mr. Taft's election, and he denounced what he termed demagogic attacks on capital and corporations. "Corporations that offend the law should be punished," said the archbishop, "but to raise an outcry against them simply because they represent commerce and property is in my opinion senseless and unjust."

First Had Itching Rash—Threatened Later With Blood-Poison in Leg—Relied on Cuticura Remedies.

"About twelve or fifteen years ago I had a breaking-out, and it itched, and stung so badly that I could not have any peace because of it. Three doctors did not help me. Then I used some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent and began to get better right away. They cured me and I have not been bothered with the itching since, to amount to anything. About two years ago I had la grippe and pneumonia which left me with a pain in my side. Treatment ran it into my leg, which then swelled and began to break out. The doctor was afraid it would turn to blood-poison. I used his medicine but it did no good, then I used the Cuticura Remedies three times and cured the breaking-out on my leg. J. F. Hennen, Milan, Mo., May 13, 1907."

Want Dogs Kept Out of Churches.

If it's really necessary for dogs to attend church we believe a separate apartment should be given them at such a time that could be given up exclusively to dogs.

For the preacher to be humiliated and the entire congregation to be worried at the pesky canines scratching fleas under their feet and constantly changing position from under the pews to the pulpit and even in the preacher's cushion chair is too much sacrifice just for the satisfaction of the owners. Don't allow your little pet dogs to follow you to church.

WOMAN'S BACKACHE

The back is the mainspring of woman's organism. It quickly calls attention to trouble by aching. It tells, with other symptoms, such as nervousness, headache, pains in the loins, weight in the lower part of the body, that a woman's feminine organism needs immediate attention.

In such cases the one sure remedy which speedily removes the cause, and restores the feminine organism to a healthy, normal condition is

Congressional Investigation Is Being Made of Forests of Minnesota.

INQUIRY HELD IN MILL CITY

Witnesses, Mostly Lumbermen, Testify as to Available Supply of Pulp Wood in State.

Minneapolis, Oct. 15.—Digging for facts relating to the timber supply of the United States and showing an unusual interest in the timber supply of Canada, the select committee of congress, of which Congressman James R. Mann is chairman, and so far as the hearing here was concerned, the only member, held an all-day session at the West hotel here. Several witnesses, mostly lumbermen, were examined, particularly in relation to the available supply of spruce, balsam and so-called "poplar," all of which are paper pulp-making woods.

The most important witnesses were Edward W. Backus of the Minnesota & Ontario Power company, F. J. Kline, superintendent of logging for T. B. Walker, and F. B. Lynch of St. Paul.

An Inexhaustible Supply.

E. W. Buckus testified that in his opinion there is a practically inexhaustible supply of spruce on the northern divide of Minnesota and the Rainy river district.

"There is," he said, "about 11,179,000 cords of spruce there. There is about double that amount of poplar and half as much balsam." Both of these latter woods are often mixed with spruce to make paper pulp. On the Canadian side he estimated that the spruce was not quite as heavy, owing to large burned districts, although he says the spruce forests extend northerly for a great distance.

F. J. Kline, speaking from his experience in the Walker logging operations, stated that in his opinion Minnesota is not a good spruce growing country for sawlogs, as the spruce does not grow large enough. He said in their operations, on their own lands and those where they buy only the stumpage, he has found only scattered spruce. This is usually of small size.

10,000,000 Acres in State.

Mr. Backus testified that there are 10,000,000 acres of well timbered spruce in Minnesota, enough to supply the United States for twenty-five years.

In the afternoon F. B. Lynch of St. Paul appeared before the committee, and testified regarding the lumber industry of Saskatchewan and British Columbia, where the Union Manufacturing company, of which he is one of the principal owners, has six mills in operation. When he had finished his testimony Mr. Mann thanked Mr. Lynch, saying "You have given us much information."

"In the region north of Lake Superior," said Mr. Lynch, "and Western Ontario, Northwest Manitoba and east of the province of Saskatchewan, there are large areas of land that have a good deal of small spruce. Part of it is fit for small timber and part of it is fit for pulp wood. As to the number of acres of timber there are, I cannot say."

Removal of Tariff.

"What would be the effect of the removal of tariff on pulp wood and other timber?"

"I think it would cheapen pulp, but I am not so sure about other timbers."

Mr. Lynch was questioned as to the relative prices of lumber in Canada and the United States and the cost of labor. He said lumber was cheaper in Canada and the cost of labor was higher than in the United States.

The committee left for St. Cloud, Minn., last night, where testimony of some of the paper mill owners will be taken to-day.

FIRE SCORCHES GRAND MARAIS.

Loss of Fifty Thousand Dollars—Four Business Blocks Destroyed.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 15. — A part of the business district of Grand Marais was destroyed by fire, according to a report of passing passengers who arrived from that place on the steamer Easton. The fire started in the rear of the Grand Marais Mercantile company's store, which was burned, with the Cook County State bank, C. J. Johnson's residence and the Grand hotel. The total loss was about $50,000.

FOREST FIRE MAY TAKE TOWN.

Bayfield, Wis., Is Threatened With Destruction by Flames.

Bayfield, Wis., Oct. 15.—A very bad forest fire is raging about a mile west of here and a steady breeze is blowing from that direction. Unless the wind changes before night the town will be in great danger of destruction.

Murder and Suicide.

NEW TOWN SCORCHED BY FIRE

Prairie Fire Consumes Valuable Property at Dallas, S. D.—Change of Wind Saves Town.

Dallas, S. D., Oct. 15.—A summary of the loss by the prairie fire which burned into the town shortly after noon shows that in addition to the loss of two houses belonging to Chief of Police Garner, valued at $1,500, a barn belonging to Mrs. Duker was destroyed, with its contents. She estimates her loss at $50, and a horse which was turned loose has not been seen since the fire.

F. Bowdon suffered a loss of $300 to a house which was badly charred on the north side and damaged inside by water. There were other slight losses.

The wind has changed to due south and the fire has swung to north of the town, where it still rages. Guards were maintained last night.

The origin of the fire is atttributed to homeseekers throwing lighted cigarette stumps in the grass.

The saving of Dallas is regarded as a miracle. Without the assistance of the homeseekers it could not have been saved. While the sky has been hazy with smoke for days, the seriousness of the fire was not realized until about noon, when great clouds rolled over the housetops and the fire was noticed less than a mile west. Every man who could leave the town went out and by a continuous fight subdued the flames.

MURDER STORY JUST ROMANCE.

Mrs. Emma Drees-Vosker Is Freed in Court at Wabasha.

Wabasha, Minn., Oct. 15. — Mrs. Emma Drees-Vosker, arrested on a charge of murdering the recluse Roemer, whose housekeeper she was, and who was found dead in his isolated home here some months ago, has been freed.

The hearing was brought to an abrupt end in court here yesterday, when the recently published claims of a solution of the mystery were shown to be without foundation. The King detective agency of Minneapolis was unable to produce any new evidence against Mrs. Vosker, and it was conceded by the county attorney that an examination of the alleged blood spots found in the house occupied by the murdered man, made by a chemist of the state university, showed that they were not caused by human blood.

MRS. GOLLNIK FOUND GUILTY.

Woman Who Laid Husband's Murder to Robbers Is Convicted.

Little Falls, Minn., Oct. 15. — The jury in the Gollnik trial returned a verdict of guilty after being out nineteen hours. The defendant, Mrs. Matilda Gollnik, was found guilty of murder in the second degree for killing her husband, William Gollnik on Aug. 13. The trial consumed more than a week.

William Gollnik was a resident of Swan River, aged forty-nine years, and possessed of considerable means. The relations between husband and wife have been strained for several years. Gollnik's head was crushed and he died, never recovering consciousness. His wife claimed that two robbers committed the crime.

Girl Awakes and Asks if She Has Slept the Whole Day.

Valley City, N. D., Oct. 15.—Marie Elizabeth Olson, a Scandinavian girl of twenty years and an inmate of the county hospital, awoke from an eight months' sleep yesterday and wanted to know if she had slept all day.

She was a domestic when she went into a cateleptic condition last February and has lain asleep until yesterday.

She has taken plenty of nourishment and is in fine health, except that she is weak.

BAD BLAZE AT HANNA, N. D.

Loss of Thirty Thousand Dollars — Horses Are Cremated.

Grand Yorks, N. D., Oct. 15. — The Bolack company's lumber yards, McMillan's machinery warehouse and Evan Shank's livery barn were burned at Hanna. Five horses belonging to Jack May were cremated. Fire threatened a large part of the town for a time. The loss is about $30,000, and is partially covered by insurance.

Gets Five-year Sentence.

Atlantic, Iowa, Oct. 15.—J. W. Lorraine, charged with stealing pay checks from the public health department in Washington last August, pleaded guilty in the federal court here yesterday and was sentenced to five years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $1,000.

Fire Causes $500,000 Loss.

Bisbee, Ariz., Oct. 15.—Fire destroyed property in this city last night estimated in value at $500,000. Dynamite was resorted to to check the flames. Several persons were injured by explosions of dynamite, but none fatally.

Fire in Oil Plant.

Baltimore, Oct. 15. — A spectacular fire broke out yesterday afternoon at the Canton plant of the Standard Oil company and it was not until four hours later that it was under control. Loss between $50,000 and $100,000.

COURT STORMED BY SUFFRAGETTES

DOZEN INJURED IN SCRAMBLE

Fourteen of the Women Are Convicted and Prefer Jail Sentence to Paying Fine.

London, Oct. 15.—Still militant and boisterous after a night of rioting, a mob of suffragettes yesterday repeatedly tried to storm the court room where the cases of the thirty-seven women arrested during Tuesday's demonstrations were called for trial.

Hundreds of them surrounded the building, crowded the corridors and beat upon the doors for admission. An extra police guard was on hand and the women were driven, pushed and thrown back unceremoniously.

Attack Police Wagon.

The worst outbreak occurred as the prisoners were being driven to the jail. Several hundred frantic suffragettes made a concerted rush for the police wagon in an effort to rescue the prisoners.

They were on the point of succeeding when mounted police scattered the mob. A dozen women were injured in the scramble.

Fourteen of the prisoners were sentenced to jail for from one to two months, the cases of the others being postponed.

The women were given the choice of going to jail or promising to desist from similar outbreaks in the future. Without exception they chose the jail sentences.

Makes Cabinet Takes Notice.

Fearful that a repetition of such scenes as the suffragettes have recently engaged in will result in the death of many of the women and force the resignation of the cabinet, the latter body is seriously considering their demands.

The suffragette leaders say that no amount of clubbing by the police will deter them and that the demonstrations will be repeated throughout the parliament session.

THREE PERISH IN BURNING MINE

Twenty-three Rescued Unconscious Out of One Hundred.

Koenigshuette, Oct. 15.—Fire broke out in one of the galleries of the Koenigsbrube coal mines. One hundred men at the time were in one of the deep galleries, and it was thought for a while that they would be lost. They managed, however, to make their escape through an adjoining shaft. Twenty-three men in another gallery were brought out unconscious. Twenty of these were revived, but three succumbed.

VALUABLE TIMBER BURNED.

Fire in Woodlands Near Cleveland Causes Heavy Damage.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 15. — Fanned by a gale, flames started by an engine's spark swept over fields, destroyed fifty acres of valuable timber in the woodlands three miles south of Euclid village yesterday. Until midnight the fire was still raging, the wind driving the flames northward toward Chardon road. In Collinwood village ten acres owned by John D. Rockefeller were devastated.

PERSIAN HOMES SACKED.

Foreign Residents at Tabriz Are in Peril of Death.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 15.—The correspondent of the Novoe Vremya at Tabriz, Persia, says that the situation of the foreign residents of Tabriz is critical.

The nationalist legionaries have sacked the houses of several rich merchants known to be monarchists.

Ain-el-Dowleh, the government commander, has evacuated his camp in front of Tabriz and retired.

Woman Burned to Death.

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 15.—Mrs. Louise H. Chamberlin, a social leader here and a sister of Perry S. Heath, former assistant postmaster general and later editor of the Salt Lake Tribune, was burned to death here last night in a fire in her home which started from an explosion of gasoline.

Potato Yield Near Record.

Barnesville, Minn., Oct. 15.—Charley Krendemuhl, a farmer of Kragnes township, came near making a record run for the potato yield this year. For nine acres planted the yield was 1890 bushels. He also planted five acres to the "Triumphs" and the fourteen acres together will net him $1,000.

Writ for Election Is Denied.

Valley City, N. D., Oct. 15.—Yesterday in chambers Judge E. T. Burke denied the petition of citizens for a writ of mandamus compelling the city council to order a special election to vote on the commission plan of government.

Killed by Pail Weighing Ton.

St. Cloud, Minn., Oct. 15.—Charles Frederick Bunt, a carpenter, was struck by a bucket containing 3,000 pounds of dirt at the new power plant yesterday.

COL. TUCKER VERY SICK MAN

Officer Charged With Wife Desertion May Not Survive Journey to Hot Springs.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 15. — Col. William F. Tucker, assistant paymaster of the United States army, on whom a warrant was served at Decatur, Ill., Tuesday, charging wife desertion, left St. Louis for Hot Springs, Ark., last night.

Col. Tucker is a very sick man, and whether he will survive the journey is problematical. Accompanying Col. Tucker to Hot Springs are G. H. Frey of Chicago and his sister, Mrs. Myrtle Platt, a former teacher in the Philippines, who has been nursing Col. Tucker in his present illness; Mrs. Jennie T. Johnson of Oak Park, Ill., who is a sister of Col. Tucker, and a Filipino servant.

Col. Tucker will be taken to the government hospital at Hot Springs, whither he was ordered by Secretary of War Wright. This action of Secretary Wright, it appears, was taken at the instigation of Mrs. John A. Logan, the mother-in-law of the colonel, who desired that he be no longer nursed by Mrs. Platt.

Under the rules of the hospital at Hot Springs, outside nurses are not permited to care for patients there.

BLAST SHAKES FIFTH AVENUE.

Contractor in Charge of Excavation Work Is Arrested.

New York, Oct. 15.—With a force that cracked the walls of a Fifth avenue residence and shook pictures and statuary from their places, a dynamite blast was set off in a building excavation on upper Fifth avenue yesterday. Houses for blocks around in this fashionable section were shaken by the explosion, and many windows were broken.

As yet it is not known what caused the severity of the blast. The police arrested Louis Kretnow, the contractor in charge of the excavation work, and James Rusino, foreman of the work.

DREAM PREVENTS ROBBERY.

Arkansas Postmistress Removes $600 Ahead of Burglars.

Washington, Ark., Oct. 15.—Dreaming that an attempt would be made to rob the safe, Miss Rose Wallace, postmistress here, took precautions to remove $600 which she forwarded to Washington several days before the regular time.

Burglars broke in last night looted the safe of its contents, amounting to about $60. The pretty postmistress is now congratulating herself on believing in dreams. Citizens will probably make up her loss by public subscription.

BALLOON DROPS INTO OCEAN.

Two More Aeronauts Have Narrow Escape From Death.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—Only one of the twenty-three balloons which started in the race for the international trophy on Sunday from Schmargondorf is unaccounted for. This is the German balloon "Busley." Dispatches received here early yesterday from Cuxhaven announced that the Spanish contestant, "Castilia," dropped into the ocean six miles north of Heligoland and that the navigators, Montojo and Robero, were rescued by fishermen.

St. Paul, Minn., May 1st, 1908.

Hon. Julius A. Schmahl, Secretary of State—

Sir: As required by Section 25 of the Revised Laws, as amended, I have the honor to furnish you herewith a statement of the purposes and effects of the respective amendments proposed to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota by the Legislature of 1907, and which are to be submitted to the electors of said State at the General Election of 1908.

FIRST PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The first proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 477 of the Laws of 1907. By this amendment it is sought to repeal Sections one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) and seventeen (17) of Article nine (9) of the Constitution (the latter section being the amendment to said Article nine (9), adopted in 1896), which sections now read as follows:

"Section 1. All taxes to be raised in this state shall be as nearly equal as may be, and all property on which taxes are to be levied shall have a cash valuation and be equalized and uniform throughout the state: Provided, that the legislature may, by general law or special act, authorize municipal corporations to levy assessments for local improvements upon the property fronting upon such improvements, or upon the property to be benefited by such improvements, or both, without regard to cash valuation, and in such manner as the legislature may prescribe: and provided further, that for the purpose of defraying the expenses of laying water pipes and supplying any city or municipality with water, the legislature may, by general or special law, authorize any such city or municipality, having a population of five thousand or more, to levy an annual tax or assessment upon the lineal foot of all lands fronting on any water main or water pipe laid by such city or municipality within corporate limits of said city for supplying water to the citizens thereof without regard to the cash value of such property, and to empower such city to collect any such tax, assessments or fines, or penalties for failure to pay the same, or any fine or penalty for any violation of the rules of such city or municipality in regard to the use of water, or for any water rate due for the same: and provided further, that there may be by law levied and collected a tax upon all inheritances, devises, bequests, legacies and gifts of every kind and description above a fixed and specified sum, of any and all natural persons and corporations. Such tax above such exempted sum may be uniform or it may be graded or progressive, but shall not exceed a maximum tax of five per cent.

"Section 2. The legislature shall provide for an annual tax sufficient to defray the estimated ordinary expenses of the state for each year, and whenever it shall happen that such ordinary expenses of the state for any year shall exceed the income of the state for such year the legislature shall provide for levying a tax for the ensuing year sufficient, with other sources of income, to pay the deficiency of the preceding year, together with the estimated expenses of such ensuing year. But no law levying a tax or making other provisions for the payment of interest or principal of bonds denominated 'Minnesota State Railroad Bonds,' shall take effect or be in force until such law shall have been submitted to a vote of the people of the state, and adopted by a majority of the electors of the state voting upon the same.

"Section 3. Laws shall be passed taxing all moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies, or otherwise, also all real and personal property, according to its true value in money; but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property used for religious purposes, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, public property used exclusively for any public purpose, and personal property to an amount not exceeding in value two hundred dollars for each individual, shall, by general laws, be exempt from taxation.

"Section 4. Laws shall be passed for taxing the notes and bills discounted or purchased, moneys loaned, and all other property, effects, or dues of every description, of all banks and of all bankers, so that all property employed in banking shall always be subject to a taxation equal to that imposed on the property of individuals.

"Section 17. The legislature may impose, or provide for the imposition of, upon the property within this state of any and all owners or operators, whether corporate or individual, or otherwise, of any and all sleeping, parlor and drawing room cars, or any or either of the same, which run in, into or through this state; also upon the property within this state of any and all telegraph and telephone companies, or owners, whose lines are in, or extend in, into or through this state; also upon the property within this state of all express companies, or owners, or any or either of the same, doing business in this state; also upon the property within this state of all domestic insurance companies of this state, of any kind; also upon the property within this state of any and all foreign insurance companies doing business in this state of any kind; also upon the property within this state of all owners or operators of any and all mines or of mineral ores situated in this state; also upon the property within this state of all boom companies or owners, and of all ship builders or owners doing business in this state or having a port therein (provided, that this act shall not apply to property owned by railroad companies, their lands and other property); and upon the property of either or any of such companies or owners,—a tax as uniform as reasonably may be with the taxes imposed upon similar property in said state, or upon the earnings thereof within this state, but may be graded or progressive, or both, and in providing for such tax, or in providing for ascertaining the just and true value of such property, it shall be competent for the legislature in either or all such cases, to impose such tax upon any or all property thereof within this state, and in either case by taking as the basis of such imposition the proportionate business, earnings, mileage or quantity of production or property now or hereafter existing of any such companies, persons, or owners, transacted or existing in this state, in relation to the entire business, mileage or quantity of production or property of such companies, persons or owners, as aforesaid; or in such other manner, or by such other method as the legislature may determine; but the proceeds of such taxes upon mining property shall be distributed between the state and the various political subdivisions thereof wherein the same is situated, in the same proportion as the proceeds of taxes upon real property are distributed: Provided further, that nothing in this act contained shall operate to authorize the assessment or taxation of any farm land or ordinary business blocks or property owned by any such corporation, person, firm or company except in the manner provided by the ordinary methods of taxation."

"Sec. 1. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property used for religious purposes, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation personal property not exceeding in value $200 for each household, individual, or head of a family, as the legislature may determine. But the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads."

This proposed constitutional amendment was submitted and voted upon at the last election, and was declared carried. But a contest was instituted by interested parties, claiming that the amendment was not carried. That contest is now pending in the courts and it was on that account that the legislature decided to re-submit the amendment to the people, so that however the contest may be decided, the next legislature may have the power granted by the amendment. For the purpose of discussing the effect of the amendment I will assume that the same amendment submitted at the last election, did not carry.

The purpose and effect of this amendment would be to greatly enlarge the power of the legislature with reference to the subject of taxation. Section one (1) as it now stands provides that all taxes imposed shall be equal—as near as may be—on all forms of property, and all property upon which a tax is imposed is required to have a CASH VALUATION equalized throughout the state.

Section two (2) as it now stands requires the legislature to levy the necessary taxes annually to defray the expenses of the state. That is the duty of the legislature without any constitutional direction.

Section three (3) as it now stands provides that all real and personal property, including MONEYS, CREDITS and INVESTMENTS IN BONDS AND STOCKS, shall be assessed according to their true value in money.

Section four (4) as it now stands provides that property employed in banking shall be subject to a tax equal to that imposed on other property. This is only a repetition of the requirements of Sections one (1) and three (3), as no rational person would claim that banking capital should be exempt from taxation.

Section seventeen (17) as it now stands is not easy to understand, but it was intended by that section to relieve from the operation of sections one (1) and three (3), above quoted, property of the classes therein enumerated, so that a gross earnings tax could be applied thereto instead of direct taxation.

Owing to the provisions of sections one (1) and three (3) of the present Constitution many amendments were from time to time added so as to permit taxes to be imposed on specific kinds of property otherwise than upon a cash valuation equalized throughout the state. We have among these exceptions railroad gross earnings taxes; municipal frontage taxes; inheritance taxes; and the gross earnings taxes authorized by said section seventeen (17).

Several exemptions from taxation are also provided for, but as these exemptions are not changed by the proposed amendment, I will make no further reference to them.

The amendment which, if adopted, would take the place of all of the sections and amendments above referred to, is simple and plain. No provision of the Constitution is necessary to authorize the imposition of the taxes necessary for the support of the state and its various political subdivisions. The power of taxation is inherent in government. This proposed amendment declares that this inherent power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away; that taxes shall be imposed for public purposes and shall be uniform on the same class of subjects. Should this amendment be adopted all property of every kind in the state would be subject to taxation, according to the method the legislature saw fit to adopt, provided only that the tax was levied for a public purpose and was uniform on the same class of subjects. Under this amendment every tax law we now have on the statue books would continue to be valid, because under this amendment all limitations on the power of the legislature would be taken away.

The adoption of this amendment would, as indicated, repeal the so-called inheritance tax amendment, and the gross earnings tax amendment adopted in 1896, as contained in said Section seventeen (17), but in their place this amendment would give the legislature greater authority. Under this amendment the power to impose inheritance taxes would be unlimited, and any form of gross earnings tax would be valid. The gross earnings tax on railroads would not be affected by this amendment, as the Constitution provides that they cannot be changed without submitting the law making the change to a vote of the people. But with this amendment various new forms of taxation could be imposed, notably an income tax, a tonnage tax on iron ore and a registry tax on mortgages. Under the present Constitution we can impose no tax on mortgages owned by non-residents. A registry tax, which would be valid under this amendment, would reach all mortgages alike. While the Constitution requires all subjects of taxation to have a cash valuation with the tax equalized throughout the state, no proper income tax could be imposed.

SECOND PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The second proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 478 of the Laws of Minnesota for the year 1907. By this amendment it is sought to repeal Section sixteen (16) of Article nine (9) of the Constitution, which section now reads as follows:

"For the purpose of lending aid in the construction and improvement of public highways and bridges, there is hereby created a fund to be known as the 'State Road and Bridge Fund.' Said fund shall include all moneys accruing from the income derived from investments in the internal improvement land fund, or that may hereafter accrue to said fund, and shall also include all funds accruing to any state road and bridge fund, however provided.

"The legislature is authorized to add to such fund for the purpose of constructing or improving roads and bridges of this state, by providing, in its discretion, for an annual tax levy upon the property of this state of not to exceed in any year one-twentieth (1-20) of one (1) mill on all the taxable property within the state.

"The legislature is also authorized to provide for the appointment, by the governor of the state, of a board to be known as the 'State Highway Commission,' consisting of three (3) members, who shall perform such duties as shall be prescribed by law without salary or compensation other than personal expenses.

"Such commission shall have general superintendence of the construction of state roads and bridges and shall use such fund in the construction thereof and distribute the same in the several counties in the state upon an equitable basis. Provided further, that no county shall receive in any year more than three (3) per cent or less than one-half (½) of one (1) per cent of the total fund thus provided and expended during such year; and, provided further, that no more than one-third (1-3) of such fund accruing in any year shall be expended for bridges, and in no case shall more than one-third (1-3) of the cost of construction or improving any road or bridge be paid by the state from such fund," and to substitute therefor the following:

"Section 16. For the purpose of lending aid in the construction and improvement of public highways and bridges, there is hereby created a fund to be known as the 'State Road and Bridge Fund.' Said fund shall include all moneys accruing from the income derived from investments in the internal improvement land fund, or that may hereafter accrue to said fund, and shall also include all funds accruing to any state road and bridge fund, however provided.

"The legislature is authorized to add to such fund, for the purpose of constructing or improving roads and bridges of this state, by providing, in its discretion, for an annual tax levy upon the property of this state."

The purpose and effect of this amendment is to authorize the legislature to levy upon all the property of the state any amount necessary, in its judgment, for the benefit of the roads and bridges therein, and in so far removes the limitation which now exists in the Constitution, whereby the legislature is prevented from levying for such purpose a tax exceeding one-twentieth (1-20) of one (1) mill on the taxable property within the state.

This amendment further authorizes the legislature to provide salary and compensation, including personal expenses incurred in the performance of duty by the highway commission, or any other like officer entrusted by law with similar duties.

Finally, this amendment removes the limitation which now exists in the Constitution upon the powers of the highway commission in the distribution of the road and bridge fund of the state thereby authorized, and the amount which the state may pay from such fund toward the cost of constructing or improving any road or bridge, and leaves the whole management of such fund to be provided for by law, as the legislature shall deem wise.

The adoption of this amendment will not interfere with the power of the legislature to create a highway commission and define its powers, nor will it interfere with the appointment and tenure of office of the present commission.

THIRD PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The third proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 379 of the Laws of Minnesota for the year 1907. By this amendment it is sought to add the following section to Article nine (9) of the Constitution as a new section:

"Section 17. The legislature may provide for the payment by the State of Minnesota of damages to growing crops by hail and wind, or either, and to provide a fund for that purpose, may impose a specific tax upon lands, the owners of which, at their option, have listed the same with county auditors for that purpose, and no payment shall be made of any such damages except from the fund so provided."

The purpose and effect of this amendment is to authorize the legislature to permit the state to become the trustee in the collection and disbursement of a fund for the payment or damages to growing crops by hail or wind, or both. This fund is to be created and maintained by a specific tax upon the lands of such persons ONLY as shall VOLUNTARILY list the same with their respective county auditors for such purpose. There can be no tax for such purpose imposed on the lands of any owner who does not consent thereto. Its adoption will authorize the legislature to direct that the taxing machinery of the state be used to levy and collect the tax necessary to raise such fund, and to provide for the disbursement of the same by the officers of the state, but any payments to be made by the state by reason of damage by hail or wind will have to be made from said fund and from no other. The state would assume no responsibility beyond the amount of such fund, and could not further be rendered liable.

FOURTH PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The fourth proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 480 of the Laws of Minnesota for the year 1907. By this amendment it is sought to repeal the provisions of Section seven (7) of Article seven (7) of the Constitution, which section now reads as follows:

"Every person who by the provisions of this article shall be entitled to vote at any election shall be eligible to any office which now is, or hereafter shall be, elective by the people in the district wherein he shall have resided thirty days previous to such election, except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, or the Constitution and laws of the United States," and to substitute therefor the following:

"Every person who by the provisions of this article shall be entitled to vote at any election shall be eligible to any office which now is, or hereafter shall be, elective by the people in the district wherein he shall have resided thirty days previous to such election, except county superintendents of schools, who shall be required to have educational qualifications to be determined by the legislature, and except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, or the Constitution and laws of the United States."

The purpose and effect of this amendment is to authorize the legislature to require educational qualifications, in addition to all the other qualifications now required by law, for any person seeking the office of county superintendent of schools. As the Constitution now stands any legal voter is eligible to the office of county superintendent of schools.

Yours respectfully,
EDWARD T. YOUNG,
Attorney General.

The county campaign seems to be a very quiet affair and the prospects for "fireworks" are not bright.

The farmer will vote for Taft as under the present republican rule he has had unprecedented prosperity.

This has been an exceptional fall for the farmer to do his fall work and they are all busy. It will show on the crop next year.

As the campaign draws to a close poor old Bryan seems to show signs of weakness. It looks like three times down and out for Mr. Bryan.

This congressional district should be able to turn things over at Washington next year as both our candidates admit that they are first class hands at plowing.

McIntosh Times—Judging from the dull thud with which the County Agricultural School proposition was recently turned down in Red Lake county, Jacobson will not gain much by his advocacy of that measure, at least in Red Lake county.

The state ballot for Minnesota is a record breaker, having eighty-two names on it. There are five full tickets for presidential electors. The republican, democratic, prohibition, public ownership and independence parties have each eleven nominees for electors. The same five parties have nominees for state offices, but only the two old parties have full tickets.

PACKAGE WAS OF SOME VALUE

Gave Mrs. Potter an Opportunity She Had Long Desired.

"You know you've often told me that I'm one of those who are always letting good chances slip by me," Mr. Potter remarked complacently to his wife, on his return from a week's visit to the city. "Don't you recall it, Mandy?"

"I may have been driven to it once or twice," admitted Mrs. Potter. "What's that you've got in your hands, William?"

"This little package," said Mr. Potter, solemnly, "cost me $1.40, and I don't know what's in it. Wait!" He held up his hand as Mrs. Potter opened her mouth with evident intent to reproach him.

"Fred took me to one of the sales of unclaimed packages at the big railway office one day. Folks have to bid just what they think best; nobody knows what's in anything. But Fred and I could both tell about this. Sealed up on both ends as 'tis, we knew 'twas something valuable, and being so light, we concluded 'twas probably some piece o' women's jewelry. Fred said that if it hadn't been a pouring rain, so that few were there, I wouldn't have had any part of a chance; 'twould have run away up in dollars. Here, you open it.

"I told Fred I'd give him the credit," Mr. Potter went on, as his wife pried off the seals with a pair of scissors. "He's used to such things, and knows when to take and when to let go. So you see—"

Mr. Potter's voice trailed off into silence as his wife removed the wrapping paper from a small pasteboard box and opened it, held out to him a little yellow bottle, tightly packed with pale yellow tablets.

"Two every hour till the pain is relieved," read Mr. Potter with a faltering tongue from the label on the bottle held toward him by his wife. "My land, and you wouldn't durst to take one of 'em, not knowing what they're for!"

"Here, you put all this truck in the fire!" commanded Mrs. Potter. "And you needn't trouble to notify your nephew Fred. I'll write him this afternoon. There are a number of things I've been wanting to say to him for some time."—Youth's Companion.

The Loquacious Swain.

Mr. Backwoods had called for the first time to escort Miss Bumpkin to the weekly prayer meeting. An excess of timidity and self-consciousness reduced both to a point of absolute silence until at last and with visible effort, as the "meeting house" is neared, the gallant summons all his courage.

"Do you like stewed rabbits?" he hazards.

"Yes," returns the maiden, coyly.

Again silence, until on the return journey the home lights are sighted, when, with another mighty effort, the resourceful swain asks, feelingly:

"Ain't the gravy nice?"

Fierce Hailstorms in England.

Large stories are told of the damage done by hailstones in Minnesota recently. However, Old England itself has some statistics to show. On May 30, 1897, a terrific hailstorm visited Seaford, Sussex. Some of the "bolts" measure 4½ inches in circumference, after lying on the ground for fully seven minutes. On June 24, in the same year, the most disastrous visitation of the kind in modern times ravaged parts of Essex and the adjacent counties.

Animals and poultry were killed and crops ruined. At Ingatestone the hall broke through a slated roof, and at Baddow it went through windows and cut the blinds to pieces. The damage in Essex alone was at least $500,000.

The latest storm of exceptional violence occurred in Huntingdonshire on August 2, 1906. The "hail" consisted of hard pieces of ice, from three to four inches in length, and killed rabbits and other small animals wholesale.

"That young man who comes to see you, Maud, has such an explosive manner."

"You must remember, mother, that his father was in the fireworks business."

The Knowing Child.

"Pa, when are you going to take me to the park?"

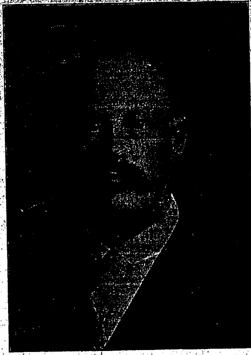
"Wait until the cool of the evening, my son."

"But, pa, 'spose there ain't any?"

The Principal Hurt.

"Can't you get over talking about the way you got cheated in that horse trade?"

"No," answered Mr. Sirius Barker. "I don't mind a man getting my money, but I hate to feel that I have lost his respect."



S. A. Swanson

S. A. Swanson, Republican candidate for Judge of Probate, has been a resident of what is now Red Lake county for 27 years, coming here with his parents from New Jersey April 12, 1881. In 1892 he began teaching, and divided his time between that vocation and work on the homestead until Dec. 28, 1896, when he was appointed the first Register of Deeds of Red Lake county in which capacity he served two years.

Since that he has asked for no county office, but has twice been a candidate for the legislature, once in 1900, carrying this county by over 300 for Representative, and a second time in 1902 getting a majority of 844 for State Senator, both times being defeated by the heavy opposition vote from the other counties in this district, where he was unknown.

His fidelity to friends and fairness in all business transactions have gained him cordial support in the parts where he is known.

As a candidate for Judge of Probate before the voters of Red Lake county he asks a fair consideration from every voter in the county.

A Feminine Mistake

The greatest mistake that a woman makes is that she is not jolly enough. She makes too serious a business of life. Men stop in the midst of the gravest perplexities to have a hearty laugh. For some reason women cannot do this and they fade early. The best thing to preserve youth and beauty is the daily use of a good malt tonic, such as golden grain belt beer. Taken at mealtime it will aid digestion, stimulate the nerves and make rich, red blood. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

Damages for the "Honk" That Scared Other Men's Horses.

Norristown, Pa.—Damages are recoverable when horses take fright and run away at the sound of an automobile horn, as was decided by a jury in common pleas court in awarding Henry Hoff $127 damages.

On April 28 of last year Mr. Hoff was driving his family to church at Limerick square, when on the Ridge turnpike they met Edmund S. Souder in his automobile. Hoff claims that Souder blew his horn opposite his team, frightening the horses, which upset the carriage and threw out the occupants.

His daughter had an arm injured, one horse had a leg lacerated and the carriage was badly broken. Hoff figured his damages at $245.

MISS HELEN SAUERBIER

PERUNA ADVISED FOR SUDDEN COLDS.

It Should be Taken According to Directions on the Bottle, at the First Appearance of the Cold.

ST. JOSEPH, MICH., Sept., 1901.—Last winter I caught a sudden cold which developed into an unpleasant catarrh of the head and throat, depriving me of my appetite and usual good spirits. A friend who had been cured by Peruna advised me to try it and I sent for a bottle at once, and I am glad to say that in three days the phlegm had loosened, and I felt better, my appetite returned and within nine days I was in my usual good health.

—Miss Helen Sauerbier.

Peruna is an old and well tried remedy for colds. No woman should be without it.

CONSERVATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES

Far Reaching Policy for the Good of All the People.

Republican Party Uncovering Vast Wealth and Making Home Owning Easier Each Year.

An extremely important feature of the constructive Republican policy is the national movement for the conservation of the natural resources of the country. This measure has been originated by the present Republican administration and, like the homestead law, the national irrigation act and other measures for the benefit of the whole people, its influence is destined to be far reaching and productive of great good to the home builders of the country.

The National Conservation Commission as it exists to-day is an outgrowth of the Inland Waterways Commission—this Commission was appointed by President Roosevelt in March, 1907. In his letter creating the Waterways Commission the President uses this language: "That the Inland Waterways Commission shall consider the relations of the streams to the use of all the permanent natural resources and their conservation for the making and maintenance of prosperous homes."

Home Building for the People.

The inquiries of the commission along the lines indicated led to the proposal to the President on Oct. 3 that he call a conference on the general subject of the conservation of the national resources of the nation. Among other reasons mentioned for this movement their letter to the President stated: "Hitherto our national policy has been one of almost unrestricted disposal of natural resources, and this in more lavish measure than by any other nation in the world's history; and this policy of the federal government has been shared by the constituent States. Three consequences have ensued: First, unprecedented consumption of natural resources; second, exhaustion of these resources to the extent that a large part of our available public lands have passed into great estates or corporate interests, our forests are so far depleted as to multiply the cost of forest products, and our supplies of coal and iron ore are so far reduced as to enhance prices; and third, unequalled opportunity for private monopoly, to the extent that both the federal and State sovereignties have been compelled to enact laws for the protection of the people.

"We are of opinion that the time has come for considering the policy of conserving these material resources on which the permanent prosperity of our country and the equal opportunity of all our people must depend; we are also of opinion that the policy of conservation has so marked an advance on that policy adopted at the outset of our national career as to demand the consideration of both federal and State sponsors for the welfare of the people."

The Constructive Leaven at Work.

In his address before the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways Association at Memphis President Roosevelt announced his intention of calling such a conference, and on Nov. 13, 1907, he issued invitations to the Governors of all the States and territories to meet at the White House May 13-15, 1908. In this letter he said: "Recently I declared there is no other question now before the nation of equal gravity with the question of the conservation of our natural resources, and I added that it is the plain duty of us who for the moment are responsible to take inventory of the natural resources which have been handed down to us, to forecast the needs of the future and so handle the great sources of our prosperity as not to destroy in advance all hope of the prosperity of our descendants."

This conference was held, President Roosevelt presided and the practical conservation work was properly launched.

Taft to Direct the Work.

Mr. Taft is thoroughly in sympathy with this movement to build more homes for the people and to make them more attractive. He is one of the great Americans who typify the independence and the constructive genius of the American home builder. There is an innate desire in the heart of the American citizen to own a home. Mr. Taft recognizes the inherent yearning of the people apparent on every page of history to own in fee simple some portion of the earth. The desire is as keen today as it ever was. Of all our wealth-producing class, the farmer needs a home most. He must have land. He should by all means own it. His farm need not be so large as some suppose, but it should belong to the farmer, not to some one else. This is not only self-evident because of the advantages to the farmer, but because of its advantages to the nation at large. It is the corner stone of our national life. It lies at the root of all true patriotism and all social improvement and content.

Give a man a home upon the soil, and you have made him a patriot who will defend your institutions at the ballot box or on the battlefield. Mr. Taft proposes to open the door to our vast natural resources with the Republican key of national conservation. This is a most hopeful augury of the future. When the people have easy access to the land and can fully utilize our great natural resources, most of our other troubles will settle themselves. The property owner is a conservative man who loves his family and his country. Let the property owners be as numerous as possible. Let the good work of home-making continue under Taft and Sherman.

The Future Growing Brighter.

We are entering upon a new and momentous era that calls for the highest qualities of constructive statesmanship—such as Taft has so impressively demonstrated he possesses. This revelation to our people of the wealth at their very doors is characteristic of the watchfulness of the Republican party, and the work must be firmly and intelligently directed to reach its highest possibilities to the citizen. We are planning not only for ourselves, but for future generations. We are the forefathers of a mighty future in a mighty land. If we are equal to our duties and opportunities we will make homes west of the Mississippi river for a hundred million of the freest men and women who ever walked the earth.

We are living in an age of mighty achievements. The great canals and reservoirs for constructive work for irrigation in the arid region, the Panama canal and other mammoth projects will soon stand as completed monuments to the constructive genius of our people and this age. The future is potent with still grander undertakings which will in a few brief years, under Republican direction, stand as accomplished facts.

La Follette on Taft.

"Nature gave him poise, judicial temperament, great force of character and tenacity of purpose," said the Senator. "His long life in the public service is distinguishing for its marked ability, its wisdom, its integrity, its patriotism. He has taken advanced grounds on the great issues that are engaging the profoundest thought of the people of this great country.

"Now from a somewhat intimate acquaintance with him for the last twenty years I say that he is progressive in principle and he is equipped most wonderfully in experience."

The Senator then reviewed Mr. Taft's career for the last ten years, when, he said, he had been called on to advise by two Presidents on questions of government which gave them the greatest concern.

Richard Olney, who was in Cleveland's Cabinet, opposes Roosevelt's policies, but supports Bryan, who says Roosevelt's policies are his policies. This is a great year for Democratic logic.—Philadelphia Press.

"You can't fall out of bed when you are already on the floor," is one of Mr. Bryan's latest epigrams. But that's mighty little consolation to the Democrats who want to get back into bed.—Washington Post.

It is asserted that through the restless energies of the Bryan League as much as $20,000 has been collected in this State for the Bryan campaign fund. When do we get the names of the contributors and the individual amounts, as promised?—Philadelphia Press.

The Democrats are very unfortunate in being compelled to explain that Bryan and his party are worse than his bills. Just now the people are demanding leaders whose views are not involved in doubt and not men for whom excuses must be made.—San Francisco Chronicle.

We don't believe in free wool, and have no use for the "peerless one" who advocates it.—American Sheep Breeder.

If Uncle Joe Cannon had never had to do anything but talk, he might now be as popular as Bryan.—Sioux City Journal.

WILL VOTE FOR BRYAN.

Times Too Prosperous for One Kansas Farmer, He Says.

A Saline County farmer, who came to the country in the early days and accumulated six or eight hundred acres of farm lands, who has raised lots of wheat and corn and always voted the Republican ticket, national, state and county, declares that he is going to vote for Bryan this year, says the Salina (Kan.) Journal. His argument is a peculiar one, and from a Democratic standpoint is a good one. Mr. Farmer says he is land hungry and wants more Kansas lands, but because it is too high he is unable to acquire it. He declares that the price of wheat is too high, and likewise the price of corn. With a lower price on wheat and corn and other farm products the price of farm lands is bound to decline and when the price has been reduced he will be enabled to purchase more farms.

Mr. Farmer says the election of Bryan is sure to reduce prices on everything—wheat, corn, rye, alfalfa, oats, hogs, poultry and farm hands and the land itself.

A vote for Bryan, the free trader, means a vote for free wool and the ruin of the sheep and wool industry.—American Sheep Breeder.

Mr. Bryan said at Kingston that President Roosevelt's indorsement of Mr. Taft was worthless, for it was "the indorsement of a bankrupt." Why, then, has Mr. Bryan made such frantic claims as "the natural heir" of Mr. Roosevelt?—New York Tribune.

"I don't care for the Presidency if it has to come by compromise with Senator Foraker or anyone else in a matter of principle."—William H. Taft.

The panic was doubtless chiefly due to the exhaustion of the free capital of the world by reason of the over-investment in enterprises that have not proved as profitable as expected. The enormous industrial expansion has at last tied up nearly all the world's capital which was available and new investments had to halt. This result was world-wide.—Hon. Wm. H. Taft, at Kansas City, Mo.

RHEUMATISM PRESCRIPTION

The increased use of whiskey for rheumatism is causing considerable discussion among the medical fraternity. It is an almost infallible cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. The following formula is effective: "To one-half pint of good whiskey add one ounce of Toris Compound and one ounce of Syrup Sarsaparilla Compound. Take in tablespoonful doses before each meal and before retiring."

Toris compound is a product of the laboratories of the Globe Pharmaceutical Co., Chicago, but it as well as the other ingredients can be had from any good druggist.

"I did."

"Why on earth, then, do you offer such a big reward for its return?"

"I like to please my wife."

"Well, that may be; but that reward is sure to bring the dog back."

"I think not," said the other, with a knowing smile; "that is, unless some one saw me bury it in the garden."

Eagles still hover over the crags that make the Cumberland Narrows noted. John H. Horchler, and engineer found a pheasant fluttering in his yard at Cumberland and observed a large eagle flying away.

The eagle had dropped the pheasant and made frantic but unsuccessful efforts to recover it, flying into the yard, but was frightened away by the presence of Mr. Horchler, who found the pheasant fluttering with jagged holes in his neck from the eagle's talons.

WANTED TO KNOW

The Truth About Grape-Nuts Food.

It doesn't matter so much what you hear about a thing, it's what you know that counts. And correct knowledge is most likely to come from personal experience.

"About a year ago," writes a N. Y. man, "I was bothered by indigestion, especially during the forenoon. I tried several remedies without any permanent improvement.

"My breakfast usually consisted of oatmeal, steak or chops, bread, coffee and some fruit.

"Hearing so much about Grape-Nuts, I concluded to give it a trial and find out if all I had heard of it was true.

"So I began with Grape-Nuts and cream, 2 soft boiled eggs, toast, a cup of Postum and some fruit. Before the end of the first week I was rid of the acidity of the stomach and felt much relieved.

"By the end of the second week all traces of indigestion had disappeared and I was in first rate health once more. Before beginning this course of diet, I never had any appetite for lunch, but now I can enjoy a hearty meal at noon time." "There's a Reason."

The pain she suffered was excruciating, and with that and the heat and tingling her life was almost unbearable. Proposed Amendments

—TO THE—

Constitution

—OF—

Minnesota

—BY—

The Legislature

General Session, 1907.

St. Paul, Minn., May 1st, 1908.

Hon. Julius A. Schmahl, Secretary of State—

Sir: As required by Section 25 of the Revised Laws, as amended, I have the honor to furnish you herewith a statement of the purposes and effects of the respective amendments proposed to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota by the Legislature of 1907, and which are to be submitted to the electors of said State at the General Election of 1908.

FIRST PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The first proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 477 of the Laws of 1907. By this amendment it is sought to repeal Sections one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) and seventeen (17) of Article nine (9) of the Constitution (the latter section being the amendment to said Article nine (9), adopted in 1896), which sections now read as follows:

"Section 1. All taxes to be raised in this state shall be as nearly equal as may be, and all property on which taxes are to be levied shall have a cash valuation and be equalized and uniform throughout the state: Provided, that the legislature may, by general law or special act, authorize municipal corporations to levy assessments for local improvements upon the property fronting upon such improvements, or upon the property to be benefited by such improvements, or both, without regard to cash valuation, and in such manner as the legislature may prescribe; and provided further, that for the purpose of defraying the expenses of laying water pipes and supplying any city or municipality with water, the legislature may, by general or special law, authorize any such city or municipality, having a population of five thousand or more, to levy an annual tax or assessment upon the lineal foot of all lands fronting on any water main or water pipe laid by such city or municipality within corporate limits of said city for supplying water to the citizens thereof without regard to the cash value of such property, and to empower such city to collect any such tax, assessments or fines, or penalties for failure to pay the same, or any fine or penalty for any violation of the rules of such city or municipality in regard to the use of water, or for any water rate due for the same; and provided further, that there may be by law levied and collected a tax upon all inheritances, devises, bequests, legacies and gifts of every kind and description above a fixed and specified sum, of any and all natural persons and corporations. Such tax above such exempted sum may be uniform or it may be graded or progressive, but shall not exceed a maximum tax of five per cent.

"Section 2. The legislature shall provide for an annual tax sufficient to defray the estimated ordinary expenses of the state for each year, and whenever it shall happen that such ordinary expenses of the state for any year shall exceed the income of the state for such year the legislature shall provide for levying a tax for the ensuing year sufficient, with other sources of income, to pay the deficiency of the preceding year, together with the estimated expenses of such ensuing year. But no law levying a tax or making other provisions for the payment of interest or principal of bonds denominated 'Minnesota State Railroad Bonds,' shall take effect or be in force until such law shall have been submitted to a vote of the people of the state, and adopted by a majority of the electors of the state voting upon the same.

"Section 3. Laws shall be passed taxing all moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies, or otherwise, also all real and personal property, according to its true value in money; but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property used for religious purposes, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, public property used exclusively for any public purpose, and personal property to an amount not exceeding in value two hundred dollars for each individual, shall, by general laws, be exempt from taxation.

"Section 4. Laws shall be passed for taxing the notes and bills discounted or purchased, moneys loaned, and all other property, effects, or dues of every description, of all banks and of all bankers, so that all property employed in banking shall always be subject to a taxation equal to that imposed on the property of individuals.

"Section 17. The legislature may impose, or provide for the imposition of, upon the property within this state of any and all owners or operators, whether corporate or individual, or otherwise, of any and all sleeping, parlor and drawing room cars, or any or either of the same, which run in, into or through this state; also upon the property within this state of any and all telegraph and telephone companies, or owners, whose lines are in, or extend in, into or through this state; also upon the property within this state of all express companies, or owners, or any or either of the same, doing business in this state; also upon the property within this state of all domestic insurance companies of this state of any kind; also upon the property within this state of any and all foreign insurance companies doing business in this state of any kind; also upon the property within this state of all owners or operators of any and all mines or of mineral ores situated in this state; also upon the property within this state of all boom companies or owners, and of all ship builders or owners doing business in this state or having a port therein (provided, that this act shall not apply to property owned by railroad companies, their lands and other property); and upon the property of either or any of such companies or owners,—a tax as uniform as reasonably may be with the taxes imposed upon similar property in said state, or upon the earnings thereof within this state, but may be graded or progressive, or both, and in providing for such tax, or in providing for ascertaining the just and true value of such property, it shall be competent for the legislature in either or all such cases, to impose such tax upon any or all property thereof within this state, and in either case by taking as the basis of such imposition the proportionate business, earnings, mileage or quantity of production or property now or hereafter existing of any such companies, persons or owners, transacted or existing in this state, in relation to the entire business, mileage or quantity of production or property of such companies, persons or owners as aforesaid; or in such other manner, or by such other method as the legislature may determine; but the proceeds of such taxes upon mining property shall be distributed between the state and the various political subdivisions thereof wherein the same is situated, in the same proportion as the proceeds of taxes upon real property are distributed: Provided further, that nothing in this act contained shall operate to authorize the assessment or taxation of any farm land or ordinary business blocks or property owned by any such corporation, person, firm or company except in the manner provided by the ordinary methods of taxation,"

"Sec. 1. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property used for religious purposes, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation personal property not exceeding in value $200 for each household, individual, or head of a family, as the legislature may determine. But the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads."

This proposed constitutional amendment was submitted and voted upon at the last election and was declared carried. But a contest was instituted by interested parties, claiming that the amendment was not carried. That contest is now pending in the courts and it was on that account that the legislature decided to re-submit the amendment to the people, so that however the contest may be decided, the next legislature may have the power granted by the amendment. For the purpose of discussing the effect of the amendment I will assume that the same amendment submitted at the last election, did not carry.

The purpose and effect of this amendment would be to greatly enlarge the power of the legislature with reference to the subject of taxation. Section one (1) as it now stands provides that all taxes imposed shall be equal—as near as may be—on all forms of property, and all property upon which a tax is imposed is required to have a CASH VALUATION equalized throughout the state.

Section two (2) as it now stands requires the legislature to levy the necessary taxes annually to defray the expenses of the state. That is the duty of the legislature without any constitutional direction.

Section three (3) as it now stands provides that all real and personal property, including MONEYS, CREDITS and INVESTMENTS IN BONDS AND STOCKS, shall be assessed according to their true value in money.

Section four (4) as it now stands provides that property employed in banking shall be subject to a tax equal to that imposed on other property. This is only a repetition of the requirements of Sections one (1) and three (3), as no rational person would claim that banking capital should be exempt from taxation.

Section seventeen (17) as it now stands is not easy to understand, but it was intended by that section to relieve from the operation of sections one (1) and three (3), above quoted, property of the classes therein enumerated, so that a gross earnings tax could be applied thereto instead of direct taxation.

Owing to the provisions of sections one (1) and three (3) of the present Constitution many amendments were from time to time added so as to permit taxes to be imposed on specific kinds of property otherwise than upon a cash valuation equalized throughout the state. We have among these exceptions railroad gross earnings taxes; municipal frontage taxes; inheritance taxes; and the gross earnings taxes authorized by said section seventeen (17).

Several exemptions from taxation are also provided for, but as these exemptions are not changed by the proposed amendment, I will make no further reference to them.

The amendment which, if adopted, would take the place of all of the sections and amendments above referred to, is simple and plain. No provision of the Constitution is necessary to authorize the imposition of the taxes necessary for the support of the state and its various political subdivisions. The power of taxation is inherent in government. This proposed amendment declares that this inherent power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away; that taxes shall be imposed for public purposes and shall be uniform on the same class of subjects. Should this amendment be adopted all property of every kind in the state would be subject to taxation, according to the method the legislature saw fit to adopt, provided only that the tax was levied for a public purpose and was uniform on the same class of subjects. Under this amendment every tax law we now have on the statue books would continue to be valid, because under this amendment all limitations on the power of the legislature would be taken away.

The adoption of this amendment would, as indicated, repeal the so-called inheritance tax amendment, and the gross earnings tax amendment adopted in 1896, as contained in said Section seventeen (17), but in their place this amendment would give the legislature greater authority. Under this amendment the power to impose inheritance taxes would be unlimited, and any form of gross earnings tax would be valid. The gross earnings tax on railroads would not be affected by this amendment, as the Constitution provides that they cannot be changed without submitting the law making the change to a vote of the people. But with this amendment various new forms of taxation could be imposed, notably an income tax, a tonnage tax on iron ore and a registry tax on mortgages. Under the present Constitution we can impose no tax on mortgages owned by non-residents. A registry tax, which would be valid under this amendment, would reach all mortgages alike. While the Constitution requires all subjects of taxation to have a cash valuation with the tax equalized throughout the state, no proper income tax could be imposed.

SECOND PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The second proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 478 of the Laws of Minnesota for the year 1907. By this amendment it is sought to repeal Section sixteen (16) of Article nine (9) of the Constitution, which section now reads as follows:

"For the purpose of lending aid in the construction and improvement of public highways and bridges, there is hereby created a fund to be known as the 'State Road and Bridge Fund.' Said fund shall include all moneys accruing from the income derived from investments in the internal improvement land fund, or that may hereafter accrue to said fund, and shall also include all funds accruing to any state road and bridge fund, however provided.

"The legislature is authorized to add to such fund for the purpose of constructing or improving roads and bridges of this state, by providing, in its discretion, for an annual tax levy upon the property of this state of not to exceed in any year one-twentieth (1-20) of one (1) mill on all the taxable property within the state.

"The legislature is also authorized to provide for the appointment, by the governor of the state, of a board to be known as the 'State Highway Commission,' consisting of three (3) members, who shall perform such duties as shall be prescribed by law without salary or compensation other than personal expenses.

"Such commission shall have general superintendence of the construction of state roads and bridges and shall use such fund in the construction thereof and distribute the same in the several counties in the state upon an equitable basis. Provided further, that no county shall receive in any year more than three (3) per cent or less than one-half (½) of one (1) per cent of the total fund thus provided and expended during such year; and, provided further, that no more than one-third (1-3) of such fund accruing in any year shall be expended for bridges, and in no case shall more than one-third (1-3) of the cost of construction or improving any road or bridge be paid by the state from such fund," and to substitute therefor the following:

"Section 16. For the purpose of lending aid in the construction and improvement of public highways and bridges, there is hereby created a fund to be known as the 'State Road and Bridge Fund.' Said fund shall include all moneys accruing from the income derived from investments in the internal improvement land fund, or that may hereafter accrue to said fund, and shall also include all funds accruing to any state road and bridge fund, however provided.

"The legislature is authorized to add to such fund, for the purpose of constructing or improving roads and bridges of this state by providing, in its discretion, for an annual tax levy upon the property of this state."

The purpose and effect of this amendment is to authorize the legislature to levy upon all the property of the state any amount necessary, in its judgment, for the benefit of the roads and bridges therein, and in so far removes the limitation which now exists in the Constitution, whereby the legislature is prevented from levying for such purpose a tax exceeding one-twentieth (1-20) of one (1) mill on the taxable property within the state.

This amendment further authorizes the legislature to provide salary and compensation, including personal expenses incurred in the performance of duty by the highway commission, or any other like officer entrusted by law with similar duties.

Finally, this amendment removes the limitation which now exists in the Constitution upon the powers of the highway commission in the distribution of the road and bridge fund of the state whereby authorized, and the amount which the state may pay from such fund toward the cost of constructing or improving any road or bridge, and leaves the whole management of such fund to be provided for by law, as the legislature shall deem wise.

The adoption of this amendment will not interfere with the power of the legislature to create a highway commission and define its powers, nor will it interfere with the appointment and tenure of office of the present commission.

THIRD PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The third proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 379 of the Laws of Minnesota for the year 1907. By this amendment it is sought to add the following section to Article nine (9) of the Constitution as a new section:

"Section 17. The legislature may provide for the payment by the State of Minnesota of damages to growing crops by hail and wind, or either, and to provide a fund for that purpose, may impose a specific tax upon lands, the owners of which, at their option, have listed the same with county auditors for that purpose, and no payment shall be made of any such damages except from the fund so provided."

The purpose and effect of this amendment is to authorize the legislature to permit the state to become the trustee in the collection and disbursement of a fund for the payment of damages to growing crops by hail or wind, or both. This fund is to be created and maintained by a specific tax upon the lands of such persons ONLY as shall VOLUNTARILY list the same with their respective county auditors for such purpose. There can be no tax for such purpose imposed on the lands of any owner who does not consent thereto. Its adoption will authorize the legislature to direct that the taxing machinery of the state be used to levy and collect the tax necessary to raise such fund, and to provide for the disbursement of the same by the officers of the state, but any payments to be made by the state by reason of damage by hail or wind will have to be made from said fund and from no other. The state would assume no responsibility beyond the amount of such fund, and could not further be rendered liable.

FOURTH PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The fourth proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 480 of the laws of Minnesota for the year 1907. By this amendment it is sought to repeal the provisions of Section seven (7) of Article seven (7) of the Constitution, which section now reads as follows:

"Every person who by the provisions of this article shall be entitled to vote at any election shall be eligible to any office which now is, or hereafter shall be, elective by the people in the district wherein he shall have resided thirty days previous to such election, except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, or the Constitution and laws of the United States," and to substitute therefor the following:

"Every person who by the provisions of this article shall be entitled to vote at any election shall be eligible to any office which now is, or hereafter shall be, elective by the people in the district wherein he shall have resided thirty days previous to such election, except county superintendents of schools, who shall be required to have educational qualifications to be determined by the legislature, and except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, or the Constitution and laws of the United States."

The purpose and effect of this amendment is to authorize the legislature to require educational qualifications, in addition to all the other qualifications now required by law, for any person seeking the office of county superintendent of schools. As the Constitution now stands any legal voter is eligible to the office of county superintendent of schools.

Yours respectfully,
EDWARD T. YOUNG,
Attorney General.

FLEES DEATH AT HANDS OF RIDERS

DEATH BATTLE IS IMPENDING

Entire State Fired Over Killing of Rankin—Bent on Bringing Riders to Justice.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 22. — Zach Taylor, aged lawyer, who was taken from a hotel at Walnut Log, Tenn., at the same time Capt. Rankin was lynched, has turned up near Tiptonville, having escaped from fishermen night riders.

After Capt. Rankin was hanged, the masked night riders got into a discussion among themselves as to what to do with Judge Taylor, some favoring his killing, while others wanted to hold him so as to force concession to their demands for free fishing in Reel Foot lake.

Escapes While Riders Dispute.

While the riders disputed, Taylor jumped from his guards, dashed to the edge of the bayou leading from the lake and plunged in, swimming across. He was fired on several times by the riders, but escaped in the darkness.

He was lost in the woods and when daylight came he was afraid to go back to Walnut Log, but was found near Tiptonville.

Sheriffs of five counties, with their posses, three companies of militia and the governor of Tennessee and the relatives of Capt. Quintin Rankin, the murdered victim, are on the scene, engaged in the effort to run the murderers down.

Death Battle Impends.

The $10,000 reward that has been offered by the governor has incited the greatest man hunt ever known in the history of Tennessee. The entire state is fired over the crime.

Relatives of Taylor are bent on blood vengeance. The posses that have poured in from the surrounding country are no less bent on bringing to justice the perpetrators of the crime.

On the other hand, it is said that the Reel Foot lake night riders formed a band of 800 strong. They have a perfect organization and are sworn by the blood oath to stand by one another. It is believed they will fight to the death.

TRY TO LYNCH ASSAILANT.

Brute Is Rescued From Mob by Timely Arrival of Police.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—A mob of men, led by a woman, attempted to lynch Fremont McCarthy, twenty-three years old, in the Ghetto yesterday afternoon, after he had attempted to attack a little girl. The crowd had a rope and was prepared to hang him to a lamp post when the police arrived and saved his life. The mob fought the police, who drew revolvers and threatened to shoot. Several riot calls were sent to the Maxwell street police station. In response a patrol wagon filled with policemen was hurried to the scene. The man whose life was menaced was torn from the mob, placed in the wagon and taken away.

STAY OF EXECUTION FOR NOAH

North Dakota Murderer Given New Lease of Life—Examined as to His Sanity.

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 22. — D. M. Noah, condemned to be hanged Thursday night at the penitentiary for the murder of Gust Johnson near Kenmare last March, will not be executed as scheduled. His attorneys secured an appeal to the supreme court yesterday afternoon, which acts as a stay of execution pending application for a new trial. This delay will give Noah's attorneys time to apply to the state pardon board for a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment on the ground of insanity. Yesterday Gov. Burke, on application for a reprieve, ordered the superintendent of the state asylum for the insane to examine Noah as to his sanity, and he and other doctors were at the penitentiary last night on such a quest. The same scaffold on which John Rooney was hanged two years ago is ready, and some of the witnesses are already here to witness the expected execution. Noah took the notification of the delay very indifferently.

MUCH TIMBER DESTROYED.

Fifty Square Miles Burned Over in Michigan—Conditions Better.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 22.—A report from Pickard says that between forty and fifty square miles of timber in that section have been destroyed. Gatesville was surrounded by flames yesterday and three residences were destroyed there. The south end of Sugar island is all ablaze, but the northern portion seems safe. Although nothing but a heavy rain can stop the fires in the woods of this district, general conditions are improved. Back-firing has been effective around the small towns, and it looks as though all further damage might be confined to standing timber.

NO DISCORDANT NOTE HEARD

Ball Given to Officers of Battleship Fleet Is Most Brilliant Function of Week.

Tokyo, Oct. 22. — The dinner and ball given last evening in honor of the visit of the American fleet of battleships by Premier Katura at his residence brought together about 1,000 prominent people, including all the American officers who were invited to the ball. The guests at the dinner, however, were confined to those holding official positions. There were no set speeches. Premier Katura proposed the health of President Roosevelt and American Ambassador O'Brien that of the emperor of Japan. A toast to the fleet by the premier was responded to by Rear Admiral Sperry.

Brillian Function.

The ball was the most brilliant function of the week, and brought the Americans and Japanese into the closest touch.

To-morrow 4,000 sailors from the fleet will come to Tokyo to attend a garden party at Nabyis Park, to be given by Y. Csaki, mayor of Tokyo. At the same time the officers will be entertained at luncheons given by the mayor and by Prince Shiundaza, later attending a garden party at the British embassy.

Throughout the week of the reception there has not been a discordant note among the American bluejackets ashore in Yokohama. The men have been entertained lavishly on every side.

To Get Perry Relic.

Admiral Sperry and the other admirals of the fleet will leave Tokyo for Yokohama on Friday, Oct. 23, but the last feature of the city's entertainment of the Americans will be given by Baron Kaneko, president of the American Friends society, on Friday night and Rear Admiral Emery will remain in Tokyo to represent Admiral Sperry. The reception will be held at the rooms of the Maple club, and Baron Kaneko will then present to Admiral Sperry, through Admiral Emery, a relic of Commodore Perry's visit to Japan.

WOMAN IN THE MORSE CASE

Enormous Loans in Name of Banker's Secretary Are Traced by Bank Examiner.

New York, Oct. 22.—Into the testimony at the trial of Charles W. Morse and his codefendant, Alfred H. Curtis, who are charged before Judge Hough, in the criminal branch of the United States court, with conspiracy and violation of the national banking laws, was introduced yesterday the name of Miss Kate A. Wilson, secretary to Mr. Morse, and the prosecution produced withnesses who testified to large loans made by the National Bank of North America, a Morse institution, to Miss Wilson.

Edwin Moxley, a government bank examiner, who has proved at this hearing that he is a wizard at figures, was the principal witness relative to the big loans made to the financier's faithful secretary, summed up his testimony as follows:

"On her bare and upsupported note Morse would loan Miss Wilson a sum of money. Miss Wilson's note would be cashed by the National Bank of North America, and with the proceeds stock of the American Ice company would be purchased. Then the Ice stock would be used to secure another loan from the bank. With the money thus secured bank stock would be purchased, and the bank stock aided in supporting the Ice stock pools in which Morse and other financiers were interested. The failure to raise the price of Ice above par was what caused the break in the endless chain."

SALT MAY BECOME A LUXURY.

Michigan Forest Fires Burned Fuel Used in Evaporating Process.

St. Louis, Oct. 22.—That common table salt may become a luxury so expensive as to be beyond the means of the poor is one of the probable results of the great forest fires that waged last week in Northern Michigan, according to Charles M. Mulkey of Detroit, a member of a large salt company that operates in the devastated region.

Mulkey says that all the wood and sawdust used by salt companies were burned. Export coal is out of the question on account of the expense, and he fears the salt output will be reduced to such a point that a stiff advance in prices may follow.

H. F. Anderson And The Superintendency.

Editor Spectator:—

I take it to be a general truth that any careful and fair opinion of a candidate is acceptable and of interest and value to the voters. The more sidelight on a candidate's character, preparation and qualifications a voter can get the better he can decide if that person is the right one for the office. I cannot persuade myself to believe that any write-up about Mr. Anderson is necessary at all for there is no reason why he should not receive all the votes he got at the primary election and the rest of the republican votes besides. He is entitled to them in every way and is fully worthy of anybody's vote, ladies' as well as mens'. What I write is gladly written as a favor to him and is a modest appreciation based upon a long acquaintance and a thoro knowledge of the man and his work.

At first sight of him, and especially if a peson is a superficial and hasty observer, one might think that Mr. Anderson is slow and too modest, lacking in energy and motive power; but on closer acquaintance this impression vanishes. His quietness is reserve power. It is not his nature to put himself forward on all occasions to impose himself on everybody just to be heard and observed. On the street, in the drawing room, or in the schoolroom he is modest and moderate in speech as well as behavior. These are the attributes of a gentleman, the signs of a man pure and fair in thought; just the kind of a man we want to visit the schools and serve as a living example to the children. We have no use in the school room for the brazen-faced, blustering man who thinks he is everything, nor for the oily-tongued politician who spends his time saying nice things trying to get on the right side of people. For superintendent we want a man who is modest, fair, and open-minded in speech and manner; if he is too open-minded to be a good politician so much the better for the schools.

Now as to energy and the ability to do things. One characteristic of Mr. Anderson's work is the quietness with which it is carried on; but he invariably obtains complete and satisfactory results. In seeing him work in his chosen field, the schools, seeing his mind in action, steady and strong, one cannot help but think, "deep water runs quietly." He talks freely about his work, himself, and his ideals and ambitions only to those who are interested. He does not talk at random. On the rostrum in debate or address he is seldom brilliant or flashy but is a straight-forward effective speaker. I have stood with him in debate and I know his logic is keen and his reason safe.

Mr. Anderson has also the best preparation and training possible for the work the superintendency involves. The age of general culture is past. In all occupations, professions, and other fields of work we demand men trained specially for the particular kind of work to be done. At our state university we have the colleges of medicine, of dentistry, of law, etc., and within the last two years a college of education has been established. This college is to train teachers, principals and superintendents of high schools. The practice of letting any graduate from the university teach, without having taken special training in the college of education, has been done away with. And rightly so; for without that special training they are no more prepared to teach than they are to practice medicine or law. Now, what the university and its college of education is to the high schools so are the normal schools to the graded, semi-graded, and rural schools and to the county superintendencies. In our country schools only the most elementary instruction is given and the instructing is done mostly by young girls and boys who have little or no knowledge of the theory and practice of teaching what good would it do to have for superintendent a university graduate with a post-graduate degree from Yale or Harvard to visit the schools of the country and talk a mile above the heads of the teachers as well as of the pupils? We want for superintendent a man who thruout his schooling and training has prepared himself under expert teachers to go into the school room and take any class off from the teacher's hand and conduct a model recitation. Any man can tell whether a school house is heated and ventilated proply but it takes a man with special and thoro training to SUPERINTEND the schools as I have pointed out above. I know that Mr. Anderson is able to do such superintending both in the schools and at the teachers meetings. His whole life, we can almost say, has been a preparation toward this end and with his steady and conscientious application, always, to his work it goes without saying that he is preeminently qualified for the office of superintendent of schools.

Very respectfully
Casper E. Bergh.

The Loquacious Swain.

Mr. Backwoods had called for the first time to escort Miss Bumpkin to the weekly prayer meeting. An excess of timidity and self-consciousness reduced both to a point of absolute silence until at last and with visible effort, as the "meeting house" is neared, the gallant summons all his courage.

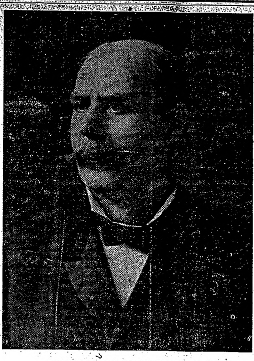
"Do you like stewed rabbits?" he hazards.

"Yes," returns the maiden, coyly.

Again silence, until on the return journey the home lights are sighted, when, with another mighty effort, the resourceful swain asks, feelingly:

"Ain't the gravy nice?"

And yet there are those that maintain that country folk sometimes seem at a loss for conversational topics.—



HALVOR STEENERSON,

Halvor Steenerson was born in Wisconsin in 1852, but has been a resident of Minnesota since 1853, his parents, who were among the earliest pioneers, having settled on a pre-emption in the southeastern part of the state in that year. He was reared on a farm and educated in the state schools and in the Union College of Law in Chicago; admitted to the bar in 1878, removed to Crookston in 1880; was elected county attorney that year and state senator in 1882, where he took a leading part in the enactment of the first law for the regulation of railroads, and creating the railroad and warehouse commission of this state, which has been the foundation of all subsequent legislation on the subject. In 1893 he initiated the celebrated grain rate case which was the first instance where the rate making power of the state over its railroads was judicially determined and finally established.

He was elected to congress in 1902 and re-elected in 1904 and 1906. He has served continuously during this time as member of the committee on Post Office and Post Roads and of The Militia, of which latter committee he is chairman. During Mr. Steenerson's service on the postoffice committee many important reforms have been enacted. Rural free delivery has been extended to nearly every country home, the compensation of rural carriers increased from $600 to $720, and last year to $900. The compensation of clerks and carriers in city offices and of railway mail clerks has also been equitably adjusted and increased, while the compensation of the railways for transporting the mails has been reduced so as to result in an annual saving of more than eight millions of dollars, thus more than making up for the increased compensation to clerks and carriers.

In order to carry out the recommendations of President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Taft for the strengthening of our national defenses, Mr. Steenerson, as chairman of the committee on The Militia, introduced in the last session of congress the bill to promote the efficiency of the militia and forced it through the house against the opposition of both republican and democratic floor leaders. The passage of this bill against such opposition fixed Mr. Steenerson's position in the house as one of the strong men of that body, whose influence will count for a great deal in the future. This is one of the laws the passage of which is especially commended in the republican national platform and by the president.

Mr. Steenerson took a strong stand both in the 59th congress and in the last session for tariff revision. He introduced two bills providing for a tariff commission, and urged their consideration upon the Committee on Ways and Means. It was largely through his efforts that a resolution was finally agreed upon in the last session of congress under which all questions relating to the subject of tariff revision and readjustment are now being investigated by the committees of the Senate and House preparatory to revision early next year.

He has also taken an active part in legislation for the regulation of railroads, concerning public lands, Indians, drainage and conservation of natural resources.

In addition to these matters of general concern, Mr. Steenerson has also secured the passage of a large number of private bills, such as private pension bills, public building bills, relief of soldiers, granting permission to build bridges and dams over navigable streams; and for the relief of settlers on the public domain. It may be interesting to learn that Mr. Steenerson secured the enactment at the last session of congress of no less than twenty-four bills of a special nature, as follows: 12 pension bills, 2 drainage bills, 2 bridge and 1 dam bills, 2 public buildings, 1 making St. Vincent a port of entry for the immediate transportation of merchandise, and 5 granting relief to settlers on the public lands.

The work of a representative does not end with matters of legislation, however. He is constantly called upon to aid in the administration of the law through the different executive departments. The establishment of new rural and star routes, the expediting of the service thereon, the improvement or change in railway mail service; the appointment of postmasters; the remedying of grievances of men in the civil service of the government; the adjustment of claims against the government for mail contractors, survey contracts and like claims. The allowance of pension claims of old soldiers and their widows, and customs claims, the aiding of persons whose relatives have been excluded under immigration laws, securing of government protection to citizens abroad, obtaining passports, the distribution of government free publications are only a few things that a congressman has to attend to. In fact, these services in behalf of the people who are concerned with the government at Washington in its various branches and activities are more onerous than the legislative duties of a member of congress.

Mr. Steenerson has given his time and best efforts to his constituents without regard to party affiliations and that his services are appreciated is evidenced by the fact that he has just been nominated for the fourth term without opposition.

When he was elected to congress, there were only nine rural routes established in the district; now there are more than 150 with complete county service in Otter Tail and Clay and part of Becker county, bringing the daily mail to every farmer's home, thereby increasing the attractiveness and convenience of home life upon the farm.

As early as his first election to congress, Mr. Steenerson announced as his platform and program the same measures for the regulation of interstate railroads and of monopolistic combinations or trusts as he has since helped to enact into law under the administration of President Roosevelt, and which, if elected, he will help to perfect and make more efficient as experience has shown to be necessary.

While in congress he has shown his independence and has often been counted among the "Insurgents" and opposed to Speaker Cannon and he long ago announced that he was independent on the speakership and favored such amendments to the House rules as would limit the present power of the speaker without destroying the power of majority to do business.

Before his advent in congress, Mr. Steenerson achieved a high place at the bar, and was especially successful in cases brought by him in behalf of laborers and employes of railroads and other industrial corporations to recover damages for personal injuries or death by reason of negligence of the employer.

In his Barnesville speech, Sept. 28th, Mr. Taft, who was introduced by Mr. Steenerson, said, "I am glad to stand up by your tall congressman and congratulate you on having such a representative. He does you honor in Washington and looks after your interests, as I can assure you."

"That young man who comes to see you, Maud, has such an explosive manner."

"You must remember, mother, that his father was in the fireworks business."

PACKAGE WAS OF SOME VALUE

Gave Mrs. Potter an Opportunity She Had Long Desired.

"You know you've often told me that I'm one of those who are always letting good chances slip by me," Mr. Potter remarked complacently to his wife, on his return from a week's visit to the city. "Don't you recall it, Mandy?"

"I may have been driven to it once or twice," admitted Mrs. Potter. "What's that you've got in your hands, William?"

"This little package," said Mr. Potter, solemnly, "cost me $1.40, and I don't know what's in it. Wait!" He held up his hand as Mrs. Potter opened her mouth with evident intent to reproach him.

"Fred took me to one of the sales of unclaimed packages at the big railway office one day. Folks have to bid just what they think best; nobody knows what's in anything. But Fred and I could both tell about this. Sealed up on both ends as 'tis, we knew 'twas something valuable, and being so light, we concluded 'twas probably some piece o' women's jewelry. Fred said that if it hadn't been a pouring rain, so that few were there, I wouldn't have had any part of a chance; 'twould have run away up in dollars. Here, you open it.

"I told Fred I'd give him the credit," Mr. Potter went on, as his wife pried off the seals with a pair of scissors. "He's used to such things, and knows when to take and when to let go. So you see—"

Mr. Potter's voice trailed off into silence as his wife removed the wrapping paper from a small pasteboard box and opened it, held out to him a little yellow bottle, tightly packed with pale yellow tablets.

"Two every hour till the pain is relieved," read Mr. Potter with a faltering tongue from the label on the bottle held toward him by his wife. "My land, and you wouldn't durst to take one of 'em, not knowing what they're for!"

"Here, you put all this truck in the fire!" commanded Mrs. Potter. "And you needn't trouble to notify your nephew Fred. I'll write him this afternoon. There are a number of things I've been wanting to say to him for some time."—Youth's Companion.

Reval an Ancient City.

Reval, where Russian czar and British king met not long ago, is described as a curious outpost of the Russian empire. It is the capital of Esthonia and stands at the entrance of the Gulf of Finland, about 230 miles from St. Petersburg. The town is mainly German, like all other towns in Russia's Baltic provinces, and is of great antiquity. In 1284 it acquired all the privileges of a Hanseatic city. According to an old saying, "Esthonia was an elysium for the nobility, a heaven for the clergy, a mine of gold for the stranger, but a hell for the peasant." Among the strangers who settled there and got themselves included in the Esthonian nobility were military adventurers whose descendants still exist under the name of Douglas, O'Rourke and Lewis. In 1710 Reval surrendered to Peter the Great, who provided it with a military harbor, and it is now one of the chief stations of the Russian navy.

The real test is in the baking.

Other Baking Powders may make broad claims, but when it comes to the production of real delicious biscuit, cakes and pastry proves its real worth. This is because of its much greater leavening power and the strict purity of its ingredients.

It costs only a trifle more than the cheap and big can brands and much less than the Trust Baking Powders.

Political ANNOUNCEMENTS

Gazette:—It is to be hoped that no candidate will be so unthinking as to desire to attack his opponent through the public press next week—the last week before election. That would be nasty politics. The Gazette doesn't do that kind of "job work." Of course if you have a picture as big as a house and wish to have it printed in the paper you no doubt know how you can get it there.

For County Attorney

I hereby announce that I am the Republican nominee for the office of County Attorney of Red Lake county. If elected to this important office I hereby promise to be absolutely fair and impartial to all and conduct the office in the best possible manner. Your vote and support are respectfully solicited.

WILHELM MICHELET.

For Sheriff.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Red Lake county subject to the decision of the voters on November 3rd. If elected to the office I hereby pledge myself to conduct the duties of the office in a fair and impartial manner, with equal justice to all to the best of my ability.

J. W. McGINTY.

The Widow and Orphan

Always get a square deal from the honest, plain and straightforward Probate Judge Tarrant. Give the widow and orphan a square deal by re-electing a man that has always made a success of his own business. Vote for N. W. Tarrant and assure them protection.

For Register of Deeds

To The Voters of Red Lake County:

As it will be impossible for me to meet you all personally before election, I wish in this way to solicit your vote and support for "Jeffers" for Register of Deeds on Nov. 3rd. If elected I will give to the duties of the office my personal attention, and my time, experience and best ability will at all times be at the disposal of the patrons thereof.

"A friend in need is a friend indeed," and I need you.

Yours truly
FRANK JEFFERS.

For Supt. of Schools

I am a candidate for superintendent of schools and wish to thank you for the sturdy support you have shown me up to this time. It isn't possible for me to meet you all before election and you desire to know about my qualifications and aim, so I will say that my experience in public school work extends through thirteen years. I am a graduate of the State Normal School at Moorhead and hold a State First Grade certificate.

If I am elected, I shall direct all my energy and use all of my time to perform the duties of superintendent.

Very truly yours
HERMAN F. ANDERSON.

Modern Maternity.

A little girl's mother attended a number of card parties, leaving the child at home with the nurse. On one occasion the child's attention was attracted by the plaintive cries of a young calf. Running to the window she exclaimed. "Poor little calfey! has your mama gone to the card party and left you too?"

CURE AT CITY MISSION.

Awful Case of Scabies—Body a Mass of Sores from Scratching—Her Tortures Yield to Cuticura.

"A young woman came to our city mission in a most awful condition physically. Our doctor examined her and told us that she had scabies (the itch), incipient paresis, rheumatism, etc., brought on from exposure. Her poor body was a mass of sores from scratching and she was not able to retain solid food. We worked hard over her for seven weeks but we could see little improvement. One day I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and we bathed our patient well and gave her a full dose of the Resolvent. She slept better that night and the next day I got a box of Cuticura Ointment. In five weeks this young woman was able to look for a position, and she is now strong and well. Laura Jane Bates, 85 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y., Mar. 11, 1907."

The Lady Agreed.

Mr. Martin was talking at the dinner table in his usual clever manner about the inconsistency of women.

"These young ladies who protest that they are never going to marry!" he broke out. "Everybody knows they will belie their own words at the very first opportunity."

He paused and evidently hoped that Mrs. Martin would come to the rescue of her sex; but that discreet woman held her tongue.

"Why, Mary," he continued, "you remember how it was with yourself. I have heard you say more than once that you wouldn't marry the best man alive."

"Well, I didn't," said Mrs. Martin.

Easily Explained.

"Ugh! Ough! Phew!" he cried.

"Yes, sir?" inquired the oily waiter.

"This stuff—what do you call it?" demanded the diner.

"Steak, sir, I think," replied the waiter, examining it closely. "Yes, it is steak, sir. I'll swear to it now!"

"But the smell!" roared the diner. "Smell it! Judge for yourself! It must be weeks——"

The waiter shook his head, and then bent over confidentially.

"You're makin' a little mistake, sir," he whispered, glancing cautiously around. "It's that other gentleman's fish!"

NOT A MIRACLE.

Just Plain Cause and Effect.

There are some quite remarkable things happening every day, which seem almost miraculous.

Some persons would not believe that a man could suffer from coffee drinking so severely as to cause spells of unconsciousness. And to find complete relief in changing from coffee to Postum is well worth recording.

"I used to be a great coffee drinker, so much so that it was killing me by inches. My heart became so weak I would fall and lie unconscious for an hour at a time. The spells caught me sometimes two or three times a day.

"My friends, and even the doctor, told me it was drinking coffee that caused the trouble. I would not believe it, and still drank coffee until I could not leave my room.

"Then my doctor, who drinks Postum himself, persuaded me to stop coffee and try Postum. After much hesitation I concluded to try it. That was eight months ago. Since then I have had but few of those spells, none for more than four months.

"I feel better, sleep better and am better every way. I now drink nothing but Postum and touch no coffee, and as I am seventy years of age all my friends think the improvement quite remarkable."

"There's a Reason."

A SORRY SHOWING.

Reckless Banking and Speculative Methods Follow Passage of Law.

The practical workings of the Oklahoma law guaranteeing bank deposits were described by Mr. J. W. McNeal, one of the most substantial bankers of that state, and president of the National Bank of Commerce, Guthrie, in a short public address at Denver, Oct. 1, 1908.

Mr. McNeal said:

"To my mind it is the most vicious and pernicious law ever forced on a body of honorable men. It contains a provision for an unlimited mutual liability for all the defalcations, lack of judgment, dishonest and incompetent bankers, without any recognition of the time-tried, strong banker, who may have spent a lifetime in building up his reputation. Under the provisions of this law, the State Banking Board is required to levy an assessment equal to one per cent. of the average deposits in each bank, and, in the future, to levy as often as may be required, a sum sufficient to maintain this fund, at one per cent of the average deposits of the state.

Wild Cat Banks.

"What has been some of the results of the actual operation of this law in Oklahoma? There have been seventy-seven new state bank charters issued since the adoption of this law, forty-two of these with a capital stock of only $10.000 each. There has been a regular hegira for starting new state banks without regard to the necessities of the community or the character of the men starting the banks.

"We have one instance of where a man failed in Kansas, under his own name, then started up in business under his wife's name and failed, beating his creditors out of $70,000, not paying them a cent. Under the old territorial law, he attempted, under the guise of relatives to start a bank, but in two years his business was so trifling that it forced him out of the business. He now has already started three banks in Oklahoma and boasts that he will start twelve more. Within sixty days from starting one of his banks, I am informed, and his statement shows, that he had a deposit account of over $109,000. His cashier is under indictment for embezzlement. I hope and trust that he will be able to explain the matter without wrong to him. I only mention these facts to show that it is immaterial what character of men are at the head of banks, they get the business by claiming that the state is guaranteeing them and it makes no difference whatever as to the character or personality of the officers. A man may bet all his money on the races, may gamble on the Board of Trade, may fight joint whisky, may lead a licentious life, and go out and solicit deposits, saying 'What do you care what kind of a life I lead, the state is behind me?'

Banks Without Capital.

"Two men recently started a bank of $25,000 capital, in Oklahoma City, a town of forty or fifty thousand inhabitants. When asked how they expected to succeed with a bank of $25,000 capital in a city of that size, one of them replied: "What do we care about capital, the state is in partnership with us?" The president of the First National Bank of Perry was also a merchant and failed in business and was compelled to go through bankruptcy. Naturally he had to resign his connection with the First National Bank. He now has taken out a charter and is president of a state bank in Oklahoma. One man, when prohibition closed his saloon, quit the saloon business and started up a bank and has thirty or forty thousand on deposit.

"There can be but one deduction from this enormous rush for starting new state banks. They are being started by irresponsible, inexperienced men, and, instead of indicating a solid growth for the state of Oklahoma, they indicate an era of irresponsible and wild-cat work.

"One of the dangerous evils of this Guaranty Law is that it guarantees credit deposits as well as cash deposits. Now, you all know that not more than one-tenth of a bank's daily deposits are in actual cash. Nine-tenths are credit deposits, are either checks and drafts or proceeds of loans. When these credit deposits, that are made as the proceeds of a loan, are guaranteed, the guaranty certainly reaches to the guaranteeing of the loan itself, for the reason that the deposit is merely the result of the loan.

"I have heard it discussed, and I think it feasible for a dishonest man or set of men to organize a $10,000 bank, then create a lot of fictitious deposits as the proceeds of a lot of dummy notes, then let the bank close its doors and call on the guaranty fund to pay these deposits. Naturally, the deposits will be credited to men in no way identified with the note itself.

"We had one bank failure in my town for something like $1,000,000. This would have taken more than five per cent assessment on the deposits of the state banks of Oklahoma. Supposing a bank had $100,000 deposits on a capital stock of $10,000. Fifty per cent, or one-half of its capital stock, would be confiscated to make up the one loss. It is more dangerous to the honest, small banker than to the large one, because the large one can prepare himself to weather the storm.

"Under guise of this law an attempt is being made to put all banks on an exact equality. The man who has spent a lifetime in building up an honorable reputation is sacrificed for the sake of making some poor, incompetent, dishonest banker exactly equal to him. It is a mistake to suppose that sacrificing the assets of the solvent bank is going to prevent the rascal from failing. There is more money in it for him to fail, under this law, than there will be to run."

When Mr. Taft defends his own record as a judge or his attitude toward labor or his policy in the Philippines or his administrative work in the War Department, he makes strong and vigorous speeches.—New York World (Dem.).

What I am anxious to emphasize is that there is a wide economic and business field in which the interests of the wealthiest capitalist and the humblest laborer are exactly the same.—Hon. Wm. H. Taft, at Cooper Union, New York City.

Don't Forget It.

Critics west and east should remember that it is pre-eminently important, as President Roosevelt has recently pointed out, that Mr. Taft should have a Republican Congress with him. This is a consideration which transcends in importance the personality of any one man, or his views on any one topic.—Boston Transcript.

Between denouncing Roosevelt and standing for Roosevelt's policies Bryan is having quite a thrilling joint debate with himself.

TO MIDDLE WEST AND ROCKY MOUNTAIN STATES' REPUBLICANS.

You want Mr. Taft and Mr. Sherman elected, and they cannot be elected unless the Republican National Committee has sufficient money to pay the legitimate expenses of the campaign. It costs money to maintain an organization. It requires money to pay for printing, postage, salaries of stenographers and clerks at headquarters, traveling expenses of speakers and numerous other details that go to make the campaign end successfully. Congress, as you know, has passed a law making it unlawful for us to solicit money from corporations. We must depend upon the contributions of individual voters. If every Republican in this Western Division would contribute one dollar to the campaign fund, we will be able to do all the things that the voters want done; we will be able to elect Taft and Sherman. Will you help? If so, please send one dollar to the chairman of your State Finance Committee, whose name appears in the list following, or send it direct to me and you will receive the official receipt of the Republican National Committee. Respectfully,

FRED W. UPHAM,
Assistant Treasurer.

Contributions may be sent by check or money order to any of the following named chairmen of the various State finance committees:

Colorado, Hon. Whitney Newton, Denver.

REMEDY WOULD KILL.

(Governor Hughes at Sioux City, Ia., Oct. 6.)

If you look conditions squarely in the fact, you see that what labor wants first of all is work, and that is dependent upon the country's prosperity. It is hard to protect the prosperity of the country and cut out abuses; hard to provide schemes that won't hurt business and will cure evils. It is hard to do things right, but we have got to take the time and labor to do them right.

In answer to a question I put to him the other day Bryan said that an ounce of remedy was worth a pound of cure. That is a fallicy; an ounce of his remedy would kill the patient. What we need is the expression of the sound thought and good judgment of the people upon which we can depend. I have had a time for two years in New York fighting the fight and I know it is hard work. You can't have a flash of genius and change it all in a twinkling. What you have to have is work—hard, conscientious work, intelligent and thoughtful, as well as determined, to make remedies square with the exigencies of our life.

When we consider everything, what we want is to perfect the upbuilding of our country and promote a steady, forward movement in the middle of the road, as is the aim of the Republican party and our great future President, Taft.

It is greatly in the interest of the workingman, therefore, that corporate capital should be fairly treated. Any injustice done to it acts directly upon the wage earners, who must look to corporate wealth for their employment.—Hon. Wm. H. Taft, at Cooper Union, New York City.

"The so-called colonial policy of the United States has added to our trade, already, something over one hundred million dollars a year."—Mr. Taft, at Cleveland, O.

Political Snapshots.

"The leader of the Republican party during the Civil War was Abraham Lincoln, and it has never lost the inspiration of his leadership."—Mr. Taft, at Kansas City, Mo.

The tariff affects trusts only as it affects all other interests. It makes all these interests, large or small, profitable; and its benefits can be taken from the large only under penalty of taking them from the small also.—President Roosevelt, at Minneapolis, Minn., April 7, 1903.

About the only one of his original dicta that Bryan still sticks to is that "the President is a hired man."—Boston Transcript.

When Taft's voice fails, his record and the party principles remain. If Bryan's voice should fail there wouldn't be any remains.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Mr. Bryan has been his own advance agent so long that the public will hardly be disposed to recognize him in his new role (borrowed at that) as advance agent of prosperity.—New York Tribune.

LETS CAT OUT OF BAG.

German Manufacturers to Flood America With Goods if Bryan Should be Elected.

The following cablegram to the New York Sun under date of Oct. 3 shows what German manufacturers expect to do should Bryan be elected:

"Berlin, Oct. 3.—The gladiatorial fight between President Roosevelt and Mr. Bryan has suddenly aroused German interest in the American Presidential campaign and columns are now devoted to extracts from the mammoth campaign documents of the combatants. German hopes of Democratic victory have been revived and many merchants and manufacturers have suddenly grown optimistic about a revision of the tariff which will enable them to flood America with their goods."

The German manufacturers evidently are shrewd observers. If Mr. Bryan should be elected and his "downward revision" doctrine with ultimate free trade be carried into effect we would soon be flooded with German-made goods of every description, and our factories could go out of business.

Protective Tariff Theory.

On the other hand, should Mr. Taft be elected our friends the German manufacturers would not be able to break through the wall of protection which would be maintained for the benefit of American labor.

The protective-tariff theory as defined in the Republican platform, and as adhered to by Mr. Taft, is that in order to maintain high wages in this country there must be "the imposition of such duties as will equal the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit to American industries." Mr. Taft points out that the cost of production is determined chiefly by these three elements: "The cost of material, the cost of labor and the interest on capital, or what is known as the manufacturer's profit."

"The normal operation of protection, where competition has free scope," Mr. Taft asserts, "is to lower the cost of producing and so to reduce prices to the public. As a consequence, after ten years' operation of a particular schedule, it ought to result that the cost of production in this country is made less, and therefore that the difference between the cost of production in this country and abroad is less, and therefore that the duty ought to be reduced."

Duties of Next Administration.

The function of the next administration is not to be spectacular in the enactment of great statutes laying down new codes of morals or asserting a new standard of business integrity, but its work lies in the details of furnishing men and machinery to aid the hand of the executive in making the supervision of the transactions (of corporations) so close, so careful, so constant, that the business men engaged in it may know promptly when they are transgressing the line of lawful business limitations, and may be brought up standing whenever this occurs, and may be prosecuted when the violations of law are flagrant and defiant, and promptly restrained and penalized.—Judge Taft, at St. Charles, Mo.

Bryan is developing into a real humorist. He has advanced so far along the line that he can now announce himself as "the advance agent of prosperity" without cracking a smile.—Sioux City Journal.

The Republican party is not only rich in men, but rich in practical and beneficient principles—it is rich, too, in its record, in promises performed and pledges fulfilled, and so we are for party and party principles first, and will acquiesce in the choice of the majority, rallying around the standard bearer who will carry us again to victory.—Hon. James S. Sherman.

"The present business system of the country rests on the protective tariff and any attempt to change it to a free-trade basis will certainly lead to disaster."—Mr. Taft, at Columbus, O.

"It has been said that Mr. Taft is not a friend of labor. That is a cruel and unjust accusation. No man in public life has shown himself to be more friendly to labor. At the same time he has not tried to get your votes by offering remedies calculated merely to please the fancy."—Governor Hughes.

Haskell is not limiting the amount which may be subscribed by any one person for the purpose of furnishing him with a vindication fund.—Chicago Tribune.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

CURTIS PUTS ALL BLAME ON MORSE

Produces Letter Showing That He Protested Against Morse's Practices.

KICKED ON LOAN TO HEINZE

Maintains Contention That He Was but Instrument of Another's Will and Purpose.

New York, Oct. 29.—The apparent determination of Alfred H. Curtis to exonerate himself of all blame respecting the banking transactions for which he and Charles W. Morse are now undergoing trial in the United States district court here became more defined yesterday when, under the prompting of his attorney, Mr. Curtis produced a letter written by him under date of June 13, 1907, and addressed to Morse, in which he protested vigorously against the continuation of practices inaugurated by the latter, which in Curtis' opinion, constituted a grave menace to the stability of the Bank of North America.

Heinze Gets Loan.

The incident of the overdraft of $210,000 by Morse, previously testified to, was made the subject of searching questions by the witness' own attorney. Mr. Curtis related the coming of F. Augustus Heinze to him with a request for a loan of $125,000 and his refusal to grant the accommodation. Morse remonstrated with him, saying: "Unless we let them have the money they must go to the wall." Curtis stood firm, however, he said, and retorted: "They cannot have a cent of the bank's money; if they must fail, they must fail."

But to his amazement, he testified, a personal check of Charles W. Morse for $126,000, drawn to the order of Heinze, came through the next day. The check had been honored, although at the time Morse had a balance to his credit of only $3,100.

Made Morse Protect Bank.

"I at once went to Mr. Morse," the witness said, "and told him that he must protect the bank and at once wipe out this overdraft. Mr. Morse sent out and got two boxes of securities and turned over their contents to me. I told him that the securities he offered were insufficient, and he offered to give me an order on $1,000,000 steamship bonds which he had on deposit in London. I accepted the offer, and upon being given the order at once cabled to London to have the securities held subject to the Bank of North America's order."

Was Not Free Agent.

The witness was then turned over to the attorneys for Morse for what virtually proved to be a cross-examination. Despite the efforts of Morse's attorneys to present Curtis in the light of a free agent, who at all times was not under the control of Morse, the witness persisted in maintaining his contention that he was but the instrument of another's will and purpose.

"I never made a dollar through any speculation in my enterprises upon which the bank was loaning money," said he, "I earned my salary and that was all."

Dismissal of Judge Landis' order will be followed by a petition to Judge Barnes, the original trial judge, to set a date for Billik's execution early in December.

GRAIN GROWERS ORGANIZED

Minnesota and Dakotas Perfect Grain Department of the Society of Equity.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 29.—The American Society of Equity organized here last night the tristate grain growers' department for Minnesota and both Dakotas, with the following officers:

President, James Holes of Fargo; vice president, R. E. Parks of Lilly, S. D.; secretary, E. Biesbarth of Brinsmade, N. D.

The board of directors was chosen at the afternoon session, with four from each of three states, and they later selected officials.

The meeting was addressed by Senator Hansbrough of this state, who talked on laboratory tests which were provided under his amendment. He advised organization.

The association adopted strong resolutions favoring a law compelling reports to the state on the number of bales of hay and bushels of wheat, purity of seed grains, co-operation with directors of farmers' institutes, the prohibition of gambling on farm products, the McCumber national grain inspection bill, lobby at Washington. Ample grain pledges were made.

It was provided that Fargo should be the place for the annual sessions for this district, which includes three states.

COAL SHORTAGE IN NORTHWEST.

Railroad Officials Say Dealers Were Dilatory in Ordering.

St. Paul, Oct. 29. — Coal shortage and a possible coal famine is predicted for the Northwest by Chicago railroad officials who are directly interested in hauling the rail shipments for the Middle West.

That this is the fault of the railroads at the head offices in Chicago is strenuously denied, and it is purposed to give full publicity to the facts so that the railroads will not be blamed for the famine if it comes. It is stated that the managers of all railroads extending into the Northwest began early in the summer to warn the coal dealers of that region to prepare for winter.

Many of the dealers insisted that they had no storage facilities and did not care to stand a loss by storing their coal on the ground.

RAID TWO OPIUM JOINTS.

Mill City Police Arrest Two Men—$500 Worth of Bowls Found.

Minneapolis, Oct. 29. — Through dense clouds of stifling smoke four officers from the South side station last night groped their way around the premises of 239 Tenth street south and raided two opium joints, one on the rear of the first floor and the other on the second floor. Moy Lee and "Dr." William Johnson, a negro, are the proprietors. About $500 worth of pipe lamp bowls and raw opium was found.

William Johnson and A. R. Jones were arrested on the second floor and Moy Lee on the first floor. Six Chinamen hearing the officers on the second floor, escaped through the window on the ground floor.

LET SITTING BULL REST.

Government Yields to Wishes of Sioux Indians.

St. Paul, Oct. 29.—Chief Sitting Bull will be allowed to enjoy bliss in the happy hunting grounds because the superstition of the Sioux tribe has conquered the wish of the government officials. Sitting Bull lies buried at Fort Yates, N. D., and when the government ordered the remains of the Indians buried there to be removed to Keokuk, Iowa, the tribe raised such objection on superstitious grounds that the officials decided the best thing to do was to leave the great chief lie undisturbed there. The remains of the other fourteen braves were taken to Keokuk.

ATTORNEY GENERAL IS BOOTED.

Kicked Across Street as Result of Election Rumpus.

Winnipeg, Oct. 29.—Following trouble during the election campaign, Colin H. Campbell, attorney general for Manitoba, was kicked across Main street by E. L. Howell, a prominent solicitor and son of Chief Justice Howell. Campbell called Howell a blatherskite on Sunday last. Howell demanded an apology, which Campbell refused, and the assault followed.

The affair has caused the greatest excitement on account of the prominence of the parties involved.

CASHIER AGAIN CONVICTED.

Found Guilty of Embezzlement and Abstraction of Funds.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 29. — William Montgomery, cashier of the Allegheny National bank until the discovery of a shortage in its funds of over $1,250,000 early last summer necessitated closing the institution, was for the second time this week yesterday found guilty of embezzlement and abstraction of funds, his peculations in the two cases amounting to $513,000.

BIG ROW STARTED BY SUFFRAGETTES

CHAIN THEMSELVES TO GRILLE

Suffragettes Desperately Resist Eviction—Two Men Are Summarily Ejected.

London, Oct. 29. — Suffragette disturbance have driven the government to the unusual course of temporarily closing the strangers' and ladies' galleries in the house of commons.

During the evening, while the house was discussing the licensing bill, a sensation was caused by the display of a placard and sudden shrill cries from the ladies' gallery, demanding votes for women, while simultaneously a bundle of handbills fluttered down from the strangers' gallery, at the opposite end of the chamber, and a man shouted protests against "injustice to women."

Male Offender Thrown Out.

Attendants hurried to the galleries and the male offender was unceremoniously ejected, but from the ladies' gallery sounds were heard of a desperate struggle. Two suffragettes had firmly chained themselves to the grille and resisted for a time all efforts at removal, crying continuously in shrill tones their demands for votes.

The scene was watched with amazement from the floor of the house, but finally the suffragettes were dragged from their posts and removed, but only after portions of the grille were removed with them.

Man Fights Eviction.

Ten minutes later there was another dramatic scene, a man in the strangers' gallery flinging another bundle of bills down upon the house and shouting: "Why don't you given women votes and relieve the unemployed?"

Attendants rushed upon him, but he resisted fiercely the attempt made to carry him bodily from the gallery. After a desperate struggle, the attendants succeeded in ejecting the man.

About the same time a large body of suffragettes made a demonstration outside the parliament building and fifteen of them were arrested.

Joke on the Policemen.

The removal of the two militant suffragettes presented a comical scene to those in the corridors. Both of the offenders were laughing heartily when they were escorted by a posse of policemen, one of the officers carrying that portion of the grille to which the women were chained. They were conducted into a committee room and workmen were summoned to file off the iron from the chains, which were securely padlocked around the women's waists.

Mr. Sansome handed him a beautiful Hamilton watch to look at. The stranger asked the pawnbroker if he was alone in the shop and was answered in the affirmative. Out went the stranger's right arm with a hook to the jaw and Sansome was knocked senseless to the floor. When he came to a few minutes later the stranger had departed, also the watch. The police have not yet succeeded in locating the bold robber.

Proposed Amendments —TO THE— Constitution —OF— Minnesota —BY— The Legislature

General Session, 1907.

St. Paul, Minn., May 1st, 1908.

Hon. Julius A. Schmahl, Secretary of State—

Sir: As required by Section 25 of the Revised Laws, as amended, I have the honor to furnish you herewith a statement of the purposes and effects of the respective amendments proposed to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota by the Legislature of 1907, and which are to be submitted to the electors of said State at the General Election of 1908.

FIRST PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The first proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 477 of the Laws of 1907. By this amendment it is sought to repeal Sections one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) and seventeen (17) of Article nine (9) of the Constitution (the latter section being the amendment to said Article nine (9), adopted in 1896), which sections now read as follows:

"Section 1. All taxes to be raised in this state shall be as nearly equal as may be, and all property on which taxes are to be levied shall have a cash valuation and be equalized and uniform throughout the state: Provided, that the legislature may, by general law or special act, authorize municipal corporations to levy assessments for local improvements upon the property fronting upon such improvements, or upon the property to be benefited by such improvements, or both, without regard to cash valuation, and in such manner as the legislature may prescribe: and provided further, that for the purpose of defraying the expenses of laying water pipes and supplying any city or municipality with water, the legislature may, by general or special law, authorize any such city or municipality, having a population of five thousand or more, to levy an annual tax or assessment upon the lineal foot of all lands fronting on any water main or water pipe laid by such city or municipality within corporate limits of said city for supplying water to the citizens thereof without regard to the cash value of such property, and to empower such city to collect any such tax, assessments or fines, or penalties for failure to pay the same, or any fine or penalty for any violation of the rules of such city or municipality in regard to the use of water, or for any water rate due for the same: and provided further, that there may be by law levied and collected a tax upon all inheritances, devises, bequests, legacies and gifts of every kind and description above a fixed and specified sum, of any and all natural persons and corporations. Such tax above such exempted sum may be uniform or it may be graded or progressive, but shall not exceed a maximum tax of five per cent.

"Section 2. The legislature shall provide for an annual tax sufficient to defray the estimated ordinary expenses of the state for each year, and whenever it shall happen that such ordinary expenses of the state for any year shall exceed the income of the state for such year the legislature shall provide for levying a tax for the ensuing year sufficient, with other sources of income, to pay the deficiency of the preceding year, together with the estimated expenses of such ensuing year. But no law levying a tax or making other provisions for the payment of interest or principal of bonds denominated 'Minnesota State Railroad Bonds,' shall take effect or be in force until such law shall have been submitted to a vote of the people of the state, and adopted by a majority of the electors of the state voting upon the same.

"Section 3. Laws shall be passed taxing all moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies, or otherwise, also all real and personal property, according to its true value in money; but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property used for religious purposes, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, public property used exclusively for any public purpose, and personal property to an amount not exceeding in value two hundred dollars for each individual, shall, by general laws, be exempt from taxation.

"Section 4. Laws shall be passed for taxing the notes and bills discounted or purchased, moneys loaned, and all other property, effects, or dues of every description, of all banks and of all bankers, so that all property employed in banking shall always be subject to a taxation equal to that imposed on the property of individuals.

"Section 17. The legislature may impose, or provide for the imposition of, upon the property within this state of any and all owners or operators, whether corporate or individual, or otherwise, of any and all sleeping, parlor and drawing room cars, or any or either of the same, which run in, into or through this state; also upon the property within this state of any and all telegraph and telephone companies, or owners, whose lines are in, or extend in, into or through this state; also upon the property within this state of all express companies, or owners, or any or either of the same, doing business in this state; also upon the property within this state of all domestic insurance companies of this state of any kind; also upon the property within this state of any and all foreign insurance companies doing business in this state of any kind; also upon the property within this state of all owners or operators of any and all mines or of mineral ores situated in this state; also upon the property within this state of all boom companies or owners, and of all ship builders or owners doing business in this state or having a port therein (provided, that this act shall not apply to property owned by railroad companies, their lands and other property); and upon the property of either or any of such companies or owners,—a tax as uniform as reasonably may be with the taxes imposed upon similar property in said state, or upon the earnings thereof within this state, but may be graded or progressive, or both, and in providing for such tax, or in providing for ascertaining the just and true value of such property, it shall be competent for the legislature in either or all such cases, to impose such tax upon any or all property thereof within this state, and in either case by taking as the basis of such imposition the proportionate business, earnings, mileage or quantity of production or property now or hereafter existing of any such companies, persons or owners, transacted or existing in this state, in relation to the entire business, mileage or quantity of production or property of such companies, persons or owners as aforesaid; or in such other manner, or by such other method as the legislature may determine; but the proceeds of such taxes upon mining property shall be distributed between the state and the various political subdivisions thereof wherein the same is situated, in the same proportion as the proceeds of taxes upon real property are distributed: Provided further, that nothing in this act contained shall operate to authorize the assessment or taxation of any farm land or ordinary business blocks or property owned by any such corporation, person, firm or company except in the manner provided by the ordinary methods of taxation,"

"Sec. 1. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property used for religious purposes, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation personal property not exceeding in value $200 for each household, individual, or head of a family, as the legislature may determine. But the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads."

This proposed constitutional amendment was submitted and voted upon at the last election and was declared carried. But a contest was instituted by interested parties, claiming that the amendment was not carried. That contest is now pending in the courts and it was on that account that the legislature decided to re-submit the amendment to the people, so that however the contest may be decided, the next legislature may have the power granted by the amendment. For the purpose of discussing the effect of the amendment I will assume that the same amendment submitted at the last election, did not carry.

The purpose and effect of this amendment would be to greatly enlarge the power of the legislature with reference to the subject of taxation. Section one (1) as it now stands provides that all taxes imposed shall be equal—as near as may be—on all forms of property, and all property upon which a tax is imposed is required to have a CASH VALUATION equalized throughout the state.

Section two (2) as it now stands requires the legislature to levy the necessary taxes annually to defray the expenses of the state. That is the duty of the legislature without any constitutional direction.

Section three (3) as it now stands provides that all real and personal property, including MONEYS, CREDITS and INVESTMENTS IN BONDS AND STOCKS, shall be assessed according to their true value in money.

Section four (4) as it now stands provides that property employed in banking shall be subject to a tax equal to that imposed on other property. This is only a repetition of the requirements of Sections one (1) and three (3), as no rational person would claim that banking capital should be exempt from taxation.

Section seventeen (17) as it now stands is not easy to understand, but it was intended by that section to relieve from the operation of sections one (1) and three (3), above quoted, property of the classes therein enumerated, so that a gross earnings tax could be applied thereto instead of direct taxation.

Owing to the provisions of sections one (1) and three (3) of the present Constitution many amendments were from time to time added so as to permit taxes to be imposed on specific kinds of property otherwise than upon a cash valuation equalized throughout the state. We have among these exceptions railroad gross earnings taxes; municipal frontage taxes; inheritance taxes; and the gross earnings taxes authorized by said section seventeen (17).

Several exemptions from taxation are also provided for, but as these exemptions are not changed by the proposed amendment, I will make no further reference to them.

The amendment which, if adopted, would take the place of all of the sections and amendments above referred to, is simple and plain. No provision of the Constitution is necessary to authorize the imposition of the taxes necessary for the support of the state and its various political subdivisions. The power of taxation is inherent in government. This proposed amendment declares that this inherent power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away; that taxes shall be imposed for public purposes and shall be uniform on the same class of subjects. Should this amendment be adopted all property of every kind in the state would be subject to taxation, according to the method the legislature saw fit to adopt, provided only that the tax was levied for a public purpose and was uniform on the same class of subjects. Under this amendment every tax law we now have on the statue books would continue to be valid, because under this amendment all limitations on the power of the legislature would be taken away.

The adoption of this amendment would, as indicated, repeal the so-called inheritance tax amendment, and the gross earnings tax amendment adopted in 1896, as contained in said Section seventeen (17), but in their place this amendment would give the legislature greater authority. Under this amendment the power to impose inheritance taxes would be unlimited, and any form of gross earnings tax would be valid. The gross earnings tax on railroads would not be affected by this amendment, as the Constitution provides that they cannot be changed without submitting the law making the change to a vote of the people. But with this amendment various new forms of taxation could be imposed, notably an income tax, a tonnage tax on iron ore and a registry tax on mortgages. Under the present Constitution we can impose no tax on mortgages owned by non-residents. A registry tax, which would be valid under this amendment, would reach all mortgages alike. While the Constitution requires all subjects of taxation to have a cash valuation with the tax equalized throughout the state, no proper income tax could be imposed.

SECOND PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The second proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 478 of the Laws of Minnesota for the year 1907. By this amendment it is sought to repeal Section sixteen (16) of Article nine (9) of the Constitution, which section now reads as follows:

"For the purpose of lending aid in the construction and improvement of public highways and bridges, there is hereby created a fund to be known as the 'State Road and Bridge Fund.' Said fund shall include all moneys accruing from the income derived from investments in the internal improvement land fund, or that may hereafter accrue to said fund, and shall also include all funds accruing to any state road and bridge fund, however provided.

"The legislature is authorized to add to such fund for the purpose of constructing or improving roads and bridges of this state, by providing, in its discretion, for an annual tax levy upon the property of this state of not to exceed in any year one-twentieth (1-20) of one (1) mill on all the taxable property within the state.

"The legislature is also authorized to provide for the appointment, by the governor of the state, of a board to be known as the 'State Highway Commission,' consisting of three (3) members, who shall perform such duties as shall be prescribed by law without salary or compensation other than personal expenses.

"Such commission shall have general superintendence of the construction of state roads and bridges and shall use such fund in the construction thereof and distribute the same in the several counties in the state upon an equitable basis: Provided further, that no county shall receive in any year more than three (3) per cent or less than one-half (½) of one (1) per cent of the total fund thus provided and expended during such year; and, provided further, that no more than one-third (1-3) of such fund accruing in any year shall be expended for bridges, and in no case shall more than one-third (1-3) of the cost of construction or improving any road or bridge be paid by the state from such fund,"

and to substitute therefor the following:

"Section 16. For the purpose of lending aid in the construction and improvement of public highways and bridges, there is hereby created a fund to be known as the 'State Road and Bridge Fund.' Said fund shall include all moneys accruing from the income derived from investments in the internal improvement land fund, or that may hereafter accrue to said fund, and shall also include all funds accruing to any state road and bridge fund, however provided.

"The legislature is authorized to add to such fund, for the purpose of constructing or improving roads and bridges of this state, by providing, in its discretion, for an annual tax levy upon the property of this state."

The purpose and effect of this amendment is to authorize the legislature to levy upon all the property of the state any amount necessary, in its judgment, for the benefit of the roads and bridges therein, and in so far removes the limitation which now exists in the Constitution, whereby the legislature is prevented from levying for such purpose a tax exceeding one-twentieth (1-20) of one (1) mill on the taxable property within the state.

This amendment further authorizes the legislature to provide salary and compensation, including personal expenses incurred in the performance of duty by the highway commission, or any other like officer entrusted by law with similar duties.

Finally, this amendment removes the limitation which now exists in the Constitution upon the powers of the highway commission in the distribution of the road and bridge fund of the state thereby authorized, and the amount which the state may pay from such fund toward the cost of constructing or improving any road or bridge, and leaves the whole management of such fund to be provided for by law, as the legislature shall deem wise.

The adoption of this amendment will not interfere with the power of the legislature to create a highway commission and define its powers, nor will it interfere with the appointment and tenure of office of the present commission.

THIRD PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The third proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 379 of the Laws of Minnesota for the year 1907. By this amendment it is sought to add the following section to Article nine (9) of the Constitution as a new section:

"Section 17. The legislature may provide for the payment by the State of Minnesota of damages to growing crops by hail and wind, or either, and to provide a fund for that purpose, may impose a specific tax upon lands, the owners of which, at their option, have listed the same with county auditors for that purpose, and no payment shall be made of any such damages except from the fund so provided."

The purpose and effect of this amendment is to authorize the legislature to permit the state to become the trustee in the collection and disbursement of a fund for the payment or damages to growing crops by hail or wind, or both. This fund is to be created and maintained by a specific tax upon the lands of such persons ONLY as shall VOLUNTARILY list the same with their respective county auditors for such purpose. There can be no tax for such purpose imposed on the lands of any owner who does not consent thereto. Its adoption will authorize the legislature to direct that the taxing machinery of the state be used to levy and collect the tax necessary to raise such fund, and to provide for the disbursement of the same by the officers of the state, but any payments to be made by the state by reason of damage by hail or wind will have to be made from said fund and from no other. The state would assume no responsibility beyond the amount of such fund, and could not further be rendered liable.

FOURTH PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The fourth proposed amendment is contained in Chapter 480 of the Laws of Minnesota for the year 1907. By this amendment it is sought to repeal the provisions of Section seven (7) of Article seven (7) of the Constitution, which section now reads as follows:

"Every person who by the provisions of this article shall be entitled to vote at any election shall be eligible to any office which now is, or hereafter shall be, elective by the people in the district wherein he shall have resided thirty days previous to such election, except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, or the Constitution and laws of the United States," and to substitute therefor the following:

"Every person who by the provisions of this article shall be entitled to vote at any election shall be eligible to any office which now is, or hereafter shall be, elective by the people in the district wherein he shall have resided thirty days previous to such election, except county superintendents of schools, who shall be required to have educational qualifications to be determined by the legislature, and except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, or the Constitution and laws of the United States."

The purpose and effect of this amendment is to authorize the legislature to require educational qualifications, in addition to all the other qualifications now required by law, for any person seeking the office of county superintendent of schools. As the Constitution now stands any legal voter is eligible to the office of county superintendent of schools.

Yours respectfully,
EDWARD T. YOUNG,
Attorney General.

The straw ballots will give way to the real article next Tuesday.

After the election next week football will be about all the excitement we will have left.

Eighty-one million bushels of grain have already been marketed at Minneapolis and Duluth this season.

They held their election in Canada this week and the Liberal party, the one now in power, was the victor.

John B. O'Brien is the only county candidate who comes from St. Hilaire or vicinity. See to it that he gets your vote.

Speaker Cannon, who has been a heavy load for the republican candidates, is having the time of his life to be re-elected. Many republicans hope he will be beaten.

In Minnesota it is only a question of the size of the majority for Taft. In the second district the fight for congress will be close. Outside of this the only fight in the state is on governor. All other republican candidates for state offices are practically sure of election.

The county campaign seems peculiar and is exciting only in spots. It can hardly be said to be run on party lines and the result is liable to be badly mixed. The principal fights are on the offices of Register of Deeds, Sheriff, Supt. of Schools, County Attorney and Judge of Probate.

The Republicans have been doing good work the past week and all signs indicate that Taft and Sherman will be elected. It will not be a walkaway like it was four years ago but it does look like a good safe majority. The fight still centers in New York, Ohio and Indiana with the best chances of the Republicans carrying all three states.

Look over the amendments to the constitution carefully, you will find them published in full on the first page. It is important that you vote. If you favor amending the present tax laws vote for the first amendment. The second provides for state aid for country roads; the third makes it possible for the state to start a hail insurance company. The fourth provides that a candidate for county superintendent of schools must have an educational qualification. Vote as you think the best interests of the state demand—but vote.

The law requires every parent or guardian of a child under the age of eighteen to send him to school every day that the school is in session. The board of education may excuse from such attendance only for certain specified reasons. And anyone giving employment to a boy or girl under eighteen while school is in session, unless an excuse from school attendance has been regularly issued is subject to fine on the complaint of a taxpayer. It is made the duty of the president of the board of education under penalty to see to the enforcement of the law.—Waseca Herald.

To The Voters of The State of Minnesota

The Minnesota Tax League, composed of representatives from all sections of the State, and organized for the purpose of developing and guiding investigation, discussion and practical application of the principals controlling a just system of state and local taxation, desires to bring to your favorable attention the tax amendment to be voted on at the coming election.

Minnesota's system of taxation, devised in the infancy of the state, has broken down completely. Instead of uniformity, we have a dozen different methods of guessing at the basis of taxation. We tax some sorts of property twice over and others not at all. We impose grevious burdens on enterprise, place penalties on thrift and let waste run riot. We find ourselves hemmed in by a code of laws impossible to follow and, when we try to correct their plain injustice, we discover that we are fettered by an inflexible constitution requiring us to do the inequitable and impossible.

There is only one thing to do, and that is to amend the constitution. Under the opportunity afforded by such amendment, inequalities can be corrected and laws may be enacted which will work. The lessons learned by New Zealand, by Australia, by Oregon, by New York, by Massachusetts, and by a half dozen other progressive states, are at our service if we will but place ourselves in a position to utilize them.

Today the farmer on his crops, his farm machinery and his household-effects, the laboring and professional man on his household goods, the merchant on his visible stock of merchandise, in other words the thrift and enterprise of the state are bearing an altogether unjust proportion of the burden, a burden which cannot be shifted until the amendment in question is adopted. We therefore urgently ask of every voter that at the coming election he make it his especial business to vote "Yes" on this, the first and unquestionably most important amendment appearing on the ballot.

Carl L. Wallace, Sec. Minnesota
Tax League.

REVERE BELL IN ITS TOWER.

Since 1810 This Bell Has Pealed Forth Calls for Service.

Boston.—The Unitarian church at Norton has two distinctions. In the first place it was organized 194 years ago, making it one of the oldest religious societies of continuous existence in this state. In the second place there is one of the much-coveted Paul Revere bells in the tower of the edifice.

Since 1810 this bell has pealed forth the calls to services, and to-day its condition is good. In that year a number of men and women who considered the Unitarian church as their home of spiritual endeavor, raised a sufficient sum among themselves to purchase the bell and offer it as a gift to the parish.

On March 26, 1810, the records show that it was "voted to accept the present made to the parish of a bell, give leave that said bell be hung on the meeting house, and that the ringing of the bell on Sunday morning be nine o'clock."

The bell was bought at Boston of Paul Revere & Sons. Its "net weight" was 875 pounds and its cost was $367.50. It was guaranteed for one year.

The church society has had 16 pastors. The first was Rev. Joseph Avery, in 1714, although Rev. Mr. Phillips of Andover, preached quite regularly as early as 1710. He was the father of the founders of Phillips Academy. The site of the first church was located by the general court. It was erected in 1710. The seats were not put in until 1715. That building was replaced by a larger one about 1750. The present structure was built in 1835.

PAIR WEDS AFTER 47 YEARS.

Outbreak of Civil War Cause of Postponing Marriage.

Lewisburg, Tenn.—After a postponement of their wedding for 47 years, O. P. Starnes of Johnson county, Texas, and Mrs. Woolaver of Archer, Tenn., have been married here. They have gone to Oklahoma on their honeymoon.

The bride was formerly Miss Mary Faley and lived in Greene county, which was also the bridegroom's home. They were to have been married in the summer of 1861, but at the outbreak of the civil war Mr. Starnes enlisted in the confederate army and the marriage was postponed. At the battle of Missionary Ridge the prospective bridegroom was critically wounded and left for dead on the field.

Reports that he had been killed reached Miss Faley, and in time she became the bride of Robert Woolaver. Starnes saw Mrs. Woolaver but once after his recovery and left for Georgia, where he was married. He subsequently moved to Texas.

Eighteen months ago Mrs. Starnes died and the husband recently ascertained that his former sweetheart in Tennessee was a widow. A correspondence was begun which resulted in the consummation of the pledges made many years ago.

AUTO TOOTS COST HIM $127.

Damages for the "Honk" That Scared Other Men's Horses.

Norristown, Pa.—Damages are recoverable when horses take fright and run away at the sound of an automobile horn, as was decided by a jury in common pleas court in awarding Henry Hoff $127 damages.

On April 28 of last year Mr. Hoff was driving his family to church at Limerick square, when on the Ridge turnpike they met Edmund S. Souder in his automobile. Hoff claims that Souder blew his horn opposite his team, frightening the horses, which upset the carriage and threw out the occupants.

His daughter had an arm injured, one horse had a leg lacerated and the carriage was badly broken. Hoff figured his damages at $245.

DEATH IN ITS WAKE

FRESHET IN CHINESE RIVER SWEPT AWAY THOUSANDS.

Error and Delay in Transmission of Warning Telegram Responsible for Disaster—Shipping Swept Before Irresistible Flood.

How a telegraphic error was responsible for the loss of thousands of lives is told by a Shanghai correspondent. The disaster occurred during a freshet on the Han river in the beginning of April, says a London dispatch to the New York Sun.

Owing to heavy rainfalls in the mountains in northwest Hupeh it frequently happens that a torrent of water rushes down the mountain sides into the Han, a tributary of the great Yang-tse. Hitherto warning of the freshets has been telegraphed from Siang-yang, 400 miles away from the mouth of the Han, and on receipt of the news men have been hurriedly sent out, equipped with gongs, to warn the boats at the mouth of the river to find a safe anchorage.

On the evening of April 6 messengers were sent around with the news that a freshet six feet high was on its way down. The inhabitants and the boating population considered a six-foot freshet to be of little consequence, and took no precautions whatever, believing that, as in former years, its arrival need not be expected for another 24 hours.

Unfortunately the telegram announcing the oncoming torrent was delayed for 24 hours and by an error in the wording the height was reduced from 26 feet to six feet. The freshet arrived at lightning speed at midnight on April 6. The night was pitch dark, the inhabitants were asleep.

Suddenly thousands of boats in the Han river were torn from their moorings and hurled together in a confused mass on the breast of a raging torrent. Deep-laden boats were sunk immediately, others were pounded to pieces and some, catching fire, lit up a scene of appalling destruction.

The people on shore were powerless to assist and the cries of the perishing "rent the heavens and were painful to hear," as a native newspaper described it. Those boats that escaped the initial onset of the torrent were swept out into the Yang-tse where a strong northeast gale completed the work of destruction.

Lifeboats were sent out to the rescue, but could render little service. The terror of the night was increased by three huge junks which took fire and, drifting toward the foreshore of the British settlement, endangered the hulks mored along its front.

The native papers state that a small steamer, 700 large junks and innumerable small craft were destroyed. The loss of life, at first estimated at 2,000, probably exceeded double that number. Eighteen hundred bodies were picked up at one bend of the Yang-tse alone. A number of women and children were among the dead. Thirteen hundred masts were recovered at the same spot.

No Way of Finding Out.

One does not usually make a virtue of fault-finding, but it seems, by Rishard Grant White's experience, that it has its valuable part in social economy. Grumbling has always been considered a prerogative of John Bull, and not an agreeable one, but the incident taken from "England Without and Within" goes to prove that it has its uses.

I had been a little over a week in London lodgings, and had my breakfasts served by the housekeeper. One morning the maid said, as she took my tray:

"I'm afraid we sha'n't satisfy you, sir, with your breakfasts."

I told her my breakfasts were very good, that the tea, eggs, bacon, fish, muffins and marmalade were good enough for any man, and all I wished.

"Yes, sir, but you never grumble about anything you have, and so we don't know how to please you."—Youth's Companion.

The Mouse Trap.

The sunlight turned the sea to yellow flame, and the inventor pulled his cap down over his eyes. "The child is father to the man," he resumed. "For instance: There was a miller's son who invented, at the age of 17, an automatic mouse trap; a trap that used the recoil from one mouse's capture to set itself for another mouse. This trap worked well, caught 11 than 200 miles every 24 hours, and all the sleep he took aggregated but three hours during the entire five days.—Denver Field and Farm.

Alcohol in Potatoes.

An Irishman from Ireland—think of that—told me the other day that in Donegal, in a community of 10,000 people, 700 were insane from eating Irish potatoes; "Wherefore?" said I, ever inquisitive. Replied he: "On account of the alcohol in the potatoes." At which I could not help laughing, as we in America eat only one or two potatoes a day, and two big ones would not produce a grain of alcohol.

"Why, mon," said my friend, "you people in America know absolutely nothing about potatoes. I know an oldish fellow in Donegal whose dinner 365 days in the year consists of 14 pounds of boiled potatoes and a small bit of fish. When he goes to work in the morning he places a large potful on to boil, or rather simmer, and when he comes home in the evening the 'murphies' are done to a turn. Their insides fall out like flour, or meal. He is the healthiest specimen of a mon I ever saw. Why, he can carry an ox on either shoulder. 'Does he drink?' No; he is satisfied with the liquor in the potato."—New York Press.

The Principal Hurt.

"Can't you get over talking about the way you got cheated in that horse trade?"

"No," answered Mr. Sirius Barker. "I don't mind a man getting my money, but I hate to feel that I have lost his respect."

HALVOR STEENERSON,

Halvor Steenerson was born in Wisconsin in 1852, but has been a resident of Minnesota since 1853, his parents, who were among the earliest pioneers, having settled on a pre-emption in the southeastern part of the state in that year. He was reared on a farm and educated in the state schools and in the Union College of Law in Chicago; admitted to the bar in 1878, removed to Crookston in 1880; was elected county attorney that year and state senator in 1882, where he took a leading part in the enactment of the first law for the regulation of railroads, and creating the railroad and warehouse commission of this state, which has been the foundation of all subsequent legislation on the subject. In 1893 he initiated the celebrated grain rate case which was the first instance where the rate making power of the state over its railroads was judicially determined and finally established.

He was elected to congress in 1902 and re-elected in 1904 and 1906. He has served continuously during this time as member of the committee on Post Office and Post Roads and of The Militia, of which latter committee he is chairman. During Mr. Steenerson's service on the postoffice committee many important reforms have been enacted. Rural free delivery has been extended to nearly every country home, the compensation of rural carriers increased from $600 to $720, and last year to $900. The compensation of clerks and carriers in city offices and of railway mail clerks has also been equitably adjusted and increased, while the compensation of the railways for transporting the mails has been reduced so as to result in an annual saving of more than eight millions of dollars, thus more than making up for the increased compensation to clerks and carriers.

In order to carry out the recommendations of President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Taft for the strengthening of our national defenses, Mr. Steenerson, as chairman of the committee on The Militia, introduced in the last session of congress the bill to promote the efficiency of the militia and forced it through the house against the opposition of both republican and democratic floor leaders. The passage of this bill against such opposition fixed Mr. Steenerson's position in the house as one of the strong men of that body, whose influence will count for a great deal in the future. This is one of the laws the passage of which is especially commended in the republican national platform and by the president.

Mr. Steenerson took a strong stand both in the 59th congress and in the last session for tariff revision. He introduced two bills providing for a tariff commission, and urged their consideration upon the Committee on Ways and Means. It was largely through his efforts that a resolution was finally agreed upon in the last session of congress under which all questions relating to the subject of tariff revision and readjustment are now being investigated by the committees of the Senate and House preparatory to revision early next year.

He has also taken an active part in legislation for the regulation of railroads, concerning public lands, Indians, drainage and conservation of natural resources.

In addition to these matters of general concern, Mr. Steenerson has also secured the passage of a large number of private bills, such as private pension bills, public building bills, relief of soldiers, granting permission to build bridges and dams over navigable streams; and for the relief of settlers on the public domain. It may be interesting to learn that Mr. Steenerson secured the enactment at the last session of congress of no less than twenty-four bills of a special nature, as follows: 12 pension bills, 2 drainage bills, 2 bridge and 1 dam bills, 2 public buildings, 1 making St. Vincent a port of entry for the immediate transportation of merchandise, and 5 granting relief to settlers on the public lands.

The work of a representative does not end with matters of legislation, however. He is constantly called upon to aid in the administration of the law through the different executive departments. The establishment of new rural and star routes, the expediting of the service thereon, the improvement or change in railway mail service; the appointment of postmasters; the remedying of grievances of men in the civil service of the government; the adjustment of claims against the government for mail contractors, survey contracts and like claims. The allowance of pension claims of old soldiers and their widows, and customs claims, the aiding of persons whose relatives have been excluded under immigration laws, securing of government protection to citizens abroad, obtaining passports, the distribution of government free publications are only a few things that a congressman has to attend to. In fact, these services in behalf of the people who are concerned with the government at Washington in its various branches and activities are more onerous than the legislative duties of a member of congress.

Mr. Steenerson has given his time and best efforts to his constituents without regard to party affiliations and that his services are appreciated is evidenced by the fact that he has just been nominated for the fourth term without opposition.

When he was elected to congress, there were only nine rural routes established in the district; now there are more than 150 with complete county service in Otter Tail and Clay and part of Becker county, bringing the daily mail to every farmer's home, thereby increasing the attractiveness and convenience of home life upon the farm.

As early as his first election to congress, Mr. Steenerson announced as his platform and program the same measures for the regulation of interstate railroads and of monopolistic combinations or trusts as he has since helped to enact into law under the administration of President Roosevelt, and which, if elected, he will help to perfect and make more efficient as experience has shown to be necessary.

While in congress he has shown his independence and has often been counted among the "insurgents" and opposed to Speaker Cannon and he long ago announced that he was independent on the speakership and fafavored such amendments to the House rules as would limit the present power of the speaker without destroying the power of majority to do business.

Before his advent in congress, Mr. Steenerson achieved a high place at the bar, and was especially successful in cases brought by him in behalf of laborers and employes of railroads and other industrial corporations to recover damages for personal injuries or death by reason of negligence of the employer.

In his Barnesville speech, Sept. 28th, Mr. Taft, who was introduced by Mr. Steenerson, said, "I am glad to stand up by your tall congressman and congratulate you on having such a representative. He does you honor in Washington and looks after your interests, as I can assure you."

"That young man who comes to see you, Maud, has such an explosive manner."

"You must remember, mother, that his father was in the fireworks business."

We were a little surprised a few days ago to find $50 lying in the road beside the hedge at the corner of one of our prominent business farmer's home, and the more so to find that it had lain there several months unmolested, but beginning to look much worse for the exposure. The money was in the shape of a corn planter that will have to be replaced by a new one before many years unless cared for better than that. —Grand Meadow Record.

There were 87,044,817 pounds of butter produced in Minnesota creameries in 1907, according to figures just compiled by the state dairy and food commission. The wholesale value of the product is estimated at $23,502,100. There were 851 creameries in operation and 71,769 farmers supplied them, receiving $17,912,043 for their milk and cream, from 546,695 cows. The running expenses of the creameries were $2,187,373. They used 855,866,470 pounds of milk and 16,819,567 of cream. Seventy four cheese factories operated in the state made 4,266,778 pounds of cheese, which at the average wholesale price of 12 cents brought $512,013. Less than half of the cows in the state worked for the creameries considerably over a million contributed to the state milk and cream supply. The value of the milk and cream sold to the people in the cities and towns last year is estimated at $9,000,000.

PERUNA A TONIC OF GREAT USEFULNESS.

HON. R. S. THARIN.

Hon. R. S. Tharin, Attorney at Law and counsel for Anti-Trust League, writes from Pennsylvania Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C., as follows:

"Having used Peruna for catarrhal disorders, I am able to testify to its great remedial excellence and do not hesitate to give it my emphatic endorsement and earnest recommendation to all persons affected by that disorder. It is also a tonic of great usefulness."

Mr. T. Barnecott, West Aylmer, Ontario, Can., writes: "Last winter I was ill with pneumonia after having la grippe. I took Peruna for two months, when I became quite well. I also induced a young lady, who was all run down and confined to the house, to take Peruna, and after taking Peruna for three months she is able to follow her trade of tailoring. I can recommend Peruna for all such who are ill and require a tonic."

DRINKS FROM GAS JETS.

One Way of Evading the Prohibition Law in Maine.

Eben W. Sears of Lynn has returned from his vacation in Lewiston, Me., with a remarkable tale of the way liquor is served in the prohibition state. Sears says that a friend took him into a place where several men were drinking and ordered some beer. The room was without furniture or fixtures, save for one table, a few chairs and the gas jets.

While Sears was wondering where the beer was to come from the proprietor stepped to a gas jet and turned it on, whereat the amber fluid flowed forth as from the spigot of a keg. The proprietor filled the glasses of Sears and his friend and then for two other customers drew forth two mugs of ale from another gas jet. After that he produced a glass of whisky from a third jet.

Seeing that there was several more gas jets in the room Sears, as a test of the proprietor's resources, was about to call for a Martini cocktail when suddenly there were alarms and scurryings without, followed by a noise like a squad of liquor deputies.

Instantly the proprietor sprang to a corner and pressed an invisible button. Wondering what the effect of this might be Sears turned on the beer gas jet, but nothing came forth.

"The gas is shut off," said the proprietor with a wink. Sears was unable to learn where the liquor came from. He says he thinks the proprietor had tanks in the walls.

The Boy's Sacrifice.

He was a good little boy and very thoughtful. He had heard about the great scarcity of water throughout the country.

He came to his mother and slipped his hand into her's.

"Mamma," he said, "is it true that in some places the little boys and girls have scarcely enough water to drink?"

"That is what the papers say, my dear."

"Mamma," he presently said; "I'd like to give up somethin' for those poor little boys and girls."

His mother gave him a fond look.

"Yes, dear. And what would you like to give up?"

"Mamma," he said, in his earnest way, "as long as the water is so very, very scarce I think I ought to give up bein' washed!"

A MENTAL MISCHANCE

By THOMAS F. ANDERSON

(Copyright, by Shortstory Pub. Co.)

Albert Reeves could never fix the exact date when he discovered that he was a mind reader. Whether he had been born with the power or had been suddenly endowed with it by some unexplainable agency will probably always remain a mystery. But this much is certain:

He was yet comparatively new to this world and its wicked ways when the fullness of the mysterious power was upon him, and was not yet 20 when he began to put it to a practical, money-making use.

Young Reeves first utilized his unique gift in this manner as an amateur detective, with the same success as when, a few years earlier, he had been able to divine the intentions of his school-teacher toward him in the matter of corporal punishment, by getting that worthy's mind in occultation with his own.

Naturally, his detective career was a wonderful success. Indeed, he might have achieved the fame of a Byrnes and Vidocq in one had he chosen to remain in that profession, for he had the advantage over all other detectives in that he was enabled not only to read the thoughts of a guilty man, but to diagnose the mind of a man who had not committed a crime, but was planning to.

But in spite of his phenomenal success, the detective business palled upon young Reeves before he had been in it two years. Besides, his inclinations had always pointed to newspaper work. Within three days after he made known his proposed change of calling, Reeves received five tempting offers from as many big dailies.

After a week's deliberation Reeves accepted a position as special writer on the city staff of a metropolitan daily, where he was welcomed as a unique and valuable addition to modern journalism. In his position as star reporter he rose almost at a bound to the position of the leading newspaper man of his time. In less than two months he gained a reputation for phenomenal "scoops." And this reputation he won in the simplest possible way.

He had only to go to any man, no matter how high in official station or how taciturn and reserved, and by simply getting his subject's thoughts fixed upon the desired topic, could drag from him, without his knowledge, the fullest details of the affair.

Statesmen and cabinet officials with weighty secrets of the greatest public importance locked up, as they thought, in their own minds, were as easy prey for him as the bank cashiers used to be when he was a detective.

Reeves had worked on like this for about a year, gaining new laurels day after day and getting his salary doubled as regularly as the month went by, when he awoke one day from his absorption in his profession to the fact that he was accumulating gold as well as glory. To his savings in the detective service he had added during the past year everything except his very modest living expenses. And he now found himself the possessor of the nest egg for a fortune. With this discovery a new idea flashed into his busy brain. Why not take advantage of his great mental power and make himself a second Morgan or Rockefeller by watching the big deals in the stock market? If "insiders" who were not mind readers could make princely fortunes out of their knowledge, why couldn't he?

The idea had no sooner suggested itself than he put it into practice.

It worked like a charm.

All he had to do was to walk into the offices of any of the big men who change the railroad map or the industrial situation to suit themselves, and talk pleasantly about the weather, or the crops, or the prospects of this or that stock.

Then if, on the occasion of such visits, any of these great manipulators had a big scheme on hand, Reeves quickly became an "insider" on his own invitation and bought or sold stocks as the case demanded.

In less than six weeks he was independently wealthy, forging ahead of all the younger financiers as easily as he had outrivaled his journalistic colleagues.

One day about two months after this newest young Napoleon of finance entered upon his Wall street career, he became convinced that a "deal" of more than ordinary proportions was on foot. He tested a dozen big men of his financial acquaintance—for he was able now to give even big men valuable "tips" occasionally—without getting any satisfactory clew, and finally decided that a certain well-known financier, who seemed to be on the minds of those whom Reeves had sounded, was the man he wanted to get at. As it happened, Reeves was on especially friendly terms with this financier, who was of a somewhat literary turn of mind, and liked nothing better than to discuss the degeneracy of journalism and kindred topics with the brilliant young journalist. Accordingly, the young man received a pleasant greeting when he presented himself, although he soon discovered that the financier was very deeply engrossed in some important matter.

It was an oppressively hot day, and the headache Reeves had acquired in his excited search for the all-important clew caused his brain to be less receptive than usual. He had no difficulty, however, in learning that the magnate was struggling with the details of some great "deal."

While they sat there and talked about a rather trivial matter that the younger man had made the excuse for his visit, the latter fixed his mind on the other's as well as he could in his fatigued state, and what he learned almost sent him into a delirium of excitement.

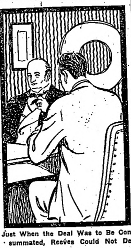
The thought transference took place rather slowly, but when it ended he was in possession of information concerning one of the most gigantic pieces of stock manipulation that the century had witnessed.

Without going into details, it contemplated the consolidation of some 25 of the biggest railroad systems in the land, many of them heretofore at odds with one another; in a manner that could not fail to at once send up the value of all of them at least 25 per cent., and in some cases fully 50 per cent.

Millions of dollars were to be saved in expenses alone, and the aggregate capital represented was almost beyond ordinary comprehension.

Just when the deal was to be consummated, Reeves could not determine, but as the mind of the financier seemed engrossed with its details, to the exclusion of everything else, the young man felt assured that the date could not be far removed.

In a week, a day, an hour even, he told himself, as he left this friend's office, the gigantic scheme might be sprung on the public. By investing his fortune immediately, Reeves could, as he found by swift calculation, literally own, if not the earth, at least a big share of it. It was then within an hour and a half of the time when the banks would close, but in less than three-quarters of that time he had drawn out every cent of ready money that he had on deposit. Then hurrying back to Wall street, he proceeded to unload every sort of negotiable security he possessed, and to place orders to buy on margin blocks of stocks representing every one of the railroads that were in the deal.



Just When the Deal Was to Be Consummated, Reeves Could Not Determine.

That night the young man's self-control gave way, and he went to bed with a raging fever.

When he awoke again, he painfully asked the white-robed nurse standing near his bed how long he had been there, for it didn't take him long to realize what had happened.

She replied: "Ten days."

Next day they allowed him to have a newspaper, and he nervously turned to the financial page. Almost the very first paragraph his eyes fell upon was one describing how several of the big railroads in the great "deal" had already dropped 10 to 25 points "since the big panic set in one week ago."

Two or three months later, while he was still convalescing, young Reeves received a nicely bound volume. It bore the signature of his friend, the literary financier, and was proved on examination to be a fantastic novel of the twentieth century, entitled "The Great Railroad Revolution."

For the first few pages the invalid gave only a languid interest to the tale, but when he came to a certain chapter, wherein was described as one of the greatest achievements of the twentieth century the gigantic consolidation of a score of the big railroad systems, he let the book drop from his hand.

Like an electric shock it came to him that what he had read in the literary financier's mind on that fatal day had been, not a speculative scheme, but part of the plot for a novel! Instead of being on the verge of consummating a railroad deal, the man had been simply evolving from his imagination a chapter based upon the modern tendency toward combines. It was upon the fantastic fancy of a novelist, and not the schemes of a financier, that Reeves had staked and lost a fortune!

Albert Reeves is not reading other people's minds any more. Whether it was the fever or the fact that he had once read a mind falsely that destroyed the charm can never be determined; but this is certain; Since the day when a cog slipped in the wheel of his fortune, the mysterious power that so nearly made him one of the magnates of the world, is his no longer.

Now he is working as reporter at a salary of $15 a week.

Why He Was Submerged.

A story is told of a minister who, after the service, greeted a stranger and asked him what denomination he belonged to.

"I suppose," responded the other, "I'm really what might be called a submerged Presbyterian."

"A submerged Presbyterian!" exclaimed the minister. "I should be glad if you would explain."

"Well, I was brought up a Presbyterian; my wife is a Methodist; my eldest daughter is a Baptist; my son is an organist at a Unitarian church; my second daughter sings in a Church of England choir, and my youngest goes to a Congregational Sunday school."

"But," said the minister, aghast, "you contribute, doubtless, to some church?"

"Yes I contribute to all of them," was the answer; "that's what submerges me."

Proper Measures.

"Prosperity," remarked the passenger with the auburn tie, "is gradually coming back again. I'm taking measures to enlarge my business."

"What's your line?" queried the hardware drummer.

White Ant Menaces Buildings.

The white ant appears to be doing continued damage in the Philippines. Officers who have charge of the construction of government buildings there say that it is almost impossible to get rid of this devastating insect. Most woods must be specially treated before they can be placed in the ground as supports for foundations, as nearly everything which is used for this purpose is attacked by white ants and eaten so badly as to be wortless when it is not entirely consumed. The influences of fungus are nothing compared with the industrious white ant.

"Several months ago, my little boy began to break out with itching sores. I doctored him, but as soon as I got them healed up in one place they would break out in another. I was almost in despair. I could not get anything that would help him. Then I began to use Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, and after using them three times, the sores commenced to heal. He is now well, and not a scar is left on his body. They have never returned nor left him with bad blood, as one would think. ENGLISH SPARROW CLUB.

Its Mission Is to Rid the Country of the Pest.

In Essex, England, the Elsenham Sparrow club flourishes. It holds a meeting and dinner once a year, at which time the members give an account of their efforts toward keeping down the sparrow pest. Its president, Walter Gilbey, describes its work as follows:

"All the farmers and most of those who have gardens in the parish, which covers 1,830 acres, and some tenants of neighboring farms belong to the club, which was established seventeen years ago. The rules are very simple: Each member undertakes to kill one sparrow for each acre of his holding between September 1 and May 1, and sends the heads to the local innkeeper, who keeps a record of them. If the member's tally falls short of the total he ought to send he is fined 1d. for each head lacking, the money going to a fund which is spent in refreshments at the annual supper of the club held at the inn. The sum raised by fines, however, is, I am informed, practically nil.

"Two sparrows an acre were killed annually during the first two or three years of the club's existence, and the average number of heads now sent in is about 3,000 a year. In addition the members kill a large number of young sparrows during the breeding season, but of these no record is kept."

ASTONISHED THE DOCTOR

Old Lady Got Well with Change of Food.

A great scientist has said we can put off "old age" if we can only nourish the body properly.

To do this the right kind of food, of course, is necessary. The body manufactures poisons in the stomach and intestines from certain kinds of food stuffs and unless sufficient of the right kind is used, the injurious elements overcome the good.

"My grandmother, 71 years old," writes a N. Y. lady, "had been an invalid for 18 years from what was called consumption of the stomach and bowels. The doctor had given her up to die.

"I saw so much about Grape-Nuts that I persuaded Grandmother to try it. She could not keep anything on her stomach for more than a few minutes.

"She began Grape-Nuts with only a teaspoonful. As that did not distress her and as she could retain it, she took a little more until she could take all of 4 teaspoonfuls at a meal.

"Then she began to gain and grow strong and her trouble in the stomach was gone entirely. She got to enjoy good health for one so old and we know Grape-Nuts saved her life.

"The doctor was astonished that instead of dying she got well, and without a drop of medicine after she began the Grape-Nuts." "There's a Reason."

HAD NO USE FOR ICE.

Washington Man's Wail About Customs in Saskatchewan.

Continuing on hot weather topics—one might as well, for there's little inclination among local folks to discuss anything else—reminds me of one charming hot weather custom of the people of Saskatoon, in the Canadian province of Saskatchewan, writes a Washington newspaper scribe. Those are real names and can be found on the map, and the people are real, too. They have to be to stand that fierce, long-nighted fifty-below-zero-and-still-going-down cold of the hard frozen winter months.

But if the winters are cold, so are the summers hot, and one particular afternoon—the mercury stood at about 106 in the shade—I was invited to accompany a little picnic party from Saskatoon to Smith's Bluff—a grove of near-trees about ten feet high—the only kind that grow at all up there, for luncheon. It was a 12-mile drive in a low-necked wagon without a hood, but the Saskatoon people are famous providers, for man and beast, and so I accepted. I noted with interest, not unmixed with apprehension—for the drivers appeared careless—that a dozen or so cases of beer were loaded on the lunch wagon.

We landed at Smith's Bluff right side up with care, but as dry as a basket of chips from the black loam dust that was kicked up in the journey across the prairie, and the dozen or so of us from the states began to think of steins dripping with frost and containing short-collared portions of frapped malt. But just as we were in the midst of these pleasant dreams one of the members of our party shuddered, groaned and pointed. And, following his finger with our eyes, we beheld several of our hosts lugging the beer from the wagon and carefully placing it in the sun.

"Why, oh, why, are you doing that?" we groaned in unison, even at the risk of being ungeusty and rude. "What, oh, what, does this desecration mean?"

"Desecration? What does it mean?" parroted one host in amazement. "Why, we're fixing the beer so it will be nice for luncheon. We always drink it sun warm. Don't you?"

Afterward we learned that those dear people see so much ice in the winter time—and feel it, too—that they don't save any for the summer time, and wouldn't use it if they did. All of which points a moral. When visiting Saskatoon, in the province of Saskatchewan, carry your own ice.

LOOKED LIKE AN OLD FRIEND.

Speaker Cannon Amazed at "Double" of W. J. Bryan.

Our reverend friend, Uncle Joe Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, had the shock of his young life on the Fourth of July, while attending the exercises attendant upon the opening of the new Municipal building. Some distinguished citizen had just torn off a yard or two of highly cultured elocution, which was heard fully three feet from the spot on which he was standing while talking, and the next human incident on the program advanced to the front. Incidentally, Uncle Joe had no printed program, or at least hadn't looked it over.

He caught sight of the scheduled and advancing personage, and his face was a sight to see. His jaw dropped until it bounced up and down on his elderly chest, his eyes revolved like pin wheels and he stuck out one hand in a dazed sort of way.

"Jumping grasshoppers!" he said, or words to that effect, "how in the name of pin wheels and firecrackers can William Jennings Bryan be in Lincoln, Neb., and Washington, D. C., at one and the same time, and what is he going to talk here for, anyhow."

"What's the matter with you, Mr. Speaker?" cried the man next to Uncle Joe. "That isn't Mr. Bryan; that's Charles Hanford, the actor."

Uncle Joe subsided. His jaw flew up to normal, his eyes quieted down and his hand slipped back in his pocket.

"Of course, I knew it couldn't be Bryan," he said with his characteristic twinkling drawl, "but I'm blamed if I was very certain."

And the band played on.—Washington Star.

Tried His Best.

"Mr. Whittlesy," said the city editor to the new reporter, "there's to be a meeting of the trustees at the public library building this evening at eight o'clock. You may go and cover it. Make a story of about 400 words out of it."

The new reporter went away on his assignment, and the chief of the local department turned again to his desk, made an entry in the assignment book that lay before him and dismissed the matter from his mind. About 11 o'clock, however, he suddenly called out:

"Where's Whittlesy?"

"Here, sir," answered that young man, coming forward.

"I sent you to a board meeting at the public library. Where's your story?"

"It isn't quite finished yet. You told me to make 400 words of it, and I've got only a little over 300 so far."

"What did they do?"

"They met, called the roll and adjourned until next Tuesday evening."—Independent.

Point of Interest Neglected.

Did you ever hear of "Duff Green's Row?" Or, did you ever hear of the "Old Capitol Prison?" They are one and the same. After the capitol was destroyed by the vandals of Great Britain the congress, for a brief period, occupied "Duff Green's Row." Forty years afterward, during the civil war, this row of buildings located on the corner of Second street and A, northeast, was used as a prison for confederates and confederate sympathizers, and was known as the "Old Capitol Prison." The row is still there, but no effort has been made, nor does there seem any likelihood that any effort will be made, to preserve this historic landmark.—Los Angeles Times.

Two colored sisters living in a suburban town met on the street one day and Sister Washington, who had recently joined the church, was describing her experiences.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. JOHNSON WINS BY ABOUT 30,000

JOHN A. JOHNSON.
Governor.

A. O. EBERHART.
Lieutenant Governor.

Latest returns on Taft and Bryan bear out the first estimate of 100,000 or more for Taft. Nearly all the counties outside of Hennepin and Ramsey have been doing better than two to one for Taft.

Congresssional Race.

The surprise in the congressional fights was the close fight which Ole Sageng of Fergus Falls gave Congressman Halvor Steenerson in the Ninth district. At one time there was a doubt as to Steenerson's re-election, but when the returns became more complete it was found that Steenerson's plurality was between 1,000 to 1,500.

The returns yesterday bore out the early assertion that McCleary was defeated by 2,000 or 3,000 by Congressman Hammond. Tawney's majority will be about 3,500.

The other Republican candidates who had any opposition at all beat their opponents about two to one. Davis did this in the Third district, Stevens in the Fourth, Nye in the Fifth and Lindbergh in the Sixth. C. B. Miller of Duluth and A. J. Volstead of Granite Falls did not have any real opposition.

JULIUS A. SCHMAHL.
Secretary of State.

Democrats Gain in Legisdature.

Legislative contests furnished some surprises in some parts of the state, and several of the old members who were candidates for re-election were laid by the wayside. The Democrats get twenty-three members in the lower house this year, against fourteen two years ago. The Prohibitionists will have three members, the same as last year.

GEORGE T. SIMPSON.
Attorney General.

George H. French was elected a state senator, to succeed Patrick Fitzpatrick of Winona, who died last summer. French is a Republican living at St. Charles. This means a loss of one Democrat and a gain of one Republican.

C. C. DINEHART.
State Treasurer.

Among the members of the last house who ran this fall and were defeated are: F. C. Carlton of Medford, Steele county; John T. Lewis and William McQueen of Blue Earth county; J. D. Davidson of Waseca, John Schrooten of Fairmont, J. L. Wold of Twin Valley and C. W. Glotfelter of Waterville.

Gov. Johnson's purality will come close to 30,000 if the last returns do not make any unexpected change in the result. The returns up to date give Johnson a purality of 28,796, and it is not expected that the complete returns will make any great change in this result.

IRA B. MILLS.
Railroad Commissioner.

The table below is based on complete returns from the rest of the counties. Where a figure is given for only one of the two candidates it means the purality for that candidate in that county. Incomplete returns are marked with an X.

The plurality for Johnson in the Twin Cities was approximately 14,600, his plurality in St. Louis county about 1,000 and his plurality in the other eighty-two counties of the state will be divided, there being some counties that gave a big vote for Jacobson and other counties that gave a big vote for Johnson.

The vote was very heavy all over the state, which probably accounts for the large Johnson majority in the Democratic counties and the big Jacobson vote in the Republican counties.

Both candidates carried their home counties by big majorities, although Johnson's vote in Nicollet is less than it was in 1906 and 1904.

Kandiyohi county, which had been looked upon as a bad spot by the Republicans, showed up with a majority for Jacobson, but some other counties that were expected to give him a big vote fell down.

FORCED TO OPEN SAFE.

Merchant and Postmaster Held Up by Masked Man.

While closing his store O. J. Laqua, a merchant and postmaster of Puposky, north of Bemidji, was held up at the point of a gun by a masked man and robbed of about $135.

Laqua had just finished counting the cash in the till and had $21 in his hand. While walking towards the safe in his office a stranger entered the store and leveling a revolver at Laqua said, "Hold there; I'll take care of that."

The robber forced Mr. Laqua to lay the money on the counter and then picked it up himself, and at the point of the gun Laqua was forced to the safe doors, both of which were closed, and at the same time the owner quietly slipped the combination. The robber then determined the merchant should open the safe, but the latter pretended to have forgotten the combination and consumed nearly thirty minutes pretending he was trying to enter the strong box, with the hope some one would arrive and rescue him.

The robber secured $60 of the company's money and about $80 belonging to Laqua, overlooking five registered letters in the safe. He stole a speeder belonging to the Red Lake Railroad company and made his escape.

DAKOTANS LAUNCH QUEEN OF THE SEA

Battleship North Dakota, Most Formidable Ship of New Navy, Leaves the Ways.

Miss Mary Benton of Fargo Christens the All-Big-Gun Dreadnought at Quincy, Mass.

Quincy, Mass., Nov. 12.—Into the waters of the Fore river, on whose shores several of the finest ships of the "new navy" have been built, there was launched yesterday the great steel hulk of what will be the formidable battleship North Dakota.

The occasion was a notable one, as the North Dakota is the first United States 20,000-ton, all-big-gun battleship of the Dreadnaught type.

Built by the Fore River Shipbuilding company, the big vessel is 60 per cent completed, and will be turned over to the government in less than a year.

The keel for the North Dakota was laid Dec. 18 last, the date of the sailing of the Atlantic fleet on its globe-encircling trip, and in her construction all time records for the building of American naval vessels have been broken.

Named by North Dakota Girl.

Shortly before the hour set for the launching, while the wedges were being driven in to lift the weight from the ground to the sliding ways, the naming party, led by Rear Admiral Bowles, president of the shipbuilding company, made its way through the crowd and ascended the launching stand. The sponsor, Miss Mary Benton, daughter of Col. John D. Benton of Fargo, N. D., was applauded, as was also Gov. John Burke, Mrs. Alice Nelson Page and other members of the North Dakota party.

The launching of the big vessel was entirely successful and witnessed by an immense crowd. When the word was given and the great mass of steel began to move majestically down the greased ways for the initial plunge, Miss Benton dashed against the prow a bottle of wine decorated with the national colors. As she did so she exclaimed in firm tones:

"I christen thee North Dakota."

A great wave of enthusiasm swept over the crowd of spectators as the christening ceremony was performed. Down in the crowd and up on the stand men and women waved hats and handkerchiefs, while thousands of throats greeted the new queen of the seas. Shrill whistle blasts from the nearby factories and the fleet of tugboats assembled in the river joined in the chorus and almost drowned the notes of the national anthem, valiantly played by the band.

A Magnificent Battleship.

The North Dakota is a sister ship of the Delaware, which is under construction at Newport News. The initial outlay for the huge battleship was $10,000,000. Her guns alone will cost about $1,000,000. She will have a long forecastle deck, extending from the bow almost to the center of the ship. The ten 12-inch guns will be arranged in five turrets, two to a turret, the forward turret being so located that the axis of its guns will be twenty-four feet above the water line, and just abaft this turret will be another, the barbette of which will be of sufficient height for its guns to clear the roof of the forward turret.

Abaft the break of the forecastle deck, and also situated on the axis of the ship will be two more 12-inch gun turrets, the guns of the forward turret in this part firing over the roof of the after turret. Abaft and near the stern will be the fifth and last of the big turrets. Naval men declare that no navy in the wolrd possesses a ship of the Dreadnaught type in which the guns are better arranged.

For repelling torpedo attack the North Dakota will carry a secondary battery of fourteen 5-inch guns.

SNOW BAFFLES MAN HUNTERS.

Duluth, Nov. 12.—A manhuna that began at Proctor, just outside the city limits, ten days ago to round up the two murderers of Brakeman John M. Connolly at Proctor, Oct. 30, was just getting exciting away up toward the Canadian border when snow fell and the bloodhounds which were tracking the men lost the scent.

NINE ARE KILLED IN CRASH

Air Brake Fails and Freight Running Wild Down Hill Collides With Another Train.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 12.—As a result of the collision of two freight trains near Beris, eleven miles west of here, late last night, nine persons are dead and four severely injured.

The collision was caused by a freight train going east down the Sherman hill losing control of its air and running wild. The train was going seventy miles an hour when the crash came which piled thirty-one freight cars in a mass, the cars catching fire and a scene of terror ensuing.

A chemical engine sent out from Cheyenne fought the fire, but could only keep the flames from the engine. The wreckage is still burning. The bodies of seven have been recovered from the wreck and brought to Cheyenne and placed in the morgue.

No Effort to Secure Bail for Morse Before Thirty Days.

New York, Nov. 12.—Wallace McFarlane, counsel for Charles W. Morse, said yesterday that he contemplated no further move in his effort to obtain bail for the convicted banker, pending the filing of the bill of exceptions, which will scarcely be done under thirty days.

Judge Lacombe's order restrains the marshal from removing Mr. Morse from the Tombs until the final determination of his case on the writ of error before the higher court.

Morse is chafing under his confinement in the Tombs, but has not lost his nerve, and keeps himself busy with his business affairs and callers.

"And when we succeed in restoring the price of cotton to the figures that ranged last year we will be richer by $150,000,000," said Mr. Barrett, amid the applause of a thousand or more delegates gathered in the New Orleans Coliseum.

NEXT PRESIDENT HAS 321 VOTES

Taft, According to Complete Returns, Has 321 Members of Electoral Votes.

MARYLAND'S VOTE IS SPLIT

Bryan Gets Six of the Electors and Taft Two—How Vote Went in Other States.

Complete returns from all the states of the Union give William Howard Taft of Ohio 321 votes in the electoral college which will choose the next president of the United States. William Jennings Bryan, the Democratic candidate, receives 262 electoral votes.

The official count in Maryland shows that the electoral vote of that state will be divided, Bryan getting six of the electorals and Taft two. On the popular vote—the vote cast for the elector receiving the highest number—Taft carries the state by 561 votes.

Complete returns from Missouri give Taft a plurality in excess of 2,000. Hadley, the Republican candidate for governor, has a plurality of over 17,000, the highest vote ever cast for a state officer in Missouri.

Missouri's electoral votes, with the two from Maryland, brings Taft's total up to 321. Bryan's electoral vote is 162.

Ohio went for Taft by a large majority. The Democratic candidate for governor was successful, winning out by a safe margin. The balance of the state ticket went to the Republicans.

Bryan carried his home state, Nebraska, by a plurality of about 2,000.

Minnesota and North Dakota elected Democratic governors, but the balance of the tickets went to the Republicans. In Minnesota Gov. Johnson received a plurality of about 30,000, while the state gave Taft a plurality of close to 100,000. The vote on the state officers other than governor was well up with Taft's vote.

In North Dakota Gov. Burke was elected by about 5,000 plurality. Taft carried the state by more than 20,000.

In South Dakota the national, state and congressional tickets were carried by the Republicans by safe pluralities.

Wisconsin gave Taft a plurality of about 85,000, and Gov. Davidson and other Republican candidates ran about as well.

Indiana and West Virginia, as well as Montana, turned out to be safely Republican. Colorado went for Bryan.

The states carried by Mr. Bryan are as follows: Alabama, 11; Arkansas, 5; Colorado, 5; Florida, 5; Georgia, 13; Kentucky, 13; Louisiana, 9; Mississippi, 10; Nevada, 3; Nebraska, 8; North Carolina, 12; Oklahoma, 7; South Carolina, 9; Tennessee, 12; Texas, 18, and Virginia, 12. Total, 156.

The latest returns indicate that in the national house of representatives the Republicans will have 219 members and the Democrats 172.

The senate retains its Republican complexion, although there will be a material change in the personnel of the upper body of the national legislature.

Judge Taft's plurality in the state of New York, according to corrected returns, is 203,495, more than 28,000 in excess of President Roosevelt's plurality of four years ago. Gov. Charles E. Hughes was re-elected in New York by 71,150.

CHICAGO IS SHAKEN BY BOMB

Number of Buildings Partially Wrecked and People Knocked Down on Street.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—A bomb explosion yesterday partially wrecked a number of buildings, hurled people from their beds, caused a panic among passengers in the Chicago & North-Western depot, tore down a trolley wire, wrecked gas mains and endangered the lives of hundreds.

The bomb was exploded in front of a clothing store owned by Isaac Ettelson, on the northeast corner of Wells and Kinzie streets. It was the worst of all the bomb explosions which at intervals for more than a year have terrorized sections of Chicago. More than $40,000 damage resulted.

The explosion shook the North-Western depot so that the big clock in the tower was stopped. People walking along the streets were knocked down and great excitement resulted when trolley cars on the Wells street line stopped.

The breaking of the gas mains caused the air to become filled with poisonous gases. Guests in the Hotel North, the Kinzie and other hotels, were greatly frightened, as they were tumbled out of their beds.

Dwelling houses in the neighborhood were filled by gas, which overpowered the residents, who were saved by policemen and firemen. The motive for the explosion is not known, but the police are hunting for two men who were seen loitering around the building shortly before the explosion and were also seen running away. Scores of detectives are working on the case.

Thanksgiving will be with us one week from next Thursday and we all have many things to be thankful for.

All signs point to an active year next year in Red Lake county and real estate should sell readily at a sharp advance.

If we had the initiative and referendum the voters would have to sit up and take notice more than they do at present.

President Roosevelt will leave next March for Africa for a big game hunt. About that time President Taft will have all the excitement he needs furnished by the Standard Oil crowd and the tariff stand-patters.

It is thought that all of the constitutional amendments voted on at the late election were defeated except the one providing an educational qualifications for County Supt. of Schools. All were good measures and were defeated through ignorance and neglect.

Governor Johnson

St. Paul Dispatch (Rep.):—It cannot be claimed that Governor Johnson won out on the nationality element. He did not. He won, what he won, the governorship of the state that has rank among states, because he is an American. Perhaps the best result, the most congratulatory basis, in this election, comes in the recognition that Governor Johnson won as an American and won from an American people. Never again can the nationality cry ring so loud. This Minnesota man, born and bred Minnesotan, and so born and bred to the best Americanism, has been voted into office by Americans; in the state where nationalities are so strongly mixed, so almost evenly balanced, but where Americanism is stronger, to make such victory as this, through his own personality, as a man, as a Minnesotan, as an American, is worth all the election cost.

It is the personality of the man which won him his place and that is to say, it is the man. The people of Minnesota wish such a man in the executive chair, they wish such a man to represent them abroad—and, incidentally, let it be said, without the slightest reflection upon the governor, that they wish him abroad quite as much as they wish him at home. Governor Johnson is elected to represent the state. He will be judged by that representation. There is no fear that he will misrepresent. He is the choice of the people of Minnesota. And he is the best representative, the best advertising force—we speak with courtesy—which the state possesses.

To The Citizens of St. Hilaire

Being secretary and a member of the executive committee of the Red River Valley Dairymens' Association I felt that I was more responsible than any one else for bringing this year's convention to this village.

Being that it was an experiment in taking the convention to a small town, and questionable whether it would be a success or not, I, under the circumstances, was especially anxious to make it a success, knowing that if it was not, most of the blame would have been put upon me.

I fully realize that if I had not had the hearty cooperation of the citizens of St. Hilaire the convention would not have been a success and I wish to extend my heartfelt thanks to the different committees, the officers and members of the commercial club, the ladies and other citizens for working together and helping make this the best convention in the history of the Red River Valley Dairymens' Ass'n.

Sincerely
Geo. L. Austin Sec.

Died From Shock

Crookston Times, November 12:—Lawrence P. Browning, a well known resident of Thief River Falls, died at St. Vincent hospital last night after undergoing a surgical operation. He was brought to this city yesterday and taken to the hospital, where it was ascertained that he would have to submit to an operation. It was performed last night and he was unable to rally from it.

The deceased was 73 years old and was a native of Scotland. Leaving his native land, he lived for some time in Montreal and later moved to Anoka, Minn. Some years ago he moved to Thief River Falls and became quite prominent in business and social circles. He was the first secretary of the Masonic lodge organized in Thief River Falls and was an active member of the lodge up to the time of his death.

He leaves a daughter, who is the wife of J. W. Eastman, editor of the Thief River Falls News, and a son who is living in the same city. Mr. and Mrs. Eastman and Mr. Browning accompanied the remains this afternoon from this city to Anoka where the interment will take place.

Kolseth in The Toils

The Crookston Journal for Wednesday, Nov. 11, gives the following in regard to young Kolseth who broke jail at Red Lake Falls a short while ago:

"Yesterday afternoon Robert Kolseth was arrested in a local refreshment parlor by officer Nelson on complaint of the firm of LePalm & McKinney.

Kolseth is the young man who some weeks ago stole a team from his uncle near Thief River Falls drove it to this city and sold it to the ditching firm of LePalm & McKinney who have a contract near Euclid.

Kolseth forged the name of his uncle, Hans Kolseth, to the bill of sale, and a few days later was arrested on a Soo train north of Thief River by Brakeman Cliff McLennan and others and lodged in the Red Lake county jail from which he escaped a short time afterwards.

He sold the team for $160, wagon, harness and all, and it was with difficulty that Deputy Sheriff Daniels recovered it.

Kolseth says he has been in Canada and arrived here two days ago going on a spree, and it was his talk that lead to his arrest. Sheriff Nelson of Red Lake county will be down tonight to take him back to answer to a double charge, horse stealing and jail breaking.

R. V. Lewis Dead

A telegram announcing the death last Sunday night of Attorney Roy V. Lewis at his parents' home in Worthington, Minn., was received by Geo. L. Austin Monday morning. No further particulars were given but death was undoubtedly due to quick consumption and other complications.

While the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are pained to learn of the death of Mr. Lewis it was not at all unexpected by those who were more familiar with his physical condition. The numerous hemorages which he suffered during his illness this summer and fall had so weakened him physically that he could not resist the ravages of the disease germs and succumbed to their persistent attacks.

Popular almost to the extreme, Mr. Lewis possessed a wide circle of friends here which was ever on the increase. Possessing a good, moral character and a fine personality with seemingly unlimited abilities for so young an attorney, his practice grew as rapidly as did his popularity. The future seemed to have nothing but success in store for him until he suffered the first hemorage when he bled profusely. One hemorage followed another until he was so weak that he could scarcely move. The hemorages were finally stopped and his strength, in part, slowly returned to him. He gained enough in strength to be up and about occasionally. About a month ago he with his wife returned to their homes at Worthington where he died as stated above.

Mr. Lewis came to St. Hilaire, a graduate of the law department of the Minnesota University, the latter part of March and immediately commenced the practice of his profession. By careful judgement and hard work his practice grew and continued to grow.

Early in June he returned to his home at Worthington and married Miss Ada Montgomery, also of Worthington. The happy couple arrived here a week later and took up their residence in the house on Water St. vacated by Dr. H. E. Nelson and wife last spring. Scarcely had they become settled before Mrs. Lewis was taken ill with typhoid fever. A week or two later Mr. Lewis had the first hemorage. Both were confined to their beds for the greater part of the summer. Mrs. Lewis was, however, enjoying her usual good health at the time they left for Worthington.

A heavy gloom has been cast over the hearts of their many friends and this whole community will join in in extending their heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved and unhappy wife.

WED BY SIGN LANGUAGE.

Unique Marriage Ceremony Is Performed in Iowa.

Fertile, Ia.—A unique wedding ceremony occurred here in the marriage of Miss Purdy Smith to Frank Thompson, O. J. Ojerdlund officiating, which was solemnized by use of the deaf-mute language.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Smith, prominent residents here, is a graduate of the deaf-mute school at Council Bluffs, and a most talented and charming young woman.

The groom is a resident of Owatona, Minn., is a printer by trade, and secured his education at Faribault, Minn., in an institution for mutes of that state. The officiating clergyman is also a mute. The young people will reside in Owatona.

Just as Good.

"We are trying to educate our readers to recognize the evils of substitution," said the business manager of one of the popular magazines. "Through our advertising pages we are trying to get them up to the point where they will insist upon getting what they asked for and will take nothing else. The merchant who has 'something just as good' is no more to be depended upon than a clerk in a certain country store which a friend visited to buy something.

"My friend had been invited unexpectedly to make an automobile trip, and was not fully prepared for it. The roads were very dusty, and after traveling several miles the party came to a country village, where my friend thought he might be able to purchase something to protect his clothing. The automobile halted before the general store of the village. My friend alighted and accosted a drowsy clerk. 'I want to get a linen duster,' he said.

"'I am very sorry,' said the clerk, 'but we are just out of linen dusters. I can let you have a nice feather duster!'"

Delays Are Dangerous.

His years exceeded the allotted three-score and ten, but he was a capitalist with more dollars than sense.

"Ah, my dear," he murmured to the fair girl by his side. "I could die for you."

"Then let us hurry to the minister's at once," replied the practical maid. "I don't want you to give the undertaker a job until I have the right to inherit."

More Fitting.

The brass band was serenading the candidate who, according to the early returns, had been elected.

As he appeared on his front porch to acknowledge the compliment a boy handed him a telegram.

He opened it and read it.

"Boys," he said, raising his hand to command silence, "oblige me by turning that 'Hot Time' business into a dirge."

TREASURE PROTECTED BY MUD.

Effort to Be Made to Reach Stored Riches in India.

A good story of hidden treasure comes from India on the authority of the late tutor to the heir apparent of Bhopal.

In the hills of Amarkantak, in the central provinces, close to the sources of the Narbada and the Son, there stands an old deserted fort called Ran Bakalli, wherein, so tradition says, are collected vast stores of treasure and jewels formerly the property of the Hindu rajahs of the country, but for ages no one has been able to gain access to the fort because it is surrounded by miles of impassable mud.

The late Sir Richard Temple when lieutenant governor of Bengal tried to reach it, but his elephant stuck deep in the mire and he was forced to abandon the quest. It is now suggested that a syndicate should be formed to exploit this treasure house by means of balloons, and a Calcutta capitalist has promised a large subscription toward the enterprise.

The question which puzzles most people is how this ocean of mud ever came to invest the fort. An effort will be made to enlist the co-operation of the maharajah of Rewa, the ruler of the district, who is said to be an enlightened prince, though how it comes that he has not already taken steps to solve the mystery is not stated.

INTO SERE AND YELLOW LEAF.

Eighteenth Century Women Seem to Have Willingly Settled Down.

In an English novel of the eighteenth century the author thus refers to a certain woman: "She had reached the age of 35, an age beyond which no woman can hope either to feel or inspire deep affection." In one of George Meredith's early novels he refers to a character as a woman "on the criminal side of 30." A Boston woman in the last century, after reaching the age of 30, put on, over her abundant natural hair, a false front and a cap. These were the outward and visible signs of the matronly maturity she had reached. She gave up at the same time all the gayer forms of social intercourse. She confined herself thereafter to the mild and elderly variety. She had "come out" into Boston society at 15. After two years of social gayeties she had married. At 30 she was the mother of eight children. She had lived the active part of her life. In accordance with the conventions of her time she settled down to a life of vegetating domesticity. She was not an exception. She was the normal woman of her day, registering its customs, just as a good thermometer registers the temperature.—Appleton's Magazine.

The Useful Hen.

"Country constables who make a living arresting speeding automobiles wouldn't have half so much trouble stopping the scorchers if they used a little ingenuity," says one of the offenders. "Chains across the road and moving vans blocking the highway are all right to accomplish the purpose, but they're cumbersome. My idea for causing a prompt slow up is to scatter a lot of grain in a road and turn a lot of hens loose. They would block the road all right, and if there's one thing that will make a chauffeur slow up it's a hen. Dogs are bad enough, but a hen always runs the wrong way, and if the machine is going at any speed usually ends up under the wheels. Hitting a hen will sometimes throw the front wheels out of line and cause the car to swerve, so drivers almost invariably slow up and give poultry a chance to get out of the way. A hen speed trap is a great idea, to my way of thinking, and, of course, if one of the birds were killed the cost could easily be added to the driver's fine."

Proof of Japanese Enthusiasm.

The spectators at wrestling matches in Japan pelt the winner with their hats. This is a custom with the Japanese for showing their appreciation of the skill of the winner. The hats are gathered up by the attendants and handed to the champion.

Eventually the owners come forward and redeem their hats with presents of various kinds. The custom in question is, it is explained, due to a recognition of the fact that enthusiasm is likely to cool down shortly after the event which excited it is passed. So to prove the genuineness of his admiration the Jap gives his hat as a pledge, to be redeemed in his cooler moments.

Australia's Wild Oysters.

Oysters are sometimes regarded as dangerous but they are not usually considered savage. A Queensland judge, however, has decided that they are wild beasts. Before a royal commission on the pearling industry, which has been sitting at Brisbane, a witness stated that eight years ago he had laid 100,000 shells in the neighborhood of Friday island. The Japanese stole the shells, and the district court judge held that as pearl shell oysters were wild animals there was no penalty for stealing them.

Poisonous Nettles of the Tropics.

In tropical regions there are nettles far more powerful than that of our own country.

The one called Urtica stimulans, which is found in Java, and that called Laportea crenulata, found in Hindustan, when bruised emit an effluvium, which poisonously affects the eyes and mouth, and if handled produce convulsions and serious swelling and pain in the arms, which may last for three or four weeks and in some cases cause death.

Answer That Pleased Bishop.

The late Bishop Potter was of the mind that Clara Morris was the wittiest woman on the stage. For this opinion he gave as reason her greeting when he called upon her at her place, The Pines, at Riverdale-on-the-Hudson.

"Now that you're here, I don't know any more what to do with you than I would a Gatling gun," said she.

"Treat me in the same manner," he suggested.

"Fire you," retorted Miss Morris. "Never!"

CAUSED LISTENERS TO SMILE.

Clergyman's Announcement Tickled the Risibilities.

As may be inferred, each profession has its stock jokes—its stories innumerable—each of which having a flavor of its own. That the point of a joke or jest lies not in the tongue of him who makes it, but in the ear that hears, is the testimony of the great dramatist.

The doctor on his rounds and the judge upon the bench have both an audience ready and willing to accept as the highest wit the bon mots of the speakers; and there is no club or gathering of men that does not acclaim one of its members as supreme in this respect, and are ready to yield due recognition of the gift.

It must be admitted that the blunders and jests clerical stand for some reason pre-eminent both in number and in mirth producing qualities. The reason, of course, is not far to seek—the very surroundings in which they occur—the very upsetting of one's preconceived notions of reverence, all tend to cause a reaction in the ordinary mental equilibrium, and the simplest mistake or accident under such circumstances assumes the proportions of a huge comedy.

Recently a divine, in drawing the attention of his congregation to a special communion service on the following Sunday informed them that "the Lord is with us in the forenoon and the bishop in the evening."

WORLD'S CITIES HARD TO KILL.

Rome Twice Burned, Six Times Starved—Paris' Eight Sieges.

Few of the world's great cities have not faced, at one time or another, total destruction. But a city is hard to kill.

Take Rome, for instance. She has been swept by pestilence no fewer than ten times. She has been twice burned and six times driven to submission by starvation. Perhaps it is on account of her great vitality that she is called the Eternal city.

Paris has gone through eight sieges, ten famines, two plagues and one fire which devastated it.

Constantinople has been burned out nine times and has suffered from four plagues and five sieges. In addition, she has been ruled by monarchs who were worse than a plague. Yet Constantinople still flourishes.

London has been decimated five times by plagues, in addition to visitations of typhus, cholera and other epidemics. She has been burned more or less severely several times.—Stray Stories.

Recognized the Line.

Two girls were talking over the phone one afternoon, the subject of the conversation being a lawn party to take place the following day. Both were discussing what they should wear, and after five minutes had come to no decision.

Right in the midst of this "important" conversation a masculine voice interrupted, asking humbly what number he had. A stern reply that the wire was busy did not successfully squelch the inquirer, for he asked again for the number. One of the girls now became indignant and with supreme scorn asked: "What line do you think you are on, anyhow?"

"Well," said the man, "I'm not sure, but judging from what I've heard I should say I was on a clothes line."

The Malacca Wildcats.

In the forests of Malacca and other islands in the Indian ocean may still be found the animal known as a wildcat. The upper parts of it are generally of a clear yellow color, with black spots; the lower parts are white with black spots also. On the back the spots lengthen almost into lines or rings, black on yellow.

The average length of the animal, excluding the tail, is almost two feet; the tail averages nine inches. Its height when standing erect is about 12 inches at the shoulder and 15 inches at the hindquarters. Its temper is mild and gentle; it plays almost like a domestic cat, or rather kitten, chasing its tail and amusing itself with anything that it can roll with its paws.

Had Given It Away.

Lucille's mother had taken her for an outing. Now that the hour for luncheon had arrived, she called to the little girl:

"Lucille, we will now have a little roll and some chocolate, and you shall pay with the two sous I gave you but a short time since."

"Oh, mamma," cried Lucille, "I have already given the two sous away to an old woman!"

"I am so glad you have disposed of the money in such a charitable way. How did you happen to present it to the old woman?" asked the mother.

"Well, you see, I gave it to her in payment for two nice apples," confessed Lucille.

She Knew.

Two Chicago women, in New York for a stay of several months, were planning a series of visits to the opera. Their talk drifted to "Lucia di Lammermoor."

"I don't know where the story of the opera comes from," said one. "Of course, I know that it is from one of the old Italian romances, but I am not familiar with the particular source."

The second assumed an air of superiority.

"You need not be ashamed of your ignorance," said she. "It is only by chance that I know. It's from 'Aesop's Fables.'"—New York Evening Post.

Science and Wheat.

Science has many aids and suggestions to offer to the future wheat-producer, such as rotation of crops, methods of soil tillage, seed selection, etc., by means of which wheat may be profitably grown in a permanent system of agriculture, says the Century. The future should bring to us as much, if not more, knowledge of soil fertility than has the past, and such knowledge will eventually become effective in the hands of the producer and put off the day when population will cease to increase because of insufficient food supplies.

Minnesota Dairyman:—Have you stopped to think that the most profitable institution in the community to the farmer is the local creamery? Go any place in the United States and find creameries running, and in that district you will find prosperity and wealth. The cow today is doing more for the country than all the mines put together, and the creamery is the stamp mill that brings out the wealth.

The engine in Leonard Holmes' elevator tired of its monotonous duties Tuesday and "blew up". Messrs. J. C. Dahl and Mike Fricker who were near the engine at the time it exploded narrowly escaped serious injury or instant death. Pieces of it flew in every direction and Mr. Dahl, upon taking inventory of himself after the excitement was over, found a big hole in his coat where one of the pieces had gone thru. His escape was nothing short of miraculous.

Peter Anderson, who for the past ten months has officiated as helper in the creamery here, leaves this afternoon for Minneapolis where he will attend the agricultural school at St. Anthony Park for the coming month. Buttermaking is to be thoroughly studied for the next month at the school and Mr. Anderson, as well as a great many others, goes to learn some of the finer point about this most important part of the creamery. He expects to resume his duties here at the creamery again upon his return from school.

Warren Sheaf:—The oldest voter who went to the polls in this city to deposit his ballot was without doubt Mr. O. E. Culbertson, who lives with his son, Wm. Culbertson, in this city. He walked up to the judges stand as firm and erect as a man of fifty, and asked for a ballot. Mr. Culbertson was born in Ireland, hence is of a strong and sturdy race, and he came to this country when five years of age. Still retaining his good memory, he is able to relate many interesting events in American history that have happened during his life time. He is a veteran of the Mexican war in which he suffered many hardships. Mr. Culbertson is still in good health and expects to live long enough to round out a century and even longer. He will be 90 years old this month.

R. R. VALLEY DAIRYMENS CONVENTION

Meet At St. Hilaire, November 11-12 In Annual Convention And Proves to be

LARGEST MEETING IN ITS HISTORY

St. Hilaire Citizens Banquet Dairymen on Wednesday Evening.

New Officers

Pres.—Wm. Robertson, Crookston.
V. Pres.—P. L. Malvin, R. L. Falls.
Secy.—O. A. Storvick, Crookston.
Treas.—John Harms, Ada.

There were more actual buttermakers in St. Hilaire last Wednesday and Thursday than were ever assembled together in any one place in northern Minnesota in the history of the Red River Valley Dairymens' Association, about one hundred and fifty being in attendance at the convention. The largest number came in on the train from the south Wednesday morning and the Thief River Falls band was on hand to give them a welcome.

A procession was formed and a march was made to the convention headquarters in the Hoff building where the convention assembled immediately. One very notable incident of the meeting was that from the address of welcome to the adjournment every number on the excellent program was given and every man who was advertised to speak was here. The program throughout was an excellent one and each number received close attention from the large audience.

A large number of the progessive farmers of this part of the county was present on both days and seemed to thoroughly enjoy the intellectual treat.

The event of the convention was, without doubt, the excellent banquet given by the ladies of St. Hilaire on Wednesday evening at the Hotel Markham. The ladies fairly surpassed themselves in preparing good things to eat and the only thing that marred its complete success was the limited space which would not allow all to be seated at one time. All were nicely taken care of, however, and an excellent musical program together with the Red Lake Falls orchestra made it a particularly enjoyable affair. After all were served toasts were given until a late hour.

The business of the convention was concluded on Thursday and nearly all of the delegates left on the evening train. All who were here seemed well pleased with the meeting and the 1908 convention of the Red River Valley Dairymens' Association passed into history as the most successful in the annals of its organization.

The following are the scores of all butter and cheese entered in the contests:

The Age of Progress

We live in an age of progress. "Former things" have literally "passed away," and instead of meekly submitting to calamities as messengers sent from above to chasten us, we have learned to look about for a reasonable cause of the trouble, and stamp it out. For instance, people who are troubled with indigestion take a glass of golden grain belt beer before each meal, which enables them to eat the things they like and eventually effects a cure. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

Stockholders Meeting

The stockholders of the Merchants State Bank of St. Hilaire held their annual meeting at the bank last Tuesday morning and the following directors were elected for the ensuing year; C. L. Hansen, Leonard Holmes, Daniel Patterson, H. E. Ives, J. A. Duffy, A. D. Stephens and B. E. Burkee.

Following the meeting the new directors met and elected the following officers: President, C. L. Hansen; V. President, Daniel Patterson; 2nd V. President, A. D. Stephens; Cashier, B. E. Burkee.

The bank is prospering and was found by the stockholders to be in a very satisfactory condition.

Ten Miles Past Roseau

Crookston Times:—The Great Northern extension from Greenbush to Warroad is being pushed forward rapidly. Already the steel gang is now 10 or more miles beyond Roseau and is moving at the rate of a mile a day. The surfacing crew has almost reached Roseau. As soon as the steel men finish, they will begin at Warroad to surface the work back toward Roseau until they meet the regular crew of men engaged in this work. The whole line is to be ballasted with gravel, the company having secured 80 acres of gravel at Fox, between Badger and Roseau, where the steam shovel is now working. Every day men from the cities pass through bound for the scene of operations, and likewise men are passing through homeward bound, having tired of labor. On Wednesday a laborer's car was attached to the G. N. passenger train carrying men up to the extension. All had been recruited by the Twin City employment agencies. At least two of these men deserted at this point in spite of the contractor in charge.

PERFECT HEALTH.

After Years of Backache, Dizziness and Kidney Disorders.

Mrs. R. C. Richmond, of Northwood, Iowa, says: "For years I was a martyr to kidney trouble, backache, dizzy spells, headaches and a terrible bearing-down pain. I used one remedy after another without benefit. Finally I used a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and the backache ceased. Encouraged, I kept on, and by the time I had used three boxes not a sign of the trouble remained. My health is perfect."

Col. Charles Coey, the president of the American Federation of Aero Clubs, said the other day in Chicago of an aeronautical pilot:

"He is really too absent-minded to pilot a balloon. He used, you know, be a railroad conductor, but he had to give up the work; he was too absent-minded for it, too.

"On his train one day, as he passed through the cars taking up the tickets, a joking passenger, instead of proffering his pasteboard, solemnly proffered his forefinger.

"Never noticing anything out of the way, the conductor punched a little chunk out of the finger and passed on."

BOY KEPT SCRATCHING.

Eczema Lasted 7 Years—Face Was All Raw—Skin Specialists Failed, But Cuticura Effected Cure

"When my little boy was six weeks old an eruption broke out on his face. I took him to a doctor, but his face kept on getting worse until it got so bad that no one could look at him. His whole face was one crust and must have been very painful. He scratched day and night until his face was raw. Then I took him to all the best specialists in skin diseases but they could not do much for him. The eczema got on his arms and legs and we could not get a night's sleep in months. I got a set of Cuticura Remedies and he felt relieved the first time I used them. I gave the Cuticura Remedies a good trial and gradually the eczema healed all up. He is now seven years old and I think the trouble will never return. Mrs. John G. Klumpp, 80 Niagara St., Newark, N. J., Oct. 17 and 22, 1907."

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

FINDS DEAD BODY OF PROF. ANDREE

Skipper of American Schooner Claims to Have Discovered Remains of Explorer.

CROSS BEARS NAME OF ANDREE

Found in Northern Labrador With Box of Documents—Missionary Doubts Report.

Copenhagen, Nov. 12.—There is reason to believe that the body of Prof. S A. Andree, the arctic explorer, who in 1897 made an attempt to reach the north pole in a balloon, has been found on the north coast of Labrador.

A letter received here from the captain of the Danish steamer Inga, dated Labrador, Sept. 30, reports that Capt. Chalker, skipper of the American schooner Pelops of Concepcion bay, Newfoundland, discovered in Northern Labrador a cross bearing the name "Andree," and that beneath this cross he found a body and a box of documents.

Found Human Remains.

The letter from the captain of the Inga was sent from India Side, Labrador, and states that the schooner Pelops arrived there from Cape Mugford, Northern Labrador. Capt. Chalker reported that he went inland at that place and about a quarter of a mile from shore came upon a simple wooden cross on which was inscribed the name "Andree."

He dug under the cross and found human remains and a box containing papers. Capt. Chalker said that he removed the cross, but he refused to say whether or not the papers were in his possession. He asked the Inga's captain how the name "Andree" was spelled. On being told, he took a piece of paper from his pocket on which was written the name as it appeared on the cross. It was "Andree."

In Lonely Spot.

The place where the cross was discovered is an absolute desert and is rarely visited even by Eskimos. What became of Andree's two companions, if the discovered remains prove to be him, is problematical, but light probably will be thrown upon their fate by an examination of the papers.

The expedition to discover the north pole, organized by Prof. S. A. Andree, a Swedish explorer, left Dane's island, Spitzbergen, in a balloon the afternoon of July 11, 1897. Prof. Andree was accompanied by two companions, Strindberg and Fraenkee.

Grenfell Doubts Story.

St. Albans, Vt., Nov. 12.—Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the noted Labrador medical missionary and explorer, who delivered a lecture here last night, when shown the dispatch from Copenhagen containing the report of the finding of the body of the explorer Andree, said:

"I do not believe that there is any truth in it."

MASKED TRIO HOLD UP HOTEL.

Keokuk, Iowa, Nov. 12. — Three masked men early yesterday entered the Hotel Keokuk and rifled the cash drawer after holding up the night clerk, a porter and a traveling man named Unger.

The three victims were forced to go into the baggage room, which the robbers locked.

Natural Gas Explodes.

Plant Has Close Call.

Webster City, Iowa, Nov. 12.—The plant of the Webster City Boiler and Engine company had a close call from total destruction last night. A blaze which caught on the roof did $1,000 worth of damage. It is fully insured.

Killed in Collision.

Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 12.—Miss Elsie Dutton, daughter of H. E. Dutton, was killed yesterday in a collision of an automobile and a street car.

Cutoff Sidetracks Town.

Aberdeen, S. D., Nov. 12.—Another change in the Milwaukee's main line west of here puts the town of Java, in Walworth county, on a sidetrack. The road has built a cutoff at that point which enables it to make faster time and save at least one hour on through traffic.

Steepest Railway in the World.

What claims to be the steepest railway line in the world is that recently opened near Bozen, in the Tyrol. The Mendel railway, with a gradient of 64 in 100, and the Sesuvian, with 63, have hitherto held the record, but the new line in its steepest parts rises 70 in 100 and in other parts 66. It leads up the mountain side to Virgl Terrace, on the River Elsack. The system employed is that of the electrical wire rope, and the ascent is made at the rate of five feet a second or five minutes for the whole distance.

Nothing I Ate Agreed With Me.

MRS.LENORA BODENHAMER.

Mrs. Lenora Bodenhamer, R. F. D. 1, Box 99, Kernersville, N. C., writes:

"I suffered with stomach trouble and indigestion for some time, and nothing that I ate agreed with me. I was very nervous and experienced a continual feeling of uneasiness and fear. I took medicine from the doctor, but it did me no good.

"I found in one of your Peruna books a description of my symptoms. I then wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice. He said I had catarrh of the stomach. I took Peruna and Manalin and followed his directions and can now say that I feel as well as I ever did.

"I hope that all who are afflicted with the same symptoms will take Peruna, as it has certainly cured me."

The above is only one of hundreds who have written similar letters to Dr. Hartman. Just one such case as this entitles Peruna to the candid consideration of every one similarly afflicted. If this be true of the testimony of one person what ought to be the testimony of hundreds, yes thousands, of honest, sincere people. We have in our files a great many other testimonials.

HABITS OF MUTTON BIRDS.

Antarctic Sooty Petrels Fraternize With Snakes.

Large poisonous snakes and mutton birds, otherwise known as antarctic sooty petrels, fraternize in the Furneaux island rookeries, northeast of Tasmania, according to Consul Baker of Hobart, who investigated the habits of the birds. The mutton bird hunters in reaching into the nests frequently lay hold of snakes instead of birds. The mutton birds fly swiftly and irregularly, and the consul mentions that Capt. Flinders of the British royal navy reported that a flock of the birds he once saw was forty miles in length. Even the lighthouse at Goose island, one of the Furneaux group, has to be protected from the birds by iron screen work, and frequently hundreds of dead birds are found at the lighthouse base. The birds are very methodical, arriving in enormous numbers at the rookeries every year about Sept. 20.

After the eggs have been laid the male and female birds take turns at hatching, each partner when relieved scouring the country in all-day quests for food.

The Simplest Method.

While building a house Senator Platt of Connecticut had occasion to employ a carpenter. One of the applicants was a plain Connecticut Yankee, without any frills.

"You thoroughly understand carpentry?" asked the senator.

"Yes, sir."

"You can make doors, windows and blinds?"

"Oh, yes, sir!"

"How would you make a Venetian blind?"

The man scratched his head and thought deeply for a few seconds. "I should think, sir," he said finally, "about the best way would be to punch him in the eye."

A Sinecure.

Nora—And did you get a new place yet?

Bridget—Shure I did, an' a foine one it is.

Nora—In what way?

Bridget—On the lady's visitin' card she sez she is at home ivery Tuesday from 4 to 6. Think of the picnic O'ill have workin' for a lady that's only home two hours a week!

EAGER TO WORK

Health Regained by Right Food.

The average healthy man or woman is usually eager to be busy at some useful task or employment.

But let dyspepsia or indigestion get hold of one, and all endeavor becomes a burden.

"A year ago, after recovering from an operation," writes a Mich. lady, "my stomach and nerves began to give me much trouble.

"At times my appetite was voracious, but when indulged, indigestion followed. Other times I had no appetite whatever. The food I took did not nourish me, and I grew weaker than ever.

"I lost interest in everything, and wanted to be alone. I had always had good nerves, but now the merest trifle would upset me and bring on a violent headache. Walking across the room was an effort and prescribed exercise was out of the question.

"I had seen Grape-Nuts advertised, but did not believe what I read, at the time. At last when it seemed as if I were literally starving, I began to eat Grape-Nuts.

"I had not been able to work for a year, but now after two months on Grape-Nuts I am eager to be at work again. My stomach gives me no trouble now, my nerves are steady as ever, and interest in life and ambition have came back with the return to health."

"There's a Reason."

EXCELLENT WEATHER AND MAGNIFICENT CROPS

REPORTS FROM WESTERN CANADA ARE VERY ENCOURAGING.

A correspondent writes the Winnipeg (Man.) Free Press: "The Pincher Creek district, (Southern Alberta), the original home of fall wheat, where it has been grown without failure, dry seasons and wet, for about 25 years, is excelling itself this year. The yield and quality are both phenomenal, as has been the weather for its harvesting. Forty bushels is a common yield, and many fields go up to 50, 60 and over, and most of it No. 1 Northern. Even last year, which was less favorable, similar yields were in some cases obtained, but owing to the season the quality was not so good. It is probably safe to say that the average yield from the Old Man's River to the boundary will be 47 or 48 bushels per acre, and mostly No. 1 Northern. One man has just made a net profit from his crop of $19.55 per acre, or little less than the selling price of land. Land here is too cheap at present, when a crop or two will pay for it, and a failure almost unknown. Nor is the district dependent on wheat, all other crops do well, also stock and dairying, and there is a large market at the doors in the mining towns up the Crows Nest Pass, and in British Columbia, for the abundant hay of the district, and poultry, pork, and garden truck. Coal is near and cheap. Jim Hill has an eye on its advantages, and has invested here, and is bringing the Great Northern Railroad soon, when other lines will follow."

The wheat, oat and barley crop in other parts of Western Canada show splendid yields and will make the farmers of that country (and many of them are Americans) rich. The Canadian Government Agent for this district advises us that he will be pleased to give information to all who desire it about the new land regulations by which a settler may now secure 160 acres in addition to his 160 homestead acres, at $3.00 an acre, and also how to reach these lands into which railways are being extended. It might be interesting to read what is said of that country by the Editor of the Marshall (Minn.) News-Messenger, who made a trip through portions of it in July, 1908. "Passing through more than three thousand miles of Western Canada's agricultural lands, touring the northern and southern farming belts of the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, with numerous drives through the great grain fields, we were made to realize not only the magnificence of the crops, but the magnitude, in measures, of the vast territory opening, and to be opened to farming immigration. There are hundreds of thousands of farmers there, and millions of acres under cultivation, but there is room for millions more, and other millions of acreage available. We could see in Western Canada in soil, product, topography or climate, little that is different from Minnesota, and with meeting at every point many business men and farmers who went there from this state, it was difficult to realize one was beyond the boundary of the country."

PRESIDENT OF HAITI DEPOSED

Taken on Board French Warship—Insurgents, in Full Control, Name New President.

ALEXIS REVILED AND CURSED

Mob Loses All Restraint When Fallen President Departs—American Minister Accused.

Port au Prince, Dec. 3. — President Nord Alexis has been deposed and is now safe on board the French training ship Duguay Trouin, and Port au Prince is in the hands of the revolutionists. Gen. Antoine Simon, the leader of the insurgents, is marching up the peninsula with an army of 5,000 and a new president, Gen. Legitime, has been proclaimed.

At the last moment President Alexis yielded to the urging of those about him and decided to take refuge aboard the French warship. At precisely 5 o'clock a salute of twenty-one guns announced his departure from the palace. Thousands had gathered there early in the day and they had surged around the entrances, threatening to tear down the walls to drive out the president and his loyal followers.

Protected by French Flag.

So serious was the situation that the French minister, M. Carteron, and other foreign representatives, together with members of a special committee, forced themselves upon the president, who finally consented to withdraw. Shouts greeted him as he stepped from the precincts of the palace, and into a carriage which had been provided. M. Carteron, carrying the French tricolor, sat beside him, and the minister threw the folds of the flag over the shoulders of the deposed president to protect him. An immense crowd of men and women had assembled at the wharf, and the arrival of the presidential carriage, escorted by a battalion of infantry and a squadron of cavalry, was the signal for wild tumult and riot.

Tragic and Shameful Scene.

All along the route the people shouted, jeered and cursed at the fallen president, but when the landing stage was reached the mob lost all restraint. The scene was tragic and shameful. Infuriated women broke through the cordon of troops and shrieked the grossest insult into the face of the president, who strove bravely to appear undismayed.

Just as Nord Alexis was embarking a woman succeeded in reaching his side and, drawing a knife, made a sweep at his body. The blow fell short, however, and before the woman could follow it up with another she was seized by a soldier. A man succeeded in striking the president with his fist, but the blow was a glancing one on the neck. Nord Alexis turned to M. Carteron, and shaking his hand said:

"I told you so, your excellency."

Accuses American Minister.

The unrest which ended in the open revolt of the residents of Port au Prince had been noticeable for some days, and it reached its culminating point early yesterday morning, when regularly organized bands of citizens moved quietly about the town and took possession of various points of vantage. No shots were fired and the only resistance found was that of the president, who barred himself within the palace. One of the leaders in this movement charged that the American minister, H. W. Furniss, was the chief one of those encouraging the president to resist, and has issued the following proclamation:

"Citizens: The danger is supreme. We risk our independence if we do not take good care. The old man would have given up already were it not for the advice of a diplomat who is preparing for our annexation. A clash is expected and this diplomat wishes to precipitate one in order to have a pretext for colonizing us. Let us therefore be docile, yet not supine."

Chauffeur Sent to Prison.

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 3.—W. E. Kibbe and W. H. Phair, chauffeurs, whose reckless driving of automobiles it was charged caused two deaths, pleaded guilty to manslaughter. Phair was sentenced to not less than three nor more than four years in the state prison. Kibbe will be sentenced today.

Fire at Alexandria, Minn.

Alexandria, Minn., Dec. 3. — Fire yesterday destroyed the large building at the foot of Main street occupied by Charles Culoss as a restaurant and residence. The contents were mostly destroyed. The loss over the insurance is $1,000. Another building used as a residence was also destroyed.

Coopers Get Postponement.

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 3. — On the application of the defense the trial of Col. D. B. Cooper, his son, Robin Cooper, and John P. Sharpe, for the killing of Senator Carmack, was postponed until the January term of court.

Boy Drowns While Skating.

Cambridge, Minn., Dec. 3.—Yesterday afternoon Clarence Johnson, son of Gustave Johnson of East Cambridge, was drowned while skating on Rapp's lake, about two miles east of this village.

SLOWLY SLIPPING INTO RIVER

Should Flood Break Through Banks Several Streets Are Certain to Be Destroyed.

Pine Bluff, Ark., Dec. 3.—While appealing as a last recourse to President Roosevelt that permission be granted to cut through the government levee and change the course of the Arkansas river, leaving Pine Bluff "high and dry," but safe, every available man in the city has been put to work strengthening already crumbling banks until the crest of the flood passes this point, probably Wednesday night, in an effort to prevent an overflow which would mean the destruction of property valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars and possibly loss of life.

Appeal to President.

The plan suggested Monday was that a strip of land several miles north of the city, where the river starts a "horseshoe bend," be cut through, but federal permission, through the department of war, could not be secured. Late yesterday a message appealing to President Roosevelt was sent, but even should the necessary authority now be granted, the water is rising too rapidly to permit the successful carrying out of the plan.

Last night the river passed the fifteen-foot stage, and at its crest a stage of twenty-six feet is anticipated. The flood stage is twenty-five feet, and with the banks in their present weakened condition as the result of the recent high water and the rains of the past few days, the result when the full force is felt cannot be foretold.

City in Great Peril.

Last night a large section of land thirty feet north of the walls of the county court house and Jefferson hotel was slowly disappearing into the river, and warehouses along the bank, which have already been partly wrecked, are tottering and may fall at any moment. Should the water break through the bank it seems certain that several streets, lined with business houses and a mile long, would be destroyed.

To add to the seriousness of the situation is the fact that the city of Pine Bluff is built upon quicksand. This strata of sand lies under some thirty feet of clay, mixed with sand. The river current comes sweeping against the banks and sucking at the sand and undermines the covering of clay.

RACE RIOTS IN BOHEMIA.

Czechs and Germans Clash and Many Are Injured.

Prague, Bohemia, Dec. 3.—The race riots between the Czechs and Germans are assuming the gravest character and probably will compel a declaration of martial law. The disturbances yesterday were more serious than any of those which have taken place in the last few weeks, in bitter and open resistance to armed authority. Order was not restored until long after midnight. Twenty gendarmes and several police were injured by stones and a great number of the rioters were cut down.

KEEFE IS APPOINTED.

President of Longshoremen Becomes Commissioner of Immigration.

Washington, Dec. 3. — President Roosevelt yesterday appointed Daniel J. Keefe of Detroit commissioner general of immigration to fill the place made vacant by the death of Frank P. Sargent, and made known his intention to reappoint to their respective positions W. D. Crum, collector of the port at Charleston, S. C., and Martin Knapp, chairman of the interstate commerce commission.

Mr. Keefe is president of the International Association of Longshoremen and sixth vice president of the American Federation of Labor.

TOT GETS GUN; IS SHOT DEAD.

Child of Two Years Killed in Taking Pistol From Dresser.

Marquette, Mich., Dec. 3.—Hearing a gunshot in a bedroom in the residence of the family at the Tobin mine, near Crystal Falls, Mrs. Clyde Vashaw rushed to the scene and found her two-old daughter lying dead on the floor with a bullet in the brain.

The child had just been put to bed. She had climbed upon a chair and was taking a loaded revolver out of the dresser drawer when the weapon was discharged.

STRICKEN WHILE JOKING.

Woman Dies Within Twenty Minutes After Neuralgia Afflicts Her.

Waterloo, Iowa, Dec. 3.—Mrs. Thomas Dunkerton, a resident of Lester township, Blackhawk county, during the fifty-two years of her life, expired suddenly of neuralgia of the heart. She was laughing and joking with her family when stricken and lived less than twenty minutes.

PARIS SCANDAL IS REHEARSED.

Paris, Dec. 3. — Yesterday for the first time, Marguerite Steinheil was questioned regarding the murder of her husband and mother, the double crime committed six months ago. It is said she told a sordid story of a weak husband and of an adventuress dabbling in love, finance and politics. Public opinion considers the murder of her husband and mother of no importance and interest is centered in the death of ex-President Faure.

CHINA'S YOUNG RULER CROWNED

Enthronement of New Emperor Takes Place in Presence of High Dignitaries.

PRESIDENT RECEIVES THANKS

Envoy Presents Letter Expressing Thanks for Remission of Boxer Indemnity.

Peking, Dec. 3. — The coronation of Pu Yi, three-year-old emperor of China, as successor to the late Kuang Hsu, took place at the imperial palace yesterday. The new ruler was given the name of Hsuen Tuig. The event lacked the brilliance of former coronations, owing to the recent deaths of Kuang Hsu and the dowager empress, but it was not lacking in color and spectacular features.

During the coronation the white and blue emblems of mourning were replaced by trappings of the royal color, red. The mourning emblems were restored after the coronation ceremonies, however.

Say Calm Is Bought.

The ceremony took place in the throne hall of the Forbidden City. The officials present were selected with great care and were the highest men in the empire.

The fact that the enthronement of the new emperor has taken place has in part re-established confidence here and has resulted in the prophecy in various official circles of an extremely conservative rule.

The best informed ministers, however, are inclined to thing that the outward sign of calm has been bought with promises which if kept will completely change the personnel of the Peking government immediately the hundred days of mourning are ended.

Message From Late Emperor.

Washington, Dec. 3. — "Long may your excellency enjoy good health and happiness; may the American people be ever blessed with prosperity and peace. These are our heartfelt wishes."

The above are the sentiments expressed in the concluding sentences of the letter from the late emperor of China to President Roosevelt, handed to him yesterday by Tong Shoa Yi, the special Chinese ambassador, thanking the United States government for the remission of $14,000,000 of the indemnity guaranteed by China for damages resulting from the Boxer rebellion.

In presenting the letter Ambassador Tong recalled that it was the last message addressed by his late majesty to the president and said every line of it breathes friendship and good will for the government and people of the United States, and voices the sentiments of all China.

President Replies.

In reply the president said: "The letter which you bear I receive with great appreciation, and on behalf of the government and people of the United States I accept it with quite exceptional sentiments as a message of especial friendship from your august sovereign, whose death and the demise of her imperial majesty, the late empress dowager, we lament. I receive it with the more profound sentiments in that you bring it now no less from the emperor, the celebration of whose accession makes this day doubly auspicious, and from that enlighteened government which all the world feels will add new luster through his reign to the immemorial history of China."

VIOLATION OF POSTAL LAWS.

Man Who Cashed Money Order Made to Another Is Arrested.

Viborg, S. D., Dec. 3.—C. M. Havens, a young barber of this place, was taken into custody yesterday by a deputy United States marshal on complaint of Postoffice Inspector Collier on the charge of getting 97 cents on a postal money order that was made out to some one else. The money order was made out to another barber, whose name is C. W. Havens. The hearing was held before Commissioner E. T. White at Yankton, and he was bound over to the next term of court at Sioux Falls.

PITTSBURG BROKERS QUIT.

Assignment Made by John D. Armstrong & Co.

Pittsburg, Dec. 3. — John D. Armstrong & Co., brokers, with offices in the Farmers' Bank building, yesterday made an assignment to Chapman & Rainbow, attorneys. Inability to realize on paper in their possession caused the suspension. The amount involved could not be ascertained, but it is stated the personal assets exceed the liabilities.

Night Riders Indicted.

Union City, Tenn., Dec. 3.—Eighty-four indictments were returned and four additional arrests swere made yesterday in connection with the investigation of the recent outrage of the night bands of the Reelfoot lake region.

Smallpox Is Epidemic.

Morris, Minn., Dec. 3.—Smallpox is epidemic in this city and may compel the closing of the public schools. There also is one family quarantined for scarlet fever.

OVER 100 BODIES RECOVERED

Now Believed That Death Roll of Coal Mine Explosion Will Not Exceed 120.

Pittsburg, Dec. 2. — The squeaking iron bucket operated in the 500-foot shaft leading to the Rachel and Agnes mines of the Pittsburg-Buffalo Coal company at Marianna, Pa., since last Saturday, when a terrific explosion in the mines wrecked the up-to-date elevator of the shaft and snuffed out the lives of miners to a number estimated at from 120 up, had carried to the surface when darkness fell last night the bruised, mangled and burned remains of more than 100 of the victims of the disaster.

The most reliable count of bodies recovered at that time was 110, two-thirds of which have been identified. The general belief at that time was that not many more bodies would be found and that by noon to-day nearly all of the victims would have been brought to the surface. That a few bodies are burned under slate or other roof structure and underground construction was conceded, and it may be several days before these are found. But the explosion of the workings has been so complete that it seems impossible that any considerable number of bodies remain in the mines.

James E. Roderick, head of the state department of mining, said last night that from data furnished him by the company and reports from his six deputy inspectors he did not believe the death list would exceed 120.

DETECTIVE KILLS MAN.

Police Smuggle Him Out of City for Safekeeping.

Marion, Ohio, Dec. 2. — Following the killing of J. W. C. Jackson, a farmer, fifty years old, on his place near Marion late yesterday by H. R. Curry, a railroad detective, it is alleged that mobs formed on the streets and threatened to lynch Curry, who surrendered himself. Curry had a warrant for Jackson, charging the latter with stealing coal. When he attempted to serve it an argument arose in the corn field where Curry found Jackson and his wife.

Curry claims Jackson rushed upon him with a corn cutter. Then he fired three shots, killing Jackson. Curry walked back to Marion and informed the police, who smuggled him out of the city and took him to Delaware for safekeeping. The crowds were dispersed by the officers.

SEVEN HUNDRED LIVES LOST.

Japanese Steamships in Collision off the Coast of China.

Chefoo, China, Dec. 2.—Seven hundred people were drowned off this port yesterday when two Japanese steamships collided.

All details of the accident are lacking, but it is feared that the entire quota of passengers of both steamers as well as their crews perished in the disaster.

Tokyo Hears Report.

Tokyo, Japan, Dec. 2. — Word has been received here that two Japanese steamers were in collision off Chefoo, China, today, and that seven hundred lives were lost, bua all details are lacking, and the report has not yet official confirmation.

TO DIVERT RIVER CHANNEL.

Citizens of Pine Bluff, Ark., Fear Banks May Give way.

Pine Bluff, Ark., Dec. 2.—Fearing that the already weakened banks of the Arkansas river would be unable to withstand the pressure of the water when the full force of the present rise reaches Pine Bluff, it was decidede at a meeting of citizens held here yesterday to divert, if possible, the channel of the river by the cutting through a narrow strip of land where the river starts a "horse shoe bend," several miles north of the city. This plan, if successful, while leaving Pine Bluff away from the main channel, would eliminate, it is believed, the danger of an overflow which would cause the destruction of a large amount of property.

Vanderbilt Declared Sane.

New York, Dec. 2. — After having been declared insane a year ago and incompetent to manage his affairs, Edward Ward Vanderbilt, husband of the "spiritualistic bishop," Mary Ann Scannell-Pepper-Vanderbilt, and a wealthy retired lumber dealer of Brooklyn, was last night declared sane by a sheriff's jury.

New Bridge Is Dynamited.

Cleveland, Dec. 2.—An abutment of the recently completed Wheeling & Lake Erie lift-bridge, located in the "flats," last night was badly damaged by a dynamite explosion. Traffic over the structure has been stopped pending an examination. The bridge was constructed by non-union labor, it is said.

Flood Danger Past.

Guthrie, Okla., Dec. 2.—Oklahoma rivers, which have been overflowing their banks and doing damage in many localities, are slowly receding, and it is believed all danger is past. Train service is being restored.

Alleged Safeblowers Caught.

Hot Springs, Ark., Dec. 2.—Three alleged safeblowers and postoffice burglars, whose trail of operation, it is declared, extends throughout the whole of the Mississippi valley, were arrested here last night.

ARCHBOLD GETS REAL PEEVISH

Cornered by Kellogg He Makes Damaging Admissions as to Trust's Methods.

SIBLEY BRANDED TRUST AGENT

Oil Magnate Admits Big Loan Was Made to Control Crude Oil Output of Oklahoma.

New York, Dec. 3.—Red-faced and much disturbed, John D. Archbold, vice president of the Standard Oil company, was forced to admissions on the witness stand yesterday which threw extended light on the monopolistic methods of the big trust.

The surprise of the mysterious two and a half million loan to James McDonald, developed on Tuesday, was discounted yesterday by an equally mysterious loan of $7,500,000 to T. M. Barnsrall of Pittsburg. It was like drawing teeth to secure an admission that by this loan the Standard controlled the crude output of Oklahoma.

Sibley a Trust Agent.

Although the letters which ex-Congressman John C. Sibley wrote and other daring trust coups were not read, Mr. Archbold's testimony proved Mr. Sibley a dyed-in-the-wool trust agent. It was established that Sibley had been with the trust since 1879, and Mr. Archbold's testimony explained to the last degree the Sibley letters which William Randolph Hearst read during the last campaign.

Mr. Archbold, at another period in his trying day, gave several excuses for the long years that passed between the time that the Standard Oil Company of Ohio was ordered dissolved by the courts of that state and the actual liquidation of the concern, when the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey was prepared to receive the properties.

How Rivals Were Crushed.

The inquisition then turned to Standard Oil methods of crushing its rivals. Frank B. Kellogg, the government trust buster, seemed to rejoince particularly in this line of evidence. He declared that through it he would surely prove the greatest of trusts "a conspiracy in restraint of trade."

In this suit the government is particularly trying to show restraint of trade. This was responsible for much of the two sessions before Special Examiner Frank Ferris yesterday being taken up with questions regarding firms and copartnerships taken in by tion or that feeder of the Standard octopus. Mr. Kellogg had no assistance from the witness. He admitted purchases, dismantling and absorption when he could not get around it.

The details of this cross-examination could not interest the general public. Firm after firm were taken into the Standard fold. Cash was paid where the original owners would not have Standard Oil stock.

LAWRENCE CHANGES SCOPE.

Institution Drops "University" and Academic Department.

Appleton, Wis., Dec. 3.—By vote of the trustees Lawrence university yesterday afternoon was robbed of two distinctive features that have been with the institution for fifty-six years.

Lawrence hereafter will be known as a college, the name university having been dropped, and it also has been decided to discontinue the academic department, which is now fifty-nine years old.

MAY DIE FROM HORSE'S KICK.

Chippewa Falls Man Receives Serious Injuries.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Dec. 3.—Alvin Muell, forty-two years old, was perhaps fatally injured yesterday by being kicked by a horse. Four ribs over the heart and sternum were broken, the bones almost piercing that organ.

Lord Douglas Is Free.

Nelson, B. C., Dec. 3.—The charge of attempted murder brought against Lord Sholto Douglas of Creston, B. C., has been withdrawn. Investigation went to show that there were mitigating circumstances and that Mowbray, whom he shot, was really to blame. It is also believed that the gun was accidentally discharged by Lord Douglas during the heat of passion.

Jenkins Is Acquitted.

New York, Dec. 3.—John P. Jenkins, Jr., formerly president of the Jenkins Trust company of Brooklyn, was found not guilty late yesterday by a jury in the supreme court in Brooklyn, where he has been on trial for several days past on the charge of appropriating to his own use $50,000 of the funds of the trust company.

Given Suspended Sentence.

Mr. Burton has taken the offer under consideration, but will make no reply to Mr. Taft until after the Ohio senatorial situation has been clarified. It is understood that President-elect Taft's action in tendering the secretaryship to Mr. Burton is made entirely without respect to the senatorial fight in Ohio, in which his brother, Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, is a prominent factor.

CHIEF OF FRISCO POLICE DROWNED

MYSTERY SURROUNDS INCIDENT

Chief Was Worried Over Attacks on Him Growing Out of Suicide of Heney's Assailant.

San Francisco, Dec. 3.—William J. Biggy, chief of police of San Francisco, was lost overboard from the police patrol boat between Belvidere and San Francisco shortly before 11:30 o'clock Monday night.

The only other occupant of the police launch was William Murphy, the engineer.

Murphy missed the chief when the boat was about half way across the bay back to the city.

Body Not Recovered.

Although numerous boats have patrolled and searched the bay since daylight yesterday morning from the Golden Gate to Hunters Point, and the officers of the ferryboats and other craft were asked to keep a sharp lookout, the body of the chief of police has not been recovered. Up to a late hour the police launch Patrol and other boats equipped with searchlights were still on the bay, but it is feared that the body has been carried out to sea.

Chief Was Worried.

Police Commissioner Keil, who lives in Belvidere, and to confer with whom Biggy crossed the bay Monday night, said yesterday that the chief was much worried and concerned over the attacks upon him by some of the newspapers, and charges and countercharges growing out of the suicide at the county jail of Morris Haas, the assailant of Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Heney. The commissioner said that he advised Biggy to pay no attention to the attacks upon him, and that the chief left his home in a more cheerful frame of mind, but complaining that he was not feeling well.

Mr. Kellogg also sought information regarding certain mysterious loans of $2,700,000 made to James McDonald by the Anglo-American company, a Standard subsidiary, but Mr. Archbold, a director of the Anglo company, was unable to throw any light on the question. For over a year the government's counsel has been trying to obtain information regarding these McDonald loans, but has failed. The government alleged that the loans were made to enable the Standard to secretly purchase the Manhattan Oil company of Ohio.

The complete returns on the vote cast for governor, as given out by the secretary of State, Julius Schmall, gives John A. Johnson 175,036 and J. F. Jacobson 147,084, Johnson's plurality being 28,002. The remarkable part of this is that Mr. Johnson received a larger vote by 27,044 than he did in 1906, when his majority over Cole was 72,318, and a larger vote by 6,556 than he did in 1904, when his majority over Dunn was 7,852. In 1904, Johnson received 147,992. Lulu 140,130; in 1896, Johnson received 168,480 and Cole 96,162.

Minneapolis Star:—A newspaper is in no sense a child of charity. It earns twice over every dollar it receives, and it is second to no enterprise in contributing to the upholding of the community. Its patrons reap far more benefits from its pages than its publishers, and in calling for the support of the community in which it is published, it asks for no more than in all fairness belongs to it, though generally it receives less. The Malacca Wildcats.

In the forests of Malacca and other islands in the Indian ocean may still be found the animal known as a wildcat. The upper parts of it are generally of a clear yellow color, with black spots; the lower parts are white with black spots also. On the back the spots lengthen almost into lines or rings, black on yellow.

The average length of the animal, excluding the tail, is almost two feet; the tail averages nine inches. Its height when standing erect is about 12 inches at the shoulder and 15 inches at the hindquarters. Its temper is mild and gentle; it plays almost like a domestic cat, or rather kitten, chasing its tail and amusing itself with anything that it can roll with its paws.

Had Given It Away.

Lucille's mother had taken her for an outing. Now that the hour for luncheon had arrived, she called to the little girl:

"Lucille, we will now have a little roll and some chocolate, and you shall pay with the two sous I gave you but a short time since."

"Oh, mamma," cried Lucille, "I have already given the two sous away to an old woman!"

"I am so glad you have disposed of the money in such a charitable way. How did you happen to present it to the old woman?" asked the mother.

"Well, you see, I gave it to her in payment for two nice apples," confessed Lucille.

She Knew.

Two Chicago women, in New York for a stay of several months, were planning a series of visits to the opera. Their talk drifted to "Lucia di Lammermoor."

"I don't know where the story of the opera comes from," said one. "Of course, I know that it is from one of the old Italian romances, but I am not familiar with the particular source."

The second assumed an air of superiority.

"You need not be ashamed of your ignorance," said she. "It is only by chance that I know. It's from 'Aesop's Fables.'"—New York Evening Post.

Died In Montana

This community was pained to learn of the death of Botolphe Benson, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Sven Benson of this village, Tuesday, Nov. 24th, at Glendive, Montana, where he had gone about two months ago on account of poor health death being due, primarily, to consumption.

Botolphe Benson was born at Halstad Minn., April 27, 1884. Here he spent the first twenty years of his life and then moved with his parents to this village in 1905.

The remains arrived on Wednesday, Nov. 25th, from Montana and after a brief service in the United Lutheran church were laid to rest in the Swedish Lutheran cemetery, Rev. Brodland, of Nielsville, and Rev. Wangensteen, of this village, officiating.

Warroad Coming Into Her Own

Along with the realization of her hope of years comes to Warroad reason to believe that the town is to have more in the way of stimulas to development and growth than its citizens had dared to incorporate into their fondest dreams. The putting in by the Great Northern of five miles of yard and spur trackage here means that the company contemplates developments at that place that their citizens had not anticipated. Besides the house track always used by the Great Northern, there are two sidings the length of ther yard, a dock spur a mile long, a "Y" transfer track, and spur to the lake, taking off from the "Y". This spur will skirt the lake shore and touch the river near the government shops on the point, where the saw mill is to be located.

The junction will be equipped with semaphores and signal tower and interlocking switches, so that trains will not have to stop at the junction. A pumping station is to be installed at the river and 1,600 feet of pipe will be laid to the tank and roundhouse at the northern end of the yards.

While the people of Warroad are looking upon these extensive operations and wondering what the Great Northern wants with all these facilities there comes the word, almost authoritative, that it is Mr. Hill's purpose to build from Warroad to Duluth and Winnipeg in the immediate future.—Crookston Journal.

Obituary

The residents of St. Hilaire and vicinity were shocked on the morning of Friday, Nov. 28th, to learn of the death of Mrs. J. C. Cummings. Until ten days before that time Mrs. Cummings had enjoyed excellent health. A bad cold resulted in pneumonia which failed to respond to the best of care and medical skill. Though the end was not wholly unexpected it was, nevertheless, keenly felt.

Mrs. Cummings was descended from old English stock and belonged to the Presbyterian faith. She was born at Olean, New York, in 1857, and was the only child of Dr. Charles S. and Mary C. Hurlbut, of Steuben county, N. Y. At the age of seven years she moved with her parents to Lewiston, N. Y., where she was educated in the Lewiston Academy from which she graduated. She then entered the Boston Conservatory of Music and was graduated in 1880.

On December 2nd, 1888, she was married to Dr. J. C. Cummings in Arkport, N. Y. Dr. and Mrs. Cummings resided in New York until 1896 when they came to Minneapolis. In the spring of 1903 they moved to this village where they have since resided.

Besides her husband, Dr. J. C. Cummings, Mrs. Cummings is survived by an uncle and three cousins in New York state and a cousin, Prof. Hodgman, president of Macalester College at St. Paul, Minn.

Mrs. Cummings was an accomplished musician and a most estimable lady in every way. She was a kind and loving wife and a generous neighbor. She was ever ready to sympathize with and aid those whom she could. Though she had no children herself, she took a great interest in the little people of the town and brought them together in a social as well as very useful organization. Her influence was always for the good and for her many good qualities she was loved by all who knew her. In her death this community has suffered an irreparable loss and the sympathy of all is extended to the bereaved husband.

The funeral services were held at the residence on Water St. Monday afternoon and the remains were laid to rest in the Swedish Lutheran cemetery, Rev. Palm officiating.

A Gem And Medicine Mine

Mining for precious stones and medicine in combination makes a novel and curious sort of industry in San Diego county in California. The medicine is lithia; the precious stones are tourmalines—a kind of gem that appears to be gaining in poplarity. Steadily gaining in popularity also, is golden grain belt beer, the ideal home beverage. The practice of keeping a case on hand at home is so general that it is well nigh univeral. There is no other just as good. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

An Event In Sunday Journalism

The people in the middle West are rapidly discovering that the Sunday Magazine of The Chicago Record-Herald is not only a real magazine but also one of the greatest in this age of magazines. Its recent display of enterprise in paying $25,000 for the exclusive serial rights of Conan Doyle's new romance, "Sir Nigel," compelled even the editors of the famous monthlies to acknowledge the presence of a new and powerful rival.

When this was followed by Anthony Hope's new Zenda romance. "Sophy of Kravonia," the reading world needed no further proof that the Sunday Magazine of the Record-Herald was able to capture the finest and most costly new fiction offered in England and America. Its illustrations and cover designs in color have from the beginning been of unsurpassed beauty and artistic grace. Its short stories, descriptive articles, humor, poetry and sketches of all kinds are the choicest that the literary market affords, many of them being written by the most popular authors and magazine contributors in the United States. In short, it is an entertaining, high class magazine that will bear comparison with the best independent weeklies or monthlies, whatever the price.

There is nothing else like it in American journalism.

Recognized the Line.

Two girls were talking over the phone one afternoon, the subject of the conversation being a lawn party to take place the following day. Both were discussing what they should wear, and after five minutes had come to no decision.

Right in the midst of this "important" conversation a masculine voice interrupted, asking humbly what number he had. A stern reply that the wire was busy did not successfully squelch the inquirer, for he asked again for the number. One of the girls now became indignant and with supreme scorn asked: "What line do you think you are on, anyhow?"

"Well," said the man, "I'm not sure, but judging from what I've heard I should say I was on a clothes line."

Proof of Japanese Enthusiasm.

The spectators at wrestling matches in Japan pelt the winner with their hats. This is a custom with the Japanese for showing their appreciation of the skill of the winner. The hats are gathered up by the attendants and handed to the champion.

Eventually the owners come forward and redeem their hats with presents of various kinds. The custom in question is, it is explained, due to a recognition of the fact that enthusiasm is likely to cool down shortly after the event which excited it is passed. So to prove the genuineness of his admiration the Jap gives his hat as a pledge, to be redeemed in his cooler moments.

Australia's Wild Oysters.

Oysters are sometimes regarded as dangerous but they are not usually considered savage. A Queensland judge, however, has decided that they are wild beasts. Before a royal commission on the pearling industry, which has been sitting at Brisbane, a witness stated that eight years ago he had laid 100,000 shells in the neighborhood of Friday island. The Japanese stole the shells, and the district court judge held that as pearl shell oysters were wild animals there was no penalty for stealing them.

The Useful Hen.

"Country constables who make a living arresting speeding automobiles wouldn't have half so much trouble stopping the scorchers if they used a little ingenuity," says one of the offenders. "Chains across the road and moving vans blocking the highway are all right to accomplish the purpose, but they're cumbersome. My idea for causing a prompt slow-up is to scatter a lot of grain in a road and turn a lot of hens loose. They would block the road all right, and if there's one thing that will make a chauffeur slow up it's a hen. Dogs are bad enough, but a hen always runs the wrong way, and if the machine is going at any speed usually ends up under the wheels. Hitting a hen will sometimes throw the front wheels out of line and cause the car to swerve, so drivers almost invariably slow up and give poultry a chance to get out of the way. A hen speed trap is a great idea, to my way of thinking, and, of course, if one of the birds were killed the cost could easily be added to the driver's fine."

The Principal Hurt.

"Can't you get over talking about the way you got cheated in that horse trade?"

"No," answered Mr. Sirius Barker. "I don't mind a man getting my money, but I hate to feel that I have lost his respect."

This woman says that sick women should not fail to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she did.

Mrs. A. Gregory, of 2355 Lawrence St., Denver, Col., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was practically an invalid for six years, on account of female troubles. I underwent an operation by the doctor's advice, but in a few months I was worse than before. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it restored me to perfect health, such as I have not enjoyed in many years. Any woman suffering as I did with backache, bearing-down pains, and periodic pains, should not fail to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

"I have been troubled with catarrh for nearly twenty-five years and have tried many cures for it, but obtained very little help.

"Then my brother advised me to try Peruna, and I did.

"My health was very poor at the time I began taking Peruna. My throat was very sore and I had a bad cough.

"Peruna has cured me. The chronic catarrh is gone and my health is very much improved.

"I recommend Peruna to all my friends who are troubled as I was."

Why Not?

"This," said the teacher to her class of small arithmeticians, "is a unit. She held up a pencil. "This book is a unit, too," she said. "And these are units." And she showed them a ruler, a flower and an apple.

Then she peeled the apple, and holding up the peel, said: "Now, children, what is this?"

Silence.

"Come, you know what it is," she urged.

Little Bill's hand went up slowly.

"Well, William?" said the teacher.

"Pleathe, ma'am, the skin of a unit."

Hard on the Messenger.

Tommy had been spanked by Miss Manners, his first grade teacher, but his next teacher had not reached the point where she felt she could do justice to him in spite of all his naughtiness.

"Send him to me when you want him spanked," said Miss Manners one morning, after her colleague had related his many misdemeanors.

About 11 o'clock Tommy appeared at Miss Manners' door. She dropped her book, grasped him firmly by the hand, led him to the dressing room, turned him over her knee and administered punishment.

When she had finished she said, "Now, Tommy, what have you to say?"

"Please, miss, my teacher wants the scissors," was the unexpected reply.

LIVING ADVERTISEMENT

Glow of Health Speaks for Postum.

It requires no scientific training to discover whether coffee disagrees or not.

Simply stop it for a time and use Postum in place of it, then note the beneficial effects. The truth will appear.

"Six years ago I was in a very bad condition," writes a Tenn. lady, "I suffered from indigestion, nervousness and insomnia.

"I was then an inveterate coffee drinker, but it was long before I could be persuaded that it was coffee that hurt me. Finally I decided to leave it off a few days and find out the truth.

"The first morning I left off coffee I had a raging headache, so I decided I must have something to take the place of coffee." (The headache was caused by the reaction of the coffee drug—caffeine.)

"Having heard of Postum through a friend who used it, I bought a package and tried it. I did not like it at first but after I learned how to make it right, according to directions on pkg., I would not change back to coffee for anything.

"When I began to use Postum I weighed only 117 lbs. Now I weigh 170 and as I have not taken any tonic in that time I can only attribute my recovery of good health to the use of Postum in place of coffee.

"My husband says I am a living advertisement for Postum. I am glad to be the means of inducing my many friends to use Postum, too."

FRANK J. MEAD DEAD.

Veteran Soldier and Newspaper Man Passes Away in Minneapolis.

Frank J. Mead, veteran of the Civil war and a prominent figure in the early newspaper and political history of the Twin Cities and the Northwest, died at the Swedish hospital, aged seventy-three years. Death was caused by heart disease and disability consequent upon old age.

Mr. Mead was one of the very early residents of Minnesota. In 1857 he was employed on the old St. Paul Pioneer, one of the predecessors of the Pioneer Press. He played a distinguished part in the military activity of Minnesota during the Civil war, and assisted not only in the organization of Company H of the famous First Minnesota, but of Hatch's battalion as well.

For some years Mr. Mead has been in the East, but in July last failing health compelled him to give up his work in Boston and he returned to Minneapolis, where he had spent a great deal of his life and where he felt at home.

After the war Mr. Mead returned to the Northwest. After working for the Pioneer Press for a time he started a paper for himself in Farmington and later one in Spokane. He returned to the Twin Cities to be associated with William King on the Evening Tribune as editorial writer.

Mr. Mead started the Minneapolis Evening Telegram, which ceased publication at the time of the panic of 1873. The year following he was appointed as city clerk of Minneapolis. He held this position until 1879, when he went to North Dakota to become private secretary to Gen. Rosser, who had been appointed chief engineer of the Northern Pacific railroad. With Gen. Rosser Mr. Mead was stationed at Mandan, and while there he took up a claim on the site of the present city. He was mayor of Mandan at one time and also held the positions of register of deed of Morton county and chief clerk of the Dakota house of representatives.

Mr. Mead returned to the Minneapolis Tribune in 1888, to do editorial work and politics. Afterward he went to the Minneapolis Times. At one time Mr. Mead was political writer on the Journal. Of late years he has been in the East and has worked on several of the papers of the larger cities, among them the New York Journal and the Boston Herald.

NEW GRANDSTAND FOR FAIR.

Old Stand, Being Wrecked, Could Recount Many Strange Tales.

Under the direction of officials of the state agricultural society the old grandstand at the state fair grounds is now being wrecked and the legislature at its session this winter will be asked to appropriate $250,000 for a concrete and steel stand that will accommodate several thousand more people under cover and will be absolutely safe.

The old stand, while of steel construction, has not been considered any too safe. It was built twenty-one years ago and seated 12,000. In its day it has been the focal point of many brilliant Twin City assemblages, especially when the old jockey club was in its glory, and countless hundreds watched with fast-beating hearts the gallant struggle down the back stretch between the horse heroes of the turf.

All the flying marvels of the country among the gallopers have been seen at one time or another in heartbreaking contests on the fair grounds track, and the old grandstand betting ring could recount many tales of blasted hopes and broken fortunes, of young men who have gone way beaten, with suicide in their hearts; of happy, laughing winners; of the old, old story, softly whispered after some striving steed had brought home a winning for the youth who had staked his all on the mile dash.

The new concrete stand may be much more ornate, much more commodious and much safer, but it is safe to say that it will never witness the glorious days that will fade from the memory of man with the demolition of the old grandstand.

My head swam and spots flitted before my eyes. One doctor said I was incurable. However, I found prompt relief when I started using Doan's Kidney Pills, and the troubles I have related gradually disappeared."

BAD ITCHING HUMOR.

Limbs Below the Knees Were Raw—Feet Swollen—Sleep Broken—Cured in 2 Days by Cuticura.

"Some two months ago I had a humor break out on my limbs below my knees. They came to look like raw beefsteak, all red, and no one knows how they itched and burned. They were so swollen that I could not get my shoes on for a week or more. I used five or six different remedies and got no help, only when applying them the burning was worse and the itching less. For two or three weeks the suffering was intense and during that time I did not sleep an hour at a time. Then one morning I tried a bit of Cuticura. From the moment it touched me the itching was gone and I have not felt a bit of it since. The swelling went down and in two days I had my shoes on and was about as usual. George B. 160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

As further inducement to settlement of the wheat-raising lands of Western Canada, the Canadian Government has increased the area that may be taken by a homesteader to 320 acres—160 free and 160 to be purchased at $3.00 per acre. These lands are in the grain-raising area, where mixed farming is also carried on with unqualified success. A railway will shortly be built to Hudson Bay, bringing the world's markets a thousand miles nearer these wheat-fields, where schools and churches are convenient, climate excellent, railways close to all settlements, and local markets good.

DIPLOMATS IN FATAL AUTO CRASH

TWO OTHERS ARE BADLY HURT

Efforts of Chauffeur to Avoid Collision With Buggy Causes Machine to Turn Turtle.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Senor Don Juan Barrios, Gautemala's minister of foreign affairs, who is in Washington on a special mission for his government, was probably fatally injured, and Senor Dr. Louis Toledo Herrarte, Gautemalan minister to the United States, and Gen. John Drummond, a wealthy coffee planter in South America, were badly hurt in an automobile accident late yesterday.

The diplomats were riding in a heavy touring car when it turned turtle just after passing over the highway bridge into Virginia, the occupants being hurled beneath the car and pinioned under the tonneau.

Bleeding and Unconscious.

They were extricated, apparently unconscious, and bleeding freely from face and scalp wounds. George Starling, the chauffeur, who was driving the machine at swift speed, escaped with bruises about the head and legs.

Senor Barrios, who was removed to the emergency hospital with the other three occupants, is suffering from concussion of the brain, and is supposed to have sustained a fracture of the skull aside from internal injuries. The physicians say his condition is critical. Dr. Herrarte was badly cut about the face and body but his condition is not serious. Gen. Drummond suffered lacerations of the face and head.

Wreath for Washington.

When the accident happened the party was proceeding toward Mount Vernon and Senor Barrios was carrying a massive wreath of evergreen, smilax and green leaves to place on the tomb of Washington at the special request of President Estrada Cabrera of Gautemala.

As the automobile left the bridge which spans the Potomac it was almost dusk, and the chauffeur started down the turnpike at a rapid pace.

Try to Avoid Collision.

After the car had proceeded about fifty yards it came upon a small buggy drawn by a spirited horse and driven by an unknown young woman fashionably dressed. To avoid crashing into it the chauffeur swerved the car to the right of the roadway, but the front wheels of the speedy car smashed against a slight obstruction, the force of the impact causing the car to turn a somersault. Passersby lifted the machine off the injured occupants and sent for an ambulance. The chauffeur said last night that the accident was unavoidable.

MAD FATHER KILLS DAUGHTERS.

Crazy From Jealousy He Slays Two Children and Then Runs Amuck.

Wakefield, Mass., Dec. 10.—Becoming suddenly and violently insane, Hiram L. Badger, a resident of this town, yesterday killed his two daughters, Florence, aged fifteen, and Catherine, aged seven, and then ran amuck through the town shooting at persons he met on the street and firing into the windows of the stores that he passed.

Fortunately only one person was injured by Badger during his mad rush down Main street, Fred Wheeler, a grocer's clerk, receiving a wound in the leg.

Badger was pursued by a crowd of townspeople, who flanlly captured him and turned him over to the police.

From the nature of Badger's ravings at the police station, the officers were of the opinion that his sudden madness was due primarily to jealousy.

Mrs. Badger, the mother of the murdered children, who had been away from home on a brief visit, returned last night.

She got her first news of the tragedy through reading of it in a newspaper while on her way home.

The shock of the affair prostrated her.

Badger was taken to the Cambridge jail and placed in a padded cell.

Portland Bandits Get Away.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 10.—The police have found the horse and buggy used by the robbers who held up the East Side bank Monday night and after securing $16,500 escaped, but there is no trace of the trio. The officers have a fairly good description of one of the men.

Sentenced by Court.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Frederick A. Hyde of San Francisco, recently convicted of conspiracy to deraud the government of large tracts of land in Oregon and Washington, was yesterday sentenced in the district criminal court to pay a fine of $10,000 and to serve two years in the penitentiary.

Joset H. Schneider of Tucson, Ariz., an employe of Hyde and convicted with him, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to one year and two months in the penitentiary.

FANATICS AND POLICE FIGHT

Religious Band, Headed by Man Who Styles Himself "Adam God," Battle With Police.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 10.—Just at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the thoroughares were crowded with people, within a stone's throw of the city hall and police headuarters, and in the midst of the busy wholesale district, the police department of Kansas City and a band of religious fanatics headed by John Sharp, who styles himself "Adam God," and who says he is Jesus Christ reincarnated, engaged in a fierce revolver battle. Over one hundred shots were exchanged. As the result of the encounter two persons are dead, two others are at the point of death, a third cannot recover, and two more have paid for their afternoon's experience with slight wounds.

Battle on Crowded Street.

The trouble occurred when the streets were crowded with people. George M. Holt, probation officer of the juvenile court, went to Fifth and Main streets to investigate a case of alleged abduction. Near that corner he came upon John Sharp, known as "Adam God," who, surrounded by Lewis Pratt, his wife and five children was exhorting a crowd. The officer's suspicions were aroused by the manner in which the woman attempted to secure contributions from the crowd and he decided that she and her male companions were not proper persons to have the custody of young children. He inquired as to the identity of the children. The woman told him to mind his own business. The officer persisted in his inuiries, when "Adam God" hit the officer behind the ear with a pistol, making an ugly wound. Holt then started for the police station for assistance.

Met by Volley of Bullets.

The sergeant in charge ordered Patrolmen Dalbow and Stege to go out and arrest Sharp and his followers.

The fanatics were within fifty feet of the staion when the officers stepped into the street. The policemen were not expecting serious trouble and were not prepared for the volley of shots which met them almost immediately after they appeared on the scene. Dalbow was killed instantly, and a bullet passed through Stege's arm. Other officers rushed to the scene and a general battle ensued.

In the meantime a riot call had been sounded and policemen were appearing from all directions. Thoroughly aroused the officers closed in on Sharp and his followers, firing as they went, but taking great care not to injure any of the children, and when the firing ceased "Adam God" lay fatally wounded.

Woman Defies Police.

Mrs. Pratt fled from the scene of the conflict, taking with her the children, and barricated them on a house boat, but sought safety from pursuers by rowing into the river after a brief armed défiance of the police squad. A volley fired from shore wounded the girl, who died a few hours later. The woman surrendered.

It is said that the trouble yesterday marks the end of religious exhortations on the streets of Kansas City.

DEATH SHROUDED IN MYSTERY.

Francis D. Hirschberg, World's Fair Director, Shot and Killed.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 10.—A day spent in an investigation of the death of Francis D. Hirschberg, who was shot and killed in his home yesterday morning, has failed to clear the mystery, but the two physicians who performed an autopsy believe that Mr. Hirschberg was murdered or was killed accidentally. The tragic death of Mr. Hirschberg, who was a director of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition company, a member of several exclusive clubs and prominent in business and Catholic circles, created a sensation in St. Louis yesterday, following as it did closely upon the suicide of Charles Eketromer, the Swedish vice consul, who took his lie Monday morning.

Police officials said that the evidence indicated that Mr. Hirschberg had committed suicide, but this theory was scouted by friends of the dead man, who unite in saying that his business ffairs were in good shape.

The autopsy failed to disclose any powder burns on the body or head of the dead man.

SECOND MESSIAH HAS DISAPPEARED

GETS HAIR CUT AND SHAVE

Sharp's First Disciple Rails Bitterly at Police—No New Names on Death Roll.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 10.—Efforts of the police yesterday to find James Sharp, hailed by his ten fanatical followers as a second Messiah, failed to reveal his movements after Tuesday's bloody fight with the police. The only clue so far secured is that shortly after the tragedy he had his hair trimmed and his long board shaved off. Chief of Police Ahearn has issued circulars giving Sharp's description and offering a reward for his capture.

No other names have been added to Tuesday's list of deaths. Policeman Michael Mullane, who was the most seriously hurt, rallied slightly early in the day and physicians say he has an even chance for recovery. Sergeant Patrick Clark and A. J. Selso, a bystander, who was shot through the lung, are both slightly improved.

Denounces Police.

At the central hospital Louis Pratt, first disciple of Sharp and father of the girl who was killed, is lying on his cot with his right leg amputated at the knee and a bullet in his brain. He persists that he is divinely guided and upheld, and is bitter in his denunciation of the police. Regarding his religious faith he has little to say. Mrs. Pratt and her four surviving children are detained at police headquarters and Mrs. Sharp is in jail. None of them exhibit any emotion when speaking of the death of Lulu Pratt, but calmly asserts it was God's will. The police say the two women and two oldest girls, Mary and Lana, will be charged with murder. Five residents o fa mission in the North end frequented by Sharp followers are being held for investigation.

STRENGTHENS SUICIDE THEORY

Evidence Indicates That St. Louis Man Killed Himself—Friends Drop Murder Theory.

St. Louis, Dec. 10.—Evidence obtained late yesterday in the inquiry into the death of Francis D. Hirschberg, the prominent St. Louis citizen who was killed in his home Tuesday morning, strengthened the belief of those who think that Mr. Hirschberg committed suicide, and the coroner's inquest yesterday was marked by the complete abandonment of the murder theory by friends of the family. They still insist, however, that Hirschberg was slain by the accidental discharge of his revolver while he was going downstairs to look for a burglar whom he believed to be in the house.

That the old-fashioned revolver with which Hirschberg was killed belonged to him was indicated by the testimony at the inquest. This theory was furthe rconfirmed last night by the statement of John M. Frost of Bardstown, Ky., a brother-in-law of Mr. Hirschberg, who told a reporter that thirty years ago Mr. Hirschberg, then a special officer during a street car strike, bought a revolver of the type found in the reception room in which he was shot.

Several business men yesterday testified that the affairs of the dead clubman were in good shape.

The taking of testimony was finished yesterday afternoon, and the coroner's jury will return a verdict today.

NORTHROP WILL THINK IT OVER.

President of University Will Not Insist on Retiring Immediately.

Minneapolis, Dec. 10.—Dr. Cyrus Northrop will bow, for the time at least, to the will of the regents of the state university and continue his labors as president of that institution in spite of the fact that he tendered his resignation at the annual meeting of the regents Tuesday.

In response to a question regarding his answer to the unanimous vote of the regents requesting him to reconsider and withdraw his resignation, Dr. Northrop made the following statement:

"I shall not insist upon retiring just now. I shall, however, have such an understanding with the regents as will keep me from becoming a burden upon them and leave them at liberty to engage my successor whenever a good man becomes available.

"In view of the circumstances and the stand taken by the regents, my immediate retirement is not probable. As things stand at present I have until the next meeting of the regents, Dec. 29, to reach a final decision, and I shall avail myself of this time to think matters over."

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Dec. 10.—Hoboes are working a clever scheme on the police of this section to get extended lodgings. SWINDLING GANG IS WIPED OUT Capture of Last of Gang Puts End to Biggest Swindle Ever Worked on Public.

GET $2,000,000 IN TWO YEARS

Hundreds of Merchants and Manufacturers Are Mulcted Through Fake Directory.

Aurora, Ill., Dec. 9.—Finis was written Saturday afternoon with the arrest here of Harry Byrne of Chicago, to the story of one of the greatest swindling games ever worked upon the American public.

When the detectives brought Byrne, a handsomely dressed man of forty-two years, to the Aurora police station, the police force of this city had captured the third in a triumvirate of swindlers who had operated all over the Middle West and counted its victims among manufacturers by the hundred.

Emery Hartzig, 5 Warren avenue, Chicago, and Walter Romans of the Hotel Warner, Chicago, have been convicted and are serving sentences in Joliet prison. In the meantime the smaller satellites in the swindling game had served county jail sentences. These are Charles Swartz, giving his address as 17 Ashland Boulevard, Chicago; Ralph Lee Arden and Hardy Furber, also of Chicago.

Get $2,000,000 in Two Years

It is estimated that in the two years the swindling game was worked Hartzig, Romans and Byrne collected from merchants and manufacturers nearly $2,000,000 by means of their fake merchants and manufacturers' directory.

The story of the fourteen months' chase which culminated in the capture of the men at the head of a fraud syndicate that employed hundreds of men in the prosecution of dishonest business, gigantic in its conception, has all the elements of a strong melodrama.

Feb. 23 Romans was captured at St. Louis and March 28 both, realizing that the evidence against them was too positive to refute, pleaded guilty in the Kane county criminal court.

Brags of Rich Haul.

Romans, once he realized that he was going to the penitentiary, began to tell of the firm's wonderful exploits, and bragged that they had cleared $1,600,000 in the fifteen months. He told that 38,000 business houses had been mulcted and that many had been worked time and again for sums ranging from $5 to $5,000 for the insertion in the fake directory.

The wiping out of the gang is regarded as one of the greatest pieces of police work in years. Their capture had been undertaken by Chicago police and private detectives for years, but they never could set their hands on evidence to convict them.

DEFENSE HAS INNING.

Springs Sensation in Davis Murder Trial at Omaha.

Omaha, Dec. 9.—The defense had an inning yesterday afternoon in the trial of Charles Edward Davis, charged with the murder of Dr. Frederick T. Rustin, and created a sensation by producing a witness, in the person of Mrs. Emily Allen, who testified to having seen Mrs. Abbie Rice on the street down town about 4 o'clock in morning buying a paper, a time at which, according to several witnesses for the prosecution, she was at the house of Clara Gleason. Mrs. Allen told a remarkable story, and went into the minutest details to show that she was able to fix the time of each event which brought her into contact with Mrs. Rice.

PAT CROWE AN EVANGELIST

Kidnapper of Eddie Cudahy Accepts Christianity and Will Become a Preacher.

Chicago, Dec. 9. — Pat Crowe, who was charged with kidnapping Eddie Cudahy and one of the most picturesque characters with whom the police of the country have had to deal in the last ten years, has forsaken the old life and accepted Christianity. As soon as he can complete his plans he will go forth as an evangelist, preaching the gospel and the philosophy of life in an effort to lead young men from the primrose path that he has traveled.

There was no happier man in all Chicago yesterday than Crowe, who a few years ago was sought by the police of the civilized world for a kidnapping which shocked the country.

He was found at work on the manuscript of a sermon.

"I'm all through with the old game for good and all," said Crowe. "I have cut out the drinking and have become a Christian. Now I am going out regularly to put the young folks on the right track and warn them from the paths and temptations that no one knows better than I do. I am not going to be a temperance lecturer. I am going into a broader field."

Crowe is married and has a son, Pat Crowe, Jr., one year of age. This boy is a bright child, the pride of his father and the beacon that is expected always to keep the convert in the straight path.

OIL RUST SHOWS LARGE PROFITS

Indiana Company In Seven Years Earns $55,000,000 on $1,000,000.

New York, Dec. 9.—Figures showing some of the profits of the Standard Oil company became part of the court record in the federal suit to dissolve the Standard company yesterday when John D. Archbold resumed the stand for a brief examination, and Henry Tilford, president of the Standard Oil Company of California, testified at some length as a witness for the defense. The government inquisitor, on figures submited, showed that the Continental Oil company, a Standard subsidiary in the Middle West, made profits of 115 per cent on its capitalization of $300,000, and that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, on a capitalization of $1,000,000 earned about $55,000,000 between 1899 and 1906. Counsel for the company declared that the actual assets of the company were greater than the capitalization, as the companies had turned back into the property large sums from earnings.

Rate-cutting Wars.

Through Mr. Tilford the counsel for the government sought to bring out that in California and other states of the Far West the Standard had made contracts with the competitors whereby the Standard obtained all the crude oil supply and thereby enjoyed the refining field by itself. Mr. Tilford said he had little knowledge of these contracts. Referring to oil trade rate-cutting wars in Colorado and in the Far West, Mr. Tilford said that the Standard never cut prices to undersell its competitors, but simply lowered rates to meet the reductions of its rivals.

Mr. Tilford's examination will likely be concluded to-day and either William Rockefeller or Frank S. Moffett, president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, will be called to testify.

BILLEK IS AGAIN REPRIEVED.

Acting Governor of Illinois Gives Him New Lease of Life Until Jan. 19.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 9. — After a brief hearing of the Herman Billek murder case yesterday, Acting Governor L. Y. Sherman granted the condemned man a new lease of life by giving him further reprieve until Jan. 29, 1909, the sixth date that has been set for the execution of the defendant, who has been in jail for more than two years.

Present at the private hearing were Lieut. Gov. Sherman, E. A. Snively of the state board of pardons, and Francis E. Kinckley of Chicago, attorney for Billek, who filed a brief petition defining the case. The evidence was reviewed briefly. Counsel set out in their petition that certain new and vital matters in the case had come to the attention of the petitioner since the presentation of his application to the governor last April.

Hinckley declares that the new evidence found will vindicate and free the defendant.

Chicago, Dec. 9. — Herman Billek received the news that he had been reprieved with great surprise, for he had given up all hope and had repeatedly expressed the opinion that he would die on the gallows Dec. 11. The crime for which the prisoner was convicted was the murder of Mary Vrzal. Billek's case has been in every court which had jurisdiction in Illinois, and also the supreme court of the United States. Death was first imposed on the "necromancer" July 18, 1907.

WATERWAYS PROBLEM OF HOUR

Washington, Dec. 10.—Gov. John A. Johnson of Minnesota, in an address yesterday before the joint conference of the national conservation commission and the governors of different states, brought an enthusiastic message of accord from the great Middle West, in the scheme of conservation, and declared that the paramount problem of the hour is the development of inland waterways.

"I believe the greatest investment this nation can make today is to construct a canal from Lake Superior to to the Gulf of Mexico," asserted the governor. "It will solve the problem of state regulation in the interior, and will make unnecessary further discussions between sections or political parties as to whether federal control absolutely or state control can be best, because competition itself would solve the problem."

Following the inventory of lands, presented by Senator Nelson, there was an informal discussion. Senators Newlands and Smoot and Governors Noel, Broward, Ansel, Lea and former Governors Hoke Smith and Blanchard and others participated.

WENT BACK ON BENEFACTOR.

Philanthropic Women Disappointed in Their Protege.

The late Mrs. Clara Dewey How of Philadelphia, whose philanthropic work among immigrants made her well known, had a trenchant wit, and one afternoon in Philadelphia, discussing the woman suffrage movement with a clergyman, she said:

"You men are all alike. You all resemble the orphan that Mrs. Stanton and her friends brought up. Mrs. Stanton and a body of ladies from her church, all interested in woman suffrage, once took a little newsboy from the gutter and educated him superbly. They sent him through school and college and finally made a minister of him.

"This young minister, the work of their hands, preached his first sermon in their church. That was a proud Sunday morning for the good ladies. They thought they had at last firmly planted among the male sex a strong and splendid supporter. So, in their best bonnets, they filled the church that Sunday morning. They were on tiptoe with expectation. Who could tell but that their young charge might preach in their honor a woman suffrage sermon?

"Imagine their emotions when the youth arose in the pulpit, looked calmly and even sternly over the congregation and announced that his text would be from St. Paul:

"'Let the women keep silence in the church.'"

TOOK THEIR MATES ON TRIAL.

One-Year Marriages Once a Common Thing in Scotland.

They who talk glibly of short-term marriages and affinities do not know that in Scotland a one-year marriage, termed a handfasting, was once legal and fairly common. It was abandoned on account of its injustice to the woman.

Scott, in "The Monastery," mentions this one-year marriage, making Sir Julian Avenal say:

"We take our wives, like our horses, upon trial. When we are handfasted, as we term it, we are man and wife for a year and a day; that space gone by, each may choose another mate, or at their pleasure, may call the priest to marry them for life."

There was no disgrace attached to handfasting. It was, indeed, more often practiced among the great than the lowly. But the poor girl whose trial husband rejected her at the year's end rarely found it possible to secure a permanent mate.

Poisonous Nettles of the Tropics.

In tropical regions there are nettles far more powerful than that of our own country.

The one called Urtica stimulans, which is found in Java, and that called Laportea crenulata, found in Hindustan, when bruised emit an effluvium, which poisonously affects the eyes and mouth, and if handled produce convulsions and serious swelling and pain in the arms, which may last for three or four weeks and in some cases cause death.

The Need of Fresh Air

Surely we need a fresh air campaign in this country as much as we can need anything. We need a truer understanding of the marvelous benefits of fresh air and also of the benefits to be derived from the use of a good malt tonic such as golden grain belt beer. An Adventurous Correspondent

Few newspapers in the United States are able to command the services of as brilliant a corps of correspondents as The Chicago Record Herald. Its choice of Walter Wellman to represent it at Washington is a good illustration of its wise policy of getting the best there is to be had. Mr. Wellman has won a national reputation as a magnetic and resourceful news writer. And now he is preparing to clinch his reputation for originality and daring by trying to reach the north pole in an airship.

Whatever may be the result of Mr. Wellman's daring attempt to reach the pole this summer in an airship and send the news of the voyage at once to The Record Herald by wireless telegraphy, the Wellman Record Herald expedition is sure to be conducted by Mr. Wellman with the same cool courage and whole souled enthusiasm that have made him an ideal newspaper correspondent.

Mr. Wellman was born in Mentor, Ohio, in 1858. At 14 he began his newspaper experience, establishing at age a weekly paper in the little town of Sutton, Neb. In 1884 he became the Washington correspondent of The Chicago Herald, for which paper he visited the West Indies in 1892 and located the landing place of Columbus, marking the spot with a huge stone monument. In 1894 he made his first dash for the pole, reaching the latitude of 81 degrees northeast of Spitzbergen. In 1898 he tried the same fascinating quest again, penetrating as far as Franz Josef Land. On both trips he had wonderful success in discovering new islands and securing new scientific data which have been of great value to the American Geographical Society. His voluminous writings for scientific periodicals and popular magazines have shown the same incisive thought and keen insight that have marked his journalistic work.

The Malacca Wildcats.

In the forests of Malacca and other islands in the Indian ocean may still be found the animal known as a wildcat. The upper parts of it are generally of a clear yellow color, with black spots; the lower parts are white with black spots also. On the back the spots lengthen almost into lines or rings, black on yellow.

The average length of the animal, excluding the tail, is almost two feet; the tail averages nine inches. Its height when standing erect is about 12 inches at the shoulder and 15 inches at the hindquarters. Its temper is mild and gentle; it plays almost like a domestic cat, or rather kitten, chasing its tail and amusing itself with anything that it can roll with its paws.

Had Given It Away.

Lucille's mother had taken her for an outing. Now that the hour for luncheon had arrived, she called to the little girl:

"Lucille, we will now have a little roll and some chocolate, and you shall pay with the two sous I gave you but a short time since."

"Oh, mamma," cried Lucille, "I have already given the two sous away to an old woman!"

"I am so glad you have disposed of the money in such a charitable way. How did you happen to present it to the old woman?" asked the mother.

"Well, you see, I gave it to her in payment for two nice apples," confessed Lucille.

She Knew.

Two Chicago women, in New York for a stay of several months, were planning a series of visits to the opera. Their talk drifted to "Lucia di Lammermoor."

"I don't know where the story of the opera comes from," said one. "Of course, I know that it is from one of the old Italian romances, but I am not familiar with the particular source."

The second assumed an air of superiority.

"You need not be ashamed of your ignorance," said she. "It is only by chance that I know. It's from 'Aesop's Fables.'"—New York Evening Post.

Dyspepsia Is Often Caused by Catarrh of the Stomach—Peruna Relieves Catarrh of the Stomach and Is Therefore a Remedy for Dyspepsia.

Hon. M. C. Butler, U. S. Senator from South Carolina for two terms, in a letter from Washington, D. C., writes to the Peruna Medicine Co., as follows:

"I can recommend Peruna for dyspepsia and stomach trouble. I have been using your medicine for a short period and I feel very much relieved. It is indeed a wonderful medicine, besides a good tonic."

CATARRH of the stomach is the correct name for most cases of dyspepsia. Only an internal catarrh remedy, such as Peruna, is available.

Morals of Golf.

The great vogue of golf makes pertinent a consideration of its influence on the morals of players. Sober citizens who would not think of playing bridge on Sunday hurry away to take part in matches on which there is frequently a considerable stake. Men who would resent the suggestion of playing bridge for money bet a ball "out" and a ball "in," with a third ball on the full round.

Decks Strewn With Dead Birds.

Their decks strewn with dead song birds, the steamers Moses Taylor, Thomas Bartum and Robert Fulton put in here Friday after a strange and perilous trip down from the upper lakes. The boats were one week late.

The crews of the boats report that for days they crept cautiously along through smoke from forest fires so thick that one could scarcely breathe. Thousands of birds of all descriptions fleeing before the flames took refuge on the boats, only to be overcome by the dense smoke. They were shoveled off the decks by the hundred. Enough of them were left to substantiate the story when they came to port.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

Indigestion and the attendant discomforts of mind and body are certain to follow continued use of improper food.

Those who are still young and robust are likely to overlook the fact that, as dropping water will wear a stone away at last, so will the use of heavy, greasy, rich food, finally cause loss of appetite and indigestion.

Fortunately many are thoughtful enough to study themselves and note the principle of Cause and Effect in their daily food. A N. Y. young woman writes her experience thus:

"Sometime ago I had a lot of trouble from indigestion, caused by too rich food. I got so I was unable to digest scarcely anything, and medicines seemed useless.

"A friend advised me to try Grape-Nuts food, praising it highly, and as a last resort I tried it. I am thankful to say that Grape-Nuts not only relieved me of my trouble, but built me up and strengthened my digestive organs so that I can now eat anything I desire. But I stick to Grape-Nuts."

ROOSEVELT TO THE LAWMAKERS

Repeats Recommendations Regarding Corporations Doing Interstate Business.

Many Matters Affecting Labor Are Called to the Attention of Congress.

The financial standing of the nation at the present time is excellent, and the financial management of the nation's interests by the government during the last seven years has shown most satisfactory results. But our currency system is imperfect, and it is earnestly to be hoped that the currency commission will be able to propose a thoroughly good system which will do away with the existing defects.

During the period from July 1, 1901, to Sept. 30, 1908, the balance between the net ordinary receipts and the net ordinary expenses of the government showed a surplus of nearly $100,000,000 of receipts over expenditures, a reduction of the interest bearing debt by $90,000,000, in spite of the extraordinary expense of the Panama canal, and a saving of nearly nine millions on the annual interest charge. There have been no new taxes; on the contrary, some taxes have been taken off; there has been a reduction of taxation.

Corporations

As regards the great corporations engaged in interstate business, and especially the railroads, I can only repeat what I have already again and again said in my messages to congress. I believe that under the interstate clause of the constitution the United States has complete and paramount right to control all agencies of interstate commerce, and I believe that the national government alone can exercise this right with wisdom and effectiveness, so as both to secure justice from, and to do justice to, the great corporations which are the most important factors in modern business. I believe that it is worse than folly to attempt to prohibit all combinations as is done by the Sherman anti-trust law, because such a law can be enforced only imperfectly and unequally, and its enforcement works almost as much hardship as good. I strongly advocate that instead of an unwise effort to prohibit all combinations, there shall be substituted a law which shall expressly permit combinations which are in the interest of the public, but shall at the same time give to some agency of the national government full power of control and supervision over them. One of the chief features of this control should be securing entire publicity in all matters which the public has a right to know, and furthermore, the power, not by judicial, but by executive action, to prevent or put a stop to every form of improper favoritism or other wrongdoing.

The railroads of the country should be put completely under the interstate commerce commission and removed from the domain of the anti-trust law. The power of the commission should be made thoroughgoing, so that it could exercise complete supervision and control over the issue of securities as well as over the raising and lowering of rates. As regards rates, at least, this power should be summary. The power to investigate the financial operations and accounts of the railways has been one of the most valuable features in recent legislation. Power to make combinations and traffic agreements should be explicitly conferred upon the railroads, the permission of the commission being first gained and the combination or agreement being published in all its details. In the interest of the public the representatives of the public should have complete power to see that the railroads do their duty by the public, and as a matter of course this power should also be exercised so as to see that no injustice is done the railroads. The shareholders, the employes and the shippers all have interests that must be guarded. It is to the interest of all of them that no swindling stock speculation should be allowed, and that there should be no improper issuance of securities. There must be no defrauding of investors, oppression of farmers and business men who ship freight, or callous disregard of the rights and needs of employes. Rates must be made as low as is compatible with giving proper returns to the shareholders; but they must not, for instance, be reduced in such a fashion as to necessitate a cut in the wages of employes or the abolition of the proper and legitimate profits of honest shareholders.

Telegraph and telephone companies engaged in interstate business should be put under the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission.

The fight against adequate government control and supervision of individual, and especially of corporate, wealth engaged in interstate business is chiefly done under cover; and especially under cover of an appeal to state's rights. Forty or fifty separate state governments cannot exercise control over corporations doing business in most or all of them. Such divided authority cannot regulate commerce with wisdom and effect. The central government is the only power which, without oppression, can thoroughly and adequately control and supervise the large corporations. There is legislation which the federal government alone can enact and which is absolutely vital in order to secure the attainment of our purpose. Many laws are needed. There should be regulation by the national government of the great interstate corporations, including a simple method of account keeping, publicity, supervision of the issue of securities, abolition of rebates and of special privileges. There should be short time franchises for all corporations engaged in public business, including the corporations which get power from water rights. There should be national as well as state guardianship of mines and forests. The labor legislation hereinafter referred to should concurrently be enacted into law.

To accomplish this, means, of course, a certain increase in the use of—not the creation of—power, by the central government. The power already exists; it does not have to be created; the only question is whether it shall be used or left idle—and meanwhile the corporations over which the power ought to be exercised will not remain idle.

Labor.

Many matters affecting labor and the status of the wage-worker are called to the attention of congress by the president. A steady effort should be made, he says, to bring about a condition of affairs under which the men who work with hand or with brain shall own a far greater share than at present of the wealth they produce. As far as possible he hopes to see a frank recognition of the advantages conferred by machinery, organization and division of labor, accompanied by an effort to bring about a larger share in the ownership by wage-worker of railway, mill and factory.

The regulation of the national highways must be such that they shall serve all people with equal justice. Corporate finances must be supervised so as to make it far safer than at present for the man of small means to invest his money in stocks. There must be prohibition of child labor; stock watering should be prohibited and stock gambling so far as possible discouraged. There should be a progressive inheritance tax on large fortunes. Industrial education should be encouraged. As far as possible we should lighten the burden of taxation on the small man. We should put a premium on thrift, hard work and business energy. It is eminently right that the nation should fix the terms upon which the great fortunes are inherited. They rarely do good and they often do harm to those who inherit them in their entirety. The above is the merest sketch, hardly even a sketch in outline, of the reforms for which we should work. But there is one matter with which congress should deal at this session. There should no longer be any paltering with the question of taking care of the wage-workers who, under our present industrial system, become killed, crippled or worn out as part of the regular incidents of a given business. The majority of wage-workers must have their rights secured for them by state action; but the national government should legislate in thoroughgoing and far-reaching fashion not only for all employes of the national government, but for all persons engaged in interstate commerce. The object sought for could be achieved to a measurable degree, as far as those killed or crippled are concerned, by proper employers' liability laws. As far as concerns those who have been worn out, definite steps toward providing old-age pensions have been taken in many of our private industries. To strengthen these practical measures should be our immediate duty. When a workman is injured what he needs is not an expensive and doubtful lawsuit, but the certainty of relief through immediate administrative action.

The law passed at the last session of congress granting compensation to certain classes of employes of the government should be extended to include all employes of the government and should be made more liberal in its terms. Congress should without further delay pass a model employers' liability law for the District of Columbia.

The president recommends that the principle of the eight-hour day should as rapidly and as far as practicable be extended to the entire work being carried on by the government.

Courts.

The president urges upon congress the duty of increasing the salaries now given our judges. Beginning with the supreme court, he says, the judges should have their salaries doubled.

It is earnestly to be desired that some method should be devised for doing away with the long delays which now obtain in the administration of justice, and which operate with peculiar severity against persons of small means, and favor only the very criminals whom it is most desirable to punish. These long delays in the final decisions of cases make in the aggregate a crying evil; and a remedy should be devised.

Our judicial system is sound and effective at core, and it remains, and must be maintained, as the safeguard of those principles of liberty and justice which stand at the foundation of American institutions. The president thinks there is ground for the belief that substantial injustice is often suffered by employes in consequence of the custom of the courts issuing temporary injunctions without notice to them, and punishing for contempt of court in instances where, as a matter of fact, they have no knowledge of any proceedings. There is a widespread feeling that this system often works great injustice to wageworkers when their efforts to better their working condition result in industrial disputes. A temporary injunction procured ex parte may as a matter of fact have all the effect of a permanent injunction in causing disaster to the wageworker's side in such a dispute. Organized labor is chafing under the unjust restraint which comes from repeated resort to this plan of procedure. Its discontent has been unwisely expressed, and often improperly expressed, but there is a sound basis for it, and the orderly and law-abiding people of a community would be in a far stronger position for upholding the courts if the undoubtedly existing abuses could be provided against.

Such proposals as advocated by some of the extreme labor leaders contain the vital error of being class legislation of the most offensive kind, and even if enacted into law would rightly be declared unconstitutional. The power of injunction is a great equitable remedy, which should on no account be destroyed. But safeguards should be erected against its abuse Provision should be made that no injunction or restraining order issue otherwise than on notice, except where irreparable injury would otherwise result; and in such a case a hearing on the merits of the order should be had within a short fixed period, and, if not then continued after hearing it should forthwith lapse. Decisions should be rendered immediately, and the chance of delay minimized in every way.

Forests.

If there is any one duty which more than another we owe it to our children and our children's children to perform at once, it is to save the forests of this country, for they constitute the first and most important element in the conservation of the natural resources of the country. Thanks to our own recklessness in the use of our splendid forests, we have already crossed the verge of a timber famine in this country, and no measures that we now take can, at least for many years, undo the mischief being done; and it would be in the highest degree reprehensible to let any consideration of temporary convenience or temporary cost interfere with such action, especially as regards the national forests which the nation can now, at this very moment, control.

Nothing should be permitted to stand in the way of the preservation of the forests, and it is criminal to permit individuals to purchase a little gain for themselves through the destruction of forests when this destruction is fatal to the wellbeing of the whole country in the future.

Inland Waterways.

Action should be begun forthwith, during the present session of congress for the improvement of our inland waterways—action which will result in giving us not only navigable but navigated rivers. We have spent hundreds of millions upon these waterways, yet the traffic on nearly all of them is steadily declining. This condition is the direct result of the absence of any comprehensive and far-seeing plan of waterway improvement. It is poor business to spend money for inland navigation unless we get it.

Until the work of river improvement is undertaken in a modern way it can not have results that will meet the needs of this modern nation. These needs should be met without further dilly-dallying or delay. The plan which promises the best and quickest results is that of a permanent commission authorized to co-ordinate the work of all the government departments relating to waterways, and to frame and supervise the execution of a comprehensive plan.

Postal Savings Banks.

The president renews his recommendation for postal savings banks, for depositing savings with the security of the government behind them. The object is to encourage thrift and economy in the wage-earner and person of moderate means. Postal savings banks are now in operation in practically all the great civilized countries with the exception of the United States.

National Parks.

The president urges that all our national parks adjacent to national forests be placed completely under the control of the forest service of the agricultural department, instead of leaving them as they now are, under the interior department and policed by the army.

Parcel Post.

The establishment of a local parcel post on rural routes would be to the mutual benefit of the farmer and the country storekeeper, and it is desirable that the routes, serving more than 15,000,000 people should be utilized to the fullest practicable extent. The postmaster general estimates that the revenue derived from the opration of such a system on all the rural routes would amount to many million dollars.

Census.

The president urges that the request of the director of the census in connection with the decennial work so soon to be begun, be complied with and that the appointment to the census force be placed under the civil service law, waiving geographical requirements.

Public Health.

It is highly advisable that there should be intelligent action on the part of the nation on the question of preserving the health of the country, says the president, and he urgently recommends the passage of a bill which will authorize a redistribution of the bureaus which shall best accomplish this end.

Government Printing Office.

The president recommends that legislation be enacted placing under the jurisdiction of the department of commerce and labor the government printing office. At present this office is under the combined control of the president and the joint committee of the two houses of congress.

Soldiers' Homes.

All soldiers' homes should be placed under the complete control of the war department.

Statehood.

The immediate admission of New Mexico and Arizona as states is advocated by the president. This should be done, he says, at the present session of congress. The people of the two territories have made it evident by their votes that they will not come in as one state. The only alternative is to admit them as two, and this should be done without delay.

Latin-American Republics.

The commercial and material progress of the twenty Latin-American republics is worthy of the careful attention of congress. No other section of the world has shown a greater proportionate development of its foreign trade during the last ten years and none other has more special claims on the interest of the United States. It offers today probably larger opportunities for the legitimate expansion of our commerce than any other group of countries.

Panama Canal.

The work on the Panama canal is being done with speed, efficiency and entire devotion to duty, which make it a model for all work of the kind. No task of such magnitude has ever before been undertaken by any nation; and no task of the kind has ever been better performed.

Hawaii.

The importance of those islands is apparent, says the president, and the need of improving their condition is urgent. The national government must provide the necessary harbor improvements on each island, so that the agricultural products can be carried to the markets of the world. The coastwise shipping laws should be amended to meet the special needs of the islands, and the alien contract labor law should be so modified in its application to Hawaii as to enable American and European labor to be brought thither.

The Philippines.

The Filipino people, through their officials, are making real steps in the direction of self-government. Under the present system of just laws and sympathetic administration, we have every reason to believe that they are gradually acquiring the character which lies at the basis of self-government. The president trusts that within a generation the time will arrive when the Philippines can decide for themselves whether it is well for them to become independent, or to continue under the protection of a strong and disinterested power, able to guarantee to the islands order at home and protection from foreign invasion.

Porto Rico.

The president again recommends that American citizenship be conferred upon the people of Porto Rico.

Cuba.

In Cuba our occupancy will cease in about two months' time; the Cubans have in an orderly manner elected their own governmental authorities, and the islands will be turned over to them. Our occupation on this occasion has lasted a little over two years, and Cuba has thriven and prospered under it.

The Army.

As regards the army the president calls attention to the fact that while our junior officers and enlisted men stand very high, the present system of promotion by seniority results in bringing into the higher grades many men of mediocre capacity, who have but a short time to serve. The scope of retiring boards should be extended so that they could, consider general unfitness to command for any cause, in order to secure a far more rigid enforcement than at present in the elimination of officers for mental, physical or temperamental disabilities. But this plan is recommended only if congress does not see fit to provide what in the president's judgment is far better; that is, for selection in promotion, and for elimination for age. Officers who fail to attain a certain rank by a certain age should be retired.

National Guard.

Now that the organized militia, the national guard, has been incorporated with the army as a part of the national forces, it behooves the government to do every reasonable thing in its power to perfect its efficiency. It should be assisted in its instruction and aided more liberally than heretofore. There should be legislation to provide a complete plan for organizing the great body of volunteers behind the regular army and national guard when war has come.

The Navy.

The president approves the recommendations of the general board for the increase of the navy, calling especial attention to the need of additional destroyers and colliers, and above all, of the four battleships. It is desirable to complete as soon as possible a squadron of eight battleships of the best existing type. The North Dakota, Delaware, Florida and Utah will form the first division of this squadron. The four vessels proposed will form the second division. It will be an improvement on the first, the ships being of the heavy, single caliber, all big gun type. The president most earnestly recommends that the general board be by law turned into a general staff. There is literally no excuse for continuing the present bureau organization of the navy. The navy should be treated as a purely military organization, and everything should be subordinated to the one object of securing military efficiency.

Nothing better for the navy from every standpoint has ever occurred than the cruise of the battle fleet around the world. The improvement of the ships in every way has been extraordinary, and they have gained far more experience in battle tactics than they would have gained if they stayed in Atlantic waters. The American people have cause for profound gratitude, both in view of the excellent condition of the fleet as shown by this cruise, and in view of the improvement the cruise has worked in this already high condition.

LAME BACK PRESCRIPTION

The increased use of "Toris" for lame back and rheumatism is causing considerable discussion among the medical fraternity. It is an almost infallible cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. The following formula is effective: "To one-half pint of good whiskey add one ounce of Toris Compound and one ounce Syrup Sarsaparilla Compound. Take in tablespoonful doses before each meal and before retiring."

Toris compound is a product of the laboratories of the Globe Pharmaceutical Co., Chicago, but it as well as the other ingredients can be had from any good druggist.

Hooked a Swordfish.

Eight miles off Newport a twelve-foot swordfish with a sword four feet long caught on an "80" hook by Hugh McMillan and G. G. Shoemaker, towed the fishermen's launch two miles, after having charged the boat repeatedly and scarred the stern in numerous places. The monster was killed after half an hour's fight. It weighed several hundred pounds.

When the big fish was first caught it charged to the surface, endangering the lives of two men and of other men in two nearby launches. The captors of the monster were towed almost out of sight of the men in the other boats. Persons ashore refused to believe that the two men caught the fish on their twenty-seven strand cotton line until the story was vouched for by the men in the other launches.

Then he was so bad that his face and head were nothing but one sore and his ears looked as if they were going to fall off, so we tried another doctor for four months, the baby never getting any better. His hand and legs had big sores on them and the poor little fellow suffered so terribly that he could not sleep. After he had suffered six months we tried a set of the Cuticura Remedies and the first treatment let him sleep and rest well; in one week the sores were gone and in two months he had a clear face. Now he is two years and has never had eczema again. Mrs. Louis Beck, R. F. D. 3, San Antonio, Tex., Apr. 15, 1907."

MESSAGE DEFENDS PANAMA PURCHASE

President Roosevelt Denounces the Charges That Anything Was Wrong.

TO PROSECUTE WORLD EDITOR

Libel of Worst Form Is Term Applied to Stories Printed by New York World.

Washington, Dec. 17. — President Roosevelt yesterday sent to the senate a statement concerning the purchase of the Panama canal property by the United States, denouncing in strong language charges that there was anything wrong in the acquisition by the United States of the canal property.

"These stories," he says, "were first brought to my attention as published in a paper in Indianapolis called the News, edited by Mr. Delavan Smith. The stories were scurrilous and libelous in character and false in every essential particular. Mr. Smith shelters himself behind the excuse that he merely accepted the statements which had appeared in a paper published in New York, the World, owned by Mr. Joseph Pulitzer. It is idle to say that the known character of Mr. Pulitzer and his newspaper are such that the statements in that paper will be believed by nobody; unfortunately, thousands of persons are ill informed in this respect and believe the statements they see in print, even though they appear in a newspaper published by Mr. Pulitzer.

The Taft Story.

"The inventor of the story about Mr. Charles P. Taft, for instance, evidently supposed that at some period of the Panama purchase Mr. W. H. Taft was secretary of war, whereas in reality Mr. W. H. Taft never became secretary of war until long after the whole transaction in question had been closed. The inventor of the story about Mr. Douglas Robinson had not taken the trouble to find out the fact that Mr. Robinson had not had the slightest connection, directly or indirectly, of any kind or sort with any phase of the Panama transaction from beginning to end. The men who attacked Mr. Root in the matter had not taken the trouble to read the public documents, which would have informed them that Mr. Root had nothing to do with the purchase, which was entirely arranged through the department of justice, under the attorney general, Mr. Knox.

The Real Offender.

"The real offender is Joseph Pulitzer, editor and proprietor of the World. While the criminal offense of which Mr. Pulitzer has been guilty is in form a libel upon individuals, the great injury done is in blackening the good name of the American people. It should not be left to a private citizen to sue Mr. Pulitzer for libel. He should be prosecuted for libel by the governmental authorities. In point of encouragement of iniquity, in point of infamy, of wrongdoing, there is nothing to choose between a public servant who betrays his trust, a public servant who is guilty of blackmail or theft, or financial dishonesty of any kind, and a man guilty as Joseph Pulitzer has been guilty in this instance. It is therefore a high national duty to bring to justice this villifier of the American people, this man who wantonly and wickedly and without one shadow of justification seeks to blacken the character of reputable private citizens and to convict the government of his own country in the eyes of the civilized world of wrongdoing of the basest and foulest kind, when he has not one shadow of justification of any sort or description for the charge he has made. The attorney general has under consideration the form in which the proceedings against Mr. Pulitzer shall be brought."

Government Dealt Openly.

The president refers to various papers which he transmits with his message. Explaining the method of concluding the purchase, the president takes upon himself the responsibility for all that was done to carry out the will of congress. The action of the government, he says, was wholly uninfluenced by any question of who were or were not stockholders, either in the new or the old company.

"Our concern," he says, "was to get the canal property which was owned by the French company and to see that the title was clear. Our transactions were carried on openly, and published in detail."

The president says that the United States did not have anything to do with the distribution of a dollar of the money paid out except in following out the instruction of the French court.

"So far as this government is concerned," concludes the president, "every step of the slightest importance has been made public by its executive, and every step taken in France has there been made public by the proper officials."

Farmer Drops Dead.

Barnesville, Minn., Dec. 17. — John Doran, one of the pioneers of Elgin township and father of the boy who was accidentally shot to death by a boy companion this fall, dropped dead yesterday within four rods of the spot where his son was killed.

MUST RESTORE COMPETITION

Appeal Will Be Taken to Supreme Court, During Which Injunction Is Suspended.

New York, Dec. 17.—Nine companies, with their subsidiaries, are named as constituting an allegal combination in the final decree filed yesterday in the United States circuit court, putting into effect the judgment recently obtained by the government in its suit to dissolve the so-called tobacco trust. The companies named are the American Tobacco company, the American Cigar company, the American Stogie company, MacAndrews & Forbes company, P. Lorillard & Co., R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, Blackwell's Durham Tobacco company and the Conley Foil company.

Must Restore Competition.

Each of the first five of these companies, the court declares, is in itself a combination in violation of the law. The order enjoins these companies from continuing as parties in the combination and restrains them from engaging in interstate or foreign trade until "reasonable competition" between them is restored. Nor may the companies named, or their subsidiaries acquire by conveyance or otherwise the plant or business of any other defendant corporation wherein any one of them now holds stock, or exercise any control whatsoever over its corporate acts.

Will Appeal.

Both the government and the defendant companies will at once take appeals from the decree. Such action on the companies' part will make effective one highly important clause—that which provides for a suspension of the injunction during the pendency of such appeal. As the matter stands, therefore, the companies may continue business as heretofore and until an affirmation of the judgment is obtained in the supreme court. Twenty days is allowed for an appeal to be filed.

TOTAL VOTE CAST 14,852,239.

New York, Dec. 17.—The popular vote of the various presidential candidates at the last national election was made known yesterday in an official form by the filing of the last of the official vote, that of Michigan.

Taft's popular plurality over Bryan was 1,234,494 votes. The total vote for Taft was 7,637,676, while Bryan received 6,393,182 votes. The totals show the following votes cast:

Taft, Rep	7,637,676
Bryan, Dem.	6,393,182
Debs, Socialist	448,453
Chafin, Pro.	241,252
Hisgen, Ind.	83,186
Watson, Pop.	33,871
Gilhaus, Social-Labor	15,421
Total for all candidates	14,852,239

This grand total exceeds by 1,341,531 the total number of votes cast in the presidential election of 1904, when the grand total was 13,810,703.

The biggest difference in a party vote is shown in an increase for Bryan of 1,315,211 over the total vote cast in 1004 for Alton B. Parker, the Democratic candidate. Taft received 14,190 votes more than were polled for President Roosevelt in 1904 and Debs ran 45,368 ahead of his predecessor on the Socialist ticket.

New York (870,070), Pennsylvania (745,779) and Illinois (629,932) gave Taft the greatest number of votes among the states, while, as to Bryan, the order was New York (667,468), Ohio (502,721) and Illinois (450,810).

SENATORS LAUGH AT MESSAGE.

Carter and Depew Advocate Postal Savings Banks.

Washington, Dec. 17. — The president's Panama canal message was read in the senate yesterday and its reading was received with loud laughter by some of the senators. Senator Foraker endeavored to have the senate adopt a resolution calling on the secretary of war for detailed information concerning the men employed, instructions given and expenses incurred in the investigation by detectives into the Brownsville affair, referred to by the president in his message of yesterday. Senator Warren objected to the immediate consideration of the resolution, and it will come up for consideration to-day.

The postal savings bank bill was the subject of speeches by Senators Carter and Depew, both of whom advocated the measure.

The hopes of the so-called insurgents in the house of representatives for a revision of the rules of that body were dissipated, for the time being at least, when Mr. Gardner of Massachusetts yesterday failed to obtain the adoption of an amended resolution calling for the appointment of a committee of eight members to consider the subject and report the changes they deem necessary.

After passing some bills relating to the District of Columbia, the remainder of the day was taken up with the bill to revise the penal laws of the United States.

Woman Asphyxiated.

Pittsburg, Dec. 17. — Mrs. Charles Gardner was asphyxiated at her home in Cheswick, a suburb, last night and her husband and two-year-old child were seriously burned in an explosion which followed the finding of her body. It is believed the child pulled the hose from a gas stove while the mother was sleeping.

VENEZUELA RISES AGAINST CASTRO

END OF CASTRO'S REIGN NEAR

Steps Under Way to Confiscate Property of President—No Feeling Against Dutch.

Willemstadt, Dec. 17.—The end of President Castro's reign in Venezuela is clearly foreshadowed in the riots in all parts of Venezuela, as a result of the Dutch reprisals against that country.

Thousands of enraged Venezuelans are flocking to Caracas and the cry of "Down with the dictator!" is heard on all sides.

All the pictures and statues of Castro were collected and burned in a huge bonfire in the Plaza Bolivar.

Not only was the demonstration in front of the palace threatening, but the homes of many of the recognized friends of the self-exiled president were stoned by the mob.

Police in Sympathy.

The police, wholly in sympathy with the mob, made no effort to check the demonstration and openly defied the authorities.

Thousands of people paraded the streets, demanding the deposition of Castro, the appointment of a temporary government and the call for an early election. The temper of the people was so warlike that all those known to be allied with Castro hid themselves.

The remarkable feature of the riots is the absence of any expressed feeling against Holland. Everywhere the people blame Castro for the trouble and there is even rejoicing in many quarters that Holland has at last taken the initiative in a campaign that will force the overthrow of the dictator.

May Grab Castro's Property.

Steps are already under way to confiscate the property of Castro, the larger part of which, however, has been taken out of the country by the wily executive. The people now are convinced that Castro has fled, with no intention of returning, and a rebel proclamation is momentarily expected.

Acting President Gomez has declared the city under martial law, but the edict has had but little effect on rioting.

It is believed that the next Dutch success will so inflame the people that the government will be completely overthrown.

Castro Stays Mum.

Berlin, Dec. 17.—President Castro of Venezuela maintains his composure in the face of alarming reports which have been published here regarding the disturbance in Venezuela.

When dispatches were shown to him yesterday that the people of Caracas had arisen against him, burned the pictures and statues of the president in the public squares and had made an attack upon a number of buildings, including the stores of several of his warmer adherents, and that several persons had been killed, Castro, after having one of the members of his party make a translation of these into Spanish, said quietly:

"I don't believe it. I had dispatches from Caracas this morning, but they mentioned nothing of the kind."

MANY VESSELS BLOWN ASHORE.

Worst Blizzard in Many Years Rages in Newfoundland.

St. Johns, N. F., Dec. 17.—The worst blizzard experienced in Newfoundland for many years has been raging for forty-eight hours and heavy damage has been done to fishing vessels, a number of which have been blown ashore at various points.

No loss of life has yet been reported, but it is feared that several schooners have been blown to sea or sunk. Traffic on land is at a standstill.

DECLINE TO STAY SENTENCE.

Illinois Governor and Pardon Board Will Not Save Bryant.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 17.—Gov. Dineen and the Illinois pardon board last night declined commutation of sentence or reprieve for Frank Bryant, the young man sentenced to hang here next Friday for the murder of Thomas Brady.

Fatally Injured by Train.

Marshalltown, Iowa, Dec. 17.—When he attempted to board a moving freight train on the Chicago Great Western last night Frank Auld, aged thirty-one, a well known young man of this city, fell beneath the wheels and sustained injuries that will prove fatal.

Fight Phone Rate Increase.

Olivia, Minn., Dec. 17. — A mass meeting of citizens was held yesterday to consider the notice received from the Minnesota Central Telephone company of a raise in rates and a committee was appointed looking toward the organization of a local stock company to put in an independent system.

Bridge Falls; Four Dead.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Dec. 17.—Four persons were killed by the collapse of the pier and span of the new bridge across the Potomac here yesterday.

NOTABLE BANQUET FOR TAFT

Guest of Ohio Society of New York—Gives Pledge to Adhere to Party Platform.

New York, Dec. 17. — Bringing his stay in New York to a close last night, President-elect William H. Taft was the guest of honor at one of the most notable banquets ever held in this city. It was the twenty-third annual dinner of the Ohio Society in New York, but around the one hundred tables placed in the grand ball room in the Astor gallery of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel were men gathered from every section of the country and leaders in many walks of life.

Mr. Taft took advantage of the occasion, in a speech filled with more earnestness than any he has delivered since his election, to pledge his administration and his party, so far as he can control it, to a loyal adherence to the Chicago platform. He dwelt almost wholly upon the revision of the tariff, which he singled out as the most important declaration made at the last national convention.

Mr. Taft also referred to the Sherman anti-trust law and declared for its enforcement as one of the Roosevelt policies that the party had pledged itself to carry forward.

ARMED MANIAC AMUCK ON TRAIN

Rich Frisco Merchant Nearly Kills Passengers.

Chicago, Dec. 17. — Armed with a knife and revolver, Stephen Dolphin, said to be a wealthy San Francisco merchant, yesterday became insane on a Burlington train from Denver as it was nearing Chicago and attempted to kill two passengers. He stood in the aisle of a coach and fought furiously when other passengers tried to overpower him.

He was overpowered by five men after a desperate struggle and kept tied to his seat until the train reached Chicago, when he was turned over to the local police.

CONFIRMED AFTER TWO YEARS.

Senate at Last Sets on Appointment of Judge Hundley of Alabama.

Washington, Dec. 17.—The nomination of Oscar R. Hundley to be United States district judge for the northern district of Alabama, which has been before the senate for the past two years, was confirmed yesterday. Judge Hundley has been serving on recess appointment.

The senate confirmed also Rufus H. Thayer of Washington, D. C., to be judge of the United States court of China, succeeding L. R. Wifley, who resigned.

RAILROADS ARE FINED.

CASHIER IS SHORT; BANK IS CLOSED

Official Accused of Stealing $85,000, Which Was Used in Stock Speculation.

Dramatic Scenes Enacted in Streets of Ohio Town When Bank Closes Its Doors.

Somersworth, N. H., Dec. 17. —The doors of the First National bank of this city were closed yesterday, following the discovery of a shortage, placed at $85,000, and Fred H. Varney, the cashier of the bank, was arrested on a charge of being a defaulter. After his arrest, according to a statement made by W. S. Tebbetts, president of the bank, Varney confessed that he had taken a large sum from the bank, which had been lost in speculation and that he alone was responsible for the defalcation, which had been accumulating for the last six years.

Gives $10,000 Bail.

Varney later was given a hearing before United States Commissioner Hedgman, pleaded not guilty and furnished bail of $10,000 for his appearance before the United States district court at Portsmouth in March.

In reporting the trouble to the controller of the currency, Examiner Bean, who found the alleged shortage, said that in his opinion the bank was solvent, but that the directors had said they were unable to make up the impairment and had requested that the examiner take charge with a view to liquidating the affairs of the institution.

Interested in Stock Market.

Varney did not live ostentatiously. He received a salary of $2,500 from the bank, out of which he was required to pay two assistants. It was known to his friends that he was deeply interested in the stock market. It is understood that he employed two sets of books to cover up the alleged shortage and that the unexpected appearance of the examiner this week led to the disclosure.

Men Cry and Women Faint.

Napoleon, Ohio, Dec. 17.—Men cried and women fainted in the streets yesterday when they found a notice of assignment posted on the doors of the Citizens' State bank. Dramatic scenes were enacted as the streets rapidly filled with residents of the town and farmers drove in to draw money with which to pay taxes. President Heller of the bank is now confined in a hospital in Minnesota. The failure is said to have been caused by overloans, and it is further claimed that it was brought about by the Ohio German Insurance company's failure.

BRINGS DEAD MAN TO LIFE.

New Jersey Physician Resuscitates Victim of Heavily Charged Wire.

Philadelphia, Dec. 17.—To all appearances shocked to death by electricity, a man was revived by a physician in Camden last night. The case adds new interest to the proposed attempt to resuscitate electrocuted murderers in the state prison at Trenton.

Oni Natsko of Millville was the victim. He was standing at Haddon avenue and Line street, when a heavily charged trolley wire fell on him, the full current of the trolley wire passing through his body. When picked up he was apparently dead.

When he arrived at the hospital the attendants pronounced him dead, but Dr. Hollingshead went to work on the man, using both drugs and galvanic battery. For a long time there was no evidence of life, but finally a gasp indicated that the efforts fere succeeding. The man slowly revived, but it was several hours before the sense of speech returned.

NO PORTFOLIO FOR BURTON

Offer of Cabinet Position Withdrawn—C. P. Taft Confident of Election to Senate.

New York, Dec. 17.—It was authoritatively announced last night that the offer of a cabinet position to Congressman Theodore E. Burton of Cleveland has been withdrawn by Mr. Taft and would not be renewed. Mr. Burton had been mentioned as the probable secretary of the treasury in Mr. Taft's cabinet, and it is said that the portfolio had been definitely offered to him. Mr. Burton, it is believed, will now take an active part in the Ohio senatorial campaign.

The statement followed a conference of President-elect W. H. Taft and five of the Republican state leaders of Ohio. Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati was also present and when he was asked as to what bearing if any the conference may have upon his candidacy for the senate to succeed Senator Joseph B. Foraker, he replied:

"I am going to win. Everything is favorable."

The president-elect's brother was apparently more than satisfied with the day's developments and fairly bubbled over with good humor.

SENATE STARTS INVESTIGATION

Will Find Out About President's Criticism in Matter of Secret Service.

ALDRICH FATHERS RESOLUTION

Democratic Senators Say President's Words Should Be Resented as Insulting.

Washington, Dec. 17. — The senate devoted considerable time yesterday to a discussion of the president's course in placing strictures on congress in the matter of the secret service, and adopted a searching resolution, proposed by Mr. Aldrich and amended upon the suggestion of Mr. Culberson, providing for a thorough investigation by the committee on appropriations of the president's charge, both in respect to the acts and the course that should be taken by congress to resent the imputations believed to have been cast upon that body. Mr. Aldrich, in introducing his resolution, made no comment upon it, but Senators Bailey, Bacon, Tillman, Culberson and others declared that the president's words should be resented by the senate as highly insulting.

Senator Foraker's resolution calling on the secretary of war for information concerning the work of detectives in the Brownsville affair was also adopted.

Senator Lodge spoke in support of the Warner bill permitting the president to re-enlist the discharged soldiers of the Twenty-fifth regiment at his discretion.

In the House.

Except for a few moments spent in the transaction of routine business and the passage of two bridge bills, the house of representatives yesterday devoted its entire time to the further consideration of the bill to revise the penal laws of the United States. The Garrett amendment, which came over from last night and which prohibited the sending through the mails of information bearing on transactions in futures, was defeated by a decided vote.

Without opposition an amendment by Mr. Houston of Tennessee was adopted making it an offense to deposit in or ship through the mails intoxicating liquors.

Hands in Resignation After an Exciting Session.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 17.—During the course of an exciting session of the duma yesterday afternoon Nikola Khomyakoff, the president of the duma, quitted the chamber and wrote his resignation. Late last night there was still much uncertainty as to M. Khomyakoff reconsidered his decision to resign.

Allegheny county claimed the mule because of a gain of 22 1-2 per cent.

How would you like to live at Duluth? They have a municipal election coming on, and a warm fight in prospect.

The Christmas number of the Red Lake Falls Gazette arrived yesterday. It is a very creditable effort and reflects credit, not only on the Gazette, but on the citizens of Red Lake Falls.

Four Minnesota congressmen, Nye, Davis, Lindbergh and Volstad have joined a revolt and are trying to bust up Speaker Cannon's iron clad rules. Good luck to them, and heres hoping they do it.

St. Hilaire merchants would appreciate your holiday trade, all right, but the most of them are rather timid about asking you for it through our advertising columns. We want to give you a good tip and that is: You will save money and time by patronizing the merchants who advertise; they have the goods and are up-to-date in their methods.

The State Board of Immigration says that a gold mine has been discovered in Northern Minnesota in the results obtained from raising potatoes. Over in Beltrami county one farmer raised an average of 465 bushels to the acre on a small piece. Other yields there were 378, 328 281 bushels per acre. This beats all the fairy tales one hears from the West, and they are actual facts.

The other morning as we came down town we saw a citizen playing with his dog. A passerby called out "to pull his tail," to which came the prompt reply: "Come over and pull his tail yourself, darn ye if ye want to see how he bites." This is an apt illustration of the average newspaperman's life. There is always some one wanting the editor to pull the dog's tail. As most all editors have quit this tail-pullin' cats-paw business, you fellows who want the dog's tail pulled, will have to pull it yourselves.—Worthington Globe.

No excuse can be found this time for failing to make a reapportionment of the state for legislative purposes. The present districts are grossly unequal, giving one voter in certain localities as much voice in state affairs as four voters in some of the growing districts of northern Minnesota. The present districts were marked out 12 years ago, and in that time there has been a great shifting in the population of the state. There has been a national census, also a state census, to show this drift, and a fair apportionment can easily be worked out by using the 1905 census returns.

The Tribune has been asked whether or not we expect to tell the truth in all matters of local interest. We would say not! The Tribune will continue in the style and manner of all successful newspapers and will deal in only what it considers clean and reliable news items of general interest. If the newspapers should publish half the stuff they hear there would be ten divorce suits to one now. There would be social ostracism of many who now shine in the four hundred. There would be shot gun matinees, lynching bees, hatchet parties, imprisonment, desolation and misery. An editor learns of nearly all the sin and hypocrisy of life and it is a wonder he believes in man or woman, witch or devil, heaven or hell. Many people are continually finding fault with the newspapers, who as a matter of fact they owe their very standing in the community to the editor's waste basket. Will the Tribune always tell the truth? Not on your life, Dallina.—Farmington Tribune.

SAM WAS CHANGED

GREAT LIGHT SUDDENLY DAWNED ON YOUNG MAN.

Brief Interview with Consumptive Peddler Turned His Thoughts Away from Foolish and Carnal Things.

"During the harvest time," said the old farmer who had brought a load of potatoes to market, "I hired on three extra men, and one of them turned out to be a boxer. He and my son Sam took to each other, and Sam bought a pair of boxing gloves and took about 20 lessons in what they calls 'the art.' When harvest was over and he had got through he jest flapped his wings and crowed and said he could lick anything that traveled our highway. I didn't say nothin' either way, but jest waited. When a young feller of 20 gets a chip on his shoulder somebody's purty sure to come along and knock it off. One day a tin peddler drove up, and I saw Sam steppin' high and spittin' over his shoulder. Bimeby he got up a row with the feller and knocked him out in one round. For two weeks after that it was brag from mornin' till night. He got sassy to me and to the nayburs, and one could see what he was achin' for. We was diggin' 'taters one day, when the same peddler's wagon drove up, and Sam turns to me and says:

"'Dad, that peddler has come back after more. Come along and see me put him to sleep.'"

"We went up to the house to diskiver that it was the same hoss and wagon, but a different man. He said he was a consumptive who was peddlin' for his health, and that he doesn't exert hisself much for fear of a hemorrhage of the lungs. Sam was mightily disapp'inted and was going back to the 'taters when the stranger said somethin' about his bow legs. Purty soon they was passin' hot words, and I was tryin' to quiet 'em, when the stranger got up and called Sam a liar and jumped down from his wagon. Sam went for him and squared off and led with the left, and the next thing I saw was his heels in the air. He scrabbled up and went down again, and the third time he went right to sleep and laid there. Then the stranger laughed and climbed on his wagon and drove away. It took me'n the old woman 30 minutes to revive Sam, and we found him a changed young man. He's read 40 chapters in the Bible in the last 30 nights, and has committed 12 hymns to memory, and when I ask him how he feels he rolls his eyes and answers:

"'I'm a-feeling, Dad, that I'm not long for this wicked world, and I'm a-hopin' that you and ma'am will so live that you kin jine me in that better land.'"

The Food Faddist.

Manager Plummer of Briarcliff Lodge, a hotel at Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., has erected on the hotel roof a flying stage for the use of aeronauts and balloonists.

"Ours is the first public flying stage," said the enterprising manager the other day, "but we shall all live to see the day when flying stages will be as common as horse blocks. For the air, thanks to the Wrights, is conquered.

"But at this stage—this flying stage, so to speak—the greatest caution is needed in aerial matters, or innumerable, innumerable, will be the deaths of aeronauts."

He smiled.

"In fact," he said, "the aeronaut, to pursue safely his experiments, should be as cautious as a Philadelphia food faddist who lunched here yesterday. The man lunched on a raw turnip, a handful of nuts and a lemon. He interested me.

"Then, according to you," I said jestingly, at the end of a food talk, "as long as I eat nothing I shall be healthy?"

"Yes, if you chew it thoroughly," was the cautious answer."

To Fight Airships.

An armored automobile, designed specially to attack and destroy airships, is under construction at Berlin for the German army and is to be tried presently. It has a four-cylinder motor of 60-horse-power and can make about 16 miles an hour, climbing easily a 20 per cent grade. Its armament consists of a rapid-fire five-centimeter gun capable of firing 24 times a minute, and it carries ammunition for 102 shots. The crew comprises a driver and three assistants. Evidently the Germans are determined to be foremost not only in the military use of dirigible balloons, but also in devices to spoil the usefulness of any that may be brought against them by other nations.

Pleasant Fiction.

"What are you reading?"

"The story of Cinderella and the prince," answered Mr. Cumrox.

"What nonsense!"

"I know it's nonsense. But after reading the newspapers of late, it's a sort of a relief to come across a story of a nobleman who went ahead and eloped with the girl without stopping to discuss a marriage settlement."

Making of a Star.

"I can whistle through my teeth," pointed out the comedian.

"And I made you a leading man on the strength of that," responded the eminent manager. "Now, if you'll learn to wiggle your ears I'll make you a star."—Kansas City Journal.

Science and Wheat.

Science has many aids and suggestions to offer to the future wheat producer, such as rotation of crops, methods of soil tillage, seed selection, etc., by means of which wheat may be profitably grown in a permanent system of agriculture, says the Century. The future should bring to us as much, if not more, knowledge of soil fertility than has the past, and such knowledge will eventually become effective in the hands of the producer and put off the day when population will cease to increase because of insufficient food supplies.

HAD NOT ALL THE KNOWLEDGE.

Simple Word with Which the Elder Squelched the Younger M. D.

A becoming modesty is a desirable aid to advancement in any profession. In a small town in Maine there lived a brusque old doctor, who, for all his eccentricity, was a learned and skillful man. For many years he had been the sole doctor in town, but one day there came a rival in the shape of a young graduate. The young M. D. did not pay his respects to his senior, and the old doctor in turn completely ignored the fledgling. One day, however, the two were brought together at a consultation, and the young M. D. thereupon essayed to squelch the old M. D. with the preponderosity of his knowledge. He rattled off Latin terms and French and German phrases, while the old doctor listened as if quite overawed. "Yes," he mused, meditatively, "that's so, that's so. But what do you think of a cataplasm for this case?" "A—a—what?" ejaculated the new doctor, completely dumfounded. "A cataplasm," repeated the old doctor. "Well," stammered the other, "I am not familiar with that mode of treatment, although I have seen it advertised. It's something new, isn't it?" "Oh, no!" was the quiet reply. "A cataplasm means simply a poultice. It always has meant a poultice and probably always will." It is needless to say that the young doctor straightway subsided.

Arming Safes with Deadly Gases.

A chemical company has devised a grenade or glass receptacle, filled with a chemical compound, as a means of making it impossible for safeblowers to rob a safe after breaking it open.

It is an inoffensive-looking article, about two inches in diameter and five inches long. Inside of the exterior tube are seven smaller ones, each filled with a different chemical. When the door of the safe is blown, or the safe is jarred heavily, the grenade explodes, and the air is filled with the deadly fumes. It is claimed that these fumes, which, so far as effect is concerned, are not unlike the gases from the deadly Chinese "stink pots," are powerful enough to make breathing impossible and to force all persons near the safe to retreat or be almost instantly suffocated.

The grenades are made with a lasting effect of from six to ten hours, depending upon the size, and are placed just back of the locking mechanism of the safe doors.—Popular Mechanics.

Hadley Points Out Danger.

President Hadley of Yale writes: "In the year 1789 the whole French people was in a state of political excitement. They seized eagerly upon everything sensational. A young journalist named Camille Desmoulins shared this feeling and took advantage of it. He wrote a series of articles called 'Lamp Post Talks to the People of Paris,' in which he urged that anybody who was not a friend of the people ought to be taken to the nearest lamp post and hanged. He was not himself a bloodthirsty man. He chose his title chiefly because it sounded so picturesque. After a time he saw that they were executing a great many innocent men and women, and began to tell men so. Then they said that he was not a friend of the people any longer, and hanged him. This story has a moral for us in America to-day. It shows the dangers that come to a people which reads newspapers for the sake of excitement, instead of for the sake of information.

"To What Base Uses."

Big Brother (to young sister who has acquired an unaccountable habit of borrowing his razor)—I know you have borrowed my razor again. It's not where I put it.

Young Sister (scrambling around in the bathroom)—Oh! here it is, Bob—just where you left it, I am sure!

Big Brother—No such thing. And this is the third time you have misplaced it. Now, miss, you will tell me what you use it for. Were you ripping the sleeves of your last winter's coat?

Young Sister (doggedly)—No. You never will forget that!

Big Brother—Well, what then? (shaking her by the shoulders) Answer me.

Young Sister (tearfully)—I was just splitting up a little light wood to kindle the fire, and I just think you are a horried, selfish old thing not to want to even lend your things—so there!

Large Royal Family.

Prince Ferdinand's assumption of the title of "King of Bulgaria" makes the number of reigning monarchs belonging to the Saxe-Coburg-Gotha family four. This most prolific of royal races furnishes King Edward of England with 92 living relations, 55 of these being direct descendants of Queen Victoria.

If the list be made to include distant cousins and connections by marriage, the number of King Edward's relations reaches the total of 288, ranging in rank from Capt. Machell (who married a daughter of Prince Victor of Hohenlohe), to the czar of all the Russias.

This total does not include the offspring of morganatic marriages of the type contracted by the late duke of Cambridge.

Worse Than Laporotomy.

Green—I've just undergone a most annoying operation.

Green—I had my allowance cut off.—Tit-Bits.

When Cold Breathe Deeply.

A simple way to get warm after exposure to cold is to take a long breath with the mouth firmly shut. Repeat this several times, until you begin to feel the heat returning. It requires a very short time to do this.

The long breath quickens the pulse and thus causes the blood to circulate faster. The blood flows into all parts of the veins and arteries and gives out a great deal of heat. It is stated that this method of deep breathing prevents colds and a great many other ailments if begun in time.—Family Doctor.

LOSE JOY OF LIFE

HUSBANDS AND CHILDREN NOT FOR MILL GIRLS.

Have Little Choice But to Become Old Maids—One Glad Because She Misunderstood the Meaning of Licence.

There were four Carroll girls, all over 18. Their father, a small, white-haired, dignified man, was in the room and smiled a timid welcome. The girls were still in black for the mother who died a year before, says Rheta Dorr in the Broadway Magazine. "It is much harder for us now that mother's gone," said Sallie Carroll. "But she made us promise on her deathbed that we'd keep things just as she always had and we're certainly bound to do it. We all work in the mill. We are weavers, except Nannie there, the youngest. She is a warper. We don't let father work any more. We make enough for us all and him, too, and somebody's just got to be at home to look out for things, or else where's your home?"

"Why do poor folks have such big families?" demanded Nannie Carroll, indignantly. "They've got no business to. Why do poor folks marry at all?"

"Don't you expect to?" I asked.

The faces of all the girls were sober. "We can't figure out that there's any choice for us between breaking up our home and being old maids," said the oldest Carroll girl. "It may be a disgrace to be an old maid. People say it is, but at least we are comfortable and happy. Why, what would become of father if we married?"

I instantly thought of a girl I knew in Fall River. She was a weaver, too, and earned $11 a week, which made her an object of desire to more than one young man in the town. But at 25 she was still single. In the course of a confidential talk I asked her why she had never married and she told me with much laughter the reason.

"When I was 18," she said, "I was foolish enough to fall in love with the timekeeper in the clothroom at the iron works mills. He was better looking then than he is now. Well, he asked me to marry him and I said I would. Then he said we ought to go and get the license. 'What license?' I asked, flaming mad. You see, we girls had a dog we were awfully fond of and one day the poundkeeper came around and said we'd have to take out a license or he would kill the dog. So we skimped and saved and went without carfare until we had enough to pay for the dog's license.

"Well, somehow, the word license seemed to me to be connected with a dog. I didn't know that people had to have licenses. I told my young man that if he couldn't marry me without a license, as if he were paying for a dog, I wouldn't marry him. He argued and argued and we both got madder and madder, and finally we broke it off. Mother was glad enough. She always hates to have one of us marry. Less money carried home, you see." She added thoughtfully: "Of course, I was a silly goose, but somehow, when I see him with his wife, she looking ten years older than she is, with care and raising children whose only future is in the mills, I think a marriage license and a dog license are not so very different."

Hooked a Swordfish.

Eight miles off Newport, Cal., a 12-foot swordfish, with a sword four feet long, caught on an "80" hook by Hugh McMillan and G. G. Shoemaker, towed the fishermen's launch two miles, after having charged the boat repeatedly and scarred the stern in numerous places. The monster was killed after half an hour's fight. It weighed several hundred pounds.

When the big fish was first caught it charged to the surface, endangering the lives of two men and of other men in two near-by launches. The captors of the monster were towed almost out of sight of the men in the other boats. Persons ashore refused to believe that the two men caught the fish on their 27-strand cotton line until the story was vouched for by the men in the other launches.

Anomaly of the Sidewalk.

He stood before the Bowery Savings bank. His trousers ran to shreds below and the folds at the top end, where a string held them, proved that they had been made for an ampler girth. The dog had slept on his hat and perhaps brushed it in the gutter. He had worked his elbows shiny, his armpits ragged and gravy spots of diverse shades and sizes showed that whoever had eaten in that coat in other days had been too ravenous to mind slopping over. The barber and he were strangers and he looked through bleared eyes into vacancy as the busy sidewalk traffic trooped past him and thrifty depositors hurried in and out of the bank. In front of him he held a tray of gimcracks from which hung a placard: "Good Luck Rings."—New York Times.

Since 1902, when the federal reclamation act was passed, the government has added 5,000,000 acres to the country's habitable land, and these, added to the 7,200,000 reclaimed from the desert before that year, make an increase of 12,000,000 acres in the country's habitable area, an average of 2,000,000 acres per year.—Popular Mechanics.

After a long and weary wait we at last have a telephone at the Great Northern depot. Do not for one moment imagine, however, that the Great Northern is paying for it. They don't do business that way. Is The N. P. to Operate This Branch?

There is a rumor in circulation in railroad circles that this branch of the Great Northern from Warroad to Tilden Junction is to be sold to the Northern Pacific and that trains will be run through to Minneapolis and St. Paul by way of Winnipeg Junction. There is said to be good foundation for the rumor. If this new plan went into effect it would prove quite unpopular in Thief River Falls, unless train service was still mainteined between this city and Crookston.—Thief River Falls News.

The spectators at wrestling matches in Japan pelt the winner with their hats. This is a custom with the Japanese for showing their appreciation of the skill of the winner. The hats are gathered up by the attendants and handed to the champion.

Eventually the owners come forward and redeem their hats with presents of various kinds. The custom in question is, it is explained, due to a recognition of the fact that enthusiasm is likely to cool down shortly after the event which excited it is passed. So to prove the genuineness of his admiration the Jap gives his hat as a pledge, to be redeemed in his cooler moments.

INVALID'S SAD PLIGHT.

After Inflammatory Rheumatism, Hair Came Out, Skin Peeled, and Bed Sores Developed—Only Cuticura Proved Successful.

"About four years ago I had a very severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism. My skin peeled, and the high fever played havoc with my hair, which came out in bunches. I also had three large bed sores on my back. I did not gain very rapidly, and my appetite was very poor. I tried many 'sure cures' but they were of little help, and until I tried Cuticura Resolvent I had had no real relief. Then my complexion cleared and soon I felt better. The bed sores went very soon after a few applications of Cuticura Ointment, and when I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment for my hair it began to regain its former glossy appearance. Mrs. Lavina J. Henderson, 138 Broad St., Stamford, Conn., March 6 and 12, 1907."

There is probably nothing more effective than the attempt of a fussy woman to be disagreeable.

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Much less would be satisfactory. The general average is above twenty bushels.
"All are loud in their praises of the great crops and that wonderful country."—Extract from correspondence National Editorial Association of August, 1908.

It is now possible to secure a homestead of 160 acres free and another 160 acres at $3.00 per acre. Hundreds have paid the cost of their farms (if purchased) and then had a balance of from $10.00 to $12.00 per acre from one crop. Wheat, barley, oats, flax—all do well. Mixed farming is a great success and dairying is highly profitable. Excellent climate, splendid schools and churches, railways bring most every district within easy reach of market. Railway and land companies have lands for sale at low prices and on easy terms.

THEY LIED TO HIM

"Well, I suppose you are getting ready for Christmas?" he queried of the man beside him in the car after sizing him up as a family man.

"No, sir!" was the blunt reply.

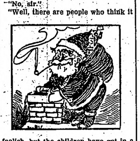
"I thought you might have wife and children."

"So I have. I have a wife and seven children."

"And you are not going to play Santa Claus?"

"No, sir."

"Well, there are people who think it foolish, but the children have got in a way of expecting something in their stockings."



"Yes, and when I was a kid I did the same. That's what ails me now. I thought there was a Santa Claus. I thought he came down the chimney. I thought he had reindeers and a sled. My parents lied to me, sir—deliberately lied. They took advantage of my youth and innocence and put up a job on me."

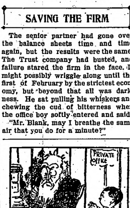
"But the fiction is a pleasant one," replied the other in apologetic tones.

"It may be to some, sir, but not to me. When I found out that I had been lied to and grossly deceived and made a fool of I turned my back on my home and have never seen it since. I do not want my seven children to do the same to me. Think what it means to have a father who is an infernal liar! Think what it is to have a mother who aids and abets him! It has cast a blot on my whole life, and not for worlds would I deceive one of my innocent lambs. I shall buy seven peanuts, sir, and put them in the seven stockings and that will end it. No lying—no deceiving. Plain, straight peanuts and the respect of my children, and there you are. I get off here, and I hope you will think things over and be a wretched, contemptible liar no longer."

SAVING THE FIRM

The senior partner had gone over the balance sheets time and time again, but the results were the same. The Trust company had busted, and failure stared the firm in the face. It might possibly wriggle along until the first of February by the strictest economy, but beyond that all was darkness. He sat pulling his whiskers and chewing the cud of bitterness when the office boy softly entered and said:

"Mr. Blank, may I breathe the same air that you do for a minute?"



The Office Boy Softly Entered.

"It is a sacrifice of my dignity, but go ahead."

"This firm is in financial straits."

"Yes, on the point of busting."

"I am here to save it."

"You! Why, you are only office boy!"

"Yes, sir, but I have a head on me. I was born a financier. When I was only three years old if my sister brought home three sticks of candy and gave me one, it wasn't half an hour before I had the three sticks and she had none."

"Heavens, if you can but save us!"

"Don't worry—I can, sir. Last Christmas, this old and reliable firm made me a present of fifty cents for my faithful services for the year."

"I remember. I thought that thirty cents was enough."

"But it was fifty, sir, and now I return it to help you out of your financial pinch and keep the old firm running. Take it and welcome, sir, and if you were going to give me a quarter this year just add that to it and let Dun bring your rating up a few thousand more.. That's all, sir."

"Thomas," called the senior partner as he stretched forth his arms, but there is no need to go into further particulars. The credit of the firm was saved, and the Christmas was a happy one—so happy that the senior bought him a new steam yacht and planned a trip to Europe.

In Debt on $126,000 a Year.

Extravagance is a disease just as much as nervous and appendicitis, and a most fashionable ailing at that. The Empress Josephine, poor thing, suffered intensely from this malady.

She had an income of 630,000 francs a year, and never could make it do. She was in a chronic state of debt. But then she changed her linen three times a day and never wore a pair of stockings twice. This love of fine raiment followed her to the very grave, for she died robed in rose color and adorned in knots of ribbon.

She—Would you prefer for a Christmas present something I had bought or something I had made with my own hands?

He—Something you had made with your own dear little hands, but I may as well tell you that I use a typewriter altogether, so I have no use for a penwiper, I never wear a muffler and my landlady always takes my sofa pillows the minute she gets a chance.

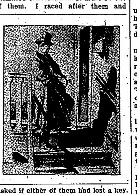
All the chonic borrower wants is to be let a loan.

Merry Christmas

The Lost Key

It was Christmas eve. I left the place I call home to go to a restaurant. The snow was falling quietly in heavy wet flakes, and already covered the ground so that one walked as softly as on a carpet. My foot struck something hard and I heard a faint click, and I picked up two keys tied together with a string. Somebody has lost his keys, thought I with my usual astuteness. But who?

Thirty steps down the street were two servant girls hurrying along in animated conversation. It must be one of them. I raced after them and asked if either of them had lost a key. One opened her hand and showed her key. The other hunted hastily and long through the folds of her dress and finally produced her key. False scent.



I looked up and down the street; there was not a soul in sight. "I will give the keys to the policeman on the corner," I said to the girls. "Perhaps some one will inquire of him for them." The policeman was not enthusiastic. "We have a barrel of found keys at the station," he said. "People hunt for them everywhere, but never with us." That ended the matter apparently, but not yet.

As I am a bachelor without a family circle and doubly lonesome that evening, the episode aroused my interest more than it merited and I began to brood over it.

"Suppose I should go back to the street and wait. Perhaps some charming lady will rush up breathless looking for her keys. She was expecting guests for a Christmas eve feast and hurried out to get something forgotten until the last minute. She lost her keys and can't get back into her house. She is in despair. Then enter I as the good angel and produce her keys. To show gratitude, impulsively she invites me to the feast. There I meet a beautiful, clever and rich girl and fall in love with her. Also she falls in love with me, and—"

I hurried back to the street. I paced up and down for a quarter of an hour, half an hour, an hour. No lady came. Then I realized that I had not yet dined and I hurried to my restaurant.

But even during my dinner I couldn't get that key out of my head—the key less, possibly, than the beautiful, rich young lady. In my reverie I closed my eyes and must have fallen asleep. I was aroused by a voice: "We're going to close up and the last car is coming." I catch the last car and go home.

The porter was so long coming to let me in that I got thoroughly chilled waiting at the outside door. I went up the three flights of stairs to my rooms three steps at a time so as to get to bed. When I reached into my through a hole in the bottom.

"Thunderation." It was my own pocket for my keys, my hand went keys I had found. Falling through the hole in my pocket and striking my shoes was the soft click I had heard.

When I got to the police station after midnight and asked them for my keys, you should have heard those policemen laugh.—Fliegende Blaetter.

Just.

Santa Claus was just starting on his annual round when a bright idea occurred to him.

In consequence, before filling any grown-up stockings, he examined them carefully. If they showed any signs of having been stretched by being used as a receptacle for hoarded money during the recent panic he left them as empty as he found them.

Thus did those who made times hard for Santa Claus get what they deserved.

THINGS ARE DIFFERENT NOW

They Are Taking American Money at Newburg and Glad to Get It.

"I am often reminded of the first Christmas presents I ever bought," said a friend of mine. "It was when I lived in Canada, in the second year of the war, I think. I was quite a small boy—just recovering from the earlier delusion of Santa Claus. My father ran a woollen mill at Newburg, near Kingston, and an ary contractor came along and bought the waste of the mill, which, up to that time, we had burned up as worthless. The contractor wanted the stuff to make shoddy army clothing. He paid my father in the first 'greenbacks' we had ever seen. There was considerable Confederate currency in Canada at that time, but no greenbacks. My father gave me a bill and I went out to buy some little things the day before Christmas. I went all over town and couldn't find a soul who would take the greenback. It seems funny now, but it is a fact. They had faith in Confederate money and none whatever in the currency of the United States.

"I went back to the house nearly broken hearted, for fear we were not going to get anything at all since the money we had sold the waste for was no good. But my father consoled me with a Confederate bill, and I went out again—this time with better luck. For I had no trouble in buying what I wanted. Oh, yes; they believed in the Southern Confederacy.

"Newburg is a smaller place now than it was then. It had been a stage line town, but the railroad came and carried away what little patronage it had. But I believe they take American money up there now, and are very glad to get it."

ALWAYS THE SAME

"Now, dear," she says, "we've got the children's stockings filled, and I'm going to give you your little present."

"But I didn't want you to buy anything for me."

"But I couldn't let the day pass, you know. It's only a cheap, little present, but I hope you won't be disappointed. It is such hard times that I couldn't save up much."

"I shall be pleased over it, whatever it is."

"And you won't make fun of it?"

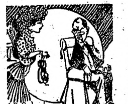
"Of course not."

"And you'll think it's nice?"

"Surely I will."

"And—and—but here's your present. Oh, dear, but I do hope you'll be pleased."

And she presents hubby with a pair of No. 10 slippers, when he has told her a hundred times over that he wears a No. 7 shoe, and he receives them with a smile and says they are just his fit and the handsomest things he ever saw, and he proceeds to dump them into the closet along with the five other pair. Then he laughs uneasily and says:



Presents Hubby with a pair of No. 10 slippers.

"I didn't plan to buy you anything, dear, as you know how hard up I am, but at last determined to—"

"Oh, Will, how nice of you!"

"But it isn't much of a gift."

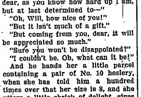
"But coming from you, dear, it will be appreciated so much."

"Sure you won't be disappointed?"

"I couldn't be. Oh, what can it be!"

And he hands her a little parcel containing a pair of No. 10 hosiery, when she has told him a hundred times over that her size is 8, and she utters a little shriek of delight, gives him a kiss, and then runs up stairs to put them with the aprons she is going to give the hired girl on the morrow.

AN APPALLING SUGGESTION

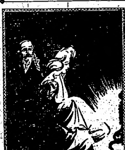


Sammy—I wonduh why Santa Claus uses a reideer.

Mammy—Well, I specks mebbe a mule would be cheaper.

Sammy—Yes. But goodness Lor', mammy! S'pos'n dat mule was to take a noshun to balk!

IS THIS A FACT?



Wifey—People no longer observe the beautiful custom of burning yule logs at Christmas. I wonder why?

FIRE IN CROWDED NEW YORK THEATER

ACTORS DRIVEN TO STREET

Chorus Girls in Scant Attire Hustle for Shelter—Electric Sign Starts Blaze.

New York, Dec. 24.—Fire broke out in the Herald Square theater last night ten minutes before the close of the performance of "The Three Twins," and before it was brought under control had done considerable damage to the building, had driven the actors and chorus into the streets in their scant costumes and had caused great commotion among the theater crowds on Broadway. There was no panic and no one was injured, the audience remaining in ignorance of the fire until most of them had passed into the streets. The fire caught from a large electric sign on the front of the theater building and spread to the executive offices, which are opposite the second gallery of the auditorium.

Orders Play Cut Short.

It was just ten minutes before the time for the performance to end when two women came down from the second gallery and reported to the theater attaches that there was smoke in the upper part of the building. Treasurer Lyon quickly went behind the curtain and explained the situation to the actors and told them to cut the play short. This was done, and the curtain was lowered without any announcement to the audience.

The big crowd shuffled slowly out, not knowing that a fire was being fought in the upper gallery.

Actors Step Lively.

Most of them soon reached the streets, but some remained behind, waiting for the wraps to be taken from the coat rooms. As the flames began to gain headway the theater employes urged the tardy ones to hurry out and told them there was a fire in the theater.

Alarm spread among the actors and chorus and many of the young women left the building by the stage entrance in scant and unconventional attire. An alarm quickly brought the fire engines and water was turned upon the flames, but not until probably $60,000 damage had been done.

Coolness Prevents Panic.

Only the coolness of the theater attaches prevented anything in the way of a panic. Several of the actors said after the fire was out that they had seen the smoke for some time before Treasurer Lyon ordered the performance cut short, but that they went bravely on with the songs and dances, in order not to alarm the audience and thereby possibly precipitate a panic.

Some time after the fire was practically out the theater gallery fell and a moment later thirty-five feet of the roof on the Broadway end of the building came down.

BEEF AGENTS MUST TESTIFY.

Federal District Attorney Subpoenas Employes of Morris & Co.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—The issuance of a hundred subpoenas, twenty-five of which were served on employes in the traffic department of Morris & Co., summoning them before the federal grand jury, started reports yesterday that the inquisitorial body would investigate charges of rebating among the big packing firms at the stock yards. District Attorney Sims refused to admit or deny any of the rumors afloat.

The subpoenas were issued from Jude Landis' court late Monday afternoon. The indications are that the inquiry is to be devoted to the subject of rebates, although reports were circulated that the government was getting ready for another "beef trust" probe.

CHRISTMAS MAIL STOLEN.

Pouch Containing Valuable Packages Stolen in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 24.—A mail pouch containing sixty pounds of registered Christmas packages consigned to Eastern points was stolen from the bagage room of the depot on the Belt Line railroad last night. It is believed to have contained much valuable merchandise. There was no money in it.

A negro was seen loitering in the vicinity and is supposed to have secured the pouch.

DETECTIVES WATCH SUSPECTS

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 24. — A flashlight photograph of a member of the council in the act of accepting money from a decoy "promoter," it is said, will be one of the strongest features of the evidence to be presented to-day when seven members of the council and two former bank officials are to be given a preliminary hearing on charges of bribery, corrupt solicitation and other illegal acts brought by the Voters' league. This picture, it is said, was taken in a private room in a down-town hotel last night immediately before the councilman was arrested.

Suspects Are Watched.

No additional arrests were made yesterday, and it is said that none are likely to be made until after the hearing to-day. All whom the detectives think may possible be wanted later are being kept under surveillance, officers being on guard at all city and suburban stations.

Besides the councilman the flashlight photograph is said to show an agent of the Hufling Detective agency of Scranton, Pa., which worked up the cases. This man is reported to have posed as a member of a firm anxious to sell wooden paving blocks to the city and have become very intimate with the councilman.

Flash Is Set Off.

With other detectives concealed within hearing distance, the councilman is alleged to have been induced to tell of the negotiations to secure the passage of the legislation, to name the other members who were to share in the bribe and to say that the members were tired of promises and wanted to see some real money. It was while money was being shown that the flash was ignited. The councilman, it is said, broke down and wept, and when he accused his companion of trapping him there was no denial. Then an officer appeared and made the arrest.

In some quarters it is believed that Mayor Guthrie was back of the probe, he having been an attorney for the Voters' league some years ago.

WITNESS ASKS PROTECTION.

Gives Damaging Evidence Against Night Riders.

Union City, Tenn., Dec. 24.—When Mrs. Emma Jackson, one of the state witnesses, yesterday afternoon in the night riders' trial, was excused from the stand, she turned to Judge Jones and said:

"I will not leave the court room without armed protection. I know these men."

Mrs. Jackson told a vivid story of several visits of the riders, corroborated Fred Fehringer's testimony in many details, as did other witnesses, and identified by name at least twenty-seven members of the band. She was followed on the stand by her daughter, Dora Jackson, who corroborated her mother.

The last witness of the day was Will Russell, another alleged night rider, who has turned state's evidence. He was trembling with fear and could scarcely raise his voice above a whisper. Russell is under constant guard, but believes that he will be killed in spite of these precautions. Russell's story was practically the same as that told by Fehringer, and corroborated it in every essential detail.

PRISON SENTENCE IN BOYCOTT CASE

Gompers Gets One Year, Mitchell Nine Months and Morrison Six Months.

APPEAL TO A HIGHER COURT

President Roosevelt Appealed to by Labor Unions to Prevent Incarceration of Leaders.

Washington, Dec. 24. — Twelve months in jail for Samuel Gompers, president, nine months for John Mitchell, one of the vice presidents, and six months for Frank Morrison, secretary, all of the American Federation of labor, was the sentence imposed by Justice Wright of the supreme court of the District of Columbia yesterday for contempt of court in violating an order previously issued enjoining them from placing on "Unfair" or "We don't patronize" list the Buck Stove and Range company of St. Louis, Mo.

Veteran Leader Weeps.

All three of the defendants were in court when sentence was pronounced, and notice of an appeal to the court of appeals of the District of Columbia at once was filed, Gompers being released on $5,000 bond, Mitchell of $4,000 and Morrison on $3,000. In addition to the wife and daughter of Gompers, there were present a number of local labor leaders.

With tears coursing down his own cheeks, President Gompers heard the order of the court which condemned him to prison for a year. Both Mitchell and Morrison seemed stunned by the sentence.

Labor's Struggle for Right.

Asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced, President Gompers declared he had not consciously violated any law. There was much he would like to say, he said, but he could not do it at that time. He added, however, that "this is a struggle of the working people of our country and it is a struggle of the working people for the right. It is a struggle of the ages—a struggle of the men of labor to throw off some of the burdens which have been heaped upon them; to abolish some of the wrongs and to secure some of the rights too long denied."

Mitchell and Morrison confined themselves to an indorsement of what Gompers had said.

President Asked to Act.

The decision of Justice Wright, which consumed two hours and twenty minutes in reading, was one of the most scathing arraignments that ever came from the bench in this city.

Whether President Roosevelt will take any action, as he has been urged to do in telegrams received from different labor organizations throughout the country in connection with Judge Wright's decision, has not been decided.

The various labor organizations in protesting to the president against the sentence urge him to prevent the incarceration of the labor leaders.

Washington, Dec. 24.—After an interval of eight months the United States government has resumed friendly relations with Venezuela, and William I. Buchanan has left this country on the cruiser North Carolina in the capacity of a special commissioner to visit that country and make a report. Much will depend on the nature of the communications which he will make to the state department, among them the question whether the United States will accord formal recognition to the government as it now exists, a decision dependent upon its ability to maintain a stable institution and to fulfill its treaty obligations. It has not yet been fully established that the Gomez government will retain its power without trouble, for there are many adherents of President Castro throughout the country.

The Hague, Dec. 24.—The revocation of the transshipment decree of May 14 by the Venezuelan government was announced in the lower house of parliament yesterday afternoon by Foreign Minister Van Swinderen. It was this decree that made most of the trouble between Venezuela and the Netherlands. The foreign minister said also that the Dutch naval operations along the Venezuelan coast had been suspended at the request of Acting President Gomez.

PITTSBURG DAZED AT GRAFT EXPOSE

City Moves Into First Place in Roll of Corruption and Municipal Rottenness.

FRISCO TAME IN COMPARISON

Gigantic Proportions of Graft Revealed; Developments Will Startle Country.

Pittsburg, Dec. 24.—With a suddenness that startled Pittsburg from end to end, this city yesterday moved into first place in the roll of corruption and municipal graft.

Late last night, many hours after thunderbolts in the shape of sensational testimony were exploded, the people of Pittsburg were dumfounded and unable to realize that the city is in a position to demand every laurel for being the champion legislative scandal center of America.

Startles the City.

The troubles of San Francisco are tame in comparison. Furthermore it is stated the shocking developments here yesterday are mere preliminaries and subsequent steps against additional councilmen and business men will not only startle Pittsburg, but the whole country.

Apparently, from the testimony offered in court yesterday, the city's council is absolutely rotten in every sense of the word. It was intimated strongly that over three score councilmen are "easy to reach" and the "reaching" necessitated only small sums, ranging from $100 to $5.

Gigantic Graft System.

Out of a mass of testimony it was gleaned that a majority of the council body of Pittsburg have been "reached." In the passage of one ordinance alone it was testified that sixty councilmen had divided $45,000. The evidence as given yesterday showed conclusively the gigantic proportions of the graft system.

Sensations followed one another in rapid succession during the hearing of the seven councilmen and two former bank officers arrested on charges of bribery, corrupt solicitations and conspiracy last Monday night.

Bank Officials Gave Up.

It was shown that the two bank officials had given $17,500, to be divided among the councilmen to secure the naming of the bank as a depository for the city's funds. A private detective testified to having arranged secret meetings with members of the councils in which details of the graft transactions were brought out.

All of the defendants immediately renewed their bonds for appearance for court trial and were released. In the aggregate the bonds amounted to $118,000.

Hains' marital career which preceded and brought about the killing of the publisher. ENDS COMBINES IN MISSOURI

Are Punished for Conspiring and Combining to Monopolize Oil Business in State.

Jefferson City, Mo., Dec. 24. — Declaring that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, the Republic Oil Company of Ohio and the Waters-Pierce Oil Company of Missouri had conspired and combined to monopolize the oil business in this state, the supreme court of Missouri yesterday issued a decree ousting all three from the commonwealth and fining them $50,000 each.

The decree against the Waters-Pierce company is tempered by the proviso that it may continue in business if by Jan. 15, 1909, it can show to the court that it has taken steps to operate as an independent concern and has satisfied the judgment against it. The other companies are given until March 1, 1909, to wind up their affairs in the state.

Ends Combines in Missouri.

The decision, which was unanimous on the part of the seven judges, is so sweeping that Attorney General Hadley and Gov. Folk hail it as the end of illegal commercial combinations in Missouri, and the former asserts that, in conjunction with the decision of the supreme court of the United States in the tobacco trust case, it will affect similar suits in other states.

Attorney General Hadley, who has prosecuted the Missouri case since its inception in March, 1905, will become governor in less than a month and then will be charged with the enforcement of the decree issued yesterday.

Awful Things Might Happen.

In coming to its decision the court says:

FIRE IN CROWDED NEW YORK THEATER

Chorus Girls in Scant Attire Hustle for Shelter—Electric Sign Starts Blaze.

New York, Dec. 24.—Fire broke out in the Herald Square theater last night ten minutes before the close of the performance of "The Three Twins," and before it was brought under control had done considerable damage to the building, had driven the actors and chorus into the streets in their scant costumes and had caused great commotion among the theater crowds on Broadway. There was no panic and no one was injured, the audience remaining in ignorance of the fire until most of them had passed into the streets. The fire caught from a large electric sign on the front of the theater building and spread to the executive offices, which are opposite the second gallery of the auditorium.

Orders Play Cut Short.

It was just ten minutes before the time for the performance to end when two women came down from the second gallery and reported to the theater attaches that there was smoke in the upper part of the building. Treasurer Lyon quickly went behind the curtain and explained the situation to the actors and told them to cut the play short. This was done, and the curtain was lowered without any announcement to the audience.

The big crowd shuffled slowly out, not knowing that a fire was being fought in the upper gallery.

Actors Step Lively.

Most of them soon reached the streets, but some remained behind, waiting for the wraps to be taken from the coat rooms. As the flames began to gain headway the theater employes urged the tardy ones to hurry out and told them there was a fire in the theater.

Alarm spread among the actors and chorus and many of the young women left the building by the stage entrance in scant and unconventional attire. An alarm quickly brought the fire engines and water was turned upon the flames, but not until probably $50,000 damage had been done.

Coolness Prevents Panic.

Only the coolness of the theater attaches prevented anything in the way of a panic. Several of the actors said after the fire was out that they had seen the smoke for some time before Treasurer Lyon ordered the performance cut short, but that they went bravely on with the songs and dances, in order not to alarm the audience and thereby possibly precipitate a panic.

Some time after the fire was practically out the theater gallery fell and a moment later thirty-five feet of the roof on the Broadway end of the building came down.

DETECTIVES WATCH SUSPECTS

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 24. — A flashlight photograph of a member of the council in the act of accepting money from a decoy "promoter," it is said, will be one of the strongest features of the evidence to be presented to-day when seven members of the council and two former bank officials are to be given a preliminary hearing on charges of bribery, corrupt solicitation and other illegal acts brought by the Voters' league. This picture, it is said, was taken in a private room in a down-town hotel last night immediately before the councilman was arrested.

Suspects Are Watched.

No additional arrests were made yesterday, and it is said that none are likely to be made until after the hearing to-day. All whom the detectives think may possible be wanted later are being kept under surveillance, officers being on guard at all city and suburban stations.

Besides the councilman the flashlight photograph is said to show an agent of the Huffing Detective agency of Scranton, Pa., which worked up the cases. This man is reported to have posed as a member of a firm anxious to sell wooden paving blocks to the city and have become very intimate with the councilman.

Flash Is Set Off.

With other detectives concealed within hearing distance, the councilman is alleged to have been induced to tell of the negotiations to secure the passage of the legislation, to name the other members who were to share in the bribe and to say that the members were tired of promises and wanted to see some real money. It was while money was being shown that the flash was ignited. The councilman, it is said, broke down and wept, and when he accused his companion of trapping him there was no denial. Then an officer appeared and made the arrest.

In some quarters it is believed that Mayor Guthrie was back of the probe, he having been an attorney for the Voters' league some years ago.

WITNESS ASKS PROTECTION.

Gives Damaging Evidence Against Night Riders.

Union City, Tenn., Dec. 24.—When Mrs. Emma Jackson, one of the state witnesses, yesterday afternoon in the night riders' trial, was excused from the stand, she turned to Judge Jones and said:

The last witness of the day was Will Russell, another alleged night rider, who has turned state's evidence. He was trembling with fear and could scarcely raise his voice above a whisper. Russell is under constant guard, but believes that he will be killed in spite of these precautions. Russell's story was practically the same as that told by Fehringer, and corroborated it in every essential detail.

PRISON SENTENCE IN BOYCOTT CASE

APPEAL TO A HIGHER COURT

President Roosevelt Appealed to by Labor Unions to Prevent Incarceration of Leaders.

Washington, Dec. 24. — Twelve months in jail for Samuel Gompers, president, nine months for John Mitchell, one of the vice presidents, and six months for Frank Morrison, secretary, all of the American Federation of labor, was the sentence imposed by Justice Wright of the supreme court of the District of Columbia yesterday for contempt of court in violating an order previously issued enjoining them from placing on "Unfair" or "We don't patronize" list the Buck Stove and Range company of St. Louis, Mo.

Veteran Leader Weeps.

All three of the defendants were in court when sentence was pronounced, and notice of an appeal to the court of appeals of the District of Columbia at once was filed, Gompers being released on $5,000 bond, Mitchell of $4,000 and Morrison on $3,000. In addition to the wife and daughter of Gompers, there were present a number of local labor leaders.

With tears coursing down his own cheeks, President Gompers heard the order of the court which condemned him to prison for a year. Both Mitchell and Morrison seemed stunned by the sentence.

Labor's Struggle for Right.

Asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced, President Gompers declared he had not consciously violated any law. There was much he would like to say, he said, but he could not do it at that time. He added, however, that "this is a struggle of the working people of our country and it is a struggle of the working people for the right. It is a struggle of the ages—a struggle of the men of labor to throw off some of the burdens which have been heaped upon them; to abolish some of the wrongs and to secure some of the rights too long denied."

Mitchell and Morrison confined themselves to an indorsement of what Gompers had said.

President Asked to Act.

The decision of Justice Wright, which consumed two hours and twenty minutes in reading, was one of the most scathing arraignments that ever came from the bench in this city.

Whether President Roosevelt will take any action, as he has been urged to do in telegrams received from different labor organizations throughout the country in connection with Judge Wright's decision, has not been decided.

The various labor organizations in protesting to the president against the sentence urge him to prevent the incarceration of the labor leaders.

FRIENDLY WITH VENEZUELA

United States Resumes Relations and Sends Special Commissioner to Gomez.

Washington, Dec. 24.—After an interval of eight months the United States government has resumed friendly relations with Venezuela, and William I. Buchanan has left this country on the cruiser North Carolina in the capacity of a special commissioner to visit that country and make a report. Much will depend on the nature of the communications which he will make to the state department, among them the question whether the United States will accord formal recognition to the government as it now exists, a decision dependent upon its ability to maintain a stable institution and to fulfill its treaty obligations. It has not yet been fully established that the Gomez government will retain its power without trouble, for there are many adherents of President Castro throughout the country.

The Hague, Dec. 24.—The revocation of the transshipment decree of May 14 by the Venezuelan government was announced in the lower house of parliament yesterday afternoon by Foreign Minister Van Swinderen. It was this decree that made most of the trouble between Venezuela and the Netherlands. Under its terms the transshipment of goods at Willemstad destined for Venezuela was prohibited, and its operation worked much injury to the commerce of the Dutch island. The foreign minister said also that the Dutch naval operations along the Venezuelan coast had been suspended at the request of Acting President Gomez.

PITTSBURG DAZED AT GRAFT EXPOSE

Gigantic Proportions of Graft Revealed; Developments Will Startle Country.

Pittsburg, Dec. 24.—With a suddenness that startled Pittsburg from end to end, this city yesterday moved into first place in the roll of corruption and municipal graft.

Late last night, many hours after thunderbolts in the shape of sensational testimony were exploded, the people of Pittsburg were dumfounded and unable to realize that the city is in a position to demand every laurel for being the champion legislative scandal center of America.

Startles the City.

The troubles of San Francisco are tame in comparison. Furthermore it is stated the shocking developments here yesterday are mere preliminaries and subsequent steps against additional councilmen and business men will not only startle Pittsburg, but the whole country.

Apparently, from the testimony offered in court yesterday, the city's council is absolutely rotten in every sense of the word. It was intimated strongly that over three score councilmen are "easy to reach" and the "reaching" necessitated only small sums, ranging from $100 to $5.

Gigantic Graft System.

Out of a mass of testimony it was gleaned that a majority of the council body of Pittsburg have been "reached." In the passage of one ordinance alone it was testified that sixty councilmen had divided $45,000. The evidence as given yesterday showed conclusively the gigantic proportions of the graft system.

Sensations followed one another in rapid succession during the hearing of the seven councilmen and two former bank officers arrested on charges of bribery, corrupt solicitations and conspiracy last Monday night.

Bank Officials Gave Up.

It was shown that the two bank officials had given $17,500, to be divided among the councilmen to secure the naming of the bank as a depository for the city's funds. A private detective testified to having arranged secret meetings with members of the councils in which details of the graft transactions were brought out.

All of the defendants immediately renewed their bonds for appearance for court trial and were released. In the aggregate the bonds amounted to $118,000.

Hains' marital career which preceded and brought about the killing of the publisher. MISSOURI KICKS OIL OCTOPUS OUT

Standard, Republic and Waters-Pierce Companies Fined $50,000 Each and Ousted.

ENDS COMBINES IN MISSOURI

Are Punished for Conspiring and Combining to Monopolize Oil Business in State.

Jefferson City, Mo., Dec. 24. — Declaring that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, the Republic Oil Company of Ohio and the Waters-Pierce Oil Company of Missouri had conspired and combined to monopolize the oil business in this state, the supreme court of Missouri yesterday issued a decree ousting all three from the commonwealth and fining them $50,000 each.

The decree against the Waters-Pierce company is tempered by the proviso that it may continue in business if by Jan. 15, 1909, it can show to the court that it has taken steps to operate as an independent concern and has satisfied the judgment against it. The other companies are given until March 1, 1909, to wind up their affairs in the state.

Ends Combines in Missouri.

The decision, which was unanimous on the part of the seven judges, is so sweeping that Attorney General Hadley and Gov. Folk hail it as the end of illegal commercial combinations in Missouri, and the former asserts that, in conjunction with the decision of the supreme court of the United States in the tobacco trust case, it will affect similar suits in other states.

Attorney General Hadley, who has prosecuted the Missouri case since its inception in March, 1905, will become governor in less than a month and then will be charged with the enforcement of the decree issued yesterday.

Awful Things Might Happen.

In coming to its decision the court says:

To all our reads, we wish a happy and prosperous New Year.

The primary law is coming in for some hard knocks. The democrats, however, recognize in it a true friend.

James J. Hill has purchased another railroad, this time the Colorado and Southern, for which he is said to have paid eighteen million.

Northern Minnesota has more cows and pigs and farms and people than it ever had—but it hasn't got any more representatives in the legislature.

Fire losses in Minnesota for October of this year amounted to $295,000 as compared with $565,000 in 1907. The fire losses in the United States for the same months were $17,580,0000 as compared with $13,851,000 for the period last year.

The coming legislature can confer no greater blessing upon the people of Minnesota than by adjourning sine die in forty five days. It can legislate enough for the real benefit of the people in that time, and by attending strictly to business accomplish all that is needed.—Roseau Region.

The year just passed was a bumper baby crop, figures just compiled show there were 39,277 babies born in Minnesota last year. Minneapolis leads the cities with 5,392. In the counties, Cook is the lowest with only 13. The rate was 18 babies for every 1,000 population and in the same year there were 10 deaths for every 1,000 people. At this rate we will not have to call on the outside states to furnish settlers for our wild lands.

The Minnesota school fund now totals $20,500,000 is in school land contracts, drawing 4 and 5 per cent interest. The fund also owns $8,600,000 of Minnesota state and municipal bonds, and the remainder is in interest bearing bonds of other states, with about $100,000 cash on hand. In addition to all the above, the school fund will own the proceeds of the sale of some 2,000,000 acres of state land, of which some 35,000 acres are in the iron ore district. On these lands is a great deal of standing timber which is increasing in value yearly. It is estimated that when these holdings are all disposed of, the Minnesota state school fund will total at least $120,000,000.

Geographical Distinctions.

Inhabitants of the Isle of Wight speak of "going to England" when they leave their own fragment of the kingdom. A patriotic Cornishman also "goes to England" when he crosses the Tamar. Similarly inhabitants of the Balkan peninsula talk of "going to Europe" when they leave their own corner of the continent—in curious contrast with the people of Great Britain, who regard themselves as both of and in "Europe," and it is only "the continent" that they visit. There is an old story of a Scottish minister who prayed for a blessing upon "the inhabitants of Great and Little Cumbrae (islands in the Firth of Clyde) and the adjacent islands of Great Britain and Ireland." Massachusetts people speak of going "down east" when they start for the Maine coast.

Preferred the Insomnia.

A story is told of the late bishop of London, Dr. Creighton, and Lord Rosebery. Lord Rosebery complained to the bishop of want of sleep, to which the bishop replied that he never suffered from insomnia. The earl observed that he wished he knew the remedy. The bishop's formula was very simple. If he felt drowsy he started to write a sermon and in a few moments he was wide awake. On the other hand if he wanted to sleep all he had to do was to start to read a sermon. Then sleep came in a few seconds. Lord Rosebery replied that it was his practice to choose the lesser evil, and he preferred want of sleep to reading sermons.

BACK TO THE TOWN

COUNTRY LIFE PALLED ON THE SUBURBANITE.

Real Facts of the Case Somewhat Different from the Explanation He Made to His City Friend.

The year around the city resident and the summer suburbanite were carrying on a conversation over their hurried noonday lunch.

"Must be mighty all fired crimpy around the edges out in the country these days," suggested the city man. "Don't believe I'd like living out in the country these days without steam heat and things. You'll be hiking into town pretty quick now, I s'pose."

"O, not for awhile yet," returned the summer suburbanite. "This is really the finest time of the year to be in the country. It is a trifle crisp when you get out of bed in the morning, of course, but then it beats the city at that. Some might exchange the good country air for a few city comforts, but not me. A little cold isn't going to hurt me."

This was a day or two ago. The following morning when the summer suburbanite crawled out from under the covers the thermometer was down around 40.

"Holy jumpin' James M. Jehosaphat, but it's cold in this barracks!" exclaimed the S. S. to his wife. "Talk about your polar expeditions and their hardships. They haven't got much on this! What are we staying out in a place like this for, anyhow? Never saw such a bleak habitation as this, if you'd call it a habitation, in all my troublous life. What's your idea in sticking to a place like this for when we've got a house there in town with a furnace and hot water and bath tub and all such things? That's what I'd like to know! I surely would.

"If I wanted to freeze to death I could do it right in town any good winter day. I wouldn't need to come clear out here to the country to do it. Holy mackerel but that water's cold! Don't even dare wash your face in this Greenlandish place! And I'm serving notice on you right at this juncture that we're going into town to-day, and we're going to stay there until next summer. Us for town. In cold weather a man's supposed to live in town where they've got radiators and such like. That's what towns are for."

Then the other day the suburbanite and his friend met again at lunch.

"So you've moved back to town, have you?" spoke up the year-around city man. "Thought you'd get enough of that country business in this sort of weather."

"O, yes, I moved in," owned up the late suburbanite. "It was fine out there, but my wife just naturally wouldn't stand for it. Said she couldn't keep warm. And you know how useless it is to argue with a woman. I had to come in. Hated like Sam Hill to do it, though."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Clever Work of Beavers.

A peculiar fact was discovered at the reservoir at Saddleback pond recently at Rangeley, when beavers' work in dam construction was found to interfere with the water supply from Saddleback stream. These busy engineers had constructed a tight dam, which had retained considerable of the supply of the mountain reservoir, and workmen each day tore out their work, only to find it rebuilt on the next visit. Good-sized tree sections had been hauled in and placed in the dam by the beavers. After several destructions of the beavers' dams there was again found to be a stoppage in the supply of water through the main pipes. The dam had not been rebuilt, but on close investigation it was found that those cunning engineers, in revenge, apparently, had built a dense screen across the strainer, which had prevented the flow of water through the main pipe.—Kennebec Journal.

Deer Seeks Mail Carrier's Protection.

A deer ran close to the mail wagon of Edward Cassidy when near the home of H. P. Bliss, in Sheffield, recently, and willingly gave itself into the custody of the mail carrier, who drove off the dogs.

The several dogs which followed close upon the trail of the frightened and almost exhausted deer had evidently followed their coveted prey many miles, for the deer, though nearly full grown and very fleet of foot, was almost ready to drop from sheer exhaustion when Uncle Sam's mail distributor happened along.

Since the law protecting deer from hunters at all seasons has been in effect they have been exceptionally numerous throughout southern Berkshire, and have frequently been seen in village streets, as well as with herds of cattle, but this is the first one that has been captured alone in the open.—Berkshire Courier.

Bear Wanted to Play with Children.

While the children of John Herron were playing in front of their home, at Duryea, Pa., a she-bear and her cub appeared on the scene. The baby bear ran up and wanted to play with the children, kitten-like, but the mother bear called it back, while the youngsters ran into the house. As Mr. Herron was not at home and no one who could shoot was around the visitors remained unmolested. After sniffing about the yard for a while and eating a few apples and potato peelings at the back door, the bears rambled away.

Breakfasting with Whistler.

There was a foreign painter who used to breakfast at Chelsea, and when Mr. Carr asked him if he had been there lately he replied: "Oh, no; not now so much. He ask me a leetle while ago to breakfast, and I go. My cab fare, two shilling, 'arf a crown. I arrive, very nice. Goldfish in bowl, very pretty. But breakfast—one egg, one toast—no more! Oh, no. My cab fare, two shillings, 'arf a crown. For me no more!"—London Telegraph.

INSTINCT THAT SAVED A LIFE.

Thoroughbred Horse Refused to Step on Body in Roadway.

Stories of the wisdom of animals are not few in the present day, when the humane societies are doing so much to promote the rights of our dumb brethren, yet each new tale is not without its own peculiar interest.

The following true story, concerns a horse belonging to a man living in Worcester, Mass., writes Mrs. A. R. Knowlton, in Our Dumb Animals.

Prince was a thoroughbred, his naturally fine instincts sharpened and rendered more acute by his training, for he had known life on the race track, until some slight accident unfitted him for that career and transformed him into a carriage horse.

He was being driven homeward one evening in winter when dusk was fast rendering even nearby objects invisible. Suddenly he stopped short, trembling all over.

In vain his driver urged him to proceed. Prince refused to stir, and the quivering of his muscles increased.

At last the driver left his seat to discover the cause of this unusual behavior. It was soon explained. Just in front of the horse—in fact almost beneath his upraised foot—lay a woman who had slipped, fallen and was unable to rise.

To avoid doing her injury that splendid animal had resolutely held up his fore foot for more than a minute. No wonder he trembled from the strain of his unaccustomed position.

KEEPING UP WITH THE TIMES.

A Matter on Which All Success in Life Is Dependent.

A physician tells me that he goes through his medical library every year and throws out a lot of books which have become useless to him because the new, up-to-date, the more progressive, are pushing out the old.

We all know that some of the scientific books published are useless a year after they appear in print. There never was a time in the history of the world when the new in every line of endeavor crowded out the old as it does to-day.

If you examine your business thoroughly you will probably find old-fogy methods, obsolete ideas, and cumbersome ways of doing things; a lot of red tape in your methods.

Remember that nothing else is improving faster than business methods. If you are keeping books as they were kept a quarter of a century ago, if you are using the same business system, you will find that you are way behind the times.—Success Magazine.

A Wrong Attitude.

Hundreds of working girls to-day, who are toiling to support aging parents, or to aid younger children, are incomparably superior to many of the aristocrats of earth, because they are developing character—which is the only thing in this life that counts in the great scheme.

But the working girl and man who are filled with envy and hatred toward the rich are not to be admired or respected merely because they labor.

If you work only because you must, and hate your work, and hate every man who has wealth and leisure, do not imagine your labor makes you worthier than his wealth in the eyes of the Creator, for it does not.

Whether you are poor or rich is of small consideration in the long run, but what you are in character and principle is of eternal importance.

Public Opinion Mighty.

The only tribunal, save the battlefield, before which the acts of nations pass in review is the court of public opinion. The sentiment of the world will not tolerate acts which would have been uncondemned 200 years ago, and those who are responsible for government to-day would not do such things. But this fact does not make treaties to-day more binding than old treaties. Although such agreements are too often broken, yet it is well to make them and right to condemn nations for violating them; for it is in that way that the sentiment grows which will in the distant future successfully demand an international police force to execute the law of nations.—Youth's Companion.

Dantzic and Nuremberg.

In preserving the spirit of the renaissance, the city has done for north Germany what Nuremberg has done for south Germany. Nuremberg built its houses with greater picturesqueness and variety; Dantzic, with greater durability, with more unity of style and grouping, and later; and it has kept out modern discords more successfully. The townsman ordered his dwelling in the same lordly spirit with which he ordered his clothes. Brick would do for his church, but stone was not too good for his house. And these rich facades are almost as surprising in this stoneless country as facades of silver.—From Robert Haven Schauffler's "Romantic Germany; Dantsic," in Century.

Tea-totalers(?)

"Have you tried cloves with your tea?" asked the matinee girl. "I went to a studio tea given by Mrs. X., the artist, last week, and on a tray with the sugar and cream sat a cunning little china basket filled with cloves. Some put their cloves in the tea, but I nibbled mine and thought of toothache, men coming back between the acts, and all sorts of memory-conjuring things. Of course, we told more spicy stories after we dipped into the clove basket—why not?"

Protecting New Cement.

The problem of keeping people and animals off a newly laid cement sidewalk, usually a difficult task, is sometimes solved in the manner here shown. A few hours after this sidewalk was built soft dirt was thrown over it and a little ridge built along each side. The dirt was then well saturated with water. Such treatment was found to be effectual in keeping intruders off, and also furnished moisture for advantageous setting of the cement.

ALL IN THE GOLDEN FUTURE.

Beautiful Picture of What Life on the Farm Is to Be Like.

The future farmer will subirrigate his land, and defy drought as well as floods. He will become a scientific forester, and every farm will produce wood and lumber as well as wheat and apples. A single acre will produce what ten acres yield now. Women will work out doors as heartily as men; in fact, they will be the horticulturists and the truck gardeners. There will be closer relation between the producer and the consumer ignoring a horde of middlemen who frequently waste more than is destroyed by ignorant help and insect foes combined. Under the alliance with the school the farm will be valued not only for its gross weight of products, but for its poems and its education. As our schools become places for applying as well as acquiring knowledge, our farm homes will become integral parts of the garden school and the school farm. The alliance between the home and the school will become very close. A valley full of farms is already the nearest to paradise that we have, but the future will tenfold its wealth and hundredfold its delights.—Independent.

AS EXPLAINED BY THE GUIDE.

Garrulous Old Woman Found Out What Caused Streak on Water.

The garrulous old woman in the stern of the boat had pestered the guide with her comments and questions ever since they had started. Her meek little husband, who was hunched toad-like in the bow, fished in silence. The old woman had seemingly exhausted every possible point in fish and animal life, woodcraft and personal history when she suddenly espied one of those curious paths of oily, unbroken water frequently seen on small lakes which are ruffled by a light breeze.

"Oh, guide, guide," she exclaimed, "what makes that funny streak in the water—No, there—Right over there!"

The guide was busy rebaiting the old gentleman's hook and merely mumbled "U-m-mm."

"Guide," repeated the old woman in tones that were not to be denied, "look right over where I'm pointing and tell me what makes that funny streak in the water."

Work and Life.

I was much impressed by what the head of a large and prosperous bourgeois French family said to an American friend: "During the day we are all busy with our various avocations. The evenings are devoted to more serious things—reading, music, conversation, society." This is surely the normal point of view of a civilized man living in a civilized society.

In Italy, where social life, as in France, is taken somewhat more seriously than with us, it is usual for the women prominent in society to receive in the evening. One evening a week (sometimes two, in a few cases every evening) is set apart for receiving the friends and habitues of the house. In Rome, where society is more crystallized, where the social game is better played than in any community I know, one or two of the great houses are open to visitors on every evening of the week.—Maud Howe, in Harper's Bazar.

Causes of Blindness.

The dangers to which the modern eye is exposed fall into two great classes—disease and overuse from near work. Here another great consoling fact faces us, and that is that while overwork and consequent eye strain are by far the commonest troubles that befall the modern eye, discomfort and inefficiency are as far as they go in 99 cases out of 100. It is a fact that 99 9-10 per cent. of all blindness is due to disease and not to overwork.

More significant yet, seven-tenths of the diseases which produce blindness are the acute infections, against which civilization wages an unceasing and victorious conflict.—Woman's Home Companion.

Question of Precedence.

Recently a dispute was raised as to whether a certain lawyer or a certain doctor was to have precedence at a function at which both were to play prominent parts. It was impolitic to allow either of these two men to be offended. While the discussion was under way as to which was to be seated next the speaker, an old politician in the room, said the discussion was one which he thought he could settle by giving them the words of the great Diogenes who had said upon an ancient occasion: "Let the thief go before; let the executioner follow after." The politician said he thought that mean the lawyer should have first place and the doctor come next.

The Old English "Tumbler."

The old-fashioned English tumbler, which insisted on reverting to an erect position, no matter how frequently it was knocked over, possessed merits. This was the original form of drinking tumbler—hence the name. They were made of thin horn and weighted with a bulbous mass at the bottom. The idea of their use was a double one. The old drinking custom required that the ale should be drunk at a draft—for its presence in the tumbler would cause it to overbalance and spill its contents—and there was the advantage possessed by the tumbler of not rolling out of reach when knocked about during orgies.

Perpetual.

"No, sir, I will not resign," said the officeholder. "Why should I? There are no charges against me."

"But I understand that charges have been formulated."

"Have, eh? Well, you don't expect me to resign under fire, I hope. Never!"

Creamery Statement

December is one of the poorest months of the year for dairying in this section and only four of the creamery patrons draw more than $50 and they are as follows:

H. Haupt, $63.16,
Fred Soderberg, $54.85.
Claus Hendricks, $53.79.

The total amount paid for the month was fairly good, amounting in all to $3,198.87 and the price paid for butter fat was very satisfying, it being 33c a pound.

Lofty Tibet

Think of an inhabited land covering between 700,000 to 800,000 square miles, and having a mean elevation exceeding 16,400 feet, which is considerably higher than Mont Blanc? Taken at mealtime it will build up the system and revitalize the nerves. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

Each of the two high schools, the Red Lake Falls school and Thief River Falls school, receives $1,400. Thief River will receive $750 in addition because of the maintenance of a normal department in that school. The St. Hilaire graded school will get $550 and the semi-graded school at Plummer, $230. Ten rural schools are in the first class. They will receive $105 each, a total of $1,050. The schools in this class are those in Districts No. 63, 76, 81, 103, 112, 126, 151, 154, 178. Ten rural schools of the second class will get $40 each. They are the schools in Districts No. 1, 9, 17, 27, 54, 73, 79, 88, 94, 133.

Just recently the October apportionment amounting to $10,184.40 was received, making a total of nearly $15,000 of state money that is to assist in the maintenance of the schools of county. The state aid is received annually, the apportionment semi-annually.

An Ideal All-Around Paper

Probably no other newspaper in the United States can show so brilliant an array of special features suited to the tastes and needs of every member of the family as The Chicago Record Herald. Its regular daily and Sunday features include the letters of Wm. E. Curtis and Walter Wellman, besides the special dispatches from the great centers. Next in importance comes The Record Herald's unparalleled foreign news service, embracing its own special cables and those of the New York Herald, World, Journal of Commerce and Associated Press. Its pages devoted to commercial and financial news of all kinds are unsurpassed in scope and accuracy. Among other noteworthy features are its popular sporting page, its sound editorials, Kiser's humorous "Alternating Currents," the lively "Stories of the Street and Town," the railroad and insurance columns, music and drama, society and clubs, daily reviews of the latest books, the continued story, the "Woman Beautiful" department, the daily fashion article, "Meals for a day," news of the lakes, etc., besides a complete array of local and domestic news—all uniting to give the people of Chicago and the Northwest a complete and interesting all-around newspaper.

The Sunday Magazine of The Record Herald is an artistic and literary triumph. Famous authors and illustrators fine paper and press work, combine to make it the rival of the great independent periodicals and a distinct departure in Sunday journalism.

LESSON FOR SOUVENIR FIEND.

Captain's Remarkable Action Designed "to Avoid Scandal."

"On the slow and cheap ships," said a purser, "the souvenir thief does no harm; but on a famous liner like the Ruritania, where records are broken and tip-top prices abound, the amount of stuff that disappears is shocking.

"Only things with the boat's name on go—champagne glasses, inkwells, curling tongs, buttonhooks and so forth. And what are we to do about it?

"We had an American peeress aboard last voyage. The day we reached New York a stewardess came to me and said:

"'Oh, Mr. Meet, I just seen Lady Blank's cabin trunk, and she's taken two of our finest silver inkwells.'

"Here was a quandary, eh? The captain was called in, and he settled the matter in the unsatisfactory way such things are usually settled:

"'We must teach Lady Blank a lesson,' he growled. 'At the same time scandal must be avoided.' He thought a moment, then said to the stewardness: 'Take one of the inkwells and leave the other. That'll show her!'"

ASKED MUCH IN SHORT PRAYER.

Remarkable Invocation of Scotch Minister, Reported by Magazine.

"O Lord, we approach thee this mornin' in the attitude o' prayer, and likewise o' complaint. When we cam' tae the lan' o' Canady we expected tae fin' a lan' flowin' wi' milk and honey, but instead o' that we feun' a lan' peopled wi' ungodly Irish. O Lord, in thy great mercy, drive them tae the uttermost pairts o' Canady; mak' them hewers o' wood and drawers o' watter; gie them nae emoluments; gie them nae place o' abode; n'er mak' them magistrates or rulers among thy people.

"But if ye hae any favors to bestow, or any guid lan' tae gie awa,' gie it tae thine ain, thy peculiar people, the Scots. Mak' them members o' parliament an' magistrates an' rulers among thy people. An' as for the Irish, tak' them by the heels an' shak' them ower the mouth o' hell, but dinna let them fa' in, and a' the glory shall be thine. Amen."—Success Magazine.

Going to Sleep.

What is this thing that knits up the raveled sleeve of care? Cabains, in his investigations on the mind, endeavored to fix the order in which the different parts of our organization go to sleep; namely—first, the legs and arms, then the muscles that support the head and back. The first sense that slumbers is that of sight, followed in regular succession by the senses of taste, smell, hearing and feeling. The viscera (contents of the body cavities), he says, fall asleep one after the other, but with different degrees of soundness.—New York Press.

WHALE CARRIED OFF THE LINE.

The Monster Also Made Away with a Good Harpoon.

Up among the torn bergs of the Arctic a monster whale is cruising about with a harpoon imbedded in his thick back and something less than half a mile of stout hempen rope trailing after him.

The crew of the steam whaler Thrasher, which returned Sunday night from an eight months' cruise in the icy north, declare that "Mister Whale got all that was coming to him."

"He got away from us," muttered the mate, spitting viciously into the scuppers, "but we will get him next season. It was good rope we used, and he'll get tangled up on something so we will be one whale to the good when we get back there.

"He was a bad one, though. You see Silva, the boat steerer, slung the hook into him when we were in open water between two big bergs. Off he goes with the stick in his back, and the rope went out like a man tumbling from the loft. He ducked and dived until one tub of rope was gone, and he did the same with another. He was making for the nearest floe and when he reached it he spit a lot of water into the air and took a deep dive. The edge of the ice cut the rope like a knife and he was off for good, with 2,000 feet of the Thrasher's line and a good harpoon with him."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Must Import Marriageable Girls.

The problem of finding wives has become a serious one in St. Petersburg. The male population exceeds the female by 124,000 in the Russian capital, and the authorities are weighing plans for importing prospective brides from the provinces. The need of wives, indeed, has led to the making of several fortunes in matrimonial agencies, heavy fees being exacted for pretty girls as wives from remote country places. The men outnumber the women in all classes in St. Petersburg, and at social affairs there are usually two men for every woman. Of course this is a truly delightful situation for the woman, but it is one that is multiplying jealousies between men and causing "affairs" with swords and pistols upon the field of honor. Social activities in St. Petersburg have been declining in interest because of the scarcity of women, whereas in all the other large cities in the empire women are much more numerous than men.

THE SPECTATOR PRINTERY

A HAPPY NEW YEAR
TO ALL

THE USUAL THING

No more we'll swear, no more we'll drink;
No more our money squander;
No more we'll lick their mother;
Of church we'll be much fonder.

No more we'll cuff the children's ears—
No more we'll lick thei rmother;
No more we'll kick our dog about
Or borrow from our brother.

We'll steal no more, though opportune—
We'll tap no tills this season;
And highway robbery give up
For most sufficient reason.

We'll want to murder, but we won't—
We'll want to play at arson;
We'll want to steal the pews from church,
And rob the good old parson.

We'll thirst to kill a cop or two—
We'll itch to make abductions;
We'll want to burn the poorhouse down
And make some big reductions.

But 'tis the Day when all resolve—
The Day of resolutions;
The Day when all awake to feel
The need of evolutions.

So put it down in black and white,
And say it altogether;
"We'll angels be the coming year,
No matter what the weather."

JOE KERR.

UNDER THE SNOW

TRUE STORY OF NEW YEAR'S EVE

It was New Year's eve on Jack Ralston's ranch, and the family and guests were all gathered about the huge open fireplace in the living-room, drinking their coffee after a late dinner. The lights were not lit and the party sat in the flickering light of a big fire of crackling pine logs, which threw out quaint shadows in every direction. This party was the usual one that yearly gathered at Jack Ralston's to spend the Christmas holidays with him and his family. As they sat in the cheerful warmth and glow of the fire they listened to the fearful storm that roared outside. A blizzard had been raging for the past three days; the wind howled and shrieked through the mountain peaks, driving the fast-falling snow before it and piling it up in immense drifts against every obstruction. It was a bitter, biting, cold wind, too, as it tore through the valley like a demon seeking whom it might destroy, doing its utmost to completely bury the house from view in the snow; but, sheltered as it was by two giant rocks, one on each side, with the mountain-side at its back, the house was safe, in its snug little spot, even from the storm's greatest fury. The inclement weather had kept the men indoors, and they were grumbling over their enforced idleness, and bragged about the amount of game they would have bagged had they only been able to get out.

"Say, Jack, it's some time yet before midnight. Can't you spin us a yarn?" finally said Bobby Caruthers, after a long pause in the conversation.

"Well, I was just thinking," said Jack, " of just such a night as this, fifteen years ago, when, if it had not been for the pluck of that little woman yonder, I would not be here tonight to see the new year come in," and he gazed fondly at his wife, who still looked like a young woman as she sat in the flickering light, although on one side sat her son, a fair young giant, and on the other her daughter, a beautiful girl just blooming into womanhood.

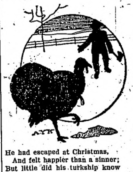
"Let's have it," came in a chorus from the party.

"Well, fill your pipes, and I'll tell you my story. You see, fifteen years ago, I wasn't as prosperous as I am now. I was just starting out ranching, had only been here some three years, then, and where this house now stands we only had a small log cabin. Young Jack over there was only six years old at the time, and Miss Ruth was trotting round, a young three-year-old. The winter had opened badly; snow had come very early, and with it bitter cold weather. We had plenty of fuel, so we managed to keep warm enough. The cabin was in the same spot as this house now is, so the two big rocks helped to keep off the fierceness of the wind; but we were completely buried under the snow, so that we had to dig a tunnel from the front door out into the open air. Myself and all the boys were kept mighty busy talking forage out to spots where the cattle could get it, and so not starve to death. Well, one morning, about two weeks before Christmas, after a heavy snowfall, I started out with all hands on one of these trips, intending to gather all the cattle togther as much as possible, and to build some large hay-stacks, so that they would have plenty of food for some time; also, as our grub was getting pretty low, we were going to push through to Dolores to provision up for the rest of the winter in case we couldn't get through again for some time. I also wanted to get the Christmas presents for the kids; so I told the little wife not to be anxious if I didn't show up for several days.

"Well, we all started, only leaving one of the boys behind, who had been sick and wasn't quite well yet. We had the deuce's own job fixing up the cattle and getting through to Dolores. It took us over a week, and several of the boys were badly frost-bitten. We were ready in a few days to push back again, but another heavy snow-fall came, and another, and another, until really it seemed to be snowing all the time. The days slipped by, one by one, until Christmas came, and there I was snow-bound in Dolores, getting more and more anxious about the folks at home. I knew their grub must be getting low; and, besides, here was Christmas day, and nothing for the kids. I was nearly wild, I can tell you. Well, two days before New Year's there was a let-up, and I made up my mind to push through at any cost. I could only induce one of my men to come with me; the others flatly refused. They said it would be sure death; that another storm was coming up—this time a regular blizzard. At any rate, we started on our fifty-mile ride. The trails were simply one succession of immense drifts, so we made mighty slow progress, as we had to lead a packhorse. After one day's riding we had only gone twenty-five miles, and a new storm was coming up; and it proved a regular snorter, too. We dug a hole in the snow and lay down for a few hours' sleep, for we were dead beat; but it was so cold that we were only able to get about forty winks, and started again, so as not to freeze to death.

"The storm increased, getting worse and worse as we went on; the snow, driven by the fierce wind, cut our faces like so many needles, while the bitter cold seemed to numb every faculty and to be slowly freezing out our very lives. My horse then gave out—couldn't move another step, so I let him go and mounted the pack horse. Night then came on, and our whisky, that had given us some strength and warmth, gave out. We didn't know where we were, but thought we couldn't be many miles from home if only we were on the right trail. My man's horse next gave out, and, as I was stronger than he, I made him get on my horse and holding on to the saddle, walked along by his side; but only a mile or so further and our last horse dropped down exhausted. What were we to do? I don't know where I got the strength, but I shouldered the pack myself and we both plunged on. I would not give in—the thought that they might be starving at home forced me on, I don't know how far we walked; I hardly knew in what direction we were going; my one thought was to keep moving. The poor fellow near me was completely gone, and lay down to sleep. I begged him to get up, to try to move. I beat him; I dragged him along; but he only begged to be left alone. I grabbed him by the collar and just pulled him along, stopping to rest every few minutes. I couldn't see; I couldn't feel; I myself longed to lie down in the soft snow and go to sleep. Then I thought of the dear ones at home; I would never see them again. This gave me renewed energy, and, dragging my half lifeless comrade, stumbling under the weight of the pack, I plunged on. Finally I was completely done; I couldn't go another step; I felt that death couldn't be far off. Oh, the utter misery of despair of that moment! I sank down and cried in utter helplessness. I don't know what made me, but I struggled to my feet once more and called again and again, but the storm only mocked me, and I sank down once more. I was so sleepy and tired, and it was so nice and soft lying in the snow. The next thing I remember I was feeling some whisky being poured down my throat, and then that I was being dragged through the snow and that I was home and safe. Well, boys, do you know who did it? Why, it was that little woman sitting so quiet by the fire, there. It appears that she somehow had a presentiment that I was out in the storm and she kept going to the mouth of the tunnel every little while, as she had been doing nearly every night. When I gave up to die I was nearer home than I thought, and she heard my call. She got some whisky, and, making the man hold a torch so that she could find her way back, she plowed through all that snow and storm until she found me, and then by main force she dragged me back to the house. Not only that, but she went back again and brought in the other poor fellow. What do you think of that for pluck? It was weeks before I got over the effects of that night; but I tell you what, boys, that was the happiest New Year I ever had. It's nearly twelve o'clock; so fill up, all, and make ready to drink the New Year in when the clock strikes, and one toast that I know you'll all join with me in drinking will be: 'The Heroine of New Year's Eve—My Little Wife.'"

THE DECEIVED TURK



He had escaped at Christmas,
And felt happier than a sinner;
But little did his turkship know
He was kept for a New Year's dinner!

The Real Christmas Spirit.

The real Christmas spirit is possessed by the man, woman or child who, having received a poor little gift, treasures it because it was all the sender could afford to give.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE

"Johnny," said the teacher to one of her class, "you may tell me the difference between Christmas and New Year's."

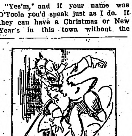
"Yes'm. On Christmas you find peanuts in your stocking. On New Year's you find a gad over your back. On Christmas you have turkey for dinner. On New Year's pa sits down to the table and looks all around and asks ma what in thunder she's got mutton stew for."

"But aren't there other differences, Johnny?"

"Yes'm. Pa gets tight on Christmas and howling drunk on New Year's. On Christmas ma says she's glad she's alive. On New Year's she wishes she had died ten years ago. On Christmas the landlord comes around and drinks pa's beer, and says he's going to lower the rent a peg. On New Year's he comes back and don't find any beer and says he's going to boost it up two pegs."

"But you are speaking of your family, Johnny."

"Yes'm," and if your name was O'Toole you'd speak just as I do. If they can have a Christmas or New Year's in this town without the O'Toole family hearing about it and mixing in, then we hain't half as smart as I think we are."



Pa gets howling drunk on New Year.

When you find yourself in a disagreeable humor, that is your cue to visit your enemies.

Temperance Societies Illegal.

The clergman recorded complacently the twenty-seventh New Year pledge taking.

"Excellent work. A glorious day," he said. "And yet do you know that there was once a time when all this sort of thing was criminal?"

"No!"

"Yes. It was in India, at the beginning of the English occupation. Medical men believed in those days that a white man could not live in India without drinking. They thought he needed a half pint of whisky, or its equivalent, every day. And they insisted on his taking it.

"Temperance societies, total abstinence and the signing of the pledge were things forbidden in India. Such things were thought injurious to the white man's health out there. Hence to go in for them was to be arrested, fined, imprisoned, banished.

"But today in India total abstinence is encouraged, for, it has been found that the abstainer stands the heat far better than does the man who drinks."

A NEW YEAR'S TRAGEDY

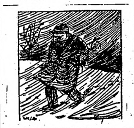
From a bed of hay in a farmer's barn,
A tramp he awoke on the glad New Year;
He hadn't a cent, and was hungry and cold,
And existence to him was sad and drear.

He didn't expect, as his way he pursued,
Tho' bells were a-ringing the glad New Year,
To meet a soft snap and have an invite
To come along in and partake of a beer.

The year that was dead was nothing to him—
The year that had dawned was nothing more;
He'd continue to tramp and freeze and thaw,
And shiver and shake and sleep and snore.

But Farmer Jones, with a merciful heart,
A heart with a feeling for others' woe;
Caught sight of the tramp as he hoofed along
In storm and sleet and a foot of snow.

And he called him in with cheerful call,
And he gave him to drink of cider new;
And he sat him down to a festive board,



As he hoofed along in storm and sleet.

And he told him to eat 'till he was through.

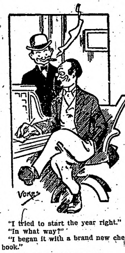
And the tramp he ate, and stuffed and stuffed,
And chewed and chanked and stuffed some more;
And of cider he drank a bar'l or so,
And of goose he continued to eat galore.

From morn 'till noon—from noon 'till night
He ate and drank, and the cheer was his;
He lost no time in telling his yarn,
But strictly attended to what was biz.

When night had come, with the hens at roost,
The farmer old with the merciful heart;
He threw out hints that 'twas time to go,
And said he was sorry with friends to part.

He hinted some more—unheeded his words—
He 'rose and bent over his guest of the snow;
And he found him as dead as a nail in the door.
He had gone in the way ev'ry tramp wants to go.

A GOOD BEGINNING



"I tried to start the year right."
"In what way?"
"I began it with a brand new check book."

The Unattainable.

You never want the thing you can afford with half the passionate longing with which you yearn for that which is beyond your means.

A Pathetic Christmas Custom.

The cemetary in the winter sunshine was white with snow. Up from the snow rose a thousand white shafts and monuments. And on all the little graves of children Christmas trees trimmed with toys were set."

The speaker, a young woman of German descent, smiled pensively and went on:

"Yes, in many German towns it is the custom to put Christmas trees instead of flowers on the children's graves. It is thought that the children must prefer trees to flowers at this season. The little dark-green firs, trimmed with tinsel and with toys, red and yellow and blue, give a quaint touch of color to the immaculate whiteness of the cemetery.

"The scene, when first I saw it, moved me. The snow sparkled in the sun. The tombs of the dead were very pure and white against the gay blue of the sky. On all the little graves the little green trees rustled mournfully in the breeze and the toy animals and bells and tin soldiers knocked together stiffly and disconsolately."

SOME NEW YEAR'S HOPES

I hope that coal will take a drop,
And rents go down a peg;
And that the man who makes the gas
Will pull no more my leg.

I hope that stocks will take a rise,
And hope our Johnny D.
Will drop the price of kerosene
And make it light to see.

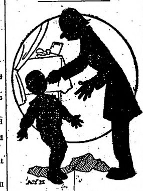
I hope for heaps to come to pass,
And hope that you'll infer,
That I am hoping for us all,
Instead of yours.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

I hope that beef and pork and such
Will cheapen quite one-half,
And that my hunger may be quenched
Should it require a calf.

I hope that trusts in boots and shoes,
And trusts in all we wear;
May find their dividends reduced
To thinnest kin of air.

I hope that grafters, large and small,
Who fatten on the land
Will find themselves Sing-Singing as
The jury shows its hand.



There was a small boy, so I hear,
Went pouting about on New Year
Because dinner was late;
So he yelled against his fate—
But his dad took hold of his ear!

A New Year Visitor.

"Is your company thoroughly reliable, sir?"

The speaker, a well-dressed man of middle age, regarded the manager of the Gilt-edge Life with a cautious frown.

"Reliable?" exclaimed the manager. "Why, sir, look at this balance sheet. Surplus no less than—"

"Yes, yes," the other interrupted; "but are your directors conservative men?"

"Conservative? Have a cigar. They are as careful and conscientious a body of men—"

"Then you think I would do wisely, in taking out a $50,000 policy, to come to you?"

"Yes, yes."

"Thank you. Then, when I am ready, I will do so. I just dropped in today to ask if you could spare me a half dozen of your beautiful 10 calendars?"

On the Move.

Rev. A. C. Jeffries, the father of the noted pugilist, was contradicting again the rumor that his son would return to the ring.

"Jim," said Mr. Jeffries, "is strong. When he makes a New Year's resolution, he sticks to it. When he says he'll do a thing that settles it. My boy is never going to fight again.

"Jim doesn't vacillate like old Ephraim Caldwell, a quondam friend of mine. Ephraim vacillated even in his choice of a home. He was always on the move.

"In fact, they used to say that when Eph moved he tied his chickens' legs together for convenience of transportation, and in time the chickens got so used to this that, whenever he entered the henhouse, they would all lie down on their backs and hold up their slim yellow legs to be tied."

The New Year Post Card.

"Send him a swear-off post card," said the salesman, smiling at the pretty girl

"What sort is that?" she asked

He showed her a card, beautifully got up, with four or five blank lines beginning, in a Gothic lettering of red and black ink, "I swear Off."

"You see," said the salesman, "he fills the blank spaces up. 'I swear off,' he writes, 'the booze.' 'I swear off gambling.' 'I swear off beating my mother.' 'I swear—'"

She flushed and smiled.

"He isn't that sort," she said. "Don't judge others by yourself. I'll take three of them."

"Three? He must have a lot of vices," said the fresh salesman; and then, with a loud laugh at his own freshness, he showed her the little cord whereby the card could be hung above the swearer's desk.

A handsome and neatly dressed young lady was walking down the street the other day, followed by her favorite dachshund pup. It was market day, and the pavement, being somewhat crowded, caused the dog to get some distance behind its mistress. Fearing it would lose sight of her, she called, "Come along, sir!"

A would-be wit, who was near, stepped up to her and, with great politeness, said, "Certainly, miss!"

"Ah!" she exclaimed, as her pet came running up, "you have made a mistake; this is the puppy I called."

ECZEMA ALL OVER HIM.

No Night's Rest for a Year and Limit of His Endurance Seemed Near —Owes Recovery to Cuticura.

"My son Clyde was almost completely covered with eczema. Physicians treated him for nearly a year without helping him any. His head, face, and neck were covered with large scabs which he would rub until they fell off. Then blood and matter would run out and that would be worse. Friends coming to see him said that if he got well he would be disfigured for life. When it seemed as if he could, possibly stand it no longer, I used some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent. That was the first night for nearly a year that he slept. In the morning there was a great change for the better. In about six weeks he was perfectly well. Our leading physician recommends Cuticura for eczema. Western Canada the Pennant Winner
"The Last Best West"
160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE
The government of Canada now gives to every actual settler 160 acres of wheat-growing land free and an additional 160 acres at $3.00 an acre. The 300,000 contented American settlers making their homes in Western Canada is the best evidence of the superiority of that country. They are becoming rich, growing from 25 to 50 bushels wheat to the acre; 60 to 110 bushels oats and 45 to 60 bushels barley, besides having splendid herds of cattle raised on the prairie grass. Dairying is an important industry.
The crop of 1908 still keeps Western Canada in the lead. The world will soon look to it as its food-producer.
"The thing which most impressed us was the magnitude of the country that is available for agricultural purposes."—National Editorial Correspondence, 1908.
